Radio Health Journal is a radio magazine that keeps tabs on the latest in the world of medicine -- breakthroughs, medical advances to watch for and eye-opening news your listeners can use. On-air since 1992, it's an upbeat, in-depth public affairs program that satisfies local compliance issues such as:

- Economics
- Domestic & child abuse
- Government reform
- Education
- Urban/rural problems
- Substance Abuse
- Poverty
- Food safety & labeling
- Consumerism

Radio Health Journal runs 28 minutes, giving you two minutes for local sale. Produced by national award-winning professionals, it's compliance-based radio that's interesting, informative, and entertaining. Air it any time Monday-Sunday, 6am-midnight! Delivered biweekly on compact disc, it comes complete with a program synopsis and detailed logs itemizing all compliance issues covered for your quarterly report. And it's free! Radio Health Journal is available on a barter basis, completely self-contained with four national minutes.

Deregulation hasn't eliminated your station's need for public affairs programming. In fact, with consolidation, you may have to supply public affairs to more stations using fewer resources. Now you can do it... and satisfy your local compliance issues at the same time.

ISSUES SYNOPSIS

Issues is a 30 minute show produced by local NBC affiliate, WLWT Channel 5.

While leaning towards African American issues, the show focuses on a wide range of topics that would be of interest to anyone in greater Cincinnati including, crime prevention, health matters, money management, politics, school and parenting issues and community events.

All of the guests are from the Cincinnati area or have importance to the Tri-state.

Issues Host Curtis Fuller is a reporter and former anchor for WLWT – channel 5 in Cincinnati. Along with being well versed in local issues thanks to his job as a reporter Fuller ran for Mayor and has been a Cincinnati personality for more than a decade.

For information on Issues or topics discussed on the show, go to www.channelcincinnati.com – scroll down the right side and click on the link “this week on issues.”

*A CD copy of each program is on file in the Station Newsroom and available upon request.

COMMUNITY EVENTS SYNOPSIS

Thorough out the year several events are organized to serve the community at large and in some cases also promote the station.

The events range in size and length and some are done to raise money for a specific charity.

Each event participated in this quarter is outlined in the following section. They are compiled by the Promotions Director in conjunction with both the Programming and Public Affairs Director.
