	Children's Issues	Focus on the Family--Seeing God Through My Son's Autism I-II Emily Colson explained how her view of God has changed, through years of struggling to raise an autistic son as a single parent. She describes painful situations she encountered in public, where people have been rude or hostile to Max because he is not acting normally. She said "God doesn't want Max to be 'normal', He wants him to be more like Jesus."	8:30 pm 04/03/2023 & 04/04/2023 58:00:00
		Focus on the Family-- Helping Your Daughter Embrace Her Inner Beauty-- As a girl and young woman, Scarlet Hiltibidal struggled with feeling beautiful, accepted and loved. Her mom was a well-known actress with lots of admirers; Scarlet felt plain by comparison. In this interview, she shared stories from her teen years such as her dad finding her "hottie" list where she identified cute boys at school, and the time she bought a dog tag so she could be like another girl she admired. She also shared about her eating disorder in college and how she realized she needed to confess what was going on in order to experience God's healing. In this interview, Scarlet help educate parents about the beauty- and body-obsessed mindset that many teen girls adopt. She give insights and advice to parents on how to help their daughters counter negativity and know their identity in Christ.	8:30 pm 04/17/2023 25:00:00
		Focus on the Family-- Foster Care: Making a Difference During the Formative Years--According to the Office of Administration for Children and Families, children whose parents are no longer in the picture will wait more than a year and a half until they are adopted. While most children have a healthy parental influence during their formative years, these kids are left lacking. Jon and Dawn Stone, authors of Missional Fostering, advocate for supporting these children through foster care. They discussed the dangers kids in foster care go through and how we as a church can make an impact.	8:30 pm 05/03/2023 28:00:00

Health Concerns		Breakpoint –John Stonestreet, Jared Eckert-- After more than a decade of legal recreational marijuana, we now have significantly more data. Far from being safe, recreational pot is clearly a net loss for public health. More and more studies, in fact, are showing that marijuana poses a number of serious health risks, in particular to pregnant moms, to men, and to people in the workforce. Marijuana use is also closely linked with spiking rates of mental illness among young men. According to yet another new report, marijuana positivity rates have been steadily climbing across a variety of industries in the past decade, especially in service, retail, and finance or insurance jobs. These increased positivity rates correlate with an increased number of workplace accidents that, afterwards, revealed cannabis use.	6:45 am, 11:30am 6/13/2023 04:10:00
		Breakpoint John Stonestreet, Kasey Leander Recently, Dr. Jennifer Gaudiani, a Colorado doctor of internal medicine, published a paper in which she advocates that physician-assisted suicide should be extended to patients struggling with anorexia. “It is in direct contradiction to treating mental illness, promoting hope for recovery and improving quality of life for our patients. ... Anorexia is treatable, not terminal, [and] ambivalence about treatment is a characteristic of the psychiatric disorder.” In other words, seeing a mental health issue as “untreatable” is one of the main barriers to effective treatment in the first place. The primary role of psychologists is to combat that assumption, not enable it.	6:45am, 11:30 am 5/2/2023 05:06:00
		Breakpoint John Stonestreet ---The recent and much talked about report from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention describes precisely that. As a CDC spokeswoman bluntly stated, “young people” — especially young women — “are in crisis.” An article in The New York Times summarized, “Nearly three in five teenage girls felt persistent sadness in 2021 ... and one in three girls seriously considered attempting suicide.” The timing of this unprecedented outbreak of anxiety, depression and other mental health problems, Haidt points out, corresponds suspiciously with the rise of smartphones and social media apps. This technology led to a culture-wide exchange of what he calls a “play-based childhood” for a “screen-based” one. That exchange likely helped create a generation with fragile psyches unable to deal with life’s challenges.	6:45am, 11:30 am 4/13/2023 5:05

	Men's Issues	Spot # 0030000 – 021 National Responsible Fatherhood Clearinghouse – Dedication Parents and families are facing new challenges, but one thing hasn't changed: the importance of dads being involved in their children's lives. The NRFC encourages fathers to show their "#Dadication" by making time for their kids, even when parenting isn't easy. Emphasizes the importance of fatherhood in the development of children. The spots encourage men to be positive male role models for the children in the family, while explaining learning to be a positive "dad" figure and role model is easier than many men may anticipate. Emphasizes that men should take a daily active role in their children's lives, with the most important asset simply being a positive presence.	ROSx17  0:30 4/1 – 6/30/23
	Parenting	Breakpoint—John Stonestreet --- The (Fake) Battle Between Parental and Children's Rights. Allow homeless shelters and youth homes to hide runaway youth from their parents, if those parents will not help them obtain gender-based medical interventions. The law would not require shelters or law enforcement to investigate if parents are abusive or neglectful, or if the young person is in danger. All that would be required is for young people to claim that their parents do not support their intent to take cross-sex hormones or obtain dangerous surgery. This is the latest and most alarming example of an often-portrayed conflict between the rights of a child and the rights of parents. Increasingly in fact, parental rights are seen, by school boards and other state officials, as perhaps the greatest threat to the rights and wellbeing of children. This is not only a dangerous and misleading mistake that places children and their rights at risk, but it also places the state as the adjudicator of this conflict of rights and the primary protector of children.	6:45 am, 11:30am 5/15/2023 05:54:00
	Public Safety	Are You Firewise—Information to keep you home and structures safe from wild fires.	12:16 pm 02:51:00 8:45 am 03:47:00 6/12/23
		Spot #0030000-025 Texting & Driving –The Chameleon.– Part of the national campaign engaging high-school youth to create awareness materials regarding the issue of distracted driving. High school student Nathan Ong's radio ad points out that chameleons can focus their eyes on two things at once. Human beings, on the other hand, can't. "Unless you're a chameleon, there's absolutely no way you can focus on texting and driving at the same time," the ad says. One of the winning messages from teens and young adults, meant for teens, as part of the national effort to convince people to put down cellphones while driving.	ROS x13 0:30 4/1-6/30/2023

		Breakpoint—John Stonestreet, Jared Eckert--While activists in the U.S. seek to eliminate any restrictions to so-called “gender-affirming” interventions for minors, a number of European countries are adding safeguards around or backing off altogether from these controversial procedures. Following European neighbors Finland, Sweden, and the United Kingdom, the Norwegian Healthcare Investigation Board announced that it will revise its recommended standards of care for minors struggling with gender dysphoria. The proposed revisions would no longer allow the use of puberty blockers, cross-sex hormones, and transition surgery for minors. -- Transgender ideology is at odds with reality. As much as transgender activists want to say “gender-affirming care” will bring people satisfaction, our experience of God’s creation finds just the opposite. While more research may be necessary, studies indicate that gender transition surgery, on the whole, exacerbates patients’ unhappiness.	6:44 am, 11:30am 6/21/2023 05:08:00
