The time runs from Memorial Day Weekend to Labor Day Weekend. He cautioned people to be safe as they begin to be more active in the summer. Trooper Thompson said the start to the 100 Deadliest Days were much less active this year in Idaho than in the past. He also commented on the recent riots as well and said most people in Idaho are different than compared to other states and bigger cities. The Treasure Valley has seen exponential growth in the last several years as well as the Magic Valley and other parts of the state. Idaho is one of the leading states in the country when it comes to population growth. With that growth comes more taxes on properties. It has gotten to the point many want something done about it. | 5/10/2020 | Environment / Food Science | Idaho Department of Fish and Game: Terry Thompson | 28:00 |
| | | During the winter of 2019 the Idaho Department of Fish and Game conducted a study and operation on elk depredation near agricultural fields. The study was to find out ways to manage large elk herds that moved into farm fields and became a problem for farmers. The issue enraged many because more than 100 elk had to be killed to remove them from the field. Many disagreed with how Fish and Game conducted the operation. Thompson said that issue has come up again for the summer of 2020 as a herd of elk has been living on a farm field caused millions of dollars in damage. The department plans to do similar operations on the farm to get the elk herd to move on and prevent damage to the farmer's field. Again, the issue has been a hot topic for many in the hunting community. | |

Coach Pete discussed the recent riots and protests sparked by the death of a Minnesota man who died in police custody. Coach Pete said what happened was wrong, but the reaction may have been just as wrong, at least as far as the riots go. He said it all starts with the individual and their character along with the family. He said there was a degree of societal corruption that has stepped into people's lives.
