

1010 XL Participates in UNF School of Communication's Internship + Career Fair

1010 XL is delighted to share broadcasting insights with potential young broadcasters. On Wednesday, February 28, 2024, 1010 XL's Graham Marsh, Tom Fridley, and current Intern Skylar Catherwood participated in the University of North Florida's School of Communication's Internship + Job Fair.

1010 XL met with many communication students, answering questions about broadcasting and how radio stations work. There was a high level of interest in internship opportunities and what potential internships entail. Skylar was in a unique position to share her experience as a current 1010 XL intern with other potential interns. She talked about what she has learned, including specific production techniques, everyday life at the station, and the many moving parts that makeup 1010 XL.

1010 XL joined more than 50 other employers at this event and walked away with nearly 30 students interested in interviewing for upcoming summer and fall internship positions.

Since 1010 XL's debut in 2007, UNF has supplied more interns than any other school.
