Lenten Recital Series at St. Andrew United Methodist Church

Enjoy the music of Easter each Wednesday at 12:10 followed by time for fellowship with a light lunch in the Gathering Space for a donation of $3.50. Invite friends and family for an uplifting mid-week break.

February 25: Mark Zwilling, Pianist and Organist. Mark is the versatile and talented Director of Music and the Arts for St. Andrew.

March 4: Rick Seaton, Organist. Rick is Director of Music and Organist at Bethany Lutheran Church and is highly respected for his impeccable musicianship, technique and performance.

March 11: St. Andrew Sisters Select Women's Ensemble. This choir, established 30 years ago, is an auditioned group and sings a variety of challenging music.

March 18: Jean McKibben, Handbell soloist. Jean is well-known for her stunning solo handbell work.

March 25: Rev. Dale Fredrickson and Tim Coons. Rev. Dale and Tim lead the expressive and innovative Wildflower Worship at St. Andrew.

For further information call St Andrews United Methodist Church at 303 794-2683.

There is a documentary film produced by filmmaker Maziar Bahari, a journalist originally from Iran, called To Light A Candle, which will be shown at Arapahoe Community College's Half Moon Café on the evening of Wednesday, March 25, at 6:45 pm . This will be of interest to all who follow events in Iran, anyone interested in human rights in general, and particularly those who care about the blanket denial of the opportunity for higher education to religious minorities in Iran, and the innovative (and, sometimes, very brave) ways some professors and students have overcome this roadblock.

The showing is sponsored by the ACC "Think Tank" Philosophy Club, the Baha'i Community of Littleton, and Amnesty International. If you could find a way to mention this on the air, it would be immensely appreciated. I am including, as an attachment, a flyer which appears on the Arapahoe Community College website. Because it is on their website, it did not include the street address -- the address is:

Arapahoe Community College

World War II: From Biplanes to Atomic Bombs

Museum hosts WWII presentation on advances in aviation technology

AURORA, Colo. – Learn about the astonishing changes in aviation technology during World War II at a presentation by Chuck Stout from the Wings Over the Rockies Museum this Sunday (March 8) at 2:30 p.m. at The Aurora History Museum, 15051 E. Alameda Parkway. Cost is $8 ($6 Aurora Residents) and Museum Foundation Members are free. Advanced reservations not required, seating first-come, first-served.

When World War II started, most of the world's fighter airplanes were open-cockpit biplanes. In just six years, the speed of airplanes nearly tripled, and by the end of the war, there were operational jets and rocket-powered airplanes, guided missiles, helicopters, and nuclear weapons. Who were the people who pushed the pace of innovation? Why were so many new technologies created in such a short time span? Come explore the stories behind some of the fascinating changes that transformed our world.

Chuck Stout has been an active general aviation pilot for more than 40 years, and is lucky enough to be able to apply this experience in his current career as an aviation writer and editor. He is also the director of the Colorado Aerospace History Project. Before this, he enjoyed careers as a museum exhibit designer, engineer, and small businessman. He's passionate about encouraging Americans to improve their critical thinking skills. He especially likes helping to raise science literacy and sharing his interest in aerospace history.

The model railroad show, "Rails in the Rockies", will take place at the Estes Park Conference Center in the Rocky Mountain Park Inn at the junction of Highway 7 and Highway 36, Saturday February 14 from 9 to 5 and Sunday, February 15 from 9 to 4.

Model railroad layouts in many different scales, vendor tables, a junior layout where children can run the trains and railroad related items will fill the more than 16,000 square feet of the conference center.

Admission is $5 for adults; children under 12 are free with an adult.

The show is sponsored by the Estes Valley Division of the National Model Railroad Association, a non-profit organization dedicated to promoting model railroading.

Irish Spirit Returns to Olde Town Arvada at Newly Expanded St. Patrick's Day Festival

ARVADA, CO, February 15 - Green will be in the air on Saturday, March 14 when The Historic Olde Town Arvada Association brings another St. Patrick's Day Festival to the Arvada community. The excitement begins at noon and continues until 6pm, with live music, beer, wine, food, family fun and plenty of shopping options from street vendors. Last year's festival brought 4,000 people into the streets of Olde Town. To compensate for the increasing event popularity, this year's festival will expand an additional block. The larger event area will give patrons more room and will encompass more unique Olde Town Arvada merchants.

Entertainment remains excellent with a strong Irish flavor. Headliners Angus Mohr return with their brand of Celtic-themed rock 'n' roll, while the Bennett School of Irish Dance will perform an interactive program. Calder's Revolvers, The MorphTones, and Soho Band will provide additional live music. A marching performance from Centennial State Pipes and Drums is sure to be a crowd favorite. Festival goers are encouraged to dress in their Irish best, and the Arvada crowd always displays a festive spirit.

"St. Patrick's Day is an event that everyone loves to take part in," states event coordinator Adam Mueller. "We have a range of activities for all ages and interests. Our event allows people to enjoy the parade in Denver, and then spend the rest of the day with great music and a fun atmosphere on the streets of Olde Town Arvada."

Historic Olde Town Arvada will be closing down Grandview Avenue from Yukon Street to Webster Street, and closing Olde Wadsworth Blvd from 55th Street to 57th Street. The event perimeter will be fenced to ensure a fun, safe, and relaxed experience. Entry is free of cost and all are invited to come. Tickets to purchase drinks will be sold within the event area. Parking is free, with the best spots available in longer-term parking lots near the Jeffco Library and on Vance Street. Olde Town has expanded bike parking options, and nearby RTD hubs make public transportation convenient for all. In the event of heavy snow, March 21 has been reserved as an alternate date.

For Immediate Release-

The Rocky Mountain Division of the Train Collectors Association is pleased to announce our Spring Rocky Mountain Train Show at the Denver Mart, Saturday and Sunday, March 7th & 8th, 2015.

The show is truly a toy and model train extravaganza covering 2-1/2 acres. You'll find trains ranging from antique American Flyer and Lionel to modern HO and N scale models and Thomas the Train. This family-oriented event features 30 operating train layouts, manufacturer and hobby store displays, a marketplace of over 600 tables of trains for sale, how-to clinics and appraisal opportunities for your old trains. There are hourly door prize drawings for items ranging from Thomas the Train toys to complete train sets. The Train Station Challenge offers a chance to win a new train set for visiting selected Train Stations throughout the show.

Our manufacturers showcase has been significantly expanded to include Bachmann Trains, MTH Electric Trains, Walthers, Broadway Limited, Kato, Hornby, Marklin/LGB, 3rd Rail, KamKconnect, White River Productions, Motrak Models, North American Railcar, Sundance Marketing, Iwata, Monroe Models, Caboose Industries, Yardgoat Images, Evergreen Hill Designs and Grasstech USA. Come see the newest products from these national manufacturers.

Our Kids Corner features hands-on train layouts, story time, face painting, children's railroad theatre, a ride on train, kids engineer portraits and train races. Our Build-A-Layout program provides an opportunity for children to learn the skills to build a train layout, which will be given away as the grand prize on Sunday. Our Kid-In-A-Cab program features numerous opportunities for kids to run trains on their own.

Ed Dickens, Jr., Senior Manager of Heritage Operations for the Union Pacific Railroad will be doing a presentation on the history, move and restoration to service of big boy locomotive 4014.

The Regional Transportation District's FasTracks group will be on hand to provide updates on our favorite transit projects.

The Adams County Sheriff's Department will be on hand with their Adams County Sheriff's Identification kit to help parents keep your kids safe.

Adult admission is $9; children under 12 and active military personnel with ID are free. Admission is good for both days. Parking is $5. Tickets may be purchased at King Soopers stores, online at www.ticketswest.com, and at the door.

Conversations About Women's Health

Let's Talk about...Keeping Your Interior Highway in Top Notch Condition

We have over 100,000 miles of blood vessels in our bodies. Cardiovascular disease, the #1 killer of both men and women, occurs when these vessels do not function as they should, usually because of the presence of plaque that builds up in the walls of the vessels. Atherosclerosis, or the build-up of plaque, can lead to coronary artery disease, stroke, and peripheral artery disease.

Join us for lunchtime learning as our expert physicians and researchers explain how plaque forms in our vessels, how the formation of plaque is different in men and women, and how to minimize your risk of cardiovascular disease and stroke—no matter how old you are. Gain a better understanding of target numbers and why it is important to know your numbers and monitor them regularly with your health care provider.

Spotlight on Joseph Hess
Project Angel Heart

On behalf of the Volunteers of America Denver RSVP, we would like to recognize Joseph Hess for this quarter's Volunteer Spotlight.

For many, the word angel brings forth images associated with divine guardianship. For volunteer, Joseph Hess, one word captivates the essence of this word-caring. Since 2004 he has been an earth angel helping to relieve the burdens of those in need of food as a delivery driver for Project Angel Heart and Meals on Wheels. In his personal 4-wheel drive vehicle, Joseph makes 7-18 deliveries on his Saturday run for Project Angel Heart which takes approximately 2-3 hours. Every week the Project Angel Heart team provides 5 highly nutritious, no cost meals to approximately 1,000 clients affected by life threatening and debilitating illnesses such as AIDS, cancer, and multiple sclerosis, to name a few. On Tuesdays, Joseph prepares for his Meals on Wheels route, and 4 days a week he volunteers at Rose Medical Center as a Patient Information Representative. While on duty at Rose, Joseph may find himself assuming the role as an angel-of-comfort, rendering invaluable emotional support to visitors and staff.

No matter the capacity, Joe has discovered that being a volunteer instills a sense of satisfaction which adds to his belief that each and every day he serves, is a day that has not been wasted. Joe sees his contributions as an RSVP volunteer as being a means and a privilege of paying-it-forward, in response to the many blessings that he has been able to experience throughout his soon to be 77 years of life.

Thank you Joseph for a job well done, and for being the heartbeat of an angel!

Fraud: 5 scams aimed at the elderly

By Teri Cettina • Bankrate.com

Highlights

- The elderly are scammed out of some $2.6 billion per year.
- It's illegal for Americans to enter a lottery in a foreign country.
- Donations for Haitian relief should be made through the Red Cross.

If you're visiting your elderly mom or dad and see an excessive amount of junk mail, take note: Your elderly parent might be a prime target for fraud.

"If your parents' mail is filled with sweepstakes notifications, free gift offers and more magazines than they could possibly read, chances are good they're on a 'sucker list,'" warns John Breyault, director of the National Consumers League's fraud center. Once a senior takes the bait for one scam, thieves sell the person's name, address and telephone number, and fake mailings proliferate.

You should also be concerned if your elderly parent receives lots of telephone sales calls while you're visiting, or mentions getting 20 or more unsolicited phone calls per day. "Scammers know senior citizens answer their phone, and are reluctant to hang up on anyone," says Jean Mathisen, director of AARP's Fraud Fighter Call Center. And as with junk mail, rip-off artists sell names and phone numbers of seniors who prove to be phone-receptive.

Although it's widely believed to be underreported, a 2009 study by MetLife's Mature Market Institute estimates that seniors lose approximately $2.6 billion per year due to financial abuse – fraud, as well as theft by family members and acquaintances.

If you suspect your parent may be vulnerable to false offers -- even if they haven't been hooked yet -- take time to educate them, says Breyault. If Mom and Dad are Internet-savvy, direct them to the Federal Trade Commission's Web site where they can read up on the latest reported financial schemes. AARP also reports on senior fraud stories, as does the National Consumers League, or NCL.

You can also print out articles for the elderly about the latest senior scams. A few to watch for:

The grandparents scheme

The senior answers his phone and a young voice says, "Hey, Grandpa, it's your favorite grandson, and I'm in trouble." Senior says, "John, is that you?" The caller responds, yes, it's John -- he's calling from a friend's cell phone and he's been in an accident. He's out of state and needs his grandpa to wire some money right away.

What the senior should do: Check with family members to see if the grandchild is truly traveling. Never volunteer names to "grandkids" that don't immediately identify themselves, says Breyault. Chances are good that the caller will hang up if the elderly person challenges him.

The fake lottery/sweepstakes

This mail scam comes in two flavors: The "pay to play" scheme or the "You've won! Here's your check" scam. The first ploy entices seniors to buy inexpensive trinkets or magazine subscriptions (which they really do receive) in order to have their name entered in the contest. In the second case, the elderly person receives an authentic-looking check, with notification they've already won the Jamaican (or another foreign country) lottery.

What the senior should do: Shred both offers. It's illegal for companies to require you to buy anything to enter a sweepstakes. If they do, they're scammers, says Breyault. It's also illegal for Americans to enter a foreign country's lottery. These scams require the "winner" to wire back a share of their "winnings" (which will initially clear the bank but later prove counterfeit) for taxes or administrative fees.

The discount prescription scam

Callers offer seniors prescription drugs at 50 percent off. The catch: Hucksters require a $200 "membership fee" to join a discount club, along with seniors' credit card numbers. Or the drugs never arrive as promised, or the "medicine" is actually a generic herbal replacement.

What the senior should do: Be dubious. Encourage the elderly person to check with their state's program for low-income health insurance (often called a state health insurance program, or SHIP). These agencies maintain a list of reputable discount programs.

The credit card company fraud call

This caller often hits later at night and says he's from the senior's credit card company. He even IDs the last four digits of your parents' charge card as proof. He's checking on a possible fraudulent purchase. When the senior denies making the purchase, the caller offers to reverse it immediately. He just needs the three- or four-digit verification code on the back of his or her credit card.

What the seniors should do: Suspect foul play. "Thieves have probably copied the front of your parents' card, but still need the verification code," says Mathisen. The seniors should hang up and call their credit card issuers immediately, using the number on the back of the card. They'll likely learn that the original call was a scam. It's a good idea to cancel and replace the card, just in case.

The 'Help for Haiti' hustle

Polite door-to-door solicitors ask for donations on behalf of any number of charitable organizations. They may also call and purport to be soliciting funds for the Red Cross.

What the senior should do: Say "No, thanks." Instead, they should mail charitable contributions directly to their local Red Cross or established church/charity. If seniors continue to get phone calls, help them put their phone number on the "Do Not Call" registry, toll free (888) 382-1222.

January 24 and 25, 2015

Pinehurst Country Club - Denver, Colorado.

Hosted by

The Colorado Toy Train Group, LLC

Lionel Collectors Club of America

The Colorado Toy Train Group, LLC (CTTG) and Lionel Collectors Club of America (LCCA) will cohost their third A Day of Fun with Toy Trains Special Event. This year's event will be at the Pinehurst Country Club, 6255 Quincy Avenue, Denver, Colorado 80235. Attendees will be excited to see toy train layouts operating in G, HO, N, O, S, and Z Gauges. Children, of all ages, will be able to operate accessories and trains on some of the layouts, and the youngest children can ride in a battery-powered train.

2015 Show Schedule

Sunday Jan 25th - Public Train Show & CTTG/LCCA Operating Session

Sunday's 9 am – 3 pm operating session is open to the public and free admission.

G, HO, N, O, S, and Z Scale operating layout...Riding train for kids...

Admission is free, and the first 100 children receive a backpack full of goodies

This year we are supporting the Wounded Warriors Family Adventures (<http://www.woundedwarriorsfamilyskiweek.org/>) non-profit organization. Attendees can donate to this worthwhile organization throughout the operating sessions. Donations help wounded warriors' perception of what they can achieve by re-engaging in or learning new activities they only dreamed possible. Reconnect family members through shared family experiences.

Lamont Winter Concert Season offers Guest & Faculty Recitals, Symphony and Jazz

DENVER - The Lamont School of Music's Winter Concert Season will offer a wide range of performances. Highlights include a preview of a Carnegie Hall debut, the Grieg Piano Concerto in A Minor and a Jazz Night featuring The American Songbook with the Cherry Creek Chorale.

Faculty and Guest Artist performances, all in Hamilton Recital Hall, open Monday, January 5 at 7:30 p.m. Jeremy W. Reynolds (clarinet), Hillary Herndon (viola) and Bernadette Lo (piano) will present a recital that is the first in a series leading up to their Carnegie Hall debut. Organist Joseph Galema will perform on the magnificent William K. Coors organ on Sunday, January 11 at 4:30 p.m. And pianist Laura Melton from Bowling Green University appears on Tuesday, January 20 at 7:30 p.m.

Next Ukrainian-American pianist Mykola Suk brings his internationally-acclaimed talent to Lamont on Tuesday, February 17 at 7:30 p.m. Hailed as a "brilliantly distinguished group," The Merling Trio performs on Friday, February 20 at 7:30 p.m., and the winter recital season ends with a performance by Colorado Symphony Concertmaster Yumi Hwang-Williams (violin) with Susan Grace (piano) on Thursday, March 5 at 7:30 p.m. Faculty and Guest Recitals are $10.

The Lamont Symphony Orchestra will perform three concerts in June Swaner Gates Concert Hall. On Sunday, January 18 at 3:00 p.m. guest Kirk Trevor conducts heralded faculty pianist Steven Mayer in the Grieg Piano Concerto in A Minor. Also on the program will be Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 5 and Borodin's In the Steppes of Central Asia. Thursday, February 12 at 7:30 p.m., Lawrence Golan conducts Peck's The Glory and the Grandeur and the Rachmaninoff Symphony No. 2. Finally, on Tuesday, March 1 at 7:30 p.m., the Lamont Symphony Orchestra features the winner of the DU Solo Competition, the Colorado premiere of Mason Bates's Mothership and two works by Richard Strauss – Death & Transfiguration and Till Eulenspiegels lustige Streiche. Free tickets are required and $5 Reserved Seating is available.

Jazz fills the air with the DU Jazz Faculty Combo on Wednesday, February 25 at 7:30 p.m. in Hamilton Recital Hall. A special Jazz Night featuring Denver's Cherry Creek Chorale performing The American Songbook with the Lamont Jazz Orchestra takes place on Wednesday, March 4 at 7:30 p.m. in Gates Concert Hall. The DU Jazz Faculty Combo concert is $10 and Jazz Night is free admission.

All concerts are in the Robert and Judi Newman Center for the Performing Arts on the University of Denver campus at University Boulevard and Iliff Avenue. Purchase tickets through the Newman Center Box Office online at www.newmantix.com/lamont, call 303.871.7720, or visit the box office in the Newman Center, open 10:00am to 4:00pm Monday – Friday. Parking for these performances is complimentary one hour before curtain in the Newman Center garage.

Subject: James George Hutchison...WWII PATRIOT OF THE DAY...HONORED BY YOU ON WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 18TH.

Hello RICK... Both the Family and I are very appreciative of your reading of James' BIO, and honoring him as you did.

His youngest Son Joe, 57 years of age, is currently and has been hospitalized with cancer, for the past 6 months at the University Hospital in Aurora. He wasn't even able to attend his Dad's funeral down in Holly.

When I notified the Family of your broadcast times, his older brother John, took a radio down to the hospital so that Joe would be able to hear you Honor his Dad.

According to John, the tears welled up in Joe's eyes, and the pride he had in his Father James became very visible as he listened to you honor James!!!

His doctors do not believe that he will last much longer. After your broadcast finished he asked his brother John if there was any way to get a copy of the audio clip that you aired on his Dad, so that he could listen to it on a daily basis, for as long as he may have days left???

So Rick, I'm asking on Joe's behalf...if you could and would email me a copy of or a link to that broadcast on James George Hutchison.....so that we can fulfill his Son's request?

Thanking You in advance, for anything you can do to help the Hutchison and Harmon Families fulfill Joe's request.

Sincerely,

Chuck Jones

Lakewood Elks Host a Special Veterans' Birthday Party

Sunday, February 15, 2015, Lakewood Elks Lodge 1777, chaired by Venita Collier, gave a FREE Veterans' Birthday Party to all veterans and a guest in Lakewood and Metro Denver area. We even had some who came from as far as Colorado Springs for this event. What a FANTASTIC day this was.

Over 200 were served a delicious Pot Roast Dinner with all the trimmings prepared by Chef Richard Lucero topped with a variety of cake choices made by King Soopers.

Invocation was done by Steve Patterson.

Special entertainment was, Dave Brady, singing old time country songs; Ron Tomocik, an outstanding accordionist and a nine time Gold Medal Winner at the National Veterans Creative Arts Festival in Milwaukee, WI. Ron serenaded all while eating. There isn't anything that he could not play. Final entertainment was a comedian, Dickey Bill Wagner.

Last year we did a Valentine Party and this year I chose to celebrate every veteran's birthday and call it a Birthday Party. There were many that even said, 'My birthday is today.'

Venita gave each lady a valentine chocolate heart and John Collier gave each veteran a Flag Pin, made in USA.

We spread the News with flyers everywhere; had it in the Hub News and Thanks to Rick Crandall for putting it on his Daily Radio Show KEZW. All of this paid off as the Lodge was full.

Thanks to the outstanding volunteers we had from our Lodge and the volunteers that came from Central City Lodge. All of you guys were top-notch. I could not have asked for more.

Many wonder how we footed the bill. This all was made possible through the $2,000.00 Freedom Grant from Elks National Foundation that was awarded to us. This is how your ENF dollars work. Some ask if we will do this again next year. That depends on if we will be awarded the Freedom Grant again. I will apply again so let's hope we get it.

The day concluded with Benediction and TAPS played by Paula Shaffer. It was a superb day, enjoyed by everyone and appreciated by all.

God Bless Our Veterans and Thank You Veterans from All of Us.

Rick,

I just wanted to thank you for having Jack Zlomke's audio file sent to us. My wife is thrilled and I forwarded it to the Veteran's Home in Grand Island, NE so that Jack could listen to it.

I would also like to thank you for answering my first email. Your response came on Sunday, and I know you don't work on Sunday. I can tell you are very dedicated and I would like to say that your devotion to the perfection of your broadcasting hasn't gone unnoticed.

You mentioned looking for volunteering opportunities sooner rather than later, which I took to mean you will be retiring shortly?

I am a retired railroad Special Agent. When you decide to make the transition and have more time on your hands, my wife and I would be honored to take you out for dinner. You have a very soothing radio voice and it's almost like we know you personally.

Rick,

I was traveling along US 160 in northern Arizona yesterday, en route to Kayenta and Monument Valley.

Studio 1430 came in clear as a bell as the radio was searching for an AM channel. Nothing on FM at all. I enjoyed almost 25 minutes of your great music, and I didn't have to stream. Then I picked up a station out of Los Angeles, not nearly as enjoyable.

Hope your Valentines for Veterans was a huge success!

Rick,

I enjoy listening to your station as I feel your family and that your broadcasting to me. Always have enjoyed the music, but back about in 2000, while listening to KEZW 1430, I would get bleed over from AM 760. What I heard was interesting, so after finding that station, became a regular listener of "The Ed Show, Randi Rhoades, and Thom Hartmann. Now that the show has changed format from progressive speakers, I'm back to listening you again. I find your music to be ...relaxing.

I'm a retired railroad Special Agent and am a cancer survivor and my wife had some heart problems. We now focus on looking for opportunities that help people. My wife makes baby blankets and has given them to neighbors and nursing homes and I volunteer with the Thornton Police Department thru their alumni program.

Just thought I'd give a shout out to let you know we're back.....glad your still there.

A great interview with the Dr. from CU Med Center on Saturday.. Our Son Greg suffers from food allergies etc. it started when he was 14 yrs or so. We spent alot of time and money testing to find out what he could eat. It would have been so easy to have just had a blood test, would have saved Greg and us alot of misery. I worked so hard on his diet and as soon as he was away from us he would go to McDonalds. It wasn't until he got older that he realized that is was something serious and he had to be careful and make better choices, as you know

Mom never knows what she is talking about.

Thanks for those great programs.

Hi, Rick,

Congratulations on your great career on the Breakfast Club. I wish you many more years. I have been a faithful listener for the past 16 years and you brighten up the beginning of my day. You have been playing a song that is unfamiliar to me and I would like to know the name of the song and the artist...I suspect Foster and Allen or John McDermott. The one part of the song that I remember are the words....."reminds me of you". Please help, it is driving me nuts! I lost my loving husband 7 years ago, a few months before your Mom passed away. The song has meaning to me because so many things are reminders these past years.

Thanks for your help and keep bringing all the songs and the happy upbeat words to us. To paraphrase Clint Eastwood "You make my day".

Fondly,

Went to the Paramount for the concert. Oh my, what fun. We were in the balcony, front row. It was just a fun time. Neat organs (both of them) and the band from the Air Force Academy. Not a full house but enough to make it fun. Thanks for telling us about it. Appreciate your keeping us up on fun stuff to do.

Dear Mr. Crandall,

Hello, this is Katie again, in the Longmont Chorale. I don't know if you remember but I sent you an email last Christmas about the choir's holiday performance. First, I wanted to thank you so much for mentioning us on your show! It helped an incredible amount, we got a great audience and the concert was a success. Thank you!!

And I was wondering if I could request your generosity again. The choir is putting on a special concert celebrating the Civil War sesquicentennial and we're trying to drum up some publicity again. I'm sending you this much earlier this time, the concert is on Sunday, May 3rd. Same place (LifeBridge Christian Church, 10345 Ute Hwy 66, Longmont.) at 3:00pm. We're going to have several Civil War reenactment groups there taking part, and the cello/guitar duo Acoustic Eidolon. We're singing both battle songs (Dixie, Battle Hymn of the Republic etc.) and some parlor songs from the time as well. (Long Long Ago, Beautiful Dreamer etc.) The choir will have some posters and other info up on their website soon! Your shoutout helped so much last time, I was hoping you might find time for another one. :)

Thank you for taking the time out of your busy schedule to read my emails. :) I was really thrilled to receive your reply last Christmas, I'm a pretty big fan of yours and your station! I'm always proud to tell my friends that my favorite radio channel is Studio 1430! (Which some people think is a bit odd since I'm only 17. Teens nowadays don't usually listen to the golden oldies, which I think is a real shame.)

If it's too much trouble, you don't have to mention this concert. I don't want to take advantage of your station or anything, I'm kind of doing this on the spur of the moment. Even if you don't have the time to mention the concert, I really appreciate your seeing this email anyway! And goodness, I just realized how long it was! Sorry, I have a habit of talking a lot. :)

Anyway, thanks for all the great music,

Katie

Hi Rick.

Let me begin by saying my wife , Sally, and I have listened to you on KEZW for many years and I compliment you on the terrific mix of music on your playlists.. As kids we grew up in households where a radio was always on and we got a regular diet of swing and Sinatra mixed in with Presley and Little Richard. So we thank you for playing the music of our parents along with some of the music of our rebellious youth.

I am writing primarily to underline your recommendation of Aspenwood Dental. I recently took my 77 year old sister in for a consultation to get full mouth dentures.

Many years of neglect had left her with few teeth that severely limited her ability to eat a nutritious diet. She was self conscious and frightened, but determined to do something. On her first visit, the staff was incredible. They went out of their way to make her feel comfortable and welcome. Her options were explained fully and there was never a time when she felt rushed or pressured. After a final consult with Dr. Augustine, a date was set.

I will skip ahead to say that my sister had the procedure two days ago and has quickly adjusted to her new teeth and is already looking forward to her first steak. She had endured terrible dental health for nearly 20 years and is now happier and healthier than I can remember. Aspenwood has changed her life and I can't thank them enough. And additional thanks to you, Rick, for aligning yourself with such a tremendous group of people. They are everything you say they are and more.

All the best,
John Sunderland

Hi Mark,

Vince Coakley, in my opinion, is vastly more suited for the the 6-10 here in upstate South Carolina. Tara is a great addition to the team, but her female/mommy/not vocally Christian point of view may be better 10-12 when the soccer moms are up and heading to the gym. Leave the 6-10 for male/commuting/tax-paying/news talk time. Vince is knowledgeable, intelligent, well-spoken and his voice doesn't jar at 7am like Tara's. Just my 2 cents.

Howdy Rick-

Here's another fun link I thought you might enjoy,

<http://playback.fm/birthday-song>

BTW - I love your banter with the "traffic guy", but I cannot always recall his name (DOH!); it's groovy to hear some witty conversation between two humorous intellectuals during drivetime (even tho the cow guts wasn't my best example...)!

Good Day Sir,

Brenda,

Sorry to hear that you are not enjoying the Tara show, but are enjoying other programming aspects of 1063 WORD. We are working hard to put out the best product possible. Honest feedback is always helpful.

Thanks for listening.

I just wanted to let you know that I used to enjoy your morning programming tremendously but since The Tara Show was introduced, you have lost me to radio station 94.5. They are not as good as Lisa and Lee, however much better than Tara. I gave her a fair try by listening to her for over two weeks. Her voice is like sandpaper rubbing against my body. She's just not my kind of people. I am but one among your listeners but I felt I needed to share with you. Vince is wonderful, Rush is so entertaining and Bob McLain is great. Tara is another story. Thank you for taking the time to listen.

Rick:

I want you to know how much I enjoyed attending Sunday's concert. The seats were just far enough back from the stage and in the middle. The music was varied and sound quality superb.

Thanks for a terrific experience!

Morning, Rick. Greetings to Jim as well.

I feel compelled to thank you, and all of Denver, for taking this snowy hit. In some ways, it feels like you are taking an "ice" bullet on behalf of Boston. You should know we appreciate it and feel your pain – in the back, legs, arms and pretty much all over. With the temperature swings Denver seems to have, I think this storm will be history for you long before we can say the same for the ones that have come our way recently.

Better days await, all filled with that great music you continue to provide.

Take care of that cold.

All the best.

Mike
