1. Cultural Issues
2. Suicide
3. Being fruitful people
4. Crushed Hopes
5. Memorial Day

1. Cultural Issues

In our modern culture here in America, We se on the television and printed news the epidemic problem of addiction, whether substance abuse, or unhealthy social media habits, and the like.

Today, there are numerous help groups available to people seeking help, however the epidemic seems to continue with no end in sight.

Peter-John Courson took an opportunity on his daily radio program to address this issue.

Program: Rogue Grace

Responsive Programing

Peter-John Courson took an opportunity on his daily radio program to address this issue. Going through the book of Exodus, speaking of the Jewish nation being slaves to the Egyptians at that time, Pastor Peter-John likened the epidemic of addiction to the stories in Exodus.

Just as God's people were freed from the Egyptian bondages, so to we can be freed from the addictions and bondages we have in our lives, but only through the power of God.

2. Suicide

In Early June 2018, Anthony Bourdain, the much loved CNN correspondent committed suicide. It very much made the headlines of most all news outlets and internet news feeds, and much of the public knew who he was and his contribution to news and the cooking fields

It is the desire of this radio station, and the parent company Applegate Christian Fellowship, to address the nations problem of suicide

Date/Time/Duration

Show name: Journey of Hope

Responsive Programming

Pastor Ben Courson has a passionate heart for the people who suffer from depression, and ultimately have a tendency to hurt themselves even to the point of suicide.

On his weekly opportunity to preach at the Applegate Christian Fellowship, a church service broadcasted live on KAPL, Pastor Ben spoke about this issue, addressing the root problem associated with depression, and the ultimate cure for this disease, being the hope in Jesus Christ.

3. Being fruitful people

A fundamental desire for all of us is the desire to better ourselves. We as Christians liken it to bearing fruit, but how do we do that effectively. We want to help others, or help a certain organization, or just plain ol be better people, and when we do, the bible talks about that as 'bearing fruit' in our lives.

Show title: Morning Show

Responsive Programming

Pastor Jon Courson took opportunity from the pulpit to look closely at John chapter 15, a chapter on bearing fruit. The following day, Pastor Jon came into the Radio station for his daily live broadcast called 'The Morning Show' to further expand on the topic of bearing fruit.

The answer, of course, it to stay connected to the tree...the tree being Jesus. To the degree we do that, the greater we are able to bear fruit in our every-day lives.

4. Crushed Hopes

As little kids, we all would have dreams and goals for our lives. Whether it was to be a fireman (every kids dream), or as we grew a little, maybe to own a company, or to hold a record for the fastest mile, or to play for a professional sports team. Then through education and training, we strive to achieve a significant level of success in that.

However, sometimes life happens, and what do we do when our first dreams and goals fail to happen? Whether through accident, or tragedy, or whatever the case, what do we do when we see our dreams fail

Show name: Rogue Grace

Responsive Programming

On his daily radio program, 'Rogue Grace', Pastor Peter-John Courson took the opportunity to talk about broken dreams and crushed hopes. Speaking about an 'un-named' friend he had a recent conversation with, who this person through tragedy and a physical accident, saw his dreams dashed ion an instant.

Pastor Peter-John brought his friend, as well as the listening audience, to an important and hope-filled scripture from Exodus saying that God is the God of the moment, even in that moment when tragedy strikes, or dreams are dashed, God is there to comfort and to build Hope.

5. Memorial Day

A survey came out on the day before the 2018 observed memorial day weekend, indicating that 70% of Americans did not know the true meaning of the memorial day weekend. This speaks very poorly of our culture.

The article that reported that survey, interviewed a serviceman who lost a limb in the Iraq war. That serviceman expressed his sadness in knowing that so many people celebrate their freedom in this country, but don't remember on Memorial Day those who sacrificed for that freedom.

Show name: Morning Show

Responsive Programming

Pastor Jon Courson stopped in on this year's Memorial Day Monday morning to 'remember' those who have served and sacrificed for our country. He took opportunity to bring to the listening audience that survey, and that soldiers response. The show was dedicated to the remembering of why we have a memorial day weekend in this country.

Pastor Jon also brought a Spiritual element to the topic for the benefit of our listening audience, encouraging us to 'remember' what Jesus Christ has done for us.
