

Issue	Date	Time Aired	Duration	Show	Segment Title	Description
Politics	3/31/2016		15	Morning Amp	Activist Michael Garza recounts the events at the cancelled Trump rally, including a Nazi salute	On March 11th of this year anti-Trump protesters scored a victory by shutting down a scheduled Donald Trump rally at the UIC Pavilion in Chicago. Many moments were captured that evening but none more controversial than the image of an elderly woman giving the Nazi salute while surrounded by anti-Trump protesters. One of those protesters is Michael J Garza, was standing directly next to saluting woman. He sat down with Jesse Menendez to talk about that now viral moment, his own life and what brought him to the UIC Pavilion on that night.
Social Justice	3/30/2016		15	Morning Amp	City of Gary revisits Immigration Detention Center proposal	WBEZ's Michael Puente joins The Morning Amp to explain the GEO Group's recently revisited proposal to build a Immigration Processing and Detention Center near the Gary-Chicago International Airport. The group originally approached the city with the proposal four months ago but halted efforts after failing to gain support from the mayor and city counsel. On April 12th, GEO will approach the Board of Zoning Appeals with a use variance request in order to move forward with the project.
Politics	3/28/2016		15	Morning Amp	The US and Cuba: A Relationship in need of Counseling	Professor Felix Masud-Piloto of Depaul University joins Jill Hopkins on The Morning Amp to provide his expertise on the changing relationship of the United States and Cuba. Professor Masud-Piloto gives a brief history of the troubled relationship and a look at what the recent changes mean for both countries. Professor Masud-Piloto was born in Havana and is a professor of History at DePaul. He is the founding editor of Diálogo, a multidisciplinary journal of Latin American and Latino affairs, and an expert on US-Cuba relations.

Community	3/24/2016	15	Morning Amp	El Paseo - a good public amenity or a path to further gentrification?	Since 2015, the city of Chicago has been moving on its plan to turn a stretch of gravel pathways and vacant lots in Little Village into a paved 1.3-mile trail called the Little Village Paseo. Last Sunday, Mayor Rahm Emanuel announced plans to expand the trail into neighboring Pilsen. This new trail will now be called The Paseo. The announcement was met with mixed reactions including those who believe this move will hyper gentrify the Little Village community. Dr. Coya Paz, teaches at DePaul University and is the Artistic Director of Free Street Theater. She is a cultural critic and joined Jesse and Jill on The Morning AMP to unpack the threat of gentrification in Pilsen and Little Village.
Social Justice	3/17/2016	40	Morning Amp	Peace Council: SCOTUS nominee and voter patterns among Chicago Black and Latino Democrats	This week on Peace Council, we were joined by journalist and critic Britt Julious and Dr. Coya Paz. We discussed Obama's SCOTUS nominee Merrick Garland and took a look at voter patterns among Chicago Black and Latino Democrats. Hillary Clinton did well in heavily Black wards and along the lake front, while Bernie Sanders took all but one predominantly Latino neighborhoods.
Feminism	3/16/2016	40	Morning Amp	Council of Feminist Thought: Girls Rock Chicago	Kate Walsh of Girls Rock Chicago joins The Morning AMP's Council of Feminist Thought to talk about misogyny in the music industry and how Girls Rock Summer Camps are helping blaze the trail for young aspiring musicians. Kate is the Girls Rock Camp Alliance Membership and Communications Organizer, and an active musician in the Chicago music scene.
Politics	3/14/2016	15	Morning Amp	Trump Rally Cancelled: WBEZ's Michael Puente shares what he saw at the UIC Pavilion	Presidential candidate Donald Trump cancelled a scheduled rally at the UIC Pavilion last Friday due to safety concerns. But was the event as "unsafe" as reported? WBEZ's Northwest Indiana Bureau Reporter Michael Puente stops by Studio 11 to share what he saw at the rally.

Politics	3/14/2016	15	Morning Amp	Author Colin Woodard brings to light the struggle between individual liberty and the common good	Author and journalist Colin Woodard brings up the topic of the struggle between individual liberty and the common good in his latest book "American Character: A History of the Epic Struggle Between Individual Liberty and the Common Good." Jill Hopkins spoke with Woodard about protecting individual liberty, the issue of bipartisanship and maintaining economic structure.
Social Justice	3/4/2016	40	Morning Amp	Peace Council: Zoe Saldana's not-so-Nina Simone and Melissa Harris Perry's major twitter game	April Scissors and Whitney Capps join The Morning Amp to discuss the outrage over Zoe Saldana's casting as Nina Simone in the upcoming biopic about the iconic singer's life. The Council also discusses Melissa Harris Perry's beef with MNSBC for the numerous interruptions of her show to cover minor election news. The Council has MHP's back and admires the quality of her twitter game.
Arts	2/24/2016	15	Morning Amp	Sounds Like Teen Spirit: Author Tim English discusses plagiarism in music	Author Tim English is an authority on plagiarism in pop music and has appeared on NPR, BBC Radio, and has been featured in Chicago Tribune, The Huffington Post and on The Howard Stern Show. Tim spoke with Jill Hopkins about his book "Sounds Like Teen Spirit: Stolen Melodies, Ripped-Off Riffs and the Secret History of Rock and Roll," in which he discusses song-by-song cases from The Beatles to the more recent ones - Sam Smith and Robin Thicke.
Community	2/19/2016	15	Morning Amp	WBEZ's Natalie Moore talks Chicago's public housing	WBEZ's South Side reporter Natalie Moore stops in at the AMP to discuss mixed income public housing in Chicago and whether or not the project has had the social and economic impact it was designed to have.
Arts	2/15/2016	15	Morning Amp	Lizzo addresses Feminism and body positivity on new album Big GRRRL Small World	Minneapolis-based Hip Hop artist Lizzo spoke with Jesse Menendez and Jill Hopkins about her new album Big GRRRL Small World. She discussed Feminism, body positivity and how that one time Price asked her to be on one of his tracks.

Politics	2/15/2016	15	Morning Amp	Holding Court: Legal expert Sarah Marmor explains what's next for the Supreme Court	After the sudden passing of Justice Antonin Scalia, debates are raging along party lines over who will take his seat, Sarah Marmor, a founding partner at Scharf Banks Marmor LLC, stops by to discuss the future of the court, the party politics in play, and the ultimate legacy of the late justice.
Arts	2/12/2016	60	Barber Shop Show	Barber Shop Show 251: Young Diversive Film Critics	On this installment of the Barber Shop Show, host Richard Steele was joined by Chaz Ebert. Robertebert.com, the Chicago Urban League, and Columbia College's High School journalism program have teamed up to train a diverse batch of aspiring film critics.
Social Justice	2/9/2016	60	Practically Speaking	Practically Speaking 65: Ferguson's Fault Lines	On this installment of Practically Speaking, Host Audra Wilson sat down with Kimberly Jade Norwood, author of "Ferguson's Fault Lines: The Race Quake That Rocked a Nation". They talk about the Fault Lines (including extreme poverty and substandard education) that have caused a dramatic erosion in Black America's belief in the promise of equal treatment under the law. They also discuss the idea of "implicit bias" as it relates to racism.
Feminism	2/8/2016	40	Morning Amp	Council of Feminist Thought - Return of Kings, Violence Against Women	Sharmili Majmudar of Chicago Rape Victim Advocates and Claudia Garcia Rojas of Chicago's Task Force on Violence Against Girls and Young Women join the council of feminist thought on The Morning AMP to discuss Men's Rights Activism and the organized meet up scheduled to occur in Chicago. Claudia Garcia Rojas is a Chicago-based writer, activist and anti-gender based violence advocate. She is also a Doctoral candidate in Black Studies at Northwestern University. Sharmili Majmudar has been Executive Director of Rape Victim Advocates since 2008.
Social Justice	1/29/2016	60	Barber Shop Show	Barber Shop Show 249: City Bureau	This week, host Richard Steele was joined by folks from City Bureau. They'll talk about their recent batch of work, digging into police misconduct and young black activism in Chicago.

Politics	1/12/2016	15	Morning Amp	Journalism or Entertainment? Breaking down Sean Penn's interview with El Chapo	Alfredo Corchado is a journalist and Mexico correspondent for the Dallas Morning News. He is also the Director of the Borderlands program at the Cronkite School of Journalism at ASU. Alfredo joined Jesse and Jill on The Morning Amp to talk about actor Sean Penn's story on Joaquin "El Chapo" Guzman for Rolling Stone.
Social Justice	1/14/2016	40	Morning Amp	Peace Council: Black Girl Magic and The State of The Union Address	Derrick Clifton is a Contributor to NBC BLK and the Chicago Reader. April Sissors is a cultural commentator and they make up today's Peace Council. They joined Jesse and Jill on The Morning Amp to discuss the SOTU and what gets lost when Obama emphasizes that we're 'Americans First'. They also talked about what some are calling the issue with Black Girl Magic.
Social Justice	1/14/2016	15	Morning Amp	Fred Tsao of ICIRR discusses the recent ICE raids and deportations	Over the first weekend of the New Year, Immigration and Customs Enforcement officials say they conducted a series of operations targeting Central American families who came into the United States without proper documentation in 2014. The operation has been met with criticism for its use of aggressive raids. One of the organizations that has been critical is the Illinois Coalition for Immigrant and Refugee Rights. ICIRR is dedicated to promoting the rights of immigrants and refugees to full and equal participation in the civic, cultural, social, and political life of our diverse society. Fred Tsao, the Senior Policy Counsel at the I.C.I.R.R joined Jesse and Jill on the line to talk about the raids.
Community	1/8/2016	60	Barber Shop Show	Barber Shop Show 246: YMCA Story Squad	Is past exposure to trauma a main cause of future dangerous behaviors? And, who can talk about the violence going on in our communities better than kids who witness it first hand?

Arts	1/11/2016	15	Morning Amp	Wired To Create: Peeking inside the minds of creative people	Scott Barry Kofman is The Scientific Director of The Imagination Institute in the Positive Psychology Center at The University of Pennsylvania. He is also the co-author of Wired To Create: Unraveling The Mysteries of The Creative Mind. Scott joined Jesse Menendez on The Morning Amp to talk about the book and creativity.
Feminism	1/6/2016	40	Morning Amp	A Feminist Candidate or A Woman Candidate: breaking down Hillary Clinton's campaign	It is Wednesday and it's time for another Council of Feminist Thought. Today we were joined by Veronica Arreola. She's The Director of the UIC Women in Science & Engineering Program and the woman behind the blog, Viva la Feminista. We talked about Hillary Clinton's Campaign so far and discussed whether she's a true Feminist candidate or simply a woman candidate
Community	1/6/2016	15	Morning Amp	More Tasers: CPD plans a five-step "de-escalation"	Chicago Sun-Times investigative reporter Mick Dumke joined Jesse and Jill on The Morning AMP to talk about his recent article "Emanuel and CPD interim chief plan 'de-escalation' approach, more Tasers"
Arts	1/4/2016	15	Morning Amp	Ric Wilson talks justice, organizing and The Sun Was Out EP	On his new EP, The Sun Was Out, Chicago Hip Hop artist Ric Wilson navigates narratives such as identity, race and social inequality. Ric joined Jesse and Jill on The Morning AMP to talk about the EP and how his community organizing efforts seep into his music.