Director of Community and Client Services
Fox23 WXXA-TV/DT
VTV The Variety Channel
28 Corporate Circle
Albany, NY 12203

Dear Ardelle,

I wanted to again personally thank you and the incredible team over at Fox23 for taking such a lead role in promoting the Taste of Saratoga. I can say confidently that your support for this event helped us launch it into a new realm!

The numbers themselves are unbelievable – we are looking at a nearly 70 percent increase over last year's total! We are thrilled with the 400 guests we had in attendance as well. This not only translates to increased awareness of our mission in the community, but bolsters the efforts of the restaurants participating and our sponsors. Overall this was the most successful fundraiser we have ever had.

Ardelle, I would love to personally invite you and members of your team for a tour of the shelter, so that you can see firsthand how your support is helping the homeless in our community. Thank you so much for your partnership. I am really looking forward to working with you in the near future!

Sincerely,

Erin Crum
Director of Development

PS- I have the fox banners and will give them to Sodie to give to you!
Thank you!!

Ascertainment Meetings	May 13, 2008	Executive Assistant, Regina Stewart attended this monthly Ascertainment meeting on behalf of FOX23. The meetings are comprised of local radio and television station reps and the focus is to discuss community matters and implement them into weekly community affairs shows for broadcast. Each meeting is held at a different broadcasting station locally. The meeting was held at Clear Channel Radio in Albany, NY and the topic was summer community events
Internships	Ongoing	FOX23 strives to educate students about jobs in broadcasting thru hands on Internship programs. Students work in various departments using professional equipment and learning all about News operations and how a TV station operates. Students earn college credit and are evaluated on their participation and work ethic.
		During the second quarter of 2008, FOX23 had six News interns working in various parts of the News Room (one each from Niskayuna HS, Shenendehowa HS, Shaker HS, St. Rose College and two students from SUNY Albany).

Local 7, Plumbers & Steamfitters

4/6/08

Tease:

His union members have become a fixture at the UAlbany NanoCollege, creating new opportunities for high-tech business and careers, while also learning new skills for the nanotechnology jobs of the 21st century. We'll talk with Edward Nadeau of Local 7, coming up next. Also, a CNSE professor takes nano education to a whole new level. And, a new nano air filter is keeping your car humming along. It's all next, on NanoNow.

Hello:

Hello, and welcome to NanoNow, a presentation of UAlbany's College of Nanoscale Science and Engineering. I'm your host, Steve Janack, pleased that you've joined us for our weekly look inside the pioneering world of nanotechnology. In a moment, we'll speak with Ed Nadeau of Local 7, Plumbers & Steamfitters. But first, let's get you up to date with our weekly check of NanoNews...

Teases:

Ed Nadeau is Business Manager with Local 7, Plumbers & Steamfitters. We're back in a moment to talk about the union's partnership with the UAlbany NanoCollege. We'll also check NanoStox, and Ann Hughes explains how nanotechnology is being used to make a better air filter for your car. Stay with us, on NanoNow...

Ed Nadeau is Business Manager with Local 7, Plumbers & Steamfitters...coming up, we'll talk more about the exciting future that nanotechnology is opening up for skilled tradespeople. But first, here's Ann Hughes with Nano & You...

Ed Nadeau is Business Manager with Local 7, Plumbers & Steamfitters...We'll pause for a moment, when we come back, a CNSE faculty member conducts a class in Nano 101. When we return, on NanoNow...

Wrap:

Back with Eddie Nadeau, thanks for being here. We close today with CNSE Professor of Nanoscience Dr. Ernie Levine, who is gearing up for his latest introductory course into the world of nanotechnology...

Close:

Again, our thanks to Eddie Nadeau of Local 7, and to our media partner, Fox 23. I'm Steve Janack of the College of Nanoscale Science and Engineering, thanks for watching and we'll see you next time, on NanoNow.

Welcome back. NanoNow is a presentation of UAlbany's College of Nanoscale Science and Engineering. I'm your host, Steve Janack. More now of our conversation with the Director of the Center for Nanoscale Science and Technology at NIST, Bob Celotta...

The Director of the Center for Nanoscale Science and Technology at NIST, Bob Celotta. When we come back, we'll take you "Inside CNSE," where you'll meet a faculty member at the UAlbany NanoCollege whose work is focused on an area considered the "quality control" of nanoelectronics. When we return, on NanoNow...

Wrap:

We close today with our "Inside CNSE" segment, and Professor Alain Diebold, who introduces us to the world of metrology...

Close:

Again, our thanks to Bob Celotta of NIST, and to our media partner, Fox 23. I'm Steve Janack of the College of Nanoscale Science and Engineering, thanks for watching and we'll see you next time, on NanoNow.

G. Thomas Selfridge
Owner & President
Albany Valve & Fitting Co.

Tease:

His company has tapped into the UAlbany NanoCollege and New York State's fast-growing nanotech economy, providing critical products and services that have opened up new opportunities for his business. A conversation with Tom Selfridge of Albany Valve & Fitting Company, coming up next. Also, nanotechnology is being used to wipe out graffiti. And, our iKnow Nano segment for kids features a look at nano cars. It's all next, on NanoNow.

Hello:

Hello, and welcome to NanoNow, a presentation of UAlbany's College of Nanoscale Science and Engineering. I'm your host, Steve Janack, pleased that you've joined us for our weekly look inside the pioneering world of nanotechnology. In a moment, we'll speak with Tom Selfridge, owner & president of Albany Valve & Fitting Company. But first, let's get you up to date with our weekly check of NanoNews...

Teases:

Tom Selfridge is owner & president of Albany Valve & Fitting Company..We're back in a moment to talk about his company's partnership with the UAlbany NanoCollege. We'll also check NanoStox, and Ann Hughes explains how nanotechnology is coming to the rescue against graffiti. Stay with us, on NanoNow...

Tom Selfridge is owner & president of Albany Valve & Fitting Company. ...coming up, we'll discuss the exciting future that nanotechnology is opening up for support companies across the state. But first, here's Ann Hughes with Nano & You...

"NanoNow" – Michaelsen

5/18/08

Erik Michaelsen
Manager, Flip Chip Technology
IBM – Bromont

Tease:

He is a key executive at IBM's computer chip packaging facility in Quebec ...and he sees great potential for collaboration with the UAlbany NanoCollege and New York State. A conversation with Erik Michaelsen is on the way next. Also, a faculty member at CNSE explores the world of nanobioscience... and, nanotechnology is used to make a backpack that generates electricity. It's all next, on NanoNow.

Hello:

Hello, and welcome to NanoNow, a presentation of UAlbany's College of Nanoscale Science and Engineering. I'm your host, Steve Janack, pleased that you've joined us for our weekly look inside the pioneering world of nanotechnology. In a moment, we'll speak with Erik Michaelsen, manager of Flip Chip Technology for IBM Bromont. But first, let's get you up to date with our weekly check of NanoNews...

Teases:

Thanks. The introduction of nanoelectronics has meant new challenges and opportunities in many areas, including computer chip packaging. Erik Michaelsen, manager of Flip Chip Technology for IBM in Bromont, Quebec, says nanotechnology is already having an impact on the work done at his manufacturing facility...

Erik Michaelsen, manager of Flip Chip Technology for IBM in Bromont, Quebec. We're back in a moment to talk about the close relationship between nanotechnology research, development and manufacturing. Also on the way, a check of NanoStox, and Ann Hughes explains how nanotechnology is turning a backpack into a portable source of electricity. Stay with us, on NanoNow.

Welcome back. We're talking with Erik Michaelsen, manager of Flip Chip Technology for IBM in Bromont, Quebec, which is certainly seeing an impact as a result of the emergence of nanotechnology. He says one of the biggest is the need for research, development and manufacturing to work together to drive effectiveness and efficiency ...

"NanoNow" – CNSE Brings High-Tech Talent Back to New York

Christopher Borst
Process Engineering Manager, CNSE

Warren Montgomery
Principal Investigator, Technical Programs, CNSE

Laura Schultz
Assistant Professor of Nanoeconomics, CNSE

Tease:

You know that the UAlbany NanoCollege is attracting the world's leading tech companies to the Empire State. At the same time, it's doing something equally important: bringing high-tech talent back to New York. Meet some of those professionals, on the way next. Also, students participating in the Future City Competition get some help from CNSE. And, nanotechnology is now keeping your winter hat a little cleaner. It's all next, on NanoNow.

Hello:

Hello, and welcome to NanoNow, a presentation of UAlbany's College of Nanoscale Science and Engineering. I'm your host, Steve Janack, pleased that you've joined us for our weekly look inside the pioneering world of nanotechnology. "NanoNow" – May Highlight Lots happening this month on NanoNow... we met Bob Celotta of NIST, Tom Selfridge of Albany Valve & Fitting and Erik Michaelsen of IBM – Bromont, Quebec. The highlights are on the way. Also, our segment for kids, iKnow Nano, provides an introduction to nanotechnology. And, golf balls that fly straighter, thanks to nano. It's all next, on NanoNow.

Hello:

Hello, and welcome to NanoNow, a presentation of UAlbany's College of Nanoscale Science and Engineering. I'm your host, Steve Janack, pleased that you've joined us for our weekly look inside the pioneering world of nanotechnology. In a moment, part of our conversation with Bob Celotta of the National Institute of Standards and Technology. But first, let's get you up to date with our weekly check of NanoNews .....

Teases:

Thanks. Bob Celotta is Director of the Center for Nanoscale Science and Technology, part of the National Institute of Standards and Technology in Washington, which has just entered into a new collaboration with the UAlbany NanoCollege. The result will be cutting-edge research and education that will benefit both the nanoelectronics industry and national competitiveness ...

Bob Celotta, Director of the Center for Nanoscale Science and Technology at NIST in Washington. We're back in a moment with highlights of our interview with Tom Selfridge, Owner and President of Albany Valve & Fitting. Dr. Edward Cupoli
Professor & Head, NanoEconomics Constellation
CNSE

Tease:

He is leading a course of study at the UAlbany NanoCollege that's breaking new ground worldwide in nanotechnology. Meet Edward Cupoli, Professor and head of CNSE's NanoEconomics Constellation, coming up next. Also, we'll give you a look at some new research at CNSE designed to reduce large turbine emissions. And, nanotechnology just might make your next fishing trip more successful. It's all next, on NanoNow.

Hello:

"NanoNow" – Frye

Harvey Frye
President
Tokyo Electron America

6/22/08

Tease:

He is a top US executive for a key corporate partner at the UAlbany NanoCollege...and he sees the company's research center at CNSE as critical to his company's future. Meet Harvey Frye, President of Tokyo Electron America, coming up next. Also, our nanotechnology for kids segment, iKnow Nano, has a look at how we see things at the nanoscale. And, a new knee brace is improved by nanotechnology. It's all next, on NanoNow.

Hello:

Hello, and welcome to NanoNow, a presentation of UAlbany's College of Nanoscale Science and Engineering. I'm your host, Steve Janack, pleased that you've joined us for our weekly look inside the pioneering world of nanotechnology. In a moment, we'll speak with Harvey Frye of Tokyo Electron America. But first, let's get you up to date with our weekly check of NanoNews...

Teases:

Thanks. Tokyo Electron is not only one of the anchor tenants, if you will, at the UAlbany NanoCollege...but one of the world's leaders in the nanoelectronics industry. The President of Tokyo Electron America, Harvey Frye, says in the global technology economy of the 21st century, collaboration has become more than a buzzword...it's critical for success...

Harvey Frye, President of Tokyo Electron America. We're back in a moment to talk about TEL's partnership with the UAlbany NanoCollege. Also on the way, a check of NanoStox, and Ann Hughes explains how nanotechnology is helping to improve the fabric in a new knee brace. Stay with us, on NanoNow.
