Quarterly Issues and Programs List

October 1, 2004 through December 31, 2004

I. Economy

One of the biggest concerns of our viewers continues to be the economy. Announcements of job cuts by major companies continue to be reported, along with some lower-than-expected earnings reports. Added to the concern is news about accounting problems at several major companies. Evidence of economic troubles has been seen here in the La Crosse area, where major lay-offs have occurred in certain industries. The war with Iraq continues to contribute to concern over the economy. The tremendous costs involved in military operations and the rebuilding of Iraq are expected to be a large drain on the economic health of the country.

Large state and local budget deficits are adding to the concern over how to pay for essential services and properly fund new and existing projects without raising taxes.

An important area of economic concern continues to be agriculture. Some farm prices have risen for farmers, but expenses continue to increase. An economic crunch has forced many family farms out of business. The disappearance of the family farm is felt throughout the community, with many small town businesses threatened.

Adding to the economic woes of small towns is the growing tendency of people to shop at core retail areas in larger cities. The appearance of "superstore" operations in some area cities is having an impact on other local businesses. Sometimes this is helpful by attracting more shoppers to a community. But many businesses suffer from the increased competition.

The tax situation is another important concern of people in our viewing area. The heavy reliance on property taxes is a burden---particularly on older people who may be living on restricted incomes. Although several attempts have been made to reduce property taxes by relying on other means of taxation, the tax bill is still very high for people with limited means.

2. Education

Education is a prime concern of many people. On one hand, they want the best possible education for our young people, but at the same time are concerned about the costs. Education is one of the highest priced items on the local tax bill, and declining state aid is contributing to the worries over how to pay the bill for today's schools. This cost concern is evident when school districts go to the voters with referendums for building or remodeling projects. Many times the proposals are defeated, or pass by a very small vote margin.

Wisconsin and Minnesota are both facing budget deficits that are having an impact on education funding in the two states. Local school districts are examining ways to cut expenses without lowering the quality of the educational services they offer. Several area districts have laid off teachers and support staff.

In the La Crosse School District a special task force has been studying several school issues for many months and recommended a plan that would change school boundaries and alter the grade structure level at some elementary schools. The school superintendent has recommended the closing of several schools and the construction of some new facilities. However, this plan was defeated by voters in a special referendum.

3. Health

Health concerns are an important priority for many people in the communities we serve. Here in the La Crosse area residents have access to two top medical centers, in addition to Mayo Clinic in nearby Rochester, Minnesota. The question is not one of quality of care, but the expense involved in seeking medical treatment. Many people go without health insurance; either because it's not available to them or the cost is prohibitively high. State programs have been instituted in order to make sure children have access to health care, particularly in the wake of Wisconsin's W-2 welfare reform program.

The high cost of prescription drugs has many older people concerned over how they can afford their medication. Now that the federal government has included a prescription drug plan in Medicare, people are concerned that the plan is inadequate, and might produce unwelcome changes in the entire Medicare program. People are worried about the overall government health program and how it will affect them in years to come.

There is always a tremendous amount of interest in medical breakthroughs. People want to learn more about new ways of treating and preventing health problems. One of the special features aired by NewsChannel 8 is devoted to informing the public about these new medical breakthroughs.

4. Environment

Environmental concerns are on the minds of many people in our viewing area. There is an increasing awareness of the role nature plays in our lives, and the importance of being good stewards of our natural resources and wildlife. Some of the problems being addressed include air and water pollution, waste disposal, agricultural pollution, destruction of wildlife habitat, and many other environmental matters. More attention is being given to the many different items that affect the quality of our lives. People are beginning to realize that environmental problems must be solved if we are to maintain the lifestyles we enjoy in this country.

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources is continuing its extensive campaign to fight chronic wasting disease in the state's whitetail deer herd. The agency conducted a massive deer eradication program in affected counties that they hope will keep the disease from expanding. Chronic wasting disease could have a drastic impact on Wisconsin's deer hunting economy.

The increasing energy shortage in some parts of the country could have an impact on the environment. More power plants will likely have to be constructed, increasing the chances of adversely affecting the environment. Energy conservation measures could bring some solution to this problem. New federal air quality standards might mean that coal-fired power plants in Wisconsin could face expensive upgrades or replacement.

With La Crosse's location on the Mississippi River there is quite a bit of concern about the environmental state of the river and surrounding areas. There is often a conflict between commercial and recreational users of the river.

Agricultural runoff is one of the top environmental concerns in our area. Farmers are spending increasing amounts of money to ensure that ground water and waterways are protected from pollution.

5. Crime

Responsive Programming (Including date, time and duration)

Viewers consistently indicate a strong concern about crime. Even though some crime statistics are down, many people have the impression that more crime is occurring. Residents of rural areas report they are seeing more drug-related and property crimes. Several high-profile crimes, including murder, have taken place throughout our area. The rapid introduction of methamphetamine and other new drugs into the La Crosse and Western Wisconsin area is causing considerable concern among law enforcement agencies.

Wisconsin's new truth-in-sentencing law has taken effect. Communities and law enforcement agencies are anxious to see what the result of this new law will be as it relates to prison and jail costs. La Crosse County is already considering an addition to its newly constructed law enforcement center because of an increased demand for jail space. Many law enforcement and court officials are investigating a possible increased use of probation and supervision as an alternative to jail and prison for nonviolent offenders.

6. Government

Government is a category that includes many different concerns, ranging from national politics to local government. It encompasses a broad area of interest on the part of local residents as to what their representatives are doing with their tax dollars.

Primary interest has been focused on the war against Iraq and its aftermath, but the presidential campaign also came to the forefront as one of the most important areas of concern for many people. With the two presidential candidates engaged in full scale campaigning, interest was intense up through the November election.

Many state and local governmental units are having severe budget problems as a result of the downturn in the economy. On the local scene, much of the interest centers on the cost of local government and how those costs are funded. Property taxes continue to be a major point of discussion, particularly among older residents on fixed incomes.

48 HOURS MYSTERY: "The Ghosts Of El Segundo" - in July 1957 Richard Phillips and Milton Curtis, two young police officers on a routine stop in the Los Angeles, CA suburb of El Segundo, were gunned down by a man who, unknown to the police, had just committed robbery and rape at a nearby lover's lane. With only a fingerprint and the belief that one of the officer's bullets hit the killer, investigators searched for more than 45 years for the man who murdered two of their own. Important clues, including the gun used in the murders, were uncovered but almost 3,000 suspects were checked, all leading to dead ends. Two things helped police to crack the case: a call in 2002 from a woman who identified her uncle as the murderer and the use of forensic technology unavailable at the time of the crimes. Finally, investigators were able to track down the killer -- Gerald Mason -- an unsuspecting 69-year-old family man living in Columbia, S.C. Having pled guilty to murder, Mason was sentenced to prison and will be eligible for parole in 2017. Includes an interview with Darren R. Levine, Deputy District Attorney of Los Angeles County as well as other officers who were involved in the case. (C: Bill Lagattuta - P:

48 HOURS MYSTERY: "Dark Side Of The Mesa" - in November 2001 Michael Blagg, returned to his Grand Junction, Colorado home to find a bloody bed and an empty jewel box -- but no sign of his wife Jennifer or their six-year-old daughter Abby. When investigators learned that Blagg and his wife had argued over his addiction to hard-core pornography, Blagg became the prime suspect. When a search of the county landfill produced Jennifer's remains, the District Attorney charged Blagg with first degree murder. Michael Blagg was tried for murder in March of 2004, convicted and sentenced to life in prison. Abby has never been found. Includes interviews with: Steve King, Mesa County Sheriff's investigator; the Reverend Art Blankenship, pastor of the Blaggs' Evangelical Church and his wife Rhonda; Marilyn Conway, Jennifer's mother; David Loman, her brother; David Eisner, Blagg's attorney; and District Attorney Frank Daniels. 48 HOURS MYSTERY: "Who Killed Stephanie Crowe?" - in January 1998 twelve-year-old Stephanie Crowe was murdered in the bedroom of her Escondido, California home. Following two days of police interrogation with no lawyer or parent present, Michael Crowe confessed to killing his sister and implicated two friends -- Josh Treadway and Aaron Houser. Although the boys quickly recanted the confession they were ordered to stand trial for murder. The Crowe family believed that a mentally ill drifter named Richard Tuite was the killer and a reexamination of Tuite's clothing revealed the presence of Stephanie's blood. After spending almost a year in prison, charges against the boys were dropped when a judge ruled that their confessions were obtained under duress. The investigation was taken over by the state attorney general's office and six years after the crime, Richard Tuite was tried for murder, found guilty and sentenced to the maximum term of 13 years in prison. Includes interviews with: prosecutors Dave Druliner and Jim Dutton; former prosecutor Summer Stephan; Mary Ellen Attridge, public defender; and Vic Caloca, a senior investigator with the San Diego Sheriff's Department. 48 HOURS MYSTERY: "American Taboo" - on October 14, 1976, Deborah Gardner, a young Peace Corps worker from Tacoma, Washington, was murdered while on assignment in the South Pacific island nation of Tonga. Dennis Priven, a 24-year-old fellow Peace Corps worker from Brooklyn, N.Y., who appeared to be obsessed with Gardner, was charged by Tongan police. At his trial, Priven faced death by hanging if found guilty. His attorney argued that he was a paranoid schizophrenic and was therefore not guilty by reason of insanity. A Tongan jury agreed, but with no Tongan facilities available to treat Priven, Peace Corps officials and State Department officials arranged for him to be returned to the U.S., where they promised he would be admitted to a psychiatric institution. Having returned to the U.S., the Peace Corps learned that they had no legal authority over Priven. A psychiatrist who examined Priven said that the murder was committed during a psychotic episode and that he was no longer a threat to anyone. With that diagnosis, Priven was free and returned to Brooklyn. 48 HOURS MYSTERY: "The Canal Street Brothel" - focuses on three generations of women from the same family who all worked in the New Orleans-based Canal Street Brothel -- Tommie Taylor, the grandmother who worked the phones; her daughter, Jeanette Maier, the madam; and the granddaughter, Monica Montemayor, the working girl. The FBI, suspecting that the brothel, part of a nationwide ring, had organized crime connections, shut it down in 2002 after recording 5,000 calls during an investigation involving 10 FBI agents in the days before, during and after 9/11. No evidence of a criminal connection was found, but more than a dozen women were arrested including the three women who ran the Canal Street Brothel. None of the "johns" who patronized the brothel were exposed or arrested. Monica Montemayor, managed to stay out of jail but is fighting to regain custody of her young daughter. 48 HOURS MYSTERY: "Eye Of The Beholder" - in the summer of 2002 a wild July 4th weekend of partying in the wealthy community of Newport Beach, CA. ended with three teenage boys being accused of rape and facing the prospect of life in prison. The critical evidence used at a subsequent trial was a videotape made by the boys themselves. Includes interviews with the three defendants - Greg Haidl, Keith Spann, and Kyle Nachreiner - and the alleged victim, "Jane Doe." Haidl, Spann and Nachreiner all admit having sex with the 16-year-old girl on the night in question. The boys insist it was all consensual. However, the alleged victim claims that she was unconscious and completely unaware of what was taking place. Jurors at the boys' rape trial failed to reach a decision resulting in a mistrial. A week after the mistrial, Greg Haidl was arrested again charged with the statutory rape of another 16-year-old. He is currently in the Orange County Jail under a suicide watch. ~~PACIFIC NET FEED ONLY: 48 HOURS MYSTERY: "The Alibi" - in September 2000, David Camm, a former Indiana State Trooper from New Albany, returned home from a basketball game and claimed that he found his wife Kim and their two children shot dead in the garage. Two days later, Camm was arrested for the murders. Eleven witnesses testified that Camm was playing basketball at the time of the murders; however, the examination of microscopic drops of blood found on his T-shirt and basketball shoes gave evidence to his involvement in the murders. A jury, who also suspected Camm of sexually abusing his young daughter, found him guilty of the murders. He was sentenced to 195 years in prison with no chance of parole. After two years an Indiana appeals court threw out the murder convictions, criticizing the judge in Camm's trial for improperly admitting evidence of adultery, ruling that evidence might have unfairly influenced the jury. Camm has been granted a change of venue for a new trial but no date has not been set. 48 HOURS MYSTERY: "Driven To Extremes" - On Aug. 7, 2000, Mary Hill was driving three neighborhood teenagers, including her daughter, Amy, home from school. Less than two miles from their home in an Orlando, Florida suburb, the car crashed into a tree, claiming the lives of Amy and her best friend, Carrie Brown. The third teen, Zak Rockwell, suffered brain injuries. Hill claims she lost control of her BMW because it sped up on its own, but investigators say that Hill was driving recklessly. After an eight-month investigation by the Florida Highway Patrol, Hill was charged with vehicular homicide and manslaughter. Three and a half years after the accident she was tried and found guilty of two counts of vehicular homicide and on May 10, 2004 she was sentenced to fifteen years in prison. In October 2004 two new witnesses came forward claiming that Mary Hill was not speeding just before the crash. Despite their testimony the judge denied Hill's request for a new trial. Her lawyers plan to continue to appeal her conviction.
