Drive Safely: The Dothan Police Department is reminding motorists to not drink and drive, wear your seat belts, prevent distracted driving, plus make sure children are properly wearing seat belts.	News Program	8/21/20	7:32p	3:00 mins	Labor Day August 31, 2020 Deborah SFX: Planning one final summer getaway this upcoming Labor Day weekend? You're not alone. Americans all over the country are planning road trips ahead of the Monday, September 7 holiday. As the unofficial end of summer nears, Dothan police are reminding motorist to not drink and drive, wear you seat belts and prevent distracted driving. Sgt. William Tharis (Farris) of the Dothan Police Department Sgt. Tharis SFX: I always tell people to plan ahead obviously there is a lot of construction in Dothan going on the road so we want people to be safe during those times. Be mindful of your rush hour traffic. Just know that South Oates highways coming in and leaving Dothan are going to be a little bit more backed up than they usually are. Make sure you buckle up, keep your eyes on the road pay attention to the vehicle in front of you so we wont have people distracted driving, texting and driving or just using kind of a hands free kind of thing. Utilize your blue tooth in your vehicle. Try not to be on the phone if you are going to be driving. Try not to be messing with the radio so much. Also maintain a safe distance between the vehicle in front of you. See a lot of following to closely wrecks and watch your speed. Speed is always a danger factor especially during the holiday time because everybody is rushing to get to where they are going. When they get there they want to good seats be able to get good parking just be mindful of things of that nature. Deborah SFX: Drinking and Driving that's definitely a

				no-no? Sgt. Tharis SFX: On Labor Day absolutely all the Barbecues for the summer obviously drinking and driving or any kind of substance be cognizance of that. Uber and Lyft there are ways and also taxi cabs ways of being especially if you're going to stay local that you can use and obviously wearing your seat belt is going to be the best course of action. Deborah SFX: Talk about children wearing seat belts. A lot of time adults will buckle themselves up but not their children. Sgt. Tharis SFX: We obviously want to buckle our children up. Depending on the size of the child would be the thing in what size car seat you would want to use. If they are old enough without a car seat make sure we are using our seat belts properly. The belt that goes across your chest make sure we are using it properly don't put it under you arm pits, don't put it behind them. There is a reason it goes across your chest the way it does. So we want to be mindful that we are buckling not only ourselves in but buckling our children in. Deborah SFX: Will Dothan Police be out patrolling? Will there be an extra patrol? Sgt. Tharis SFX: We are always extra patrols whether its a holiday or not a holiday we are always out in full force. And there is always extra patrols out there for various reasons. We don't ever kick up just for the holiday we always got extra patrols out on any given basis. Because Dothan is the major thoroughfare for our area so we always got traffic in Dothan. Deborah SFX: So we need to pack a little patience this holiday and be careful and be safe and wear a mask. Sgt. Tharis SFX: Thats right, that's right make sure you are taking safety protocol and just realize that the COVID is still going on so make sure you are doing what you are suppose to do based off the mandates of

Make sure we follow the rules and that's why I say leave early, plan ahead because people tend when they are late there rushing so tempers tend to flair, road rage incidents tend to flair more when you're rushing so we want to me mindful of those and absolutely wear your mask and hopefully we will be through this eventually. Deborah SFX: I'm Deborah Pearson reporting for WOOF News
July is family reunion month and during this current Pandemic families are of course especially important. The close ties that bind families can be very beneficial in maintaining overall mental health and well being during these trying times.	News Program	7/28/20	7:34p	3:00 mins	Family Reunion Month July 28, 2020 Deborah SFX: Families Across America celebrate Family Reunion Month during the month of July. Shannon Thomas is a retired Psychology Instructor at Wallace College of Dothan and she explains the important families especially during the current COVID-19 pandemic and the ties that bind them.. Thomas SFX: Families are important because they share something that you cant change. In the family unit people tend to be closer to because they recognize the contunity of generation like this biology is to be carried out because somewhere through mid life we realize they are not going to live forever and that is why people start mentoring others get really interested in their grand-kids and that kind of thing. And family reunions help to affirm things and that kind of relationship in the fact that these people cant unfamily people because we have a connection that's so deep that even if I don't acknowledge you and I may not be close to you we still share a bond that is eternal... A blood-tie

				Deborah SFX: How can families improve overall well-being Thomas SFX: According to founders of Sociology.. Zertime Says our connections the more people we are connected to the less we are to engage in behavior. He calls in anti-socialism relating to crime and that kind of thing but we need connections the more connections people have the better their overall mental health and well being. This is why during the pandemic this is emphasis even in commercials that people are to maintain their social relationships. Although we maybe physically separated that doesn't mean we have to be psychology separated. In families that is one of the firming things that puts a smile on our face is that here are people who are like me. And that's really good in terms of one's identity. With reunions its also about networking family find job leads. We tend to trust what a family member says more than a friend or an associate because we figure with the associate you're thinking what is the underline objective you're thinking this person may have an alterial motive. When it comes to a family member we think oh ok I can trust this person's advice because they don't have anything to gain they are not trying to play me. Deborah SFX What suggestion would you have during this time of the pandemic Thomas SFX: Strengthen the connections that you already have basically and find new ways to support family. It is very important that we do those ZOOM and Face-time, Duo its self affirming where we have people that we share a common ancestor. It reaffirms us, our sense of self, who we are positivity within ourselves because that's me that person that family member is apart of me. I am not just alone in the world I'm apart of a bigger purpose and that purpose was present before me and will continue. Deborah SFX: I'm Deborah Pearson Reporting for WOOF News

Hepatitis Awareness: This inflammation of the liver can be acute or a short term infection or a chronic long term infection. Knowing the symptoms and community awareness is a start to fighting this global burden.	News Program	7/27/20	7:32p	3:00 mins	World Hepatitis Day July 27, 2020 Deborah SFX: World Hepatitis Day takes places every year on 28 July bringing the world together under a single theme to raise awareness of the global burden of viral hepatitis and to influence real change. Dr. Juanita Heersink talks about the Hepatitis. Dr. Heersink SFX: Hepatitis is a real general term that doctors and other people use to describe inflammation of the liver. And we usually patients and physicians pick up on inflammation of the liver sometimes based upon physical exam, finding things that occurs or sometimes physicians pick up on it just by history of exposures or potential hazards that might have caused it. Lab testing can also pick up that the liver is inflamed so blood test give us that information as well. But hepatitis is really general it can be acute or a short term infection or a chronic long-term infection. And viral hepatitis is what we want to talk about in relation to World Hepatitis Day or just one of the causes of acute and chronic hepatitis. Acute hepatitis can also be caused by auto-immune diseases, direct action of some medication, even low blood pressure in severe illness just to name a few of the potential causes that are so many different things that can cause acute inflammation. Deborah SFX: Are there any symptoms that people can look for ?

	59 recorded serving	7/9/28-	2400-	:30 secs.	Dr. Heersink SFX: Some people are asymptomatic especially people who tend to be asymptomatic and adults can be asymptomatic as well but when people do have symptoms they typically develop fatigue, nausea, some mild stomach pain that may or may not be on the right upper part of their stomach where their liver is, poor appetite, some people see dark urine or they will experience joint pain throughout their body and then patients typically come in when they see the jaundice or yellowing or discoloring of their skin or icterus yellowing discoloring of their eyes. Hepetitus is such a general term. I think the one that most patients think of is viral hepatitis that's what we really think of when we celebrate World Hepatitis Day but there are several different kinds of viral hepatitis there is hepatitis A, B, C, D, and E. But there is a lot of different kinds of and transmitted in a lot of different ways and you have different diagnostics and treatment options for them based upon the type of virus. Deborah SFX: Now why should World Hepatitis Day be celebrated? Dr. Heersink SFX: Well the CDC and world health organization established this world hepatitis day on the anniversary of the birthday of Dr. Blumberg. Born in 1925 and passed away in 2011 but he is credited for discovering hepatitis B virus back in 1967 and within two years discovering the hepatitis B vaccine. So he was awarded a noble peace prize for those achievements and the World Health Organization and the CDC felt like his yearly birthday was a wonderful time to raise community awareness the burden prevalence of hepatitis and what we can do to combat it and establish a diagnoses if we have it and with a vaccine when able. Deborah SFX: I'm Deborah Pearson reporting for WOOF news.

During this current Pandemic getting out at a park or recreation area is a breath of fresh air. It's time to go fishing, hiking, camping, or walking the dogs or even zip lining. July is national parks and recreation month.	News Program	7/20/20	7:31p	3:00 mins.	National Parks and Recreation Month July 20, 2020 Deborah SFX: In a normal year, Parks and Recreation would have a full line-up of activities planned during the month of July to commemorate National Parks and Recreation Month...but unfortunately due to the novel coronavirus pandemic... this is not a normal year. Since the pandemic, families are becoming creative and finding ways to be active by visiting parks and enjoying outdoor recreational activities..Emily Fields is a Tourist Promotional Representative at the Houston Welcome Center. SFX Fields: We've got multiple National Parks multiple state parks and you know we have our parks around town. No matter where you are in the state you're an hour away from a state park. We have a lot of people that come in and ask for hiking and biking and fishing and things like that just to be able to get out and be able to do something which all of our parks offer. Deborah SFX: Can you just give me a rundown of some of the state parks. Fields SFX: Some of our state parks that are close by we have Eufaula State Park which you know they have the lodge, they've got where you can rent boats, you've got the cabins, you've got a restaurant on-site. Blue Springs State Park which is in Clio. They've got the springs out there that you can play in, they've got the campground and things like that. Deborah SFX: Talk about some of the family outing that people can do during this time?

				Fields SFX: Some of the stuff that they can do Oak Mountain and State Park that is south of Birmingham you can fish they've got a Zip line there, camping, hiking things like that Deborah SFX: People can you know picnic as well Fields SFX: Yes, pack you a sack lunch things they've got pavillion that you can sit at, fishing, you can load your boat, go boating Deborah SFX: Mountain Biking I understand is pretty big right now to Fields SFX: It is, you can load your bike all of our trails and everything are listed on our state website using our vacation guide that we have. We have over a hundred National Forrest through-out the state and we have a brochure for that here call the 100 Great Escapes. We also have our state park brochure here at the Welcome Center they can always come here if they need any help planning their next adventure. Deborah SFX: And what about something like Dog Parks I know we have one here in the Wiregrass? Fields SFX: Eastgate Park has a dog park you can take your dog and run. They've got obstacle courses for the dogs as well. Deborah SFX: And I was looking at ways to highlight parks and recreation sites to let people know that their are things that you can still do and social distance Fields SFX: you can do hashtag Alabama State Parks or Alstatepark or you can look them up on Facebook under Alabama state parks Deborah SFX: National Parks and Recreation Month is an initiative of the National Recreation and Park Association. It is designed to promote the importance of parks, and to get more people to visit their local parks,

I'm Deborah Pearson Reporting for WOOF news National Watermelon Month July 6, 2020 Deborah SFX: Ah, Watermelon. It's a perfect sweet snack for the hottest of summer days. Did you know July is National Watermelon Month? To celebrate Landmark Park will have a watermelon sampling day on July 11th beginning at 10 a.m. Laura Staklum Executive Director of Landmark Park talks about the tasty treat. Laura Staklum SFX: July in National Watermelon Month and Landmark Park will be celebrating that this year on July 11th. It's at 10 o'clock in the morning we will have a watermelon sampling. And so we will have different varieties of watermelon that you can taste see which one is your favorite. There are a lot of different varieties of watermelon I had no idea how many different varieties. But there are ones that are red, yellow, pink, dark pink you know you've got seedless and you've got ones with seeds there's a lot of different varieties. The ones we grow here at the park are heirloom varieties. So there are the kinds that would have been grown on a farm in the Wiregrass in the 1890's. So we will have some of those but we will also have some more modern ones donated by Birdsong Farms so people can have a taste and we will also have things like recipe cards and information that people can pick up. Deborah SFX: And talk about how nutritious watermelon are for people Laura Staklum SFX: Watermelon's are actually very nutritious especially in the summer when we need more water because we are sweating and its so hot. Watermelon is 92% water and its got a lot of different nutrients its a good source of antioxidants, vitamin A, vitamin C, magnesium, potassium and fiber. So there are a lot of vitamins in watermelon and also a lot of water in watermelon. So they are a great treat for a hot summer day.

Deborah SFX: So for the sampling is it free to come in or do you have to pay to come into the gate

Laura Staklum SFX: You do pay the gate admission so that's 4-dollars for adults and 3-dollars for kids its also free if you are a park member since Landmark Park is a Blue Star Museum Military families get in free during the summers so it will be free for them and its free for children ages 2 and under but once you're in the gate the tasting is absolutely free. So you just pay to come in and enjoy the park and also the special event at the watermelon tasting.

And I'd like to mention also if you have a family of four and would like to come to the park the Library has connect passes so you can check out a pass to come into the park for free from the library so that might be a way to save a little money as well. The passes cover up to four people you know you check out a pass just like you check out a book and you use it to come in for free.

Deborah SFX: Is that something new?

Laura Staklum SFX: It is relatively new. I think there are several different venues around town that except them but I know the library has a program you can check out the Connect pass and you check out a pass just like a book so you can either get in free or at a discount to certain places around town

Laura Staklum at Landmark Park says now that the facility has reopen events have been scheduled and doubled up for the month of July. Staklum is the Executive Director at the park. Laura SFX: In July on Wednesday's we will be doing Wacky Wednesday's and those are at 10 o'clock and we do ask that you pre-register because we are going to have to be a little bit stricter than usual about attendance numbers. But Wacky Wednesday's are just a variety of different activities that we offer. We are going to do a class on making Nome Homes and Fairy Gardens. Well do one on Edible Science which is science experiments you can do right there in your kitchen. We are doing one on natural disasters safety and then we are also doing a beginning yoga class. So those are Wednesday's in July at 10 o'clock the first one will start on July 8th. You can register for those at Landmark Park Dothan dot com they are free with you paid gate admission. Since we couldn't start in June like we usually do we are doubling up on animal adventures on Thursday's and Friday's in July we will have presenter's come in with different species of both native and exotic animals and give visitors a chance to see the animals up close and learn about them and that will also be in the Interpretative museum auditorium at 10 o'clock it will be Thursday's and Friday's this year. Deborah SFX: And tell us about some of your regularly scheduled events like Woodturners and Dulcimer Clubs Laura SFX: Every month we have regularly scheduled events and we're able to continue to offer them even through COVID related restrictions because we do have space to spread out relatively small groups. Kay Jones Executive Director explains how this year's fundraiser will take place. Jones SFX: When we were trying to decide what to do for our caregivers this year we came up with the idea a Drive to Remember where everyone would stay in their cars. We will meet in front of the James Grant Rec Center at Westgate Park just like we always have, but we are not getting out of our cars. We will have a course marked off in the parking lot. We will have balloon archs lined up. We will have a balloon entrance and one will be the exit balloon arch. And in between we will have purple balloons. Lining our route will be our board members our walk committee members and we will be waving to are caregivers telling them thank you for coming, that we miss them, we love them and that our office is still right here providing the services and programs that we always have just in different ways. This has been a very challenging year for our caregivers. Not being able to get out and do things that they have always been able to do for their loved ones. I've been doing this for a long time and I have never experienced the sadness the frustration in my caregivers that I have seen this year. And its because they can't do what they have always been able to do. We just wanted to do more than something virtual we wanted to see their faces and tell them we love them we care for them, we are still here for them. And I'm hoping they will come out the morning of October 3rd and drive through the course that we have marked off and just let us wave to them and tell them that we are thinking of them and that they are not forgotten and that we're here. Deborah SFX: How will you get donations this year? Jones SFX: You can register online its 25-dollars if you would like a t-shirt you go to our website at wesharethecare.org or they can come into our office and register and they can also register the morning of the drive. LifeSouth is partnering with medical centers in Florida, Georgia and Alabama to find plasma from blood donors who have recovered from the virus to help critically ill patients fighting the virus. Melinda Hinds is the District Community Development Coordinator for Lifesouth Melinda SFX: Right now there is a special interest out there with the pandemic. People are coming in because we're testing each donation for the COVID-19 antibodies. What we're doing we're partnering with medical centers in Florida, Georgia and Alabama and we collect the plasma for the COVID -19 patients who have recovered from the virus. So we want people to come in and donate and we're going to test to see if you have the antibodies. And if you do have the antibodies we're going to reach out to you and see if you are interested in making a plasma donation which is termed a convalescent plasma donation and basically that's plasma taken from a donor who has recovered from a disease. And the plasma is the liquid part of the blood where the antibodies reside. And those antibodies can fight against the COVID 19 and help the patient to a more speedy recovery for those that are critically ill right now with COVID-19. And a lot of our hospitals are calling and needing the convalescent plasma.

We've had a great response from people in the community because we have been sending out emails and trying to get in touch with our regular donors to let them know to come in a donate when its time and that we are going to be running the testing to see if they are carriers of the antibodies so that maybe they can help someone else. Certain specific areas need it more than others of course but we're trying to help as much with that as much as we can.

We've had quite a few people who have had been tested and found out they did have the antibodies and they have signed up to be the convalescent plasma donor and have helped a lot of people already. So it's just another way for everybody to be able to help.

Our donor center is open 7 days a week at 3833 Ross Clark Circle. We have a couple of late night's where we're open until 7 so that comes in handy for people who have do to work late in the afternoons. Our blood mobiles are going out 7 days a week and if you're out there and listening and would like to find a blood mobile near them and find out where the blood mobile drive are I encourage them to visit our website its updated daily and they can go to lifesouth.org and you can put in your zip code and it will pull up the drives that are around you that are open to the public and you don't have to have an appointment you can go in and donate blood and if you donate with us we get an email address from you and we email you your results of the antibody testing usually between four and seven days.

	News Program	8/17/20	7:34p	3:00 mins	WOOF news. Wearing Mask- Dr. Harkness Southeast Health - Part I August 17, 2020 Deborah SFX: Last month Alabama became one of many states now requiring the use of facial masks when in public. Most states now have some statewide face mask requirement in place, the latest effort to stem the spread of the COVID-19 pandemic. Under Ivey's order, citizens must wear a mask in public when interacting within six feet of people from a different household. For now the order is in effect until the end of August. Dr. Charles Harkness of Southeast Health talks about the importance of wearing masks. Dr. Harkness SFX: What's become apparent is the main way it gets spread from person to person is air droplets coming from the breath of one person to another. And so we started a mask wearing campaign in the hospital not only of health care workers but people coming into the hospital patients coming in and then reducing the number of people so we can keep the likelihood of close contact to down to much of a minimum as we could. And as a result of the mask wearing policy at the hospital we've seen a marked reduction in the spread of the disease internally even though we have had large numbers of COVID patients in the hospital that we are treating we still not spreading it amongst our healthcare workers or the people that we are treating or to other patients. That appears to be mainly due to the mask wearing that we have been doing. Deborah SFX: There are a lot of different mask out there that people are purchasing buying, making what is the best type of mask to wear?

	News Program	8/24/20	7:34p	3:00 mins	Harkness SFX: It kind of depends upon the situation. If you are going to have close contact with someone actually the type that are really tight fitting around the face called the N-95 in fact they are the ones that was gobbled up very early and the supply chain became an issue. The N-95 or its equivalent and you can actually find them in a lot of stores like Home Depot and Lowes have a version of those N-95. The problem with a lot of them if they have a exhale vent on them then you can actually breathe out the virus. So we look for a mask that is totally closed that's the N-95 but that's really a health care worker type mask. Any mask the covers the face and prevents air droplets from getting through so the paper disposable mask are probably the best but if you get a cloth you want to really tighten the cloth or a multiple layer cloth that covers both the nose and the mouth. And the whole goal is to keep the air droplets from going straight ahead and spread them out even or block them all together. When you're outside because of the wind conditions and open atmosphere probably not as higher risk. The real risk of contagiousness is a closed environment. But besides mask wearing which we think you should wear when you go into any institution you also want to avoid close contact. The six feet seems to be the magic number. If you can stay six feet or more from other people the likelihood of air droplets getting to you works and vice versa. I think continuing the mask wearing and social distancing or what they refer to as social distancing is important. Deborah SFX: I'm Deborah Pearson reporting for WOOF news Face Covering Part 2 Dr. Harkness Southeast Health

				Deborah SFX: Alabama Health officials are encouraged by seeing a decline in COVID-19 cases about a month after a state mask order took affect. Health officials say face coverings are one of the most powerful weapons we have to slow and stop the spread of the Corona virus. Alabama Gov. Kay Ivey is calling on Alabamians to do their part and fight the COVID-19 pandemic by wearing masks. Governor Ivey extended the state of Alabama "safer at home" order and mask mandate thur the end of August. Dr. Charles Harkness last week talked about he importance of wearing face coverings..this week Dr. Harkness says phyicians are preparing for the possiblity of another wave of the virus once flu season starts this fall. Harkness SFX.. The key to this virus is we still have not solved how to stop it hopefully a vaccine will be coming but we are still seeing the virus in our community its out there. What we have seen is a decrease in the number of cases coming into the hospital and I think that's totally due to people wearing face mask and doing social distancing. Deborah SFX: One of the largest employers in the Wiregrass Michlin Corporation has helped supply those critical PPE's for area hospitals. Felicia Sanders SFX: the beginning of the pandemic Michelin donated 25 thousand masks to Flowers Hosptial and 25-thousand to Southeast Health. Deborah SFX: That was Felicia Sanders Plant Manager at Michelin Corporation. Felicia Sanders SFX: We employ 600 people here between Michelin employees and contractors. And these are all the reasons why we just need to take practical steps to try to mitigate the spread of the virus so that we can all keep working. Deborah SFX: With the upcoming flu season right around the corner Dr. Charles Harkness says there are concerns Harkness SFX: Well we are trying to prepare for that. I don't think anybody knows the certainty of the virus is not following kind of traditonal patterns. We hope that people will do the precautions they can for the control of flu because those will have the same impact as the coronavirus. Their is a vaccine for the flu hopefully we will see better use of that We dont see that use much as we like to. We would like to see everybody get that vaccine. It's not 100 percent the flu virus changes every year but it makes a hugh differnce both in the number of cases and how bad those cases are. So I think our caution is continue to use the mask when they are appropriate even if we get a second wave it won't be as bad as this first one. Deborah SFX:Alabama Kay Ivey remains Alabamians Ivey SFX: Each of us can do our part. Governor Ivey says today she is issuing a mask wearing mandate sfx ivey mask order: As everyone knows that our last press conference on June the 30th two weeks ago we extended our safer at home order til the end of July. And some of you will recall at that time that while Dr. Harris and I could order you to wear a mask it would be next to impossible to enforce. I also remember saying that you shouldn't have to order what to do in your own best interest and the best interest of those you know and love. Well folks, I still believe its still going to be a difficult order to enforce and I always perfer a personal responsiblity over a government mandate and yet I also know with all my heart that the numbers and the date over the past few weeks are deadly trending in the wrong direction.

Over a two week period from June 29 to July 13 the total number of COVID 19 cases in Alabama rose by 50 percent and the number of COVID patients hospitalized during this same time period has increased significantly. Nine of the first 13 days of July saw daily increases of more than 1-thousand cases. Despite of all of our best efforts that we are seeing increase cases everyday are still occurring and we're almost to the point where our hospitalized ICU's are overwhelmed. Specifically the order stipulates that face covering must be worn in public when in close contact with other people. Law enforcement in general is experiencing some of the repercussion of these poor decisions and bad actions.

(SFX)Background

In order to encourage local law enforcement. A local church will host a Law Enforcement Appreciation Day on Friday, June 10th. Dr. W. Charles Lewis, Senior Pastor of Dothan Community Church is leading this effort to encourage local police officers, Sheriff's Deputies and State Troopers.

Dr. Lewis SFX: As we have been looking at the racial unrest in the nation this is sort of a season to do some things. Color or race is a conversation not only of the nation but its global and now is the time to do something

(SFX): Background

Dr. Lewis SFX: We saw the unjust actions of that happened in regards to George Floyd and we know that spotlighted police but we know that all police are not that way and so this season is somewhat of a difficult time to be in law enforcement and so we want to encourage those who are good law enforcement. The good are suffering with the bad. And we want to say we know that everybody in law enforcement is not corrupt so we want to express appreciation for those who are doing a good job.

(SFX: Janasky Fleming) I want to welcome you to the city that has leadership willing to jump out front and take the mantle

Deborah SFX: You recently hosted the historic PACE Solidarity Rally for the community was this event too

	23 recorded Serving the needs of our Community announcement promoting Law Enforcement	7/7/20-7/10/20	2400hrs-2400hrs	:30 secs.	also apart of your plans? Dr. Lewis SFX: That Solidarity Drive was something that I had envisioned and this Law Enforcement Appreciation Day is also a vision of mine so it is under the umbrella of PACE but also of Dothan Community Church. Dothan Community Church our middle name is Community and so we are concerned about the community. So our nation is very divided its very partisan and some will support one but not the other and so think that its a both "and" than an either or situation. (SFX) Background Dr. Lewis SFX: I hear the black men talk about experiences with police officers Im one of those black men who have had that experience myself. I was out walking in my own neighborhood someone had called and said their was a suspicious person walking and thats not the only experience I've had so I know that that's a reality. But again not all officers are up to no good and we want to encourage that and try to have equal balance in our representation of the community. On Friday we have several pastors who will be praying for law enforcement and we will be feeding law enforcement this will happen at the Wiregrass Public Safety Center SFX: Dr. Lewis: PACE was born out of a time like this for times like this. Deborah SFX: I'm Deborah Pearson reporting for WOOF news
