Topic: Trump's private phone was eavesdropped by China and Russia

According to media reports, China and Russia have been eavesdropping on cell phone communications of the US President Donald Trump. The New York Times quoted some current and former US government officials as saying that spies from China and Russia have cracked President Trump's unencrypted private cell phones where the President uses on private calls with all of his friends. The report said that the Chinese side used the content of the eavesdropping to try to exert influence on American politics. It is alleged that the staff has repeatedly warned President Trump that the phone has been tapped, but he still insists on using the phone. The US presidential palace refused to comment on the above report. Host shared subject with audiences.
