

Tom Cotton and the only man standing between him and a second term in the U-S Senate, Libertarian Ricky Dale Herrington Junior, had different reactions to the uproar over whether President Trump would accept defeat in the upcoming election. The president dodged a reporter's question last week about whether he would commit to a peaceful transfer of power. Some were alarmed by that—not Cotton...

NEWS 26 :27 "...ONTO DONALD TRUMP."

Cotton appeared yesterday on C-N-N's "State of the Union." Meanwhile, Herrington went on the Arkansas program "Talk Business and Politics" and called President Trump "the greatest showman on the planet"...

NEWS 27 :22 "...NO PEACEFUL TRANSITION."

Herrington will be the only other name on the ballot besides Cotton's after Democrat Josh Mahoney dropped out soon after the filing deadline and Independent Dan Whitfield failed to qualify.
