0:20	10/20/2020	11:10p	accidents and Disasters	an f-18 crashed this morning in kern county, but the pilot managed to eject in time. this is right after it crashed. it flew out of lamar naval air station and crashed in ridgecrest.
0:39	10/20/2020	11:11p	accidents and Disasters	new findings today in the deadly dive boat fire off the coast of santa cruz island last year. investigators say that the owner of the boat, truth aquatics, lacked oversight and failed to have a night watchman on board. the fire aboard the conception killed 33 people who were going diving the next morning and one crew member.
0:29	10/20/2020	11:14p	accidents and Disasters	get out right now. hurry, get out. get out of the car. a dramatic rescue after this fiery crash. the davis police department shared video of an officer pulling the driver to safety after she was trapped in her overturned car.
1:00	10/21/2020	11:00p	accidents and Disasters	good evening. it is 11:00 and we have breaking news in the southpark area of los angeles. a police cruiser down there pretty much ripped apart and bon officer stuck inside. gil levyas overhead in news chopper 4. gil. reporter: it was a violent collision that happened just before 10:30. you can see the lapd newton division officer here. there were two officers inside the vehicle. you see the damage done to the car there.
2:44	10/26/2020	11:01p	accidents and Disasters	and nbc4's beverly white is live near the 7,000 acre silverado fire. beverly? reporter: that's right, chuck. in fact this evening orange county fire authority tells us that fire is at about 72 hun acres with zero percent containment. this just in this evening. they believe this fire, the silver ado, possibly started by utility lines weakened by the winds. firefighters from across our region bracing against the winds, battling the silverado fire near irvine industrial park east. southern california edison now says the fire may have been ignited by a lashing wire making contact with one of its overhead conductors. fire crews on structure protection after the fire crossed alton parkway. they're gravely injured. their families are with them. i was with them when their families arrived obviously very emotional. reporter: the fire shut down toll roads and chased thousands from their homes, including these evacuees from irvine. we saw the smoke outside. this morning it was really smoky. we saw a lot of stuff in the sky. after we packed up, we put the things inside of the car, and then that's when the police came and like, okay, everybody, you have to go, go, go.
2:09	10/26/2020	11:04p	accidents and Disasters	let's bring in nbc4's hetty chang live in corona where the blue ridge fire started this afternoon. hetty. reporter: yeah. carolyn, we're just off the 91 freeway and green river road. we learned that this is the heel of the fire. as you just mentioned, this is also where the fire started just before 1:00 this afternoon. really hard to believe that the fire has burned this intensely for so many hours. behind us here is one neighborhood that firefighters are really keeping a close eye on as this fire is nowhere near contained. by nightfall, the blue ridge fire had burned some 3,000 acres, crossing corona and into the hillsides of yorba linda. the night embers near foxtail drive crackling behind this homeowner, who stayed behind. are you packed up and ready to go? oh, yeah. my whole family is packed up. i was the only one left. reporter: some 1,100 homes under evacuation orders tonight.
0:22	10/26/2020	11:07p	accidents and Disasters	whenever you have a large fire like you have tonight, animal shelters are busy with lost and stray pets. these are just a few that escaped the blue ridge fire.

2:07	10/20/2020	11:06p	Business & Industry	theme park operators got disappointing news from the state tonight. diz leland and universal studios cannot reopen until counties reached the least restrictive. reporter: welcome to adventurer city, the little theme park that's big on family fun. this is anaheim's other theme park, adventurer city. it too has been shuttered since march. we've gone from 150 employees to right now we're gdown to fou. reporter: that's including allen. his 25 year family owned business is very different from disneyland but it falls under the state's small theme park guidelines which means the park can reopen with restrictions once orange county moves from red to the less restrictive orange tier. this whole pandemic thing for amusement parks has been -- i was going to say a roller coaster, but that's -- that's funny. he has to decide whether opening with restrictions makes sense.
2:50	10/21/2020	11:15p	Business & Industry	tens of thousands out of work and billions of dollars lost. that's the situation at southern california's most popular theme parks, and tonight for the first time we are learning from the people who run those parks, disneyland, universal studios, knott's berry farm, six flags magic mountain and legoland have all been closed since march. they're so big they can probably ride all of this out, at least for a while, but what about the tens of thousands of employees and the impact that this is having on the local economy financially? already theme park industry here has lost about $23 billion according to the international association of amusement parks and attractions. disney says this pandemic has cost its parks $3.5 billion with an 85% loss in revenue. last month disney said it would have to layoff about 28,000 employees. the anaheim theme park contributes about $8.5 billion every year to the local economy, and there are thousands of workers representing about 3.5% of all of the jobs in orange county. now, those numbers come from cal state fullerton. there is no question that these theme parks want to reopen, and they say it can be done safely, but the state says no, not until their counties reach the governor's least restrictive yellow tier.
0:23	10/21/2020	11:28p	Business & Industry	purdue pharma has agreed to pay an $8 billion settlement for its part in the country's opioid crisis. the criminal charges are part of an aggressive effort by the federal government to hold the drug majorer accountable for deaths.
0:23	10/21/2020	11:32p	Business & Industry	the hummer is back with an electric twist. the gas guzzling suv was discontinued in 2010, but maker gm says this electric super truck is an improved version with a range of 350 miles that goes 0 to 60 in three seconds.
0:17	11/4/2020	11:18p	Business & Industry	no mask, no service. businesses in los angeles can now turn away any person not wearing a face covering. the city council voted unanimously today to authorize the proposal that was first introduced by herb wesson in july.
0:55	11/11/2020	11:32p	Business & Industry	now for many people, working from home was mandatory when the pandemic started. but as offices opened back up, one bank thinks you should pay a tax if you choose to stay at home. under the deutsche bank privilege tax proposal, remote workers should be taxed 5% of their salary. deutsche bank estimates that's the amount saved on transportation and dining out, but many remote workers say those are offset by bigger utility and grocery bills.

2:04	10/2/2020	11:09p	government and Politics	news of the president's diagnosis creating a buzz with people here in southern california. little more than 24 hours after the initial announcement. and as nbc4's christine kim shows us. it's generating some interesting reactions as well. whether you are a supporter of trump or not, news that he and the first lady tested positive for covid-19 was a talk of the day. drawing some strong reaction tonight. he don't have covid. no, it's a ploy. i was not surprised, because i know he was in contact with a lot of people. my reaction to it is, is it true? tonight, skepticism with many wanting proof that president donald trump tested positive for the coronavirus. there's been a history of false things said. i think that is why people are having a hard time with it, including myself. president trump was seen going to walter reed. some are critical of the president's actions over the past few months.
0:54	10/5/2020	11:03p	government and Politics	as you mentioned, southern california is home to the largest armenian population in the u.s. both armenia and azerbaijan accuse each other of launching attacks in a disputed territory inside azerbaijan but home to millions of ethnic armenians. we spoke to some of the people out there in glendale tonight. armenia is such a small country, but they have a lot of proud people.
2:03	10/5/2020	11:03p	government and Politics	tonight the president is back at the white house. he spent the last three days at walter reed medical center after contracting covid-19. the president says he is feeling better than he has in 20 years, but as nbc4's beverly white reports, doctors say he is not out of the woods yet. reporter: shortly after returning to the official residence tonight on board marine one, president donald trump tweeted out this campaign-style video. still undergoing treatment for the coronavirus, the president removed his mask, then tweeted another message, downplaying the disease. don't let it dominate you. don't be afraid of it. you're going to beat it. we have the best medical equipment. we have the best medicines, all developed recently. reporter: before he left the hospital, walter reed staff and trump's own doctor put his medical status in context.
0:55	10/5/2020	11:06p	government and Politics	here they are. at least 19 people have tested positive now for coronavirus since being at the white house ten days ago. the latest is kayleigh mcenany, the white house press secretary. they were all at that rose garden event where amy coney barrett was introduced as the president's supreme court nominee. also, a prominent local pastor was there as well at the rose garden. he says he contracted covid-19.
0:45	10/5/2020	11:15p	government and Politics	democratic nominee joe biden not holding back on president trump's handling of coronavirus. during a town hall hosted by nbc, he said the president is responsible for contracting the virus. anybody who contracts the virus by essentially saying, masks don't matter, social distancing doesn't matter, i think is -- is responsible for what happens to them.
0:35	10/5/2020	11:16p	government and Politics	in the wake of that white house coronavirus outbreak, some new steps are being taken to protect vice president pence and senator kamala harris before their first debate, now less than two days away. a plexiglas barrier will separate the candidates, who will now be standing 13 feet apart on this stage at the university of utah.
0:29	10/5/2020	11:17p	government and Politics	don't forget to check your mail because vote by mail ballots are on their way to every single registered voter in the state of california. and there are several ways to make sure your ballot gets back in time.

1:59	10/6/2020	11:00p	government and Politics	now at 11:00, presidential coronavirus crisis, the white house outbreak spreads across the country. the president puts a new relief package on hold and is his next debate in doubt. the coronavirus diagnosis isn't stopping first patient president trump from making policy and looking forward to the next presidential debate. here's nbc 4's beverly white. after three months hospitalized with coronavirus, the still infectious president trump tweeted for a halt to covid relief talks on capitol hill, then tonight flip flopping a demand congress immediately approve aid for airlines and small business. news coming after his aide stephen miller tests positive for the virus, on top of a dozen cases in the white house and concerns at the pentagon with the joint chiefs of staff and other brass quarantined due to exposure.
0:25	10/6/2020	11:02p	government and Politics	another politician has tested positive for covid-19, this time a congressman making that announcement today. he says he believes he got it from utah senator mike lee who also tested positive.
1:03	10/6/2020	11:03p	government and Politics	a mail-in ballot mistake that happened here in l.a. county has now caught the attention of president trump. the president tweeted out tonight, quote, 2,000 l.a. county voters received faulty ballots with no way of voting for president. she received her ballot from the l.a. county registrar recorders office in the mail yesterday. the last column said continue voting on the other side, followed by nothing but a blank page where the presidential candidates should be.
1:31	10/6/2020	11:04p	government and Politics	there is another demonstration taking over the streets tonight as local armenians call attention to the fighting overseas. reporter: this protest started at 4:00 this afternoon and has grown to several hundred people out in front of "the l.a. times" building. the highway is shut down in both directions from douglas to aviation in what they're calling a quiet and peaceful protest here. you see the people here blocking the street with their cars. i can see the chp on the 105 freeway keeping an eye on the events. that's the latest from news chopper 4. quiet, peaceful and large. here's the reason for all the demonstrations lately.

2:58	10/7/2020	11:00p	government and Politics	let's talk about respecting the american people. you respect the american people when you tell them the truth. senator harris, you're entitled to your own opinion, but you're not entitled to your own facts. vice president mike pence and senator kamala harris take center stage tonight as they talk about the coronavirus, the supreme court, and social justice. and they had very different views on how the top of their tickets would move the nation forward. good evening. i'm chuck henry. and i'm colleen williams. this was the only vice presidential debate, and there were some heated moments but definitely not like last week's presidential debate. nbc4's conan nolan is live for us tonight in the news operation center with the standout moments. conan. that's right. a lot of attention to this debate if for no other reason than, to be quite blunt about it, donald trump is 74. joe biden at the end of the month will be 78. so regardless of what happens on election day, one of these two could become president. more civil, 12 feet apart with a plexiglas partition. the seconds on the presidential ticket face to face. the american people have witnessed who is the greatest failure of any presidential administration in the history of our country.
2:07	10/7/2020	11:03p	government and Politics	now, what did voters here in southern california have to say about what they saw in tonight's debate? beverly white heard from both sides tonight on what effect, if any, this debate had on their decision with the election now just 27 days away. reporter: first impressions from local democratic leaders. california's junior senator brought substance and history to tonight's debate. for kamala to be onstage and giving hope and a voice to so many millions of americans that we are represented. plans to contain covid-19, get our economy back in order. i mean she certainly did deliver. reporter: no surprise, republicans we met in long beach tonight saw things differently. kamala could have done a better job answering the questions that she was asked. kamala was evasive a little bit when it came to some of the positions she's held in the past, and i think it was great that pence called her on it.
0:23	10/7/2020	11:12p	government and Politics	covid outbreak close to the president is still growing tonight. in fact we're learning the head of the white house security office, creed bailey, has covid-19 and is apparently quite ill.
0:45	10/7/2020	11:12p	government and Politics	speaking of the president, he was back in the oval office today less than a week now after testing positive for the coronavirus. the president was meeting with his chief of staff mark meadows and getting a briefing on stimulus talks and hurricane delta down in the gulf. the president also tweeted out a video where he promised americans a free cure for covid-19 being treated with an experimental antibody drug.
0:33	10/7/2020	11:16p	government and Politics	for the fifth night in a row, protesters took to the streets of southern california to bring awareness about the deadly clashes between armenian and azerbaijani forces. protesters blocked traffic outside of the foreign office missions in westwood tonight.
0:51	10/8/2020	11:04p	government and Politics	president trump's physician says he has completed his course of therapy for covid-19 and he expects the president to return to public engagements as soon as saturday. in a phone interview earlier tonight with fox news, the president told sean hannity he feels really great although at one point he did have to stop and cough. the president also dodged questions about whether he had been tested for the virus in recent days.

0:56	10/8/2020	11:05p	government and Politics	a heated debate tonight over the next debate, which is looking like it won't happen. president trump is refusing to take part in a virtual debate with joe biden next week in florida. now, the president wants both men to appear on the same stage and not from different locations. considering the president's bout with covid-19, the presidential debate commission feels that wouldn't be best for either candidate.
1:54	10/8/2020	11:08p	government and Politics	taking to the streets for another night. armenian-americans rallied and held a individual the outside a church in glendale tonight, calling for those deadly conflicts between ar mien wra and azerbaijan to end. nbc4's beverly white has more now on their unwavering activism. democracy prevails, yet that blessing comes with a responsibility. reporter: little social distancing but profound unity as local armenians prayed for war-torn nagorno-karabakh. for the past two weeks they've been under siege and under attack by azerbaijan and turkey. they have been facing drone attacks, heavy artillery, countless civilians have lost their lives. reporter: protesters last weekend overran the 101 freeway. there's a crisis going on in the world and it's starting with the armenians.
0:47	10/8/2020	11:16p	government and Politics	tonight president trump is reacting to the alleged plot to kidnap michigan governor gretchen whitmer. today the fbi said 13 alleged militia group members were arrested. agents seized assault rifles during the raid related to the case, they say. the fbi says the plan reportedly included storming the governor's vacation home, then taking her hostage.
0:48	10/9/2020	11:08p	government and Politics	after president trump refused to take part in a virtual debate next week, the commission on presidential debates has now scrapped the second debate altogether. instead, the president plans to hold a series of in-person events starting tomorrow at the white house. former vice president joe biden said the president's conduct since contracting covid-19 has been reckless.
1:22	10/12/2020	11:01p	government and Politics	also breaking, another pro-armenia protest growing tonight in studio city. newschopper4 alpha captured this scene near the intersection of laurel canyon and ventura boulevard. protesters seen standing outside of their cars in the middle of the street, blocking traffic. this is one of several demonstrations organized in the last several weeks amid a violent territory dispute between armenia and azerbaijan.
1:44	10/12/2020	11:07p	government and Politics	well, the state of california is cracking down on unofficial ballot boxes. there are several that were installed by the california republican party. however, the gop tonight is pushing back. nbc4's darsha philips has the story. reporter: unofficial ballot boxes popping up in several california counties, creating confusion and some apprehension. we're always worried about a little bit of fraud and stuff, so you want to make sure you're getting to a place where you can feel comfortable casting your ballot. reporter: a box seen outside a church in simi valley drew concern on social media. another box was seen over the weekend in castaic. these boxes are not the same as county election drop boxes that are required to meet state security standards.

0:59	11/4/2020	11:01p	government and Politics	tonight, the question, who will be president? here the people rule. 270 is the magic number, but some states are still too close to call. power can't be taken or asserted. it flows from the people. they're trying to make a mockery of the election of this country. the uncertainty creating tension and anxiety as demonstrators demand a fair count. you are now subject to arrest. indeed across the country tonight, there are still hundreds of thousands of votes that are left to count.
2:11	11/4/2020	11:02p	government and Politics	but this race is still far from over. nbc4's robert kovacic joins us live from election plaza with more on the counts and the candidates tonight. robert. reporter: colleen and chuck, let's just start with the sheer volume here. consider that 157 americans cast ballots this year in person or by mail. 65% of voters. nbc news has calculated that is the highest rate in more than a century. but right now it all comes down to a few states and a few million votes. these are the ballots that could decide the presidency. late tonight, the tally under way in nevada and across the country in georgia, a state where the president wants it to stop. so far the trump team filing lawsuits to halt the county in three battleground states of michigan, pennsylvania, and georgia. plus demanding a recount in wisconsin. today on twitter, the president falsely claiming they are finding votes for biden all over the place.
2:24	11/4/2020	11:04p	government and Politics	there are still about a half dozen or so states too close to call, and they are being watched ever so closely. let's start with nevada right now. six electoral votes at stake here. a difference of fewer than 8,000 votes separate the two candidates. biden with a slight edge, 49.3% to 48.7%. they've stopped counting in nevada for the night but will start up again in the morning. let's take a look at neighboring arizona, also too early to call. 11 electoral votes at stake here with 86% of the votes in. joe biden holds a lead of just over 79,000 votes. pennsylvania shows donald trump with a lead of just over 164,000 votes. 89% of the votes are counted here. pennsylvania a big prize with 20 electoral votes and, of course, too early to call. in north carolina tonight, those familiar four words "too close to call," with 15 electoral votes. donald trump had a lead of about 76,000. and georgia with 95% of the vote counted so far shows president trump with a slight lead and 16 electoral votes are at stake here.
2:10	11/4/2020	11:07p	government and Politics	los angeles county voters appear to have elected a new district, choosing self-described reformer george gascon over second-term incumbent jackie lacey. tonight black lives matter celebrated her office. nbc4's beverly white with the story. i feel victorious. reporter: that's black lives matter dr. melina abdullah at a rally tonight marking the apparent defeat of district attorney jackie lacey by former san francisco d.a. george gascon. i feel like the work that we poured into these jackie lacey must go protests every single week for more than three years now are bearing fruit. after george floyd and joining the protests, i got involved more and more with black lives matter, and then like seeing her track record. reporter: critics blasted lacey, l.a.'s first black and first female d.a. for not prosecuting police who kill minorities. this woman claims no one was punished for victimizing her brother after a car crash.

1:01	11/4/2020	11:09p	government and Politics	let's take a look at some more local returns. orange county set a record for in-person voting yesterday, a record that goes way back to 1980. one of the races on that ballot is the 48th congressional district. you see here democratic congressman harley rouda and republican challenger michelle steel are locked in a very tight race for a district that covers most of coastal orange county. and in a rematch from two years ago, democrat gil cisneros, he's the lottery winner, multi-millionaire, and republican kim young are virtually tied.
1:57	11/4/2020	11:10p	government and Politics	women are making their mark in this election. freshman congresswoman katie porter won her race and michelle steel and young kim hope to unseat their opponents in very, very close races. if they do, those seats could flip back to the gop. here's nbc4's hetty chang. reporter: democratic incumbent katie porter was favored to win the 45th district over opponent greg raths. but it wasn't that long ago that the notion of a single working mom with young children becoming a congresswoman seemed a distant possibility for some. i think we all want our democracy to be representative. so, yes, i think it's time to elect women. i think it's time to elect people of color. it's time to elect people from the lgbtq community. reporter: porter is a consumer protection attorney and a former uc irvine law professor.
2:19	11/4/2020	11:15p	government and Politics	you're looking at election plaza here at the brokaw news center. we show you the latest numbers on these propositions here. there's our beautiful shot from outside our election plaza at the brokaw news center. the nbc4 i-team has been tracking attempts all week long to confuse and misinform voters, especially on social media. as investigative reporter joel grover shows us, now that all the ballots have been cast and the results tallied, those misinformation efforts are being aimed at swaying voters' opinion of the election results. reporter: the folks at twitter were busy today slapping these disclaimers on tweets, saying the content is disputed and might be misleading. twitter flagged this tweet from president trump where he claims his leads in some democratic-run states were magically disappearing. i think twitter is leading the charge. i think they've been moving very swiftly to flag for the public information that is inaccurate. reporter: the president has had at least five posts on twitter and facebook flagged as misinformation in just the last day.
0:43	11/4/2020	11:25p	government and Politics	tonight the count continues in l.a. county. nearly 200,000 additional votes were tallied today, representing roughly 60% of all eligible voters in the county. the total votes counted now past 3.3 million. there is still more than 600,000 ballots outstanding. all vote by mail ballots postmarked by election day have until november 20th to make the final count.

1:34	11/13/2020	11:02p	health and medical	nbc 4's darsha philips spoke with some who will continue like normal with their holiday plans, they say, and others who say it's just not worth it. we flew down from san jose international airport. we just kind of wanted to get out before they started closing everything down. reporter: people are already traveling, despite the surge in cases, some don't want the pandemic to ruin their holidays. i honestly don't believe that the numbers are correct, to be honest. we hear about the cases rising, but then personally, no one around me, like my neighbors has gotten it. reporter: but the majority of people we spoke to say they won't be traveling or having large gatherings.
0:54	11/13/2020	11:03p	health and medical	according to the cdc, travel does increase your chances of getting and spreading covid-19. but the risk varies. the cdc put together a chart explaining the differences. you're at higher risk on flights with layovers, and traveling on a cruise ship or a boat. less risky but still to keep in mind, trips by car, train, or bus with people who you don't live with, and direct flights.
1:56	11/13/2020	11:04p	health and medical	and with that said, even with the strong urging from health officials to celebrate thanksgiving at home, many plan on gathering with extended family, but will take a covid test first so they feel safer about it. however, as nbc 4's hetty chang reports for us tonight, health officials want to stress here no covid test is 100% accurate. reporter: time honored thanksgiving traditions are hard to break. so some determined to see family tell us they'll get covid tested before they do. i'll definitely quarantine after i saw, and i'll take a couple of tests if i can, just because i feel like it's the right thing to do. reporter: but infectious disease doctor melissa king warns a negative covid result does not give you a pass to abandon your mask and social distancing. getting a test and having it be negative, while it may seem comforting could actually give people a false sense of security as we go into the holidays.
0:36	11/13/2020	11:06p	health and medical	so just how fast is the virus spreading across the country tonight? this is actually the tenth day in a row the u.s. reported more than 100,000 cases. let's take a look at these numbers here. the first time that happened was back on november 4th, and looking at the past week here, there you see on wednesday more than 148,000 cases yesterday.
2:37	11/16/2020	11:01p	health and medical	governor gavin newsom says it is time to pull the emergency brake as he rolled back reopenings and put 94% of all the counties in california into the restrictive purple tier. and now there's talk of a statewide group of restrictions. today california posted the highest daily total of covid-19 cases with 13,000 just today. nbc4's robert kovacic live in our newsroom with some new information about what the state may do next here. robert. is wondering will california go it's going to take a couple of days before we do find out. but right now brace for one. as you take a look here at the daily numbers, newsom sounding the alarm as california experiences the fastest increase began. l.a. county considering several options as well, including limiting the hours businesses can stay open, and you can stay out. but this surge is already way. though another wait tonight garcetti announcing l.a. is super walkup site in hard-hit testing centers at l.a.x., terminals 2, 6, and bradley. los angeles is in a very dangerous situation. stopping the spread now means expanding enforcement of businesses that don't comply with health guidelines.

2:09	11/16/2020	11:03p	health and medical	in less than an hour, 94% of california will be back to telling you, is the most restrictive covid tier. orange and ventura counties are among the dozens that had been in that less restrictive red tier. nbc4's hetty chang spoke with several businesses bracing now for the impact of that rollback. reporter: right now many businesses are scrambling to outdoors tomorrow morning like this restaurant here in santa ana. the owner tells us he just opened. he managed to get his hands on these tents here, but he's going from nearly 30 tables indoors to the only ones he could fit on this narrow sidewalk. now eight months into the pandemic, state officials rolling much of california back to the most restrictive purple tier. they characterize it as pulling it was -- it was difficult hearing it. reporter: santa ana restaurant owner chris fam was on a roll, going from taco cart to starting his first restaurant in santa ana.
1:37	11/16/2020	11:06p	health and medical	well, now that every county here in southern california has restrictive purple tier, you're probably wondering what does that mean? well, let's take a look here on the screen. for counties like orange and less restrictive red tier, it shopping centers now have to cut their indoor capacity from 50% and restaurants that used to be inside just as long as they didn't exceed that 25% capacity, well, now they have to go back and as hetty chang just reported, houses of worship, movie theaters, museums, gyms, and zoos as well as aquariums have to move outside, or they're going to have to close. restrictions on hair salons, been updated somewhat and they're allowed to remain open for some indoor services in the purple tier but with limited capacity.
0:36	11/16/2020	11:07p	health and medical	there is some positive news in the search for a vaccine tonight. a second company is now the company moderna based in that early results from phase is more than 94% effective at preventing an infection. moderna plans to ask the fda to authorize emergency use within just a few weeks.
2:20	11/17/2020	11:00p	health and medical	it's 11:00 and new coronavirus crackdowns are back with us. these rules for retail restaurants and holiday gatherings in los angeles county. it's just a business curfew for now, but if these cases continue to spike, we could go back on lockdown. good evening, i'm chuck henry. and i'm colleen. robert kovacik is here to explain the rules taking place friday. restaurants, wine bars and all non-essential retail establishments must close at 10:00 p.m. with that curfew lasting until 6:00 in the morning. and capacity outdoors reduced to 50%. as for getting together socially, outdoor gatherings only. 15 people max from three households max. the goal here, to stop the spread. but what else could these new restrictions possibly end? it's not just a restaurant, not just a small business. it's t c's gift to her north hollywood community and it took another hit. i'm a little confused, frustrated, upset and i have 20 plus odd employees that i've got to wake up in the morning and figure out what to tell them.
1:08	11/17/2020	11:02p	health and medical	that's just for now. county health officials warn they will tighten those restrictions if the numbers get worse. as you just heard right now, l.a. county is reporting an average of more than 2,800 cases and 1,100 hospitalizations. if the five-day average grows to more than let's say 4,000 or if hospitalizations hit 1,750 a day, things change. and that's what happens. no more outdoor dining. restaurants and breweries will only be able to offer pick up and delivery.

3:13	11/17/2020	11:16p	health and medical	a sobering assessment tonight from the white house's coronavirus task force. in its weekly report, it describes the trajectory of the pandemic as an aggressive, unrelenting, expanding broad community spread across the country, reaching most counties without evidence of improvement. now, health officials have said it time and time again. get tested for the coronavirus. and these folks are listening. dodger stadium had some of the longest lines we've seen in a long time for testing. the nbc 4 i-team has learned the company at that helps run l.a.'s public testing sites is now making plans for how to distribute the covid vaccine when its available. joe grover tells us it would be easy and it would be free. reporter: the line was hundreds of cars long all day today at the city of l.a.'s hansen dam test site. this site is something of an experiment, where you can now get a covid test and a flu shot. you want to get a covid test and your flu vaccine, it's a one-stop shop. reporter: the company that helps run the public test sites curative hopes to use the hansen dam model to offer covid vaccines at most of its sites possibly early next year. this is a practice run for when a covid vaccine is made available early next year. reporter: curative says you would be able to sign up online just like you can for a covid test at nine city sites.
3:00	11/18/2020	11:00p	health and medical	this wave could be the worst. covid-19 cases are headed towards crisis levels. hospitals in danger of being overwhelmed, and more restrictions could be on the horizon. good evening, everyone. i'm colleen williams. and i'm robert kovacik in tonight for chuck henry. we are on a troubling track nationwide, facing some of the most dangerous moments in this pandemic. today the u.s. death toll hit 250,000. that is the size of the entire city of san bernardino and enough to fill staples center 12 times over. each person an empty chair at the dinner table. each life precious. in california, coronavirus has claimed more than 18,000 lives so far. in l.a. county, that number alone is 7,000. and today the county posted the highest number of daily cases since spring, 3,900. and, colleen, keep in mind what happens if those cases continue to rise even slightly. an average of 4,000 cases for five days, and we get more restrictions. cases not the only concern here. also patients in l.a. county hospitals. take a look. right now we have about 1,200 hospitalized. if on any given day beds fill to 1,750, all restaurants and bars will have to shut down. pick and delivery only. if 2,000 are hospitalized, a stay-at-home order goes into effect for three weeks, and a mandated curfew.
1:08	11/18/2020	11:03p	health and medical	to that end, robert, break out the plastic, the paper plates and the card tables. you're going to need it this year. if you follow the recommendations, thanksgiving will look a whole lot different this year. first off, if you plan to travel or gather, health officials say don't do it. but if you do, here's what they recommend. outdoors. dine outdoors six feet apart. don't eat inside or gather around the television for football. when it is time to sit down, use disposable plates, cups, and utensils.

2:12	12/2/2020	11:16p	health and medical	now, covid-19 vaccines are on the way, but will everyone be willing to get it? there is growing skepticism in some of the communities hardest hit by the virus? nbc4's beverly white has more on efforts to overcome a history of distrust, a matter of life and death. i've lost my mother. i've lost my uncle, and i've lost a cousin recently to it. reporter: camille taylor knows covid-19 kills african-americans at alarming rates, but like many minorities, she's lukewarm about the vaccine. i'm probably not going to take the shot in the beginning because i would like to see how the rollout is. all of a sudden now there's a vaccine? nah, man. no, i'm sorry, i will not take it. reporter: to convince blacks to get inoculated, this love letter to black america is now on youtube. we affirm that black lives matter. and as black health professionals, we have a higher calling. reporter: created by americans for historically black medical schools and black health insiders to acknowledge skeptics and change their minds.
1:13	12/3/2020	11:00p	health and medical	this is the most challenging moment since the beginning of this pandemic. prepare to stay at home again. governor newsom pulls the emergency brake and outlines a new statewide stay-at-home order that could take effect soon. good evening, everyone. i'm colleen williams. and i'm chuck henry. with covid cases climbing, this new order, what does it mean, and when does it take effect? well, let's take a look first of all at this map. it is no longer the old four-tier system we have been using. governor newsom's new stay-at-home order starts on saturday, and it would be organized as you can see here by regions.
2:21	12/3/2020	11:02p	health and medical	and this plea to take the pandemic seriously also comes from a ventura man who spent nearly two weeks in the icu. he tells nbc4's hetty chang he witnessed the covid surge right in his own hospital bed. here, look, check it out. i have a hillside view. reporter: after nearly two weeks fighting for his life, 61-year-old covid patient ed hill moved out of the icu. once you get it, you might as well -- you're wading in the ocean with a shark. reporter: the podcast producer and avid surfer uses a lot of water analogies. never did he imagine knowing how to control his breathing would keep him alive. you know in your mind that in that position before, that you survived. so stupid. i was pumping my fist, yeah, i can breathe. i can breathe! reporter: less than two weeks ago the ventura county man says he was the only covid patient in the icu. within eight days, with the combination of regular icu and 10 or 11 covid patients, 30% of the icu beds were covid.
1:27	12/3/2020	11:05p	health and medical	it's stories like this that have the governor pleading with people to stay put during the holidays. the new regional stay-at-home or orders will strongly urge against all nonessential travel. here's what the state's health and human services secretary dr. mark ghaly said earlier today. when a region does cross the threshold and the order is in place, we're actually asking you to restrict that travel, cancel plans, make sure that you stay at home, and that's what we're asking you to do. now, because it's not a ban or an official order, dr. ghaly did acknowledge there is no real way to enforce the travel advisory.

1:15	12/7/2020	11:00p	health and medical	now at 11:00, lockdown part two. on this first day of the new stay-at-home order for all of southern california, some businesses are pushing back while others aren't sure they can even make it through the next three weeks. good evening. i'm chuck henry. and i'm colleen williams. with covid cases climbing, we continue, as you can see, to physically separate to help slow the spread. now, take a look at this. l.a. county's top health officials are hoping these empty streets in studio city will also help slow the spread.
2:43	12/7/2020	11:01p	health and medical	now, the impact of this order felt beyond the hospitals. nbc4's robert kovacic joins us live from our news operation center with more on that. you mentioned icu capacity, and that is what officials will be watching closely. now, icu capacity fell below 15%, and that is what trigger the stay-at-home order. to get out of it, we need to meet or exceed 15%. so right now this affects 33 million californians. 23 million-plus right here in southern california. and as we move forward, we walk into one of the harshest lockdowns this nation has ever seen. stay home, soca. newscopper4 bravo tonight found plenty who were not. traffic flowing on orange county freeways. soccer still being played at macarthur park. it is the first night when 33 million californians are asked to pause most plans to try and slow the spread of the virus straining the health care system. we're now over 10,000 patients in our hospitals, 72% increase over the last 14 days. you can see how quickly this grows. reporter: the regional safer at home order applies to a southern california region made up of 11 counties. this is a hard tick for us.
0:37	12/7/2020	11:15p	health and medical	now, as the fda races to approve the first covid vaccine by friday of this week, many are now questioning if there are enough doses to make a real dent in the outbreak here in the u.s. right now the u.s. is set to receive 100 million doses of the pfizer vaccine.
2:59	12/7/2020	11:16p	health and medical	like so many, millions of people here in southern california are also waiting for that vaccine, but they still have a lot of questions, and not just about the safety of a vaccine. how soon will it work? when can we get back to normal? the i-team's joel grover reached out to some of the country's top public health experts. now, they reviewed published data from the vaccine trials, and they're here now to answer our questions. the campaign against infectious disease can succeed only if the public cooperates. reporter: there have been mass efforts for decades to vaccinate much of the country. in the 1940s, it was for smallpox. in the 1950s, for polio. and now soon for covid-19. i would take the vaccine today if it was available to me. reporter: we spoke with a senior scholar at the johns hopkins school of public health and with vaccine researcher stephen kissler at the harvard school of public health. the vaccine does not necessarily mean the end of covid. the first question we asked, how do the new covid vaccines work? do they prevent you from getting infected or just from getting symptoms? these vaccines are very effective at preventing what's called symptomatic disease, having symptoms for covid-19 and severe disease.

0:55	12/8/2020	11:00p	health and medical	now at 11:00, covid cases on the rise number of available hospital beds on the sharp decline in southern california. this as the u.s. is on the verge of distributing its first rounds of covid vaccines, and they can not come soon enough. i'm colleen williams. and i'm chuck henry. with covid cases kriezing we are physical distancing to help slow the spread. los angeles county has now reached 8,000 deaths from covid-19 since this pandemic began.
2:42	12/8/2020	11:01p	health and medical	nbc 4's robert kovacic is live in our center now with urgent concerns from our hospitals. concerns, colleen, and shock. if you look at those concerns, here is trying to put those numbers in perspective. the number of new cases in l.a. county has doubled since the day after thanksgiving. and they say this is just the beg beginning. we haven't reached our peak yet. this is just the beginning of the so-called thanksgiving bump. if you think i already know what i need to do to try and stop the spread, the state is happy to keep telling you. p tonight, some finding it tough to stay home. tennis in stanton, soccer in anaheim, shoppers in garden grove. it comes hours after phones buzzed from the san joaquin valley to san diego, an emergency alert reminding you to stay home except for essential activity. covid is spreading rapidly. the chances of us overwhelming the intensive care system here in california are very real. in l.a. county, nearly 500 new covid patients are now being admitted to hospitals every day. a quarter needing intensive care. without some major change in our overall behavior and our movement, we will see hospitals continue to feel that pressure.
2:10	12/8/2020	11:04p	health and medical	we're getting our first timeline on when we can expect the first coronavirus vaccines to arrive here in southern california. it could be as early as next week for los angeles county. as hetty chang reports health officials and health workers will be taking priority in round one. reporter: they are perhaps the most prized possessions right now. ultra cold storage freezers where the first of the pfizer vaccines will be held at minus 80 degrees celsius. despite the tragedy of a pandemic, it's a very exciting time to be able to see light at the end of the tunnel. reporter: cedar says it will be among the first hospitals to receive l.a. county's distribution. orange county will receive just over 25,000 doses a week from today. first priority goes to covid health care workers. the nurses, the respiratory therapists, the doctors, the staff, the dietitians, anybody who enters and exits the patients' rooms.
0:52	12/9/2020	11:00p	health and medical	now at 11:00, the global pandemic intensifies. breaking records all across the country with california now marking its deadliest day since it all started. health experts blame the rapid surge on the thanksgiving holiday and warn that the worst may be still to come. good evening. i'm chuck henry. and i'm colleen williams. of course with covid cases climbing, as you can see, we are physically staying apart to help slow the spread.

2:22	12/9/2020	11:01p	health and medical	let's begin right now with robert kovacik and tonight's grim report on these numbers and the rush for a vaccine. robert. unfortunately, it is, chuck and colleen. more americans died on this day from coronavirus than the number of those who died on 9/11. this was the deadliest single day in the nation and in california. 219 people. the death toll continues to mount in l.a. county as well as coronavirus claims the youngest life so far. it is l.a. county's first recorded death of a child related to coronavirus. a patient at children's hospital of los angeles who had a pre-existing cardiac condition. another difficult day nationwide reflected here in southern california. 75 more deaths in l.a. county, the highest single-day total since july. the more terrible truth is that over 8,000 people -- sorry. a new benchmark of loss. over 8,000 people who were beloved members of their families are not coming back, and their deaths are an incalculable loss to their friends and family as well as our community.
2:00	12/9/2020	11:03p	health and medical	now, health care workers are doing everything they can to help their patients, but there's also a real need to protect themselves. it's clear when you talk with them the covid surge is taking a toll on the front lines. nbc4's hetty chang with details of one doctor's very personal fight. reporter: nine months into the pandemic, covid's toll continues its unrelenting climb. those on the front lines have not stopped working as they try desperately to save lives. i know of family member who's have lost their parents, and now they're having to raise their siblings. reporter: veronica contreras is a physician with alta med urgent care in east los angeles. a spokesperson tells us systemwide, 20% of patients are testing positive for covid-19. it's very sad just because we know what the possibility of them either passing away or having long-term effects.
2:17	12/9/2020	11:15p	health and medical	southern california could be getting the covid-19 vaccine within just a few days. the company that runs many of los angeles' covid testing sites shared plans with the nbc4 i-team to help distribute the vaccine in the next few weeks. the i-team's joel grover now with the exclusive details. reporter: the lines to get tested at dodger stadium were long today and could soon get even longer once large amounts of the covid vaccine are available. that's because the company that helps run this site, curative, says it has a three-phase plan to administer the vaccine to millions of people here and at dozens of other sites in southern california. we want it to be as simple as possible. we believe it should be accessible and straightforward to get a vaccine. reporter: curative's co-founder isaac turner told me about the company's plan to dispense the vaccine. the first phase will be to use these mobile vans with teams that will go to long-term care facilities and inoculate nursing home residents and staff.
1:01	12/10/2020	11:00p	health and medical	in los angeles, somebody is dying of covid-19 every 20 minutes. now at 11:00, as we break covid records here in l.a. county, a panel of fda advisers has given the green light for pfizer's vaccine to make its way to americans. if the agency itself approves, the first doses of this lifesaving shot could be out by this weekend. good evening, everyone. i'm colleen williams. and i'm chuck henry. with covid cases continuing to climb, we are physically distancing again tonight to help slow the spread.

1:56	12/10/2020	11:01p	health and medical	that's why the timing of this vaccine couldn't be more important. new tonight, nbc4's beverly white has more on the urgent rollout and who will be first in line to get it. reporter: if the fda follows advice from its outside panel, millions of covid-19 vaccine doses will roll out with military precision with 83,000 doses destined for l.a. county and subzero refrigerators ready at cedars-sinai medical center and other facilities. pfizer is planning to immediately ship out vaccine. they ship directly to the nine sites. reporter: after months of grim coronavirus updates, l.a.'s mayor is hopeful today. with treatments driving mortality rates down and the beginning of vaccine distribution only days away, the ending of this pandemic is finally, finally in sight. reporter: getting pfizer vaccines into the arms of americans will be no small feat.
2:01	12/10/2020	11:03p	health and medical	the surge is also triggering backups at local hospitals. in fact, some ambulances have reported waiting more than an hour just to drop off their patients. and in orange county, as nbc4's hetty chang tells us, the message there couldn't be clearer. the system is in danger of collapse. reporter: orange county health officials are sounding the alarm tonight. this after the director of emergency services had this urgent plea to hospitals. those that haven't activated their surge plans should do it now. the covid crisis and its toll being felt at hospitals all across southern california. in orange county, a dire message to hospitals to make room and make changes. cancel all elective surgeries, divert patients, allow ambulances to travel miles away when the closest hospital is full. we do have cases where people are waiting in the ambulance for more than an hour.
2:38	12/10/2020	11:14p	health and medical	do you ever wonder if going out in public or working a certain job makes you a lot more likely to get infected with covid? well, you might be surprised by what the nbc4 i-team discovered when they obtained a first of its kind analysis of people who have tested positive in our area. our investigative reporter joel grover now has the details, which could impact the way we live during the pandemic. reporter: you might think that hospital workers or grocery store clerks have the highest rates of covid-19 infection. but it appears construction workers with no symptoms had by far the highest infection rate according to this evaluation of people getting tested at l.a.'s public sites, which has been submitted to this cdc journal. are there surprises in this evaluation? yes. reporter: dr. jeffrey klausner of ucla's school of medicine was one of the authors of this analysis. it looks at 730,000 people tested at l.a.'s public sites from august to october. klausner is also medical director of curative, which helps run the city's test sites and did the evaluation. it found a high rate of positive test results among restaurant workers and health care workers, but construction workers who sometimes resist county orders to wear masks outpace the other groups.
0:31	12/10/2020	11:17p	health and medical	there's now a new app for your phone that could help in the fight against covid-19, and it is available to everyone here in california. it's called ca notify. the app is designed to alert people if they spent time near someone who tested positive for covid-19.

1:02	12/14/2020	11:00p	health and medical	we've been doing this while taking care of our own families and keep the now at 11:00. what i want you guys to know is that help is on the way. today is just the first step. the fight against covid-19 gets a shot in the arm. vaccines are rolling into southern california and not a moment too soon. cases are going up. hospitals are filling up. and families continue to lose people they love. there is light at the end of the tunnel, but mindful that we're still in the tunnel.
1:07	12/14/2020	11:01p	health and medical	there is no question that the vaccine that's now being distributed is a pivotal moment in the fight against covid-19 across the country and right here in california. the first health care workers in southern california rolled up their sleeves with the governor and l.a. mayor looking on today. [applause] five health care workers at kaiser permanente los angeles got the first shots. governor newsom, mayor garcetti, and supervisor hilda solis stood by watching this historic moment.
2:02	12/14/2020	11:02p	health and medical	here in los angeles county, more than 4,200 people are now hospitalized with covid-19, and tonight nbc4's hetty chang has a man who knows what it's like to be a nurse and a patient. reporter: that man is a charge nurse with kaiser permanente. he has been for more than a decade. tonight he's encouraging everyone to get vaccinated when they can. this as his own kaiser colleagues led the way today. i just received my first covid vaccine, i believe, in california. i'm feeling great. i'm excited. i'm hopeful. reporter: icu nurse helen cordova feeling optimistic moments after receiving one of the very first covid vaccines in southern california. the moment one to celebrate as cordova and four other health care workers at kaiser permanente los angeles got the first of the 17,000 doses that arrived here. if the opportunity comes that it's time for you to get the shot, the covid shot or the coronavirus vaccine, get it.
1:04	12/14/2020	11:04p	health and medical	145 sites across the country received their shipments of pfizer's vaccine today. more than 33,000 doses were delivered to parts of california, including right here in l.a. vaccines will arrive at 24 additional sites in the state tomorrow and five more, as you can see, on wednesday. governor newsom tweeted tonight he got word from pfizer that california is now expecting 393,000 more doses of the vaccine sometime next week. now, the first priority to get the shot, as we've been telling you, medical workers and nursing home residents and staff as well.
2:21	12/14/2020	11:05p	health and medical	hospital officials say they are overwhelmed. nbc4's robert kovacic live in our news operations center right now with more on the hospitals, and they are stretched thin at this point. aren't they, robert? you're exactly right, colleen. right now we are looking at covid from two different perspectives. there is a way out of this thanks to a vaccine. dr. anthony fauci even giving nbc news a timeline. but first we have to get through a deadly winter as the worst of the pandemic now hits southern california. in l.a. county, home to 10 million people, right now there are less than 100 beds for icu patients. simply put -- we're going to run out of capacity to care for everyone who needs hospital care services if we can't get control of the surge. reporter: in orange county, at uci medical center tents are in place to handle patient overflow. we are well above the highest level of surge that we were at in the last wave, and the pace at which it is rising is really, really striking.

1:48	12/14/2020	11:08p	health and medical	we know that the vaccine is really just the beginning, and there is still a very long way to go. on our 5:00 news today, we talked with nurse alice benjamin about just how long after the shots you can be considered vaccinated. the vaccine begins to work immediately. your body starts to recognize the vaccine and starts to build antibodies. it's going to be very important that you do the two-step process. and then as we have other vaccines roll in, such as moderna, it's going to also be very important that you don't mix and match the vaccines. if you get a pfizer vaccine to start, your booster needs to be pfizer. it will be months before most people get the vaccine, so how long can we expect social distancing to continue? as people begin to get the vaccine, it's going to be very important that they continue to wear their masks, social distance, avoid large crowds.
1:57	12/14/2020	11:10p	health and medical	now, getting the covid-19 vaccine out to the general public may not happen, as we said, for at least a couple of months. but informing skeptical communities is already a priority. nbc4's beverly white has more now on the efforts to minimize the opposition. reporter: doctor and educator dr. margaret hill is a san bernardino school trustee who recalls how racism blocked her getting a childhood flu shot in the jim crow south. i just remember the vaccine was not available. by the time we got there, they said it was all gone. reporter: she was thrilled when a black nurse in new york got the first covid vaccine. i want to instill public confidence that the vaccine is safe. reporter: hill thinks information will help minorities overcome anxiety and make informed decisions about the shots.
2:14	12/15/2020	11:01p	health and medical	resources are stretched to capacity. several counties like orange county are deploying mobile hospitals. health care officials say it is just in time. reporter: this is something brand-new to orange county and perhaps the entire region. uci medical center is one of three hospitals that put in the request to orange county to have those mobile field hospitals built and uci medical center facility could be up and running by the end of next week. come tomorrow construction begins on the empty lot next to the main building. what is to come will look like this. a mobile field hospital equipped with generators, bathroom facilities, air purifiers and 50 beds. you saw a lot of search tents going up to handle overflow for things like emergency departments. patients are waiting. this is really something different. reporter: we don't know what type of patients will be treated at the mobile facilities. we know two other orange county hospitals requested their own field hospitals.
0:56	12/15/2020	11:03p	health and medical	with hospitals on the brink of running out of icu beds, what does it mean if you or your family gets sick right now? joel grover took the question to the chief medical officer and while younger people with mild symptoms should stay home and isolate, older people with the same mild symptoms should head directly to the e.r. for the elderly, mild symptoms can become severe quickly. you are over the age of 65.

2:36	12/15/2020	11:04p	health and medical	vaccines are giving hope for the first time in a long time but experts say too late to prevent a deadly winter wave with record breaking cases and hospitalizations and lives lost. nbc 4 in our news operation center. robert, are we close to having no icu beds available in southern california? this is how dire things have become. remember when governor newsom issued the stay at home order for southern california? do you remember why? because our icu capacity dipped below 15%. ten days later, it is under 2%. that is why we are told to prepare for a continued surge, not just in patients but in deaths. we have already lost so many, and now -- ventilator. artificial breathing, induced coma. reporter: the cdc says in the next two and a half weeks up to 60,000 more americans are projected to die. we had to order 5,000 additional body bags. we just distributed them down to san diego, los angeles, that should be sobering. reporter: not just body bags but dozens of refrigerators now on stand by in counties like riverside they are running out of space at the morgue.
0:33	12/15/2020	11:07p	health and medical	now if you want to take the covid-19 test and don't want to wait in line this could be for you. the fda authorized the first do it yourself at home test kit. a test that detects proteins of the virus with a nasal swab.
2:01	12/15/2020	11:07p	health and medical	from anticipation to preparation. l.a. county hospitals are receiving the covid vaccine and california is set to receive 1 million more doses by the end of the month. as beverly white reports, hope is now part of the work flow. reporter: dozens of area facilities now able to -- i just got a call from fedex, they are on their way. we have a time limit of three minutes. doses for frontline workers cameras captured their freezer storage of vaccine delivered today. we have prioritized our veterans most vulnerable. those living in our skilled nursing facilities and those that care for the most vulnerable. reporter: after months of service and sorrow, the west l.a. v.a. is buzzing with optimism. they have seen friends, families, co-workers and our veterans become ill and even die from the awful disease. because of the vaccine i am going to be able to stay with my family and provide care and be able to take care of your family and veteran and take care of you.
0:33	12/15/2020	11:09p	health and medical	the latest vaccine is from moderna. anyone getting the shot will still need two doses. the moderna vaccine is different in one way. unlike pfizer this does not require extreme cold for storage. the first 6 million doses could be rolled out as early as next week.
1:19	12/15/2020	11:10p	health and medical	we know the vaccines will be key to beating covid with pfizer rolling out and moderna on the way, millions are expected to get the shot in the coming months. when someone is infected with covid it could take days or weeks to make antibodies to fight the infection. the memory cells try to remember how to fight the virus in case of a future exposure. the current covid vaccines are a bit different. here is how. pfizer and moderna created message rna vaccines that use a new technology that teaches your cells how to make what is called a spike protein.

2:32	12/17/2020	11:01p	health and medical	los angeles public health director barb ferrer we are at the point where two people in los angeles are dying every hour in l.a. county. we're learning we may not get as many vaccines as originally thought. this rate of infection and hospitalization is leaving the county bursting at the seams here. mayor garcetti said today a hospital administrator told him if we keep this up, we will go under. nbc4's darsha philips has more now on what's being done. reporter: when icus fill up, patients are moved to other areas of the hospital. but eventually there will be too many critically ill patients and not enough icu doctors and nurses, and this is a scenario we are already seeing play out in some of our local hospitals. hospitals around l.a. county stretched to the brink as icu availability crumble to zero percent in southern california. this, my fellow angeles, is an emergency. reporter: with nearly 5,000 hospitalizations today and covid cases continuing to surge, the county forced to make grim preparations. we expect to have more dead bodies than we have spaces in morgues for them.
1:51	12/17/2020	11:04p	health and medical	now, for ten straight days, we have watched the number of icu beds drop from alarming levels. and tonight we are add 0% capacity. a local nurse survived the virus and has returned to work at this point. and tonight he shares his story with nbc4's hetty chang. reporter: registered nurse daniel bravo doesn't need to read the covid headlines. he lives it every day. our job in the e.r. is to stabilize the patient and then transfer, and unfortunately there's no room. reporter: the panorama city nurse tells us he loves helping his patients, made him love his field even more when he himself became one. me and a few of my co-workers, we all got sick and very close to getting intubated and thank god and thank you to my wonderful work family, they helped me through it.
0:59	12/17/2020	11:06p	health and medical	well, tonight the head of the fda said that his agency will move quickly to authorize a second coronavirus vaccine. this announcement comes after an advisory committee endorsed the moderna vaccine for emergency use. both pfizer and moderna vaccines are close to 95% effective after two doses. and while pfizer's vaccine has to be kept at minus 94 degrees, moderna's can be stored in a typical refrigerator.
0:45	12/17/2020	11:07p	health and medical	now, as you mentioned, chuck, the fda could officially authorize the moderna vaccine as soon as tomorrow. so how soon could we see that second vaccine showing up in hospitals with more health care workers? let's take a look back at the pfizer timeline for a look at that. one week ago tonight, it was approved by the panel.
2:00	12/17/2020	11:08p	health and medical	southern california hospitals are feeling the pressure of caring for both covid and non-covid cases. as nbc4's beverly white now reports. reporter: last march, we reported on the grim struggle for ppe at arcadia methodist hospital. with delivery today of 1,500 vaccine doses, morale is much improved. yay! reporter: 200 staff and physicians inoculated out of 1,000 who registered for five days of vaccine rollout. i have no qualms about it. i think you could take a risk/benefit about what's it like to get covid and what would happen to you, about you i believe in the science. reporter: arcadia methodist is hit hard by covid. truly the surge is upon us. we're seeing more infections per day in l.a. county. we're seeing increasing rate of hospitalizations. oh, my god. we have been dealing with the covid pandemic since march.

0:50	12/17/2020	11:17p	health and medical	you can call it a circuit breaker to stop covid-19 as a coalition of labor, health, and community groups wants the los angeles county board of supervisors to shut down everything. how long? four weeks. the numbers are out. the infection rates are so high today than they were last week. we have the holidays coming, which means, you know, there could be another surge.
1:57	12/18/2020	11:01p	health and medical	it was just a few hours ago that the fda approved a second covid-19 vaccine. this one is from moderna and once again it will be going to medical workers first, nurses and doctors, the same people who are overwhelmed right now just like the entire health care system here in southern california. more than 5,000 people in los angeles county are now in the hospital with covid-19, and that is an all-time high for this pandemic. now, we were warned about this before thanksgiving, and now just one week before christmas, the icus are full. nbc4's darsha philips has more on a plea tonight from doctors ahead of what could be another holiday spike. reporter: overcrowding at hospitals hitting a critical level. we're getting crushed. i'm not going to sugar coat this. reporter: icus in southern california at capacity for the second day in a row.
0:46	12/18/2020	11:03p	health and medical	so tonight we have two vaccines, and we have more on the way. the fda issued that emergency use authorization for moderna's coronavirus vaccine today, and that means the vaccine can be distributed to anyone 18 and older. and just like pfizer's vaccine, this one is 95% effective and will be given in two doses about a month apart.
2:00	12/18/2020	11:04p	health and medical	as thousands of health care workers get their vaccines in the coming days, we wanted to check back in with the very first frontline workers who got their shots earlier this week. nbc4's hetty chang tells us most say they feel fine at this point. but health officials say they may feel a little different after the second dose. [applause] reporter: health care workers all across southern california rolled up their sleeves this week, sharing their photos and videos. it was a little sore. i tasted a little something in my mouth, and i was good to go. reporter: that metallic taste is also one reported symptom of covid-19. other than that, mission hospital icu nurse anthony wilkinson says he feels just fine after his shot this morning. it felt like the flu shot. my arm feels fine. i don't know if it will feel fine tomorrow or the next day, so i took a couple days off.
0:45	12/18/2020	11:06p	health and medical	now, obviously there are some who want to get the vaccine right away, and they're willing to jump in front of first responders to get it. a doctor who runs beverly hills concierge doctor says it hasn't stopped his clients from asking and offering big donations to get it. in this situation i have to be very firm with everybody because everybody has so much anxiety.
0:21	12/21/2020	11:01p	health and medical	now, tonight the covid relief bill got the green light. as help is coming, cases are rising. l.a. mayor garcetti says the positivity rate at city testing sites is now a staggering 20%.
