1/5/20 (11-11:30 AM)	THE RACE (30 minutes)	The Race is a weekly 30-minute show political show produced by Scripps. The show talks to voters about the issues impacting their lives. The Race tackles issue with real conversations about what's working and what's not and gives a fair and balanced approach to what's on the mind of Americans. This edition looked at the problems with America's infrastructure. The American Society of Civil Engineers gave our country a Plus on its most recent infrastructure report card. They say it will take 558 billion dollars to fix America's roads, bridges and dams. One in every 5 highways is in poor condition. They say that across America, 235,000 bridges need repair an at the current rate of fixing them, it will take 80 years. When we think of poor water, we immediately think of Flint, Michigan. However, many communities are dealing with high levels of lead in their drinking water. There are more than six million lead water service lines in use in the United States. Rural communities are particularly being shortchanges in terms of internet access. While 98% of people in urban area have access to high speed internet, that figure drops to 73% in rural communities. It is very expensive for rural cable companies to provide the service meaning there are 17 million homes in the country with no access to the Internet. Rural communities often have to deal with aging schools because there just are not enough taxpayers in their areas.
1/31/2020 6:30-7 PM	INSIDE POLITICS (30 minutes)	Inside Politics is hosted by veteran political reporter Pat Nolan who sits down with the big big newsmakers to get the inside scoop on the decisions that affect us all. Pat's guest was Tennessee Speake of the House Cameron Sexton who appeared on our show three days before governor Bill Lee's State of the State speech. Among the topics covered by Sexton were: Tennessee accepting more refugees; TN Care Health Insurance issues; the controversial school voucher program; the scandal that forced his predecessor to step down; adoption by LGBTcouples; extended family leave for government workers; the controversial abortion bill; property tax increases; statues of controversial figures at the Capitol; the ability of college atletes to get paid and finally a bill regarding "fake news."
2/5/20	6 PM News (3:48)	LOST WEAPONS OF WAR - Tennessee law enforcement agencies get more military surplus equipment than any other state in the country. However, the Department of Defense has suspended Tennessee from its program after determining that the state was out of compliance. This is the first time the state has been suspended. This sixty day suspension is because one sheriff's department in McMinn county didn't properly report a lost gun. As a result, no law enforcement agency in the state can obtain restricted military surplus items such as guns or armored vehicles through the federal program during the suspension period. WTVF actually visited McMinn County back in 2014 because the rural East Tennessee department had received more guns through the military surplus program than any other agency in the state. At the time, McMinn County had received 161 army rifles and pistols, including 71 M16 assault rifles, even though it only had 31 officers and investigators. In all, Tennessee law enforcement agencies have received more than $138 million of surplus military equipment since the program started in 1998. State agencies have obtained things like mine resistant vehicles, night vision goggles, helicopters and more than four thousand guns. All are regularly audited. In all, NewsChannel 5 Investigates found that the state has suspended five departments in the last two years for not keeping track of weapons. The federal government is promising another audit in the next couple of months. It will randomly select several Tennessee law enforcement agencies that received surplus military equipment. Participants included David Roberson - TN Dept of General Services and Joe Guy - Sheriff McMinn County

2/14/2020 6:30-7 PM	INSIDE POLITICS (30 minutes)	Inside Politics is hosted by veteran political reporter Pat Nolan who sits down with the big big newsmakers to get the inside scoop on the decisions that affect us all. Pat's guest was Nashville Mayor John Cooper who just completed a deal this week to build an MLS Stadium near the Nashville Fairgrounds. While Nashville's MLS team begins play at the end of the month, construction had not yet begun on a permanent home for the team. When Cooper took office a few months ago, he found that the project was going to cost significantly more than the budgeted 250 million dollars, Cooper cut a deal with the team's owners who will now spend 54 million of their own money to begin construction. Cooper would also like to see a new speedway built at the site to bring in NASCAR races. The track would also have other uses like hosting concerts or trade shows. Cooper also spoke about incentives to bring new businesses to the city. However, he noted that the city is broke and even in worse financial shape than he thought while running for office. This is why he takes his role as the city's financial watchdog serious. Cooper was able to balance this year's budget but admits that he will face greater challenges with next year's budget.
2/25/20	6 PM News (3:11)	WAGE THEFT BILLS IN LEGISLATURE - State lawmakers are looking to crackdown on construction industry corruption. Governor Bill Lee has proposed a bill that would penalize employers who misclassify workers as independent contractors to avoid paying workers compensation insurance and then change their company name in order to avoid paying fines after they are caught. This bill follows a NewsChannel 5 investigation that showed workers cheated out of overtime and the state cheated out of taxes. In fact, the state assessed more than $4.5 million in fines last year but collected only $1.8 million. Our original investigation focused on the dark side of Nashville's building boom. Participants included State Senator Sara Kyle - (D) Memphis and Victor White - Carpenter's Union
3/6/20	President Trump Visit	PRSIDENT TRUMP VISIST TORNADO-RAVAGED AREAS: President Trump scheduled a Trip to Tennessee on March 6 th to visit areas of the state that were affected by tornadoes early in the morning on March 3 rd . As part of his entourage, he was accompanied by both United States Senators from Tennessee, Marsha Blackburn and Lamar Alexander. WTVF provided coverage of Air Force One's arrival in Nashville from 10 AM to 10:30 AM. The President was met by Governor Bill Lee of Tennessee and Nashville Mayor John Cooper. Later from 11:40 to 12 Noon, we covered the President's stop in Putnam County, the area most devastated by the storms. The media was not allowed access to other parts of the President's trip. We did provide additional coverage in all newscasts of Mr. Trump's trip and what it meant to those who suffered the worst damage and loss of life.

Broken: Juvenile Crime

(60 Minutes)

Almost every day, we hear about car jackings, armed robberies and police pursuits involving Nashville teens. Now some are asking whether it's time to call it a "public health crisis." A six-month NewsChannel 5 investigation of our broken juvenile justice system discovered that fixing the problem will require more than just police arresting people. It will also require difficult conversations about race - and about racism. The vast majority of children in local detention facilities are African-American and much younger than in past years. To understand Nashville's juvenile crime problem, advocates said, you first have to understand the hand that's been dealt in some communities -- for example, generation after generation stuck in incredible poverty. Many of the kids have witnessed more trauma in their young lives than most people could ever comprehend. They have lived with domestic violence, family members or friends being hurt or killed and gun violence. Many have been exposed to drugs at an early stage or have a history of untreated mental illness. The 37208 Zip Code in Nashville, where many of these kids live, has the highest incarceration rate of any zip code in America. Urban housing policies and institutional racism broke up African-American neighborhoods and forced poor families into concentrated areas. Children in these areas attend some of the lowest-performing schools in the state of Tennessee -- schools that are often ill-equipped to deal with the trauma that their kids bring to the classroom. Topics during the special included "Kids and Guns", "Kids Stealing Cars", "Kids in Solitary Confinement", "Juvenile Detention Center Problems", "Searching for Solutions" and "Early Intervention." Participants included Juvenile Court Judge Sheila Calloway; police juvenile task force Lt. Blaine Whited; former juvenile prosecutor Jim Todd; activist Ashford Hughes; Juvenile Court Administrator Kathy Sinback; Jennifer Nichols; DCS Commissioner; Kelly Gray - Davidson County Juvenile Probation Officer; Mark Anderson - Department of Children's Services (DCS) Director of Licensing.

BROKEN: ACCUSED KILLER'S MOM SAYS KYLE YORLETS DIDN'T HAVE TO DIE:

When musician Kyle Yorlets was gunned down in February 2019, an entire city came to recognize his face. For Martine Wright, the mother of Yorlets' accused killer, 16-year-old Decorrius Wright, it's a face that she cannot get out of her mind. Looking back, Martine said the little boy whom she raised by herself for the first six years of his life could never have committed such a horrible crime – that he was an average child who loved to play outside with friends. She says that around age 12, things changed. He was suspended and later expelled from school for bad behavior. Afterwards, he was kicked out of the alternative school he was sent to. Mental health professionals diagnosed him with ADHD and gave him medication, but Martine couldn't be there to give it to him because of her job. At 13, he was arrested but received little punishment. He ran away from home a few times. Police would pick him up, take him to juvenile court where he would just be sent back home and start the cycle all over again. Martine tried calling various juvenile facilities that might be able to help - before her son got into real trouble. She was told that Decorrius had to have serious charges in order for them to accept them. In December of 2018 he was arrested again for auto theft but released. The last time he ran away and was released back to his mother occurred just 3 days before the murder. At the time, Martine did not even want her son to come home but was threatened with child neglect charges. She warned the court that social media posts showed her son was fooling around with guns but was told they could not do anything about it. In the end, Martine wonders if the juvenile system was not so broken in Nashville, would things have turned out different for her son and the victim, Kyle Yorlets. Participants included Martine Wright, mother of murder suspect.

BROKEN: PARENTS CRYING OUT FOR HELP: When tragedy involving juvenile crime strikes, there are usually tears for the victims. Yet, for countless families, the tears sometimes come before the tragedy - as parents repeatedly turn to police to help them control seemingly uncontrollable children. In some cases, instead of getting help, those parents are faced with threats that they could face criminal prosecution. In one case, a boy had been involved in 23 separate encounters with the police, ranging from fighting, assaulting a police officer and trying to burn his house down. After one assault, police had to Taze him. He was taken to juvenile court where they told his mother to come and get him. When she refused, she was threatened with child abandonment. When he returned home, he assaulted his mother and yet juvenile authorities released him again. We found another case where an 11-year old tried to stab his mother with a knife – again, juvenile authorities threatened the mother with child abandonment charges if she didn't let him come home. State law says that juveniles can only be locked up under limited circumstance. Runaways cannot be locked up regardless of how many attempts they make. If the child has been diagnosed with mental health issues, it limits the court's options even more. Participants included Melissa O'Neal and "Mary", parents of juvenile offenders; Sheila Calloway, Davidson County Juvenile Judge and Lonnell Matthews, Juvenile Court Clerk

PRISON BREAK-IN EXCLUSIVE - We had exclusive details from an ongoing investigation into a case that stunned the city. Davidson County Sheriff Daron Hall now calls it the "most significant security breach in Nashville history." The questions now: How and why a well-known prison reform advocate allegedly snuck into the new downtown detention center and stole security keys. Authorities say Alex Friedmann -- one more than one occasion -- slipped into the new downtown detention center posing as one of the construction workers. Friedmann is a well-known prison and jail reform advocate who had actually met with the sheriff several times in the past. It is apparently all part of a plot to discredit the new jail and -- more dangerously -- to possibly help with the escape of inmates once they move to the new facility. Hall said when the details are made public it will prove to be the most significant security breach in the history of our city and will cost the city more than hundreds of thousands of dollars at a minimum. Participants included Daron Hall, Davidson County Sheriff

CONVICTION THROWN OUT FOR MENTOR CONVICTED OF RAPE - William Arnold was convicted of raping a young boy he was supposed to be mentoring - even though he always insisted he didn't do it. Now the Tennessee Court of Criminal Appeals has thrown out both his conviction and his 25-year prison sentence. WTVF first reported on Arnold's case in 2018 after a new high-profile expert suddenly came to his defense. Here's what this new court ruling means for the case. William Arnold was sentenced to 25 years in prison after a Davidson County jury found him guilty in 2013 of sexually assaulting a 10-year-old boy he'd been mentoring through the Boys and Girls Club program. In an unusually long 70-page ruling, the Tennessee Court of Criminal Appeals wrote "after a careful and laborious review" of the case, Arnold's convictions and sentences are reversed and vacated. The judge who wrote the opinion said Arnold's trial attorneys failed essentially to do their jobs, pointing out numerous examples where they were "ineffective" in defending Arnold. The judge also called out the prosecutor for making "exceedingly improper" comments during her closing arguments and even "mocking him (Arnold)." The judge described the assistant district attorney's "comments and behavior" as "overwhelmingly inflammatory." As Arnold described to NewsChannel 5 Investigates in a series of phone calls and letters from prison, he maintained that he'd been "wrongly convicted" in a twisted case of "mistaken identity" after his young accuser told his mother he'd been sexually abused, and that "William" did it. Arnold was arrested, but it turned out the young boy had been abused by another man also named William. Participants included William, convicted sex offender and Dr. Barbara Ziv, noted forensic psychiatrist

2/10/20	6 PM News (2:00)	MICHAEL MOSLEY EXCLUSIVE –WTVF had exclusive new details in the case against Michael Mosley who is accused of murdering of two men. We've heard from police, prosecutors, defense attorneys, the victims' families and now, for the first time, from the suspect, Michael Mosley. Mosley is accused of stabbing Paul Trapeni III and Clay Beathard to death and injuring A.J. Bethurum outside a Nashville bar in December. Prosecutors say the attack was entirely unjustified. The case is now in the hands of a Grand Jury, where it is expected Mosley will be indicted on two counts of murder. He's closely following his own case from behind bars and sent a letter to NewsChannel 5. Mosley says he acted in self-defense says he's "... definitely open to giving my side of the story." However, he does not explain why he ran from the scene if it was self-defense. Mosley does write, "I feel as though I've already been convicted by the way I was portrayed." That sentiment is echoed by Mosley's attorney, Justin Johnson who maintains his client did not even know the three victims were badly injured when he left the club. Mosely also writes, "First and foremost I want to send my condolences and prayers to the victims and their families." NewsChannel 5 provided the full letter online for viewers to read. Participants included Michael Mosely; accused murderer and Justin Johnson, Moseley's attorney
2/13/20	6 PM News (5:13)	CHILDREN IN SOLITARY - KENTUCKY IS DIFFERENT: - A recent exclusive NewsChannel 5 Investigation found children locked in solitary confinement inside a Middle Tennessee juvenile detention center. Tennessee policy allows juveniles to be locked in single occupancy cells for up to 24 hours a day for several days at a time, leaving only to take a shower. A Kentucky-based juvenile justice advocate is calling on Tennessee officials to end the practice of solitary confinement in the state's juvenile detention centers. Vicki Reed with the Kentucky Juvenile Justice Initiative was shocked to learn children in Tennessee can be kept alone in their cells for up to 24 hours a day, for days at time. IN Kentucky, juvenile offenders spend most of their day outside their cells. Reed says, "If you treat these kids the way I think Tennessee is treating them now, what you are going to have is more violent kids." Participants included Vicki Reed - Kentucky Juvenile Justice Initiative, Kathy Sinback - Davidson County Juvenile Court Administrator and Mark Anderson - TN Department of Children's Services Director of Licensing
2/17/20	6 PM News (6:41)	BROKEN: MURDER WEAPONS TRACED TO CARELESS GUN OWNERS: If every bullet has a story, the bullet that killed a Nashville musician may speak volumes. An exclusive NewsChannel 5 investigation traced the guns used against Kyle Yorlets - and discovered that both weapons were stolen from unlocked cars. Critics say the Yorlets case - as well as other murders reviewed by NewsChannel 5 Investigates - reveals a story about a broken system that lets kids get easy access to guns. In Nashville, the number of guns stolen from cars has skyrocketed from 152 a year in 2012, hitting almost 750 in 2019. A map created by NewsChannel 5 Investigates shows guns were stolen over the past five years from cars in virtually every neighborhood. The Safe Tennessee Projects says the number of guns being stolen out of cars is in direct correlation with the rise in youth homicides. Experts say a lot of the problems began with Tennessee's pro-gun legislature back in 2014 when lawmakers made it legal for Tennesseans to keep loaded guns in their cars. There is no penalty for leaving a gun unsecured. Gun rights advocates oppose any effort to force gun owners to be more responsible. Participants included Larry & Deb Yorlets, parents of murder victim: Beth Joslin Roth, executive director, Safe Tennessee Project; John Harris, Tennessee Firearms Association.

2/24/20	6 PM News (2:43)	MICHAEL MOSLEY VIDEO EXCLUSIVE - The suspect in a triple stabbing that left two men dead in downtown Nashville claims he acted in self-defense. Michael Mosley is charged with homicide but says he's not a violent person. Now, an exclusive video seems to tell a very different story - video that will be key evidence in the criminal case. Before Mosley was arrested for the triple stabbing, he was already charged in a pending aggravated assault case. The evidence in that attack case is raising questions about Mosley's demeanor and conduct. The security video is from a Nashville Walmart. Metro police say Mosley walks in with a gray hoodie talking on his cellphone. He's looking for someone -- and when he finds her, he attacks. Mosley catches the woman completely by surprise, knocking her to the floor. He proceeds to kick and punch her repeatedly. Police say at one point he stabs her in the eye with a key. Then as other customers approach, Mosley runs from the scene out the front door and into the parking lot. He is later arrested. Why did Mosley attack Baker? She and her husband Daniel are awaiting trial, charged in the shooting death of Mosley's stepbrother in 2016. Mosley was arrested for taking matters into his own hands by going after Baker. Video of that attack now raises questions about his conduct in the triple stabbing case. The video from the Walmart shows Mosley attacking a helpless woman by surprise in a very public place is sure to raise questions at trial.
2/24/20	6 PM News (2:48)	KELSEY KETRON GETS PLEA DEAL INSTEAD OF JAIL TIME: Kelsey Ketron faced 72 criminal charges after being indicted last fall by a grand jury, accused of taking money from customers of her family's insurance business. However, she never actually got them coverage. She was also accused of stealing tens of thousands of dollars from her father's campaign and political action committee accounts. She ended up taking a plea deal that allowed her to plead no contest to only 15 of those charges and spend no time in jail. As part of the deal, she must serve 300 hours of community service and pay a $10,000 fine. She will also have to undergo random drug screenings and can no longer work in insurance or political campaigns. All charges against the family's insurance business have been dismissed. In January, Ketron settled a related civil case with the Tennessee Department of Commerce and Insurance. She did not admit any guilt in that settlement but agreed to a "voluntary revocation" of her insurance license and agreed to pay a $23,000 fine. Participants included Kelsey Ketron and Bill Ketron, Rutherford County Mayor

We are now learning the toxic herbicide is making a new generation of people sick. James Cripps is a local veteran who became the first veteran to prove he was exposed to Agent Orange while never setting foot in Vietnam. The government denied his claim for years but now receives full benefits. He now faces a new battle. His daughter – Mandy Plemons - has a rare blood disorder that has almost killed her. Doctors diagnosed her with Thrombotic Thrombocytopenia Purpura (TTP). It causes blood clots that block oxygen to her organs, and it leaves no platelets in her blood stream to clot if she's injured. There is no cure, and while she is in remission now, doctors say she could relapse anytime. Letters from her doctors tie her condition to Agent Orange. Now Plemons and her father have filed a groundbreaking claim with the VA that could open the door for a new generation of people to get VA benefits because of their father's exposure to Agent Orange. There is an entire Facebook group called Children of Vietnam Veterans with Agent Orange. Currently the VA covers children born with spina bifida if either parent served in Vietnam. It also covers some other birth defects if a child's mother served in Vietnam. However, many conditions caused by a father's exposure are not recognized. 2/11/20	6 PM News (4:46)	BELMONT UNIVERSITY'S CONTROVERSIAL AFTERSCHOOL PROGRAM - Belmont University has come under fire for its plan to build a controversial batting facility in the Edgehill neighborhood. Both supporters and even opponents have been excited about a new after school enrichment program that was promised as part of the project. The only problem is there's no money for it. Newly uncovered documents show Belmont has known that for some time yet has continued to aggressively promote the program as part of the deal. When Belmont University announced it wanted to build a two story athletic facility with batting cages, locker rooms and offices for its baseball coaches at the city-owned Rose Park, neighbors complained and tried to stop the plan. The school then announced the project would include an ambitious after school enrichment program at the Easley Center, run by Metro Schools for the Edgehill neighborhood kids. However, as Belmont has used this enrichment program as a selling point for its batting facility, the university has known there is no money to pay for it. Participants included Jason Rogers, /Belmont University General Counsel and Mary Stewart and Octavia Covington, Edgehill residents who signed petition supporting the project.
2/20/20	6 PM News (5:48)	FAKE NEGATIVE REVIEWS ONLINE - The owner of a Nashville area painting company says someone posted nearly 700 fake negative reviews on Google in the last year, attacking the business, its employees and the owner and his family. Now, Bill Nishanian is suing one of his competitors, accusing him of being the one responsible. For a small business, Google reviews can make or break you. A lot of good reviews can send your company to the top of Google searches. But get many negative reviews, and your company all but disappears from Google, meaning potential customers will never find you. So, just imagine if you started getting bad reviews that were not even real. The local company is now suing one of its competitors, accusing them of running a "vicious smear campaign" "for the express purpose of damaging, embarrassing and otherwise ruining their business." The lawsuit includes a 220-page spreadsheet filled with the hundreds of negative reviews. But this is not the first time the accused business has attacked other competitors online. Four other companies hired an attorney to send a cease and desist letter, accusing the business of targeting them with fake reviews on Google and other websites. Google does not make taking fake reviews down easy. You have to file separate complaints for each post and prove how each review violates Google's policies. Participants included Bill Nishanian, business owner and victim of fake negative reviews and Sam Blink, attorney for man/company accused of posting the fake reviews

1/27/20	6 PM News (4:10 total)	NEWS LITERACY PROJECT - In January, the E.W. Scripps Company launched its first ever National News Literacy Week. Scripps stations from around the country partnered with a local high school, working directly with student journalists about the importance of separating fact from fiction. WTVF partnered with two students from Hillsboro High School. It is the only high school within the Metro Nashville Public School System with an Associated Press accredited online student newspaper. Our student journalists, Abbey Cutrer and Ashja Murchison worked with us to produce a story on a topic of their choice, after learning what it was like to pitch and attend mock editorial meetings. Both student-athletes, they decided to tackle disparities between girls' and boys' softball facilities. During the process, which began in November, they uncovered the cost of upgrading athletic fields and learned about their own high school by tracking down the right interviews. Their full report, which they voiced, aired on WTVF NewsChannel 5 at 6 PM on January 27 th . A behind the scenes version of the story, showing step-by-step what they learned from our veteran journalists, aired at 6:30 PM, part of one of our franchise topics, "School Patrol".

2/26/20	6 PM News (3:39)	MNPS SETTLEMENTS -- Almost a year after Dr. Shawn Joseph resigned as Nashville's director of schools, taxpayers are still paying for his administration's mishandling of sexual harassment allegations. NewsChannel 5 Investigates has discovered that, in the last month, the Metro School Board has quietly approved settlements of nearly a million dollars in just two lawsuits. The total bill for the district's sexual harassment scandal, first exposed by NewsChannel 5, is now approaching $2 million. Two lawsuits are still pending, although those cases are not expected to bring a huge price. On top of that, the school board paid about $350,000 to buy out Joseph's contract. Participants included Gary Blackburn, attorney for plaintiffs suing Metro Schools.

TITANS ROAD TO CHAMPIOSNHIP
(60 minutes)

Starting the season at 2-4, it was improbable that the Tennessee Titans would make, let alone go far, in the NFL Playoffs. Now, after upset wins at New England and Baltimore, the Titans made it to the AFC Championship to face the Kansas City Chiefs. CBS has had all of the playoff games featuring the Titans and NewsChannel 5 has been providing coverage all along the way with specials every Friday night at 6:30 PM. The city of Nashville decided that since the Titans are in Kansas City, they would throw a downtown watch party for fans. The city selected WTVF to be the exclusive station for coverage of the downtown party. The city blocked off several downtown streets and erected two large screens for fans to come watch the game. The city also provided live musical acts to warm up the crowd before the game started. NewsChannel 5 personalities Vickie Yates and Lelan Statom were selected to be emcees on stage for the party. NewsChannel 5 provided coverage across the city with aerial shots supplied by our Sky % helicopter. Anchors Riori Johnston and Carrie Sharp co-hosted our coverage atop the Rock Bottom restaurant. In Kansas City, sports anchors Steve Layman and Jon Burton provided analysis of the game live inside Arrowhead Stadium. Morning anchor Amy Watson was live outside the stadium with hundreds of Titans fans who made the 9-hour trek for the game. Reporter Jason Lamb covered Titans fans who were watching from sports bars in Kansas City. Back home, a myriad of NewsChannel 5 personalities covered the watch party on the ground including reporters Nick Beres, Alexandra Koehn, Matthew Torres and anchor Adam Hammond. Meteorologist Heather Mathis was on hand with Storm Five Titan. The station provided giveaways to fans including handwarmers, rally towels and cookies.

48 HOURS: “Death by Text” (9:00 – 10:00p) – an updated rebroadcast on the death of Conrad Roy III and the case against Michelle Carter, who is scheduled to be released from jail next week. Prosecutors say she influenced Roy, via text messages, to kill himself. On July 12, 2014, Conrad Roy died of carbon monoxide poisoning after sitting in his truck with a gas-powered water pump running in the backseat. Prosecutors say Roy was driven to kill himself through hundreds of incessant messages from Carter, who was more than 30 minutes away at the time he died. Carter was later charged with involuntary manslaughter. Her defense team maintains Roy decided to kill himself on his own. As seen through his own videos, Conrad Roy talked about his own struggles with social anxiety, depression and thoughts of suicide. His mother Lynn Roy also talks about the death of her son and the pain she lives with. Though they lived an hour apart in Massachusetts, the couple communicated almost exclusively via texts, online and by phone. The prosecution maintained Carter could have done something to stop Roy. The heart of the case is the question of whether Carter’s texts and messages pushed Roy to take his life or would he have done it anyway. Prosecutors argued Carter played on Roy’s mental health and her actions were reckless; she knew what she was doing and just wanted attention. The defense maintains Carter had her own psychological problems and was involuntarily intoxicated by the antidepressant drug Celexa: she was enmeshed in the delusion that it was a good thing to help him die. The prosecution hoped the judge paid attention to the text Carter sent to her friend a week after his death, in which she admitted she could possibly go to jail. After three days of deliberation, the judge rendered his verdict, completely rejecting Carter’s defense and finding her guilty. At sentencing, Michelle Carter could receive twenty years behind bars. The Roy family knows words have power, and they can forever change lives. UPDATE for the 08/05/17 updated rebroadcast: Nearly seven weeks after being convicted, Michelle Carter, arrives for sentencing. The prosecution asked that Carter serve 7-12 years in prison. Her attorney requests probation. Judge Lawrence Moniz sentences Michelle Carter to fifteen months behind bars – a sentence that does not please the defense, who will appeal the conviction. Her attorneys request to stay the jail sentence. The judge grants the stay, meaning Michelle will be out on probation until the appeal makes its way through the Massachusetts court system. Neither Michelle nor her family, have reached out to the Roy family. UPDATE for the 01/18/20 updated rebroadcast: In February of 2019, Michelle Carter’s conviction was upheld, and she began serving her 15-month sentence. Her lawyers appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court. This week, the court declined to hear her appeal. Lynn Roy’s focus now is on changing laws. On-screen text graphic for the 08/05/17 updated rebroadcast: Lynn Roy has filed a 4.2 million wrongful death suit against Michelle Carter. The goal is to establish a memorial for Conrad. On-screen text graphic for the 09/22/18 rebroadcast: Lynn Roy has filed a 4.2-million-dollar wrongful death suit against Michelle Carter. On-screen text graphic for the 01/18/20 updated rebroadcast: Conrad’s Law, criminalizing suicide coercion, has been introduced in the Massachusetts legislature. Interviewed: Lynn Roy, Conrad’s mother; Camdyn and Morgan Roy, Conrad’s sisters; Aryanna Taylor, friend of Conrad Roy; Ed McFarland, Michelle Carter’s softball coach; Bob McGovern, legal columnist, Boston Herald; and Harold Koplewicz, child and adolescent psychiatrist. 01/18/20 48 HOURS: “Chacey Poynter: Witness to Murder” (10:00 – 11:00p) – In September 2016, University Park Fire Department Captain Robert Poynter was shot and killed while sitting in his wife Chacey Poynter’s Jeep on a deserted county road in Royse City, Texas. Chacey told police she called her husband for help after her Jeep got stuck in the mud and when Robert got in to help move her vehicle, he was shot by an unknown man. Investigators were skeptical of her story. When questioned by the police, Chacey admitted to multiple affairs and ongoing marital problems, including abuse. She eventually confessed to knowing the identity of the man who killed her husband -- Michael Garza, one of her lovers. Chacey claimed it was Michael who set the trap, so he could confront Robert and demand he leave her alone. On September 10, 2016, Chacey was arrested and charged with conspiracy to commit murder. Michael turned himself in and was charged with murder. The shotgun used to murder Robert belonged to Michael’s brother and was recovered by a farmer near where Robert was shot. Recovered digital evidence proved Chacey had groomed Michael. On July 10, 2018, Michael went on trial and testified that he believed Robert was abusing Chacey and implicated her as the shooter. On July 20th, Michael was found guilty and sentenced to 99-years in prison. At Chacey’s trial, prosecutors maintained she was the mastermind and her motive was to collect Robert’s life insurance policy; she was found guilty of murder and sentenced to life in prison, with the possibility of parole in 30-years. On-screen text graphic: Robert Poynter’s life insurance benefits were split among his three daughters. Chacey’s mother and stepfather share custody of the couple’s daughter with Robert Poynter’s parents. Interviewed: Chacey Poynter, Robert’s wife and convicted murderer; Detective Michael Burk, Royse City Police Department; Sergeant Shane Meek, Royse City Police Department; Jason Salisbury, Paul Falkenhagen, Mark McAdams, and Earl Starnes, firefighters, University Park Fire Department and friends of Robert’s; Natalie and Nicole Poynter, Robert’s daughters; Amy Poynter, Robert’s ex-wife; Jeff Kovach, Assistant Hunt County District Attorney; Calvin Grogan, First Assistant District Attorney, Hunt County; Scott Cornuau and Frank Hughes, Chacey’s defense attorneys. 01/25/20 48 HOURS: LIVE TO TELL: “Murder on Prom Night” – On Sunday, April 30, 1989, police responded to a crime scene at the Lakeville, Indiana home of the Pelley family. Reverend Bob Pelley was found in an upstairs hallway; wife Dawn and young daughters Janel and Jolene were in the basement -- all shot at close range with a shotgun. Nine-year-old Jessica Pelley – now known as Jessi Toronjo - returned from a sleepover at a friend’s house to the news that her mother, stepfather, and sisters were murdered. Police questioned Bob’s 17-year-old son Jeff and later learned Bob had grounded him over the prom; police believed they had a clear motive, but no forensic evidence to prosecute. Thirteen years after the crime, a new prosecutor believed there was enough evidence and Jeff was arrested and charged with four counts of murder. In 2006, he was found guilty and sentenced to a hundred and sixty years in prison. Jeff’s defense lawyer filed an appeal and his convictions were set aside on a number of procedural grounds. He remained in custody and in February 2009, the Indiana State Supreme Court upheld the conviction. 48 HOURS: “The Death of Todd Stermer” – Linda Stermer, a Michigan woman accused of setting fire to her family home and murdering her husband, Todd Stermer, speaks out for the first time. On January 7, 2007, the Stermers’ house caught fire. Linda got out safely and went to the family’s van to get help. Todd made it out of the house but was horribly burned. After escaping the fire, Todd was run over by Linda. Though Linda maintains it was an accident, investigators were suspicious of her account. After the death of Todd Stermer, allegations of domestic abuse, battles over money, and accusations Linda was having an affair surfaced. In June 2009, Linda was charged with arson and murder. On January 5, 2010, Linda went on trial and maintained she doesn’t know how the fire started, and the running over of her husband was an accident. Prosecutors built their case on circumstantial evidence focusing on Linda’s actions before and after the fire. Her sons testified that on the day of the murder she pushed them out of the house and believe she drugged their father. A former friend of Linda’s testified she was having an affair with a co-worker. Linda was convicted of arson and murder and sentenced to life without parole. After serving 5 years, her appeal was denied in the Michigan Supreme Court. In 2016, her new attorney submitted her amended petition to the Federal Courts, blaming her conviction on her trial attorney’s decision to not hire a fire expert. In 2018, a Federal Judge Tarnow held Linda’s evidentiary hearing and two months later issued his ruling; after serving almost nine years in prison, Linda was released, and her conviction overturned. The Michigan State Attorney General is appealing the Federal Court decision. Linda attended her hearing on December 3, 2019 and is currently awaiting the Federal Court’s decision. On-screen text graphic: FORTY-EIGHT HOURS will bring you the Federal Court’s decision as soon as it’s handed down. - 02/08/20 48 HOURS: “Karrie’s Choice” (9:00 – 10:00p) – a report on the death of Michele Neurauter – a parent in the midst of a bitter custody battle who was possibly killed by her daughter. In 2017, Michele Neurauter was found hanging in her home in Corning, New York in what appeared to be a suicide. Police were troubled because a rope mark was found on her chin. Michele’s mother, Jeanne Laundry, pointed the finger at Michele’s ex-husband, Lloyd Neurauter, though he was in California at the time. Police later learned he stopped less than 100 miles away from the crime scene before he flew to California, after helping his daughter Karrie move into an apartment in Rochester, NY. Police began listening in to their conversations, which led to the father and daughter being charged with murder months later. Michele had accused Lloyd of trying to turn Karrie against her. Police believed Karrie was manipulated and brainwashed. Karrie pleaded guilty to second-degree murder charges. Weeks before the trial, Lloyd plead guilty and was sentenced to life without parole. The District Attorney had Karrie’s charges reduced to second-degree manslaughter and she was sentenced to 1-3 years in prison. On-screen text graphic: Shortly after her sentencing in December 2018, Karrie Neurauter went before the parole board. Her parole application was denied. - 02/08/20 48 HOURS: “The Case Against Ezra McCandless” (10:00- 11:00p) – an investigation into the 2018 death of Alex Woodworth. On March 22, 2018, Ezra McCandless appeared at the home of dairy farmer Don Sipple, near Eau Claire, Wisconsin. Ezra claimed she was a victim of assault and Sipple called 911. Ezra’s details were hazy at first, but eventually named ex-boyfriend Alex Woodworth as her attacker. Police discovered Woodworth’s body on a deserted road near the dairy farm. Ezra told investigators Alex carved the word “boy” into her arm and then attacked her. The evidence did not match Ezra’s account. Ezra was arrested and charged with first-degree intentional homicide. At the trial, Ezra took the stand in her own defense and tried to portray herself as a meek and timid young woman incapable of murder. Prosecutors believed Ezra committed the crime to attract the attention of her former boyfriend, Jason Mengel. Ezra is found guilty of first-degree intentional homicide and sentenced to life in prison. Ezra must serve a minimum of 50-years before she is eligible for release. Interviewed: Don Sipple, dairy farmer; Andrea Nodolf, Dunn County District Attorney; Jason Mengel, Ezra’s ex-boyfriend; Marv Woodworth, Alex’s grandfather; John Woodworth, Alex’s father; Detective Ryan Prock, Eau Claire Police Department; Julia Post, Ezra’s childhood friend; Woman #3, juror. - 02/15/20 48 HOURS: “The Plot to Kill Dr. Sievers” – a follow-up to “Eleven Hundred Miles to Murder” (OAD: 02/18/17), a report on the 2015 murder of Dr. Teresa Sievers, murdered in her Bonita Springs, Florida home and the subsequent investigation. Police initially suspected her husband Mark Sievers, but he had an airtight alibi. A tip led police on a 1,100-mile trek that took the case in an unexpected direction. Mark Sievers believed there might be a tie to other suspicious deaths of doctors around the country. Eventually, Mark Sievers became a person of interest. Two months after the murder, police arrested two men in Missouri and charged them with Dr. Sievers’s murder: Curtis Wayne Wright and Jimmy Ray Rogers traveled from Missouri to Florida and murdered Dr. Sievers. Wright, a close friend of Mark Sievers, told police that Mark had taken out five life insurance policies on Dr. Sievers, had an open marriage, money problems, and other serious issues. Eight months after the murder, Wright admitted to killing Dr. Sievers and accused Mark Sievers of being the mastermind behind the crime. Mark Sievers was then charged with the murder of his wife. Curtis Wayne Wright plead guilty to the second-degree murder of Teresa Sievers and testified that it was Mark’s idea to kill Teresa. In exchange for his testimony, he will serve 25-years in prison. In October 2019, Rodgers went on trial and was convicted of second-degree murder and sentenced to life in prison. A month later while still maintain his innocence, Mark Sievers went on trial and was convicted of first-degree murder in the death of his wife. In addition to the guilty verdict, the jury asked the judge to sentence Sievers to death. On January 3, 2020, Mark Sievers was sentenced to death. After his wife died, Corbett hired American Molly Martens to care for his children. Their relationship soon turned romantic and they married, moving to the United States. Tracy Lynch, Corbett’s sister, says that before his death, Jason professed his unhappiness in the marriage. She believes Molly acted in fear of the family’s separation. On the morning of February 15, Los Angeles police responded to a call of a “women screaming;” they found 38-year-old Harwick lying unresponsive beneath the third-floor balcony of her home. Police found evidence of a struggle and forced entry. The cause of death was ruled to be blunt force injuries to the head and torso, with medical examiners finding evidence of strangulation. Harwick’s friends led investigators to her ex-boyfriend, Gareth Pursehouse. After dating in 2011, the relationship allegedly turned abusive. In 2012, a restraining order was filed against Pursehouse by Harwick. At the time of her death, the restraining order against Pursehouse had expired. Four days after Harwick’s death, Pursehouse was charged with one count of murder and first-degree residential burglary with a special circumstance allegation of lying in wait. He could face a minimum sentence of life in prison without the possibility of parole, and possibly the death penalty. He has not yet entered a plea. 48 HOURS: “The Case Against Sandra Garner” – a report on the murder of Jon Garner and the trial of his wife, Sandra, accused of the crime. In January 2018, Maypearl, Texas police responded to Sandra Garner’s 911 call about her husband, Jon, having been shot by a home intruder. Officer Boyd Norton was aided in the investigation by Ellis County Sheriff Shane Thompson. After questioning Sandra and her son Wes, police began to consider her a suspect. They found suspicious search queries on her electronic devices as well as a gun matching the one used to kill Jon stashed under the front seat of her car. Sandra was arrested for Jon’s murder. In September 2019, Sandra’s trial began. In court, prosecutor Lindy Beaty mocked Sandra’s story, but privately she and co-prosecutor Ricky Sipes, were unsure of the strength of their cases based on errors in the police’s investigation: police took too long to respond to Sandra’s call and secure the crime scene, they failed to fingerprint Sandra’s car, and a series of crime scene photos Officer Norton took disappeared from his phone. Prosecutors also lacked a motive for Sandra, but could ascribe a financial motive to Wes, whose alibi also turned out to not be valid and proved much of the information against Sandra. After three hours of deliberation, the jury returned a not guilty verdict. Sandra was released, but much of her family still believes she is Jon’s killer. Sandra and her daughter no longer speak to Wes. On-screen text graphic: Jon Garner’s family believes Wes was not involved in Jon’s murder. They remain close to him. Interviewed: Sandra Garner; Chief Boyd Norton, Maypearl Police investigator; Sheriff Shane Thompson, Ellis County Sheriff’s Office investigator; Andrea Miller, Sandra’s daughter; Jessica Garner, married to Jon’s cousin; Tom Pappas, Sandra’s trial attorney; Lindy Beaty, trial co-prosecutor; and Ricky Sipes, trial co-prosecutor. 03/14/20

48 HOURS: “Broken Hearts” – a report on how the death of Karen Ermert was connected to a lifesaving heart transplant for Eva Baisey. Gene Weingarten, a writer for The Washington Post, had the idea that reporting on any single day could encapsulate the entire human experience. He and Editor Tom Shroder placed twenty years of dates into a hat and randomly chose December 28, 1986. This led Weingarten to Detective Tommy Lee, who had been holding onto the file for Karen Ermert’s case for decades. In Fairfax County, Virginia in the 1980s, Karen was in a relationship with Mark Willey. According to Mark’s friend Rich Lieb, Mark was very possessive and jealous; he stalked Karen and committed acts of physical violence against her. In 1986, Karen broke up with Mark. On the evening of December 26th, an intoxicated Mark climbed a tree and entered Karen’s apartment in an attempt to reconcile; she refused. Mark retrieved a rifle from his car and killed her and then himself. Elsewhere in the county, Eva Baisey -- a 20 year old nursing student at Fairfax Hospital -- needed a heart transplant. At the time, it was illegal to perform the surgery at any Washington D.C. area hospitals. Dr. Ed Lefrak, chief of cardiac surgery at Fairfax Hospital, recruited celebrated surgeon Dr. Christiaan Barnard to lobby the state health commissioner on Lefrak’s behalf. Barnard was successful -- all that was left was to wait for a donor. On December 27, 1986, a viable heart became available from Mark Willey, whose suicide had left him braindead, but his heart was still beating. The next day, Dr. Lefrak replaced Eva’s heart. Though her procedure was successful, Eva was told she would never be allowed to work in healthcare due to fears over her susceptibility to disease. However, as Eva’s life expectancy projection climbed, that restriction was removed, and she was able to begin a career in nursing. Eva continues to have a celebratory anniversary call with her transplant team every December 28th. She finally learned the source of her heart when Gene Weingarten published his book in 2019; Eva expressed remorse and gratitude toward Mark’s family. Rich Lieb was happy that Karen Ermert’s death allowed Eva to live. On-screen text graphic: To sign up to be an organ donor visit the National Donate Life Registry at Registerme.org. Interviewed: Gene Weingarten, writer for The Washington Post; Detective Tommy Lee, Fairfax Police; Rich Lieb, friend of Karen Ermert; Dr. Ed Lefrak, chief of cardiac surgery, Fairfax Hospital; Mary Dellinger, surgical nurse; Deidre Carolan Doerflinger, Eva’s primary care nurse; Eva Baisey, heart transplant recipient; Mary Beth Maydosz, transplant coordinator; Antonio Baisey, Eva’s son. 48 HOURS: “The Troubling Case Against Kevin Cooper” (10:00 - 11:00p) – an update to a 2019 report on the controversial murder case against California death row inmate Kevin Cooper, who was convicted of the 1983 murder of Doug and Penny Ryen, their daughter Jessica, and friend Christopher Hughes in Chino Hills, California. Eight-year-old Josh Ryen, though seriously wounded, survived the attack. 48 HOURS has been investigating Kevin Cooper’s case ever since he wrote to Erin Moriarty two decades ago, proclaiming his innocence. After the June 4, 1983 murders, Josh indicated to police three white people were responsible. Police eventually decided Josh was wrong with his identification and recent prison escapee Kevin Cooper seemed to fit the bill because he had hidden near the Ryen home. Cooper was paraded before cameras and the trial became racially charged because Cooper is black. Blood evidence, but none of Cooper’s fingerprints, were found at the scene. The trial was moved to San Diego and Josh testified by video, but his memory was hazy, and he no longer remembered the attackers. Cooper, who always denied the murders, was convicted and sentenced to death. Dr. Mary Howell, Josh’s grandmother, was not convinced that Cooper was guilty. By 2000, Cooper was still on death row. Questions remained and Josh, then eighteen-years-old, was still unsure Cooper was there. Private investigator Paul Ingels felt the case deserved a second look; his investigation led to a number of new leads, including potential suspect Lee Furrow, who the police initially discounted. Furrow denied responsibility. In 2001, an agreement was made for additional DNA testing, but the 2002 post-conviction DNA test results did not exonerate Cooper, and significant issues were raised regarding the process. In 2008, Dr. Mary Howell died. After the state of California agreed to DNA testing, the lab results all pointed to Cooper, but many maintain the evidence was tampered with. After nineteen years on death row, the 9th Circuit federal appellate court stayed Cooper’s execution. New York Times journalist Nicholas Kristof wrote an Op-Ed article about the case and former FBI agent Tom Parker was hired by Norman Hile, Cooper’s defense attorney, to re-investigate. New attention was given to Lee Furrow, following information from witnesses that three white men splattered with blood, were seen in a nearby bar on the night of the crime. At the end of 2018, Governor Jerry Brown ordered new DNA testing and a retired judge was appointed to make sure the tests are done properly. 03/21/20 UPDATE: In March 2019, new California Governor Gavin Newsom ordered additional DNA testing, including a vial that contained Cooper’s blood; he also suspended all state executions. The tests were carried out, however the DNA on the items -- except for on an orange towel -- was too degraded to provide conclusive results. The results from the towel did not match Cooper, Lee Furrow, or anyone in the CODIS national database. Defense attorney and DNS specialist Bicka Barlow discovered the vial containing Cooper’s 1983 blood sample was empty. Investigator Tom Parker found two new witnesses who claim Furrow confessed to the crime. Cooper’s defense team has asked Governor Newsom to look into their claims of evidence tampering. On-screen text graphic: Further test results are expected within the next few months. Interviewed: Paul Ingels (private investigator); Dr. Mary Howell Josh Ryen’s maternal grandmother); Floyd Tidwell (former San Bernardino County Sheriff); Josh Ryen (survivor, interviewed as a 28-year old); Dale Sharp (Deputy Sheriff); Dennis Kottmeier (District Attorney); Norman Hile (Cooper’s defense attorney); Lee Furrow (suspect); Diana Roper (Furrow’s former girlfriend, now deceased); Christine Slonaker and Mary Wolfe (witnesses at the bar); Nicholas Kristoff (journalist, The New York Times); Tom Parke (former FBI Agent); Judge William Fletcher; Michael Ramos (current District Attorney); Dr. Paul Krane (DNA expert); Kevin Cooper (telephone interview with Correspondent Erin Moriarty); and Bicka Barlow (Defense attorney / DNA specialist) (See also: (48 HOURS MYSTERIES) "A Grandmother's Mission", OAD: 10/26/00; 1st rebroadcast: 08/03/01; 48 HOURS MYSTERY: "Deadly Truth", OAD: 09/17/03 - a follow-up to “A Grandmother’s Mission”; and 48 HOURS: “Letter from San Quentin” (9:00 - 10:00p) and “Was Kevin Cooper Framed?” (10:00 - 11:00p), OAD: 01/26/19 - a two-part report.) 48 HOURS: “Lizzie Borden Took an Axe...” – a report detailing the 1892 murder accusations against Lizzie Borden and a mock trial with modern forensics experts, attorneys, and jurors. The Borden family lived in Fall River, Massachusetts. Despite his wealth, Andrew Borden was known to be very frugal. He lived in a house that lacked indoor plumbing and gas lighting, with daughters Emma and Lizzie, and second wife Abby. On August 4th, 1892, Lizzie alerted her neighbor that her father had been killed. The neighbor noted that there was no blood on her. When police arrived, they found Andrew in the sitting room and Abby in an upstairs room – both had been hacked to death. Emma had been away visiting friends and was not at the house. Five days later, Lizzie was able to give her version of events during the police inquest. Police were able to construct a timeline for the murders and when looking for a motive, focused on how Lizzie and Emma begrudged their father for his frugality and for buying a house for his wife’s sister, rather than the two of them. Other than around the bodies, the only blood found in the house was a spot on one of Lizzie’s undergarments and the bloody rags in the basement. Lizzie explained both were the result of her menstruating, and the primitiveness of forensics at the time did not allow for further testing. Police were also suspicious that the day after her father’s funeral, Lizzie burned a dress in the stove and claimed it was ruined from paint. Initially lacking a murder weapon, police later found a hatchet head covered with ash in the basement; the handle appeared to have been freshly broken off. Witnesses claimed to have seen Lizzie’s failed attempt to buy prussic acid, a powerful poison. Lizzie was arrested for murder at the close of the inquest. On June 5, 1893, Lizzie’s trial began in New Bedford, MA. Over the course of a week, the prosecution laid out their case with expert witnesses and medical testimony, but the judge did not allow them to mention Lizzie’s attempt to buy poison. The defense teams spent two days attempting to raise reasonable doubt. After two hours of deliberation, the all-male jury returned with a not guilty verdict. Following her acquittal, Lizzie and Emma used their inheritance to buy a large house in the rich part of town, however, Lizzie was shunned from the church that had brought her solace and Emma too eventually left her. She lived as a recluse until her death in June of 1927. Emma would pass away nine days later. Both were laid to rest near Andrew and Abby. Nevertheless, popular culture has cast Lizzie Borden as one of America’s most notorious killers. Los Angeles author Cara Robertson first became interested in Lizzie Borden when searching a subject for her college thesis; thirty years later, Simon & Schuster published her book, “The Trial of Lizzie Borden.” Using a jury recruiting firm and paid jurors, a modern Lizzie Borden trial is staged with Anna-Sigga Niccolazzi as prosecutor; Matthew Troiano for the defense; and Erin Rubas and Andrew Schweighardt as expert witnesses. Both attorneys would only be able to use evidence presented at the original trial. The eight jurors deliberated, with attorneys allowed to listen in. After one hour, a vote was taken: on the first count, the murder of Abby Borden, it was a hung jury with only one juror voting not guilty; on the second count, the murder of Andrew Borden, it was again a hung jury, with two not guilty votes. Interviewed: Cara Robertson, author; Anna-Sigga Niccolazzi, former prosecutor, Brooklyn district attorney; Matthew Troiano, defense attorney; Erin Rubas, crime scene investigator, former homicide detective; and Andrew Schweighardt, criminalist, New York City Office of the Chief Medical Examiner.
