The celebrated contralto was born in South Philadelphia on Feb. 27, 1897, and played a vital role in the acceptance of African Americans in classical music and other segregated performing arts genres. MARIAN ANDERSON: ONCE IN A HUNDRED YEARS traces the arc of Anderson's life and her struggles against racism and poverty. The program culminates with her battle against the Daughters of the American Revolution, which led to her historic concert at the Lincoln Memorial.

THE AFRICAN AMERICANS: MANY RIVERS TO CROSS #103

Airdate/Time: 10/3/20, 12:31pm

Length: 30-minutes

Description: Into the Fire examines the most tumultuous and consequential period in African American history: the Civil War and the end of slavery, and Reconstruction's thrilling but tragically brief "moment in the sun." From the beginning, African Americans were agents of their own liberation, forcing the Union to confront the issue of slavery by fleeing the plantations and taking up arms to serve with honor in the United States Colored Troops. After Emancipation, African Americans sought to realize the promise of freedom-rebuilding families shattered by slavery; demanding economic, political and civil rights; even winning elected office. Just a few years later, however, an intransigent South mounted a swift and vicious campaign of terror to restore white supremacy and roll back African American rights. Yet the achievements of Reconstruction would remain very much alive in the collective memory of the African American community.

THE AFRICAN AMERICANS: MANY RIVERS TO CROSS #104

Airdate/Time: 10/3/20, 1:45pm

Length: 79-minutes

Description: Making a Way Out of No Way portrays the Jim Crow era, when African Americans struggled to build their own worlds within the harsh, narrow confines of segregation. At the turn of the 20th century, a steady stream of African Americans left the South, fleeing the threat of racial violence, and searching for better opportunities in the North and the West. Leaders like Ida B. Wells, W.E.B. Du Bois, Booker T. Washington and Marcus Garvey organized, offering vastly different strategies to further black empowerment and equality. Yet successful black institutions and individuals were always at risk. At the same time, the ascendance of black arts and culture showed that a community with a strong identity and sense of pride was taking hold in spite of Jim Crow. "The Harlem Renaissance" would not only redefine how America saw African Americans, but how African Americans saw themselves.

THE AFRICAN AMERICANS: MANY RIVERS TO CROSS #105

Airdate/Time: 10/3/20, 3:04pm

Length: 85-minutes

Description: Rise! examines the long road to civil rights, when the deep contradictions in American society finally became unsustainable. Beginning in World War II, African Americans who helped fight fascism abroad came home to face the same old racial violence. But this time, mass media-from print to radio and TV-broadcast that injustice to the world, planting seeds of resistance. And the success of black entrepreneurs and entertainers fueled African American hopes and dreams. In December 1955, Rosa Parks refused to give up her seat to a white man on a city bus in Montgomery, Alabama, heralding the dawn of a new movement of quiet resistance, with the Reverend Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. as its public face. Before long, masses of African Americans practiced this nonviolent approach at great personal risk to integrate public schools, lunch counters and more. As the civil rights movement scored one historic victory after another, non-violence was still all too often met with violence-until finally, enough was enough. By 1968, Dr. King, the apostle of non-violence, would be assassinated, unleashing a new call for "Black Power" across the country.

THE AFRICAN AMERICANS: MANY RIVERS TO CROSS #106

Airdate/Time: 10/3/20, 4:29pm

Length: 91-minutes

Description: A More Perfect Union: After 1968, African Americans set out to build a bright new future on the foundation of the civil rights movement's victories, but a growing class disparity threatened to split the black community in two. As hundreds of African Americans won political office across the country and the black middle class made unprecedented progress, larger economic and political forces isolated the black urban poor in the inner cities, vulnerable to new social ills and an epidemic of incarceration. Yet African Americans of all backgrounds came together to support Illinois Senator Barack Obama in his historic campaign for the presidency of the United States. When he won in 2008, many hoped that America had finally transcended race and racism. By the time of his second victory, it was clear that many issues, including true racial equality, remain to be resolved. Now we ask: How will African Americans help redefine the United States in the years to come?

DRIVING WHILE BLACK: SPACE AND MOBILITY IN AMERICA

Airdate/Time: 10/13/20, 9pm; 10/15/20, 2am

Length: 120-minutes

Description: Discover how the advent of the automobile brought new freedoms and new perils for African Americans on the road in this deep look into the dynamics of race, space and mobility in America over time.

ASIAN AMERICANS #101

Airdate/Time: 11/7/20, 2:30pm, 11/8/20, 12pm

Length: 60-minutes

Description: See how new immigrants from China, Japan and beyond, despite anti-Asian laws, build railroads, dazzle in Hollywood and fight for equality. Then, the first generation of U.S.-born Asian Americans have their loyalties tested during World War II.

ASIAN AMERICANS #102

Airdate/Time: 11/7/20, 3:40pm; 11/8/20, 1:10pm

Length: 60-minutes

Description: An American-born generation straddles their country of birth and their parents' homelands in Japan and Korea. Those loyalties are tested during World War II, when families are imprisoned in detention camps, and brothers find themselves on opposite sides of the battle lines.

ASIAN AMERICANS #103

Airdate/Time: 11/7/20, 4:50pm; 11/8/20, 2:30pm

Length: 60-minutes

Description: During the Cold War years, Asian Americans are simultaneously heralded as a Model Minority, and targeted as the perpetual foreigner. It is also a time of bold ambition, as Asian Americans aspire for the first time to national political office and a coming culture-quake simmers beneath the surface.

NOT DONE: WOMEN REMAKING AMERICA

She is joined by Holy Name Medical Center Chief Medical Officer Dr. Adam Jarrett; Dr. Shereef Elnahal, president and CEO of University Hospital in Newark; and Dr. Judith Lightfoot, chief of infectious disease at Rowan University's School of Osteopathic Medicine.

HERITAGE

THE AFRICAN AMERICANS: MANY RIVERS TO CROSS #102

Airdate/Time: 10/3/20, 11:16pm

Length: 75-minutes

Description: The Age of Slavery illustrates how black lives changed dramatically in the aftermath of the American Revolution. For free black people in places like Philadelphia, these years were a time of tremendous opportunity. But for most African Americans, this era represented a new nadir. King Cotton fueled the rapid expansion of slavery into new territories, and a Second Middle Passage forcibly relocated African Americans from the Upper South into the Deep South. Yet as slavery intensified, so did resistance. From individual acts to mass rebellions, African Americans demonstrated their determination to undermine and ultimately eradicate slavery in every state in the nation. Courageous individuals, such as Harriet Tubman, Richard Allen and Frederick Douglass, played a crucial role in forcing the issue of slavery to the forefront of national politics, helping to create the momentum that would eventually bring the country to war.

NEW JERSEY ISSUES & INTERESTS

NJTV SPOTLIGHT WITH BRIANNA VANNOZZI

Airdate/Time: 11/11/20, 5:30pm

Length: 30-minutes

Description: This episode covered the following: Could New Jersey's record-setting sports betting market get even bigger? There's a bill in Trenton that would allow sports betting on all New Jersey collegiate games. Currently, state law bans betting on college games played anywhere in New Jersey and bans betting on games involving New Jersey teams that are played out of state. Legislation calling for a public referendum on this issue next year has been approved by the Senate Budget Committee. Another bill under consideration aims to help military veterans find employment in civil service jobs. Veterans currently qualify for hiring preferences. This legislation broadens eligibility requirements and removes the requirement of specific lengths of service time. Bill sponsor Sen. Kristin Corrado (R-Passaic) says the preference afforded to veterans is a well-deserved benefit for men and women who have served our country. Also: Thursday, Nov. 12, was an important deadline for 100,000 unemployed residents who can receive an extra $300 a week in federal unemployment benefits under the FEMA Lost Wages program, which provides a maximum payment of $1,800.
