11/4/19	6 PM News (2:15)	RUTHERFORD COUNTY MAYOR'S DAUGHTER ARRESTED: A grand jury has returned three indictments against Kelsey Ketron, the daughter of Rutherford County Mayor Bill Ketron. She now faces more than 70 counts, including fraud, perjury and money laundering. She's been at the center of an ongoing fraud investigation by WTVF. Ketron is accused of fraud and selling insurance without a license at her family's insurance business in Murfreesboro. Up until this point, the allegations had not been criminal but civil charges which were filed by state regulators with the Tennessee Department of Insurance. She's also accused of stealing more than $65,000 from her father's various campaign accounts and his political action committee. She was treasurer for his Bill Ketron for County Mayor campaign account, his Senate campaign account and his quest political action committee. According to police, the State District Attorney's Office selected the Hamilton County DA to prosecute the case after Rutherford County District Attorney General Jennings Jones and his staff recused themselves due to a conflict of interest.
11/13/19	6 PM News (1:50)	NEW QUESTIONS ABOUT CAMPAIGN MONEY FOR KETRO CAMPAIGN: There are new questions about Rutherford County Mayor Bill Ketron and how he spent money given to his campaigns for mayor and state senator. The Tennessee Registry of Election Finance is the board that oversees how politicians and candidates spend their money. Now they want Bill Ketron and his wife to turn over their personal credit card statements. Ketron and his campaign spending have been under scrutiny since this summer when the board ordered audits of Ketron's campaign and political action committee accounts. This scrutiny came after WTVF began raising questions about how the money was being spent. Participants included Jay Moeck, TN Registry of Election Finance Auditor and Bill Young, TN Registry of Election Finance Executive Director.
11/18/19	6 PM News (2:05)	KELSEY KETRON RELEASED FROM JAIL: Kelsey Ketron, daughter of Rutherford County Mayor Bill Ketron, has been released on bond after she was arrested on several charges, including fraud and money laundering. Ketron faces more than 70 counts in connection with her family's insurance business. She's also accused of stealing more than $65,000 from her father's various campaign accounts. It appears that Ketron received special treatment as TV cameras were ordered away from an area where reporters and the public are normally allowed. It should be noted that the Sheriff's annual budget must be approved by her father, the Mayor. Sheriff Mike Fitzhugh also donated money to Bill Ketron's campaign. Another interesting twist to this story is that Ketron's bond was paid by McAdoo Bonding in Rutherford County. It is owned by long time and current Rutherford County Commissioner Allen McAdoo who serves on the county commission with Bill Ketron.

11/27/19	6 PM News (2:46)	SENATOR YARBRO REACTS TO SOLITARY CONFINMENT: Tennessee needs a law that bans solitary confinement for juveniles. That's according to state senator Jeff Yarbrow who is concerned by what our investigation into Tennessee's broken juvenile justice system uncovered. The state says solitary confinement is already prohibited. However, we found children locked inside their cells for up to 24 hours a day. We found one 16-year old who was kept in a cell 24 hours a day for a straight week other than time to take a shower. They get away with it by calling it "room restriction. They say "room restriction" differs from solitary confinement because the kids can still yell to each other between cells and they are not locked in a "hole" somewhere. Yarbrow tried to pass a bill banning solitary confinement for juveniles in 2016 but it failed because some said it was not needed. He said Tennessee is behind other states in this regard. Health experts say solitary confinement is especially dangerous for juveniles whose brains are still developing. Participants included Jeff Yarbrow - State Senator (D) Nashville; Kathy Sinback - Davidson County Juvenile Court Administrator; Mark Anderson - Department of Children's Services (DCS) Director of Licensing

11/4/19	10 PM News (7:02)	BROKEN: THE REVOLVING DOOR OF JUVENILE CRIME: This report revealed that Tennessee's "Broken" juvenile justice system repeatedly puts violent teen offenders back out on the streets through a sometimes-deadly revolving door. A series of homicides in the last three years has dramatically illustrated the serious juvenile crime issues facing the city of Nashville and surrounding areas. Juvenile robbery charges were at a five-year high in 2018. NewsChannel 5 Investigates obtained juvenile crime data going back almost eight years. While it did not contain names, by cross checking specific charges with the dates of known crimes, we developed unprecedented insight into the path that sometimes leads to murder. Out of some 35 kids charged with homicide since 2016, we discovered almost two thirds had confirmed juvenile records that should have set off alarms. Police think the system and the courts are too lenient on the repeat offenders as they rarely do any serious jail time. Often, juveniles are sent home the same day because detention cannot be used for non-violent offenses such as auto theft or drug possession. Participants included crime victim Shatika Begley, Juvenile Court Judge Sheila Calloway, police juvenile task force Lt. Blaine Whited and former juvenile prosecutor Jim Todd.

DATE/TIME	PROGRAM/DURATION	SUMMARY/PARTICIPANTS
11/5/19	10 PM News (6:09)	JUVENILE CRIME IS A PUBLIC HEALTH CRISIS - Almost every day, we hear about car jackings, armed robberies and police pursuits involving Nashville teens. Now some are asking whether it's time to call it a "public health crisis." A six-month NewsChannel 5 investigation of our broken juvenile justice system discovered that fixing the problem will require more than just police arresting people. It will also require difficult conversations about race - and about racism. The vast majority of children in local detention facilities are African-American and much younger than in past years. To understand Nashville's juvenile crime problem, advocates said, you first have to understand the hand that's been dealt in some communities -- for example, generation after generation stuck in incredible poverty. Many of the kids have witnessed more trauma in their young lives than most people could ever comprehend. They have lived with domestic violence, family members or friends being hurt or killed and gun violence. Many of these youths don't feel like they will live beyond 20. Social media is also a problem as kids are searching for identity or status. Many have been exposed to drugs at an early stage or have a history of untreated mental illness. The 37208 Zip Code in Nashville, where many of these kids live, has the highest incarceration rate of any zip code in America. Urban housing policies and institutional racism broke up African-American neighborhoods and forced poor families into concentrated areas. Children in these areas attend some of the lowest-performing schools in the state of Tennessee -- schools that are often ill-equipped to deal with the trauma that their kids bring to the classroom. Participants included: activist Ashford Hughes, Juvenile Court Judge Sheila Calloway, Juvenile Court Administrator Kathy Sinback and former juvenile prosecutor Jim Todd.
11/7/19	10PM News (5:59)	KIDS AND GUNS - The number of kids caught with handguns on the streets of Nashville continues to skyrocket, leaving police increasingly frustrated with the juvenile justice system. Our exclusive investigation even discovered juveniles previously implicated in homicides still out on the streets, repeatedly getting arrested on gun charges. A visit to the police department's evidence room provides a glimpse into the scope of the problem. Laid out side by side, the number of handguns seized from juveniles on the streets of Nashville in a two-month period totals 40. Over the past five years, there's been a 40% increase in the number of juvenile charges for handgun possession. Police have found guns hidden by kids in everything from teddy bears to cereal boxes. Police suggest that juveniles caught with firearms face at least 30 days in detention but that is not currently state law. Part of the problem, critics say, is that state law does not treat handgun possession by juveniles as a serious offense. They are treated as misdemeanors. Participants included Juvenile Court Judge Sheila Calloway, police juvenile task force Lt. Blaine Whited and former juvenile prosecutor Jim Todd.
11/11/19	6 PM News (7:58)	KIDS STEALING CARS: Kids stealing cars has become a big problem in our communities, and it is not just because people are foolishly leaving the keys inside. Our exclusive investigation of Tennessee's broken juvenile justice system also discovered that, for kids, auto theft is not always considered a serious crime. The number of kids charged with auto theft has dramatically skyrocketed in the last five years, and police say repeat offenders are a big part of the problem. Judges are not allowed to use detention as a punishment for non-violent crimes which auto thefts are. The way state law is written, first-time auto thieves must be immediately sent home because auto theft is considered a non-violent property crime. In essence, there is no more consequence between stealing a car and stealing a candy bar. Participants included Kathy Sinback, Juvenile Court Administrator and Metro police Lt. Blaine Whited, Juvenile Crime Task Force

11/12/19	6 PM News (5:30)	THE VIEW FROM INSIDE A BROKEN SYSTEM: Kids who kill is a story that all too often makes headlines these days, but sadly it's not a new story. The story of two child killers from the '90s may offer lessons about what many consider to be a broken juvenile justice system. "You only have one life to live, and this is not the way to live your life - in prison or locked up," inmate Andrew Jefferson told WTVF. Jefferson has spent much of his life behind bars and, now at age 38, he is in prison again. In 1994, he was the youngest person in Middle Tennessee at the time to face murder charges as an adult, yet he was barely a teen. Jefferson said he's not the same street tough kid he was when he was first arrested for killing someone. "You don't need to necessarily have to sell drugs or rob or do these things. Now that I'm more mature, I realize that." Terrance McLaurine was then the youngest person ever charged with criminal homicide in Davidson County when he was 12. He has a similar story to Jefferson. Participants include: Andrew Jefferson/convicted killer; Terrance McLaurine/convicted killer; Jim Todd/attorney
11/14/19	6 PM News (5:45)	LESSONS FROM A CONVICTED TEEN KILLER'S PAST - What turns a troubled kid into a hardened criminal and then a repeat offender? Perhaps more importantly, how do you stop it from happening? Andrew Jefferson hopes people can find answers in his story. When he was just 13, Jefferson was arrested for murder and, three years later, he'd committed another murder. Now he's back behind bars again. Jefferson recently sat down for a rare prison interview with WTVF because he said he wants to save other kids from going down the same path he did. He hopes lessons from his past might be used to fix a broken system. Poverty, lack of parental supervision and growing up in a crime-ridden neighborhood were contributing factors in his life. In that kind of environment, Jefferson says you will do anything to survive. Participants included Andrew Jefferson, convicted killer and Jim Todd, attorney.
11/18/19	6 PM News (6:00)	NO ONE'S WATCHING - Violent juvenile offenders routinely commit new crimes while they are supposed to be under the supervision of the Tennessee Department of Children's Services, an exclusive NewsChannel 5 investigation has discovered. In actuality, we discovered that no one has been closely watching those juveniles. They are not making unannounced home visits in order to be able to intervene before they go on violent rampages. DCS considers it to be "too difficult." We discovered cases where juveniles with ankle monitors were out of town but DCS never alerted the police or that ankle monitors were no longer working. Participants included Kathy Sinback, Juvenile Court Administrator; Lt. Blaine Whited, police juvenile task force; Jim Todd, former juvenile prosecutor and Jennifer Nichols; DCS Commissioner.
11/19/19	6 PM News (5:30)	CHILDREN LOCKED IN SOLITARY CONFINEMENT: Children are being locked in solitary confinement at a Middle Tennessee juvenile detention center under conditions that experts say could amount to torture. The state Department of Children's Services defended the practice calling it "room restriction," insisting it has strict policies prohibiting solitary confinement or seclusion at juvenile detention centers. WTVF discovered children at the Middle Tennessee Juvenile Detention Center in Columbia can spend 24 hours a day alone in their cell - for days at a time - without violating DCS policy. Currently, there is no state law banning solitary confinement for juveniles in Tennessee. DCS sends juveniles ages 12 to 19 to the facility while they wait for a more permanent placement. While there, children spend most of their time locked inside their cells, and when they get out to visit with family, they are often shackled and handcuffed. Under these conditions, experts say there is increased risk of depression, anxiety and suicide. It does nothing to help with rehabilitation. The facility even puts covers over windows, so children cannot see outside their cell. Participants included Kathy Sinback - Davidson County Juvenile Court Administrator, Kelly Gray - Davidson County Juvenile Probation Officer; Wesley Clark - Attorney; Dr. Kimberly Brown - Vanderbilt Clinical Psychologist; Mark Anderson - Department of Children's Services (DCS) Director of Licensing.

11/21/19	6 PM News (5:29)	JUVENILE DETENTION CENTER PROBLEMS: A controversial juvenile detention facility has a powerful list of owners including a current state lawmaker and a judge's wife. WTVF first exposed solitary confinement conditions inside the Middle Tennessee Juvenile Detention Center in Maury County. The Department of Children's Services, which inspects and licenses the facility, insists it is in good standing. State Rep. David Byrd, R-Waynesboro, is among the owners of the facility. Other owners include Phyllis Parkes, the wife of Maury County Circuit Court Judge J. Russell Parks. At full capacity, which is 57 juveniles, it would make more than more than $2.7 million dollars a year. The DCS licensing director, Mark Anderson, oversees regular inspections at the facility and said it is following state policies and laws and that the powerful owners do not impact state inspections. Participants include Kathy Sinback - Davidson County Juvenile Court Administrator; Kelly Gray - Davidson County Juvenile Probation Officer, Mark Anderson - Department of Children's Services (DCS) Director of Licensing.
11/25/19	6 PM News (7:35)	SEARCHING FOR SOULTIONS TO JUVENILE CRIME: Mt. Carmel Missionary Baptist runs a 12-week rehabilitation class for juveniles on probation called GANG (Gentleman and Not Gangsters). Most of the kids in the program are there because of gun-related charges. The goal of the program is to give kids life skills and coping skills so when they are faced with difficult choices, they chose to turn away from crime instead of toward it. The volunteers who run the program want to show that there are good people who care about them and want to help. Getting kids into these programs is hard as many receive no state or local funding. Participants included: Derrick Strode, volunteer with GANG; Maraiah, GANG program coordinator; LaCharles McWilliams, Leander Colliers and Salome Aguilar, juveniles in the GANG program.
11/26/19	6 PM News (5:53)	EARLY INTERVENTION IS PATH TO HOPE: A large majority of kids under the age of 18 get their first taste of the Juvenile Court when they are brought before a judge on a truancy charge. Last year, Davidson County's Juvenile Court system handled 1,209 truancy related cases. When kids begin skipping school, it often leads to other things. How do you catch kids and get them on the right path? One answer lies in a small number of nonprofits tasked with turning juvenile's lives around. Those nonprofits are sent dozens of teenagers a year who have committed crimes that are as minor as skipping school, to as serious as armed robbery. Be About Change is an eight-week program which meets for two hours every Saturday. Every class begins with an hour of physical fitness. The instructors of the program track students' progress in everything from running a mile to how many push-ups they can do. The physical training is symbolic for practicing for life. The other class hour is focused on teaching kids' life skills. They're shown how to make a proper resume and how to handle money. While it isn't an absolute fix, programs like Be About Change are at least a start to fixing a broken system. The idea is to give kids tools to succeed instead of simply focusing on what they've done wrong. Participants included Marcel Hernandez, founder of "Be About Change", Kenneth Buford; teen participating in "Be About Change" program.

“Impeachment Inquiry” – a report on the impeachment inquiry into President Trump which began last week. Due to an official complaint alleging he solicited a foreign government to aid his 2020 campaign, by investigating Joe Biden and his son Hunter for their business dealings and possible corruption in Ukraine, many feel impeachment is inevitable. It remains unclear whether the White House will cooperate with the investigation. The report also details feedback members of Congress are receiving from their constituents regarding the current political climate. Includes interviews with Rep. Will Hurd (R-TX); Rep. Mikie Sherrill (D-NJ); constituents of Sherrill: Republican Karen Arakelian, Democrat Brett Wellman, and Kathy Abbot; and constituents of Hurd: Democrat Jennifer Falcon, Democrat Trish Mendoza, Republican Andres Holliday, and Republican Stephen Pennington. “Texas Ranger and the Serial Killer” – an interview with Texas Ranger James Holland. Over the last year and a half, Holland coaxed serial killer Samuel Little to confess to ninety-three murders. Undetected for nearly half a century, Little was a drifter from Ohio who the FBI are now calling the most prolific serial killer in U.S. history. Little preyed on those at the fringes of society, allowing him to go unnoticed. After a suspicious cold case prompted his further inquiry into Little, Holland enabled judges and prosecutors across the country to close long-standing cases by speaking to Little over the course of seven hundred hours of interviews. By making Little comfortable, Holland was rewarded with detailed stories and drawings of the victims, all of whom Little says he still remembers vividly. Includes interviews with Damien, victim Denise Brother’s son; Christie Palazzolo of the FBI and Angela Williamson of Department of Justice, violent crimes analysts; District Attorney Bobby Bland; and a phone interview with Little. (C: Sharyn Alfonsi – P: Draggan Mihailovich, Jacqueline Williams, Claire St. Amant)

“The Farmer’s Advocate” – an interview with Beth Ford, owner of the prominent dairy brand Land O’Lakes. A Fortune 500 company, Land O’Lakes brings in fifteen billion dollars in annual revenue and has been introducing high tech tools to help farmers survive. The company is involved with fifty percent of all farmland in America and is still run as an old-fashioned farmer’s cooperative, with Ford placing great value on her relationships with these four thousand or so farmers. Ford spends a large deal of time lobbying in Washington regarding the various crises pressuring farmers, such as tariffs, trade tensions, and weather. Ford, the only CEO of a Fortune 500 company who is openly gay, also works to advance the causes of women; one-third of American farmers today are female. Includes interviews with farmer Dave Estrem; farmers and sisters Candice White and Amanda Condo; and Teddy Bekele, Land O’Lakes chief technology officer. (C: Lesley Stahl - P: Rome Hartman)

Security Council to hold ISIS accountable for the genocide of the Yazidid people, a key factor in her recognition via the prestigious award. Pelley first sat down with Murad five years ago in her search for her family who had been taken by ISIS. Since, she has settled in Germany and works with human rights groups. Though typically associated with the 60s counterculture movement, scientists say the drug eases symptoms of depression and anxiety often associated with the two diseases. The drug is administered by doctors in a carefully controlled setting, with patients reporting exceedingly decreased negative symptoms. Studies support the positive impact of the hallucinogenic drug. Includes interviews with patients Carine McLaughlin, Jon Kostakopoulos, and Kerry Pappas; Roland Griffiths and Matthew Johnson, the scientists leading the studies; Mary Cosimano, a guide trained to help patients through their session; and author Michael Pollan; (C: Anderson Cooper – P: Sarah Koch)

As survivors struggle to make sense of the attack, Christian and Muslim neighbors feel compelled to help the recovery process. Stahl speaks with those closest to the event, observing their attempts to heal. Many feel President Trump’s failure to denounce white supremacy has contributed to an increase in hate crimes, including the anti-Semitic attack carried out in Pittsburgh. With the global economy at risk of recession, Lagarde, who led the International Monetary Fund, gives a candid interview covering a range of issues from Brexit to the threat of nationalism. The first woman to head the ECB, Lagarde is unhappy with only two percent of bank presidents being female and suggests a clear correlation between good management and the number of women on executive boards. While she names Trump as a challenge to the global economy, she maintains international trade is the key to cohesive foreign relations and urges policy makers to make a shift towards transparency. - 10/27/19 “Joe Biden” – an interview with former Vice President Joe Biden. The presidential candidate from Delaware speaks about the state of his campaign and other issues including the impeachment inquiry and Facebook. As the race tightens, others running argue his policy proposals are not radical enough and his age will negatively impact his administration. Biden taunts Trump to release his tax returns, while defending his own and son Hunter’s innocence regarding dealings with the Ukraine. He still considers himself the campaign frontrunner. - “The Emerald Triangle” – a report on the legal marijuana business in California. Proving much less profitable than expected due to strict regulations and a thriving black market, farmers now deal with the backlash of the regulated marijuana market. 60 MINUTES spent a week in the Emerald Triangle, where a Mediterranean climate and rich soil famously account for the production of high quality marijuana. Includes a tour of the Flow Cana factory, where the herb is packaged from legal state-regulated farms to be shipped and sold to licensed stores around California. The regulated market amounting to a fraction of what it was predicted to be is due, in part, to Prop 64. Prop 64 gave towns and cities the power to decide whether marijuana businesses can open locally; with eighty percent voting no, the number of stores is very low and licensed stores are rare. While law enforcement attempts to stake out illegal grows, raids have proved inefficient with black market growers replanting immediately. Includes interviews with Mikey Steinmetz, who runs the Flow Kana Factory; Casey O’Neill, owner of a family farm; Mendocino County Sheriff Tom Allman; and Governor Gavin Newsom (D-CA). (See also: “Pot Shops”, OAD: 09/23/07 and “The Pot Vote”, OAD: 10/30/16) (C: Sharyn Alfonsi – P: Guy Campanile)
- “Giant Panda” – a report on the giant panda. Though classified as bears, the pandas don’t hibernate and are virtually vegetarians. Due to its status as China’s beloved national symbol, the country has worked for decades to perfect breeding the bears in captivity. In 2016, the panda’s conservation status was upgraded from endangered to just vulnerable. The partnership between China and America’s Smithsonian National Zoo has brought the giant panda back from near extinction. This research suggests the giant panda can be saved. Includes interviews with Marc Valitutto, a wildlife veterinarian from the Smithsonian Institution on loan to the Chengdu Research base; Doctor Wu Kongju; scientist Hou Rong; and Melissa Songer, a Smithsonian conservation biologist working in China. - 10/05/19 48 HOURS: “The Murder of Kelsey Berreth” – an investigation into the 2018 Thanksgiving Day disappearance and murder of 29-year-old mother Kelsey Berreth. Security footage shows Berreth was last seen alive shopping with her one-year-old daughter on Thanksgiving morning at a local Woodland Park, Colorado Safeway supermarket. The suspect in this crime is the victims’ fiancée Patrick Frazee, who’s currently in jail awaiting trial. Patrick’s secret girlfriend, Krystal Kenney Lee, a former Idaho rodeo queen and nurse, has told authorities she knows how and why Kelsey was killed. Lee told investigators Frazee asked her to kill Berreth with three different plots, but ultimately could not go through with it. At Frazee’s request, Lee drove from Idaho to Berreth’s Woodland Park, Colorado townhouse to clean up the crime scene. According to Lee, Frazee told her he killed Berreth with a baseball bat. In exchange for her testimony, Lee agreed to plead guilty to evidence tampering and will only face a maximum of three years in prison. Lee will be sentenced at the conclusion of Frazee’s trial. Lee’s deal with authorities will be nullified should her testimony prove false in Frazee’s trial. On-screen text graphic: Patrick Frazee’s murder trial is due to begin on October 28th. 48 HOURS: LIVE TO TELL: “The Chowchilla Kidnapping” – on July 15, 1976, 26 children and their bus driver, Ed Ray, were kidnapped as they headed home from Dairyland Elementary School in Chowchilla, California. The three masked kidnapers, one armed, were later identified as: Fred Woods, and brothers James and Richard Schoenfeld. The kidnapers drove the bus to a wooded area where they preceded to unload the bus driver and children into a van that was set up as a makeshift prison. After driving for 12 hours, the van stopped 100 miles away from Chowchilla, at a rock quarry owned by Fred Wood’s father in Livermore, California. The victims were removed one by one from the van and instructed to climb down a ladder to a truck trailer, buried 12 feet underground. The children and Ed emerged from the ground after 16 hours. The motive for the kidnapping was money, despite all three men hailing from wealthy families. All three pleaded guilty to 27 counts of kidnapping for robbery and ransom but each refused to plead guilty to eight counts of bodily harm. On February 17, 1978, the kidnapers were sentenced to life in prison without parole. Four years after the crime, lawyers appealed the finding of bodily harm and the appellate court overturned it, throwing out the sentence. In 2012, 36 years after the kidnapping, Richard Schoenfeld was the first to be granted parole. Three years later James Schoenfeld was paroled. Fred Woods who has repeatedly been caught with pornography and cell phones remains in prison but was up for parole the week of this broadcast. On-screen text graphic: On Tuesday, kidnapper Fred Woods was denied parole. He is eligible for parole again in five years. Interviewed: Jennifer Brown Hyde, Larry Park, Michael Marshall, survivors; Joan Brown, Jennifer’s mother; Sheriff Ed Bates, Madera County, CA; and Prosecutor Jill Klinge, assistant district attorney, Alameda County. 10/19/19

48 HOURS: “good cop / bad cop” – On April 9, 2015, 28-year-old single mother, Heather Bogle was last seen leaving the parking lot after working the night shift at the Whirlpool Corporation in Clyde, Ohio. The day after her disappearance, Heather’s car was located with her body inside the trunk. The cause of death was two shots to the back, penetrating her vital organs. Heather’s hair and fingernails were cut to prevent DNA detection. Sean O’Connell, the lead investigator into Heather’s murder, pursued three innocent people of color: single mother Keyona Bor, Omar Satchel, and Kayree Jeffery – all while the real killer walked free. For over two months, O’Connell tried to push his theory that Keyona, Omar, and Kayree worked together in killing Heather, but DNA found under Heather’s cuticle didn’t match. O’Connell omitted all DNA findings in his reports in seeking an indictment. The Bogle file was turned over to the State Bureau of Investigations and it was discovered O’Connell was attempting to indict innocent people for murder. The Sandusky County Prosecutor opened a criminal investigation which led to O’Connell being charged with misleading a public official and destroying, concealing, and tampering with evidence. The new sheriff of Sandusky County, Chris Hilton, took over the Bogle investigation. After using GPS technology, investigators found an electronic trail of coordinates showing Heather’s exact movement after leaving work. The phone GPS placed Heather in the trailer home of fellow Whirlpool employee, Daniel Myers. Investigators questioned Daniel, who claimed he didn’t know Heather well and declined to provide a DNA sample. The authorities returned with a warrant to collect Myer’s DNA and received confirmation it was a match for DNA found under Heather’s cuticle. Myer’s was arrested and charged with the murder of Heather Bogle. Upon searching his trailer, the police realized they were dealing with a violent sexual predator. Six years prior to Bogle’s murder, Leigh Ann Sluder, Daniels’ ex-girlfriend and mother of his son was found dead by a single gunshot to her chest; authorities in that case ruled it a suicide. Leigh Ann’s sister, Loriann, believes Daniel murdered her sister and is hoping for justice through another victim’s case. Before prosecutors could begin Myer’s trial, they had to publicly discredit the original investigator’s findings. The day before his trial was to start, Sean O’Connell finally admitted to a mistake and plead guilty to one felony count of tampering with evidence by omitting the DNA results which excluded his three suspects and was sentenced to two years in state prison. After failed suicide attempts to delay the start of his trial, Daniel Myer’s plead guilty to Heather Bogle’s murder and was sent to prison for life with no chance of parole. On-screen epilogue: After we finished reporting on this story, Prosecutor Tim Braun was accused of sexual harassment by at least four women who worked with him. A special prosecutor has been assigned to investigate. No conclusions have been reached. No charges have been filed. Interviewed: Chris Hilton, sheriff, Sandusky County, Ohio; Sean O’Connell, lead investigator of the Heather Bogle investigation; Tim Braun, prosecutor, Sandusky County, Ohio; Matt Westerhold, managing editor, Sandusky Register; Keyona Bor, suspect; and Leigh Ann Sluder’s sister Loriann Hayley. - 10/26/19 48 HOURS: “A Death in Payson Canyon” (9:00 – 10:00p) – a report the 2017 death by suicide of 16-year-old teenager Jhandra Brown and the discovery that her friend Tyerell Przybycian, who had many opportunities to stop her, helped her complete the act instead. After moving from Idaho to Utah, Brown became depressed and started getting into trouble at school. Brown was discovered dead in the woods in Payson Canyon, Utah after not returning home from work one day. The scene initially looked like a clear-cut case of suicide. Then, police found a video on Brown’s cell phone of the suicide, shot by someone else. During the search of the area, Przybycian approached police saying he wanted to explain what happened. He said he was merely helping Brown do what she wanted to do. At the time, there was no law against assisting a person in a suicide. Detectives later discovered new evidence, such as a text Przybycian sent to a friend saying, “it’s like getting away with murder,” and prosecutors charged him with first-degree murder. As the trial approached, Przybycian was charged with witness tampering after urging friends not to testify. He asked for a deal and eventually pleaded guilty to child abuse/homicide and received a sentence of 5 years to life. A law was passed in Utah which considers assisting in a suicide to be manslaughter. On-screen text graphic: If you are thinking about suicide or know someone who is, please call the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline 1-800-273-8255. - 10/26/19 48 HOURS: “Who Wanted Howard Pilmar Dead?” (10:00 – 11:00p) – In March 1996, Howard Pilmar, a successful businessman, was found murdered in the headquarters of his office supply and coffee shop in New York City. Howard’s body was found in a large pool of blood on the fourth floor offices of King Office Supply; he was stabbed over forty times. There was no sign of a forced entry and nothing was taken from his wallet. Investigators couldn’t figure out who would have a motive. During the early stages of the investigation, police questioned Evan Wald, Howards’ brother-in-law; they noticed cuts on his left hand and that he was asking questions about the security system at King Office Supply. Police then looked at Roslyn, Howard’s wife, who inherited more than $1 million in life insurance, real estate holdings, plus the family business that was started by Howard’s father. Roslyn worked as a dental assistant and bookkeeper for sixteen years; police discovered she embezzled hundreds of thousands of dollars from her former employer, Dr. Stanley Weinstock. Roslyn was under pressure to pay back the stolen money, and almost fifteen thousand dollars to New York State in back taxes. The police continued to investigate without cooperation from Roslyn. The NYPD put posters up asking the public for help in solving this case. The posters kept disappearing and through surveillance footage it was discovered that Evan and his sister Janna were tearing down the posters. A year after the murder, Roslyn was arrested for embezzlement and plead guilty; she was given probation after paying back the money. In 1999, Evan Wald was ordered to submit a blood sample. Evan Wald’s blood was a match to a blood drop found near Howard’s body. This was still not enough for prosecutors, so the case remained unsolved. Manhattan prosecutors spent four years reviewing evidence and searching for new witnesses. On August 15, 2017, Roslyn Pilmar and Evan Wald were arrested for the murder of Howard Pilmar. Twenty-three years later, Roslyn and Evan were found guilty of second-degree murder; in July 2019, they were both sentenced to twenty-five years to life. On-screen text graphic: Roslyn Pilmar and Evan Wald are appealing the verdict. Interviewed: Carol Pilmar, Howard’s stepmother; Frank Pilmar, Howard’s father; Ron Tucker, King Office Supply salesman; Roger Parrino, Midtown South detective; Janna Wald, Roslyn Pilmar and Evan Wald’s sister; Rhonda Pilmar Cooper and Heather Pilmar, Howards’ sister’s; Neal Klein, Dr. Stanley Weinstock’s accountant; Daniel Gotlin, Evan Wald’s attorney; Sam Talkin, Roslyn Pilmar’s attorney; and Sam Resnicow and Ryan Smith, jurors, Pilmar-Wald trial. “Maria Butina” – an interview with Maria Butina, the woman infamously charged with acting as an agent of the Russian government in the events leading up to the 2016 election. While interviewed in the Florida prison where she was held before deportation, Butina argued an American prejudice towards Russians. Butina claims she started a group in Moscow seeking second amendment rights in Russia, though it is believed she was planted by the Putin government to infiltrate the NRA. While in the United States, Butina held conferences, staged rallies, and organized meetings between NRA members and Russian officials. U.S. prosecutors believe a Russian official, Alexander Torshin, directed her activities in America – confirmed by thousands of seemingly incriminating private Twitter messages the pair sent over the course of two years. Butina claims she did not seek to interfere in American politics, yet a week after Trump’s election, asserted her influence over a cabinet choice. After arriving back in Moscow, she attempted to shift the focus, giving interviews about the poor conditions of her incarceration. Includes an interview with John C. Demers, Assistant Attorney General for National Security. (C: Lesley Stahl – P: E. Alexandra Poolos)

“The Battle of Brexit” – a report on Brexit, with explanation of historical context and key figures. In June 2016, British voters decided to exit the European Union. This past Thursday, the deadline to leave passed without resolution. With no clear exit strategy, the government is in disarray and Prime Ministers have changed frequently. In 1973, Britain became part of the European Union, a single market with no borders, tariffs, or customs; yet, ambivalence towards continental Europe from the British is deep rooted. Boris Johnson, ending his tenure as Mayor of London, is at the forefront of the issue and maintains they will exit with or without a resolution. Many feel Speaker John Bercow has modernized his position by moving away from the more traditional role of neutral referee to consistently ruling against the ‘brexiteers.’ While many feel he is unjust, he argues otherwise. After ten years in office, Bercow resigned and though Johnson promised no further delays, the status of the U.K. remains undetermined. Includes interviews with John Bercow, former Speaker of Parliament; Paul Joy, a pro-Brexit fisherman; Matthew Perris, a Times of London columnist; Nigel Farage, the ‘godfather of Brexit’; and Gina Miller, a prominent London businesswoman who led legal challenges against the government. (C: Jon Wertheim – P: Michael H. Gavshon)

“The Wright Way” – a report on the Wright family, called the first family of American rodeo. With nine members who rank among the best in the world and five world titles between them, the Wrights compete in what many consider to be the last blue-collar sport in America. Rodeo began as an event called saddle bronc in the old west. The goal is to remain, for eight seconds, on a randomly paired horse trained to dismount the rider. While the nature of the sport promotes intense competitiveness, the Wrights maintain an emphasis on family. Cody Wright started the family dynasty twenty years ago and is a two-time world champion. In describing his technique for riding, Cody likens it to a dance where control is needed to deal with the adrenaline and fear which comes with each ride. Team Wright has qualified for the biggest rodeo competition, the National Finals Rodeo in Las Vegas, for the last fifteen years. But winning comes at a price; the job is very dangerous and there is no big money to be made. The family works the same land in Southern Utah they have for the last century and a half, defining their lives by hard work. Includes interviews with Bill and Evelyn Wright, parents; Cody, Jake, Jesse, Alex, Calvin, Stuart, and Spenser Wright; Coburn Bradshaw, brother-in-law; and Ryder, Rusty, Stetson, and Statler Wright, Cody’s sons. - 11/10/19 “Jamie Dimon” – an interview with Jamie Dimon, the CEO of JPMorgan Chase, covering his views on the political climate, state of the economy, and the history of the financial industry. Dimon believes Elizabeth Warren’s criticism of Wall Street executives during her presidential campaign is divisive. He emphasizes his belief that his success is entirely attributable to hard work. He believes American consumers are unconcerned about stagnant wages and declining manufacturing and are driving a strong global economy. Dimon rejects the idea that his bank bears responsibility for the 2008 financial crisis, blaming government policy instead. He briefly considered running for president but decided against it. Dimon acknowledges that the growing wage gap between executives and workers is a real issue but does not believe the solution is reducing his own salary. In 2018, JPMorgan Chase made $32 billion in profits. (C: Lesley Stahl – P: Richard Bonin)
- “Dimon in Detroit” – a report on JPMorgan Chase’s investment strategy in Detroit. The bank targeted Detroit after the city filed for bankruptcy, in an attempt to explore philanthropic investment strategy aimed at addressing urban poverty. Chase shared the same financial analytics used to advise corporations with the municipal government of Detroit, encouraging the government to seek efficient solutions to urban problems. The first project was to catalogue abandoned properties and invest to convert them into affordable housing units. Other investors were involved with development of downtown, so Chase focused on the most run-down neighborhoods. As their program has grown, they have worked with over 5,000 local businesses and non-profit organizations, steering loans towards minority entrepreneurs who may not otherwise qualify. Chase is expanding the program to Chicago and Washington D.C. Includes interviews with Mike Duggan, Mayor of Detroit; and Sonya Mays, CEO of the Housing Partnership Network. (C: Lesley Stahl – P: Richard Bonin)
- “Targeting the Truth” – an interview with Maria Ressa, a journalist in the Philippines. Ressa details the oppressive regime of President Rodrigo Duterte that threatens violence against the press and creates a constant sense of danger. Ressa was named the Time magazine person of the year for her reporting on Duterte’s aggressive drug war, under threats of prison and violence. She has been arrested twice. Ressa says she will not be intimidated out of her battle for truth in the Philippines. Salvador Panelo, a presidential spokesman claims that criticisms of Duterte’s drug war are exaggerated. Ressa’s website has reported Duterte’s administration has killed over 20,000 people in the drug war, while the administration claims only 5,000. In the last 3 years, a dozen journalists in the Philippines have been shot or beaten to death, and Ressa has been dismissed as “fake news” by Duterte. - 11/17/19 “Red Flag” – a report on Red Flag laws, first proposed in Congress and now adopted by 12 states, which allows the state to confiscate firearms from someone exhibiting threatening behavior. The law was born out of an increased focus on gun violence, with 366 mass shootings in the last year, and the movement for gun reform which has been building since the Sandy Hook shooting in 2012. Though the laws have been ruled constitutional, critics say they are ineffective because they do not address mental health and believe they are a violation of Second Amendment rights. Includes interviews with Tony Spurlock, Douglas County Sheriff in Denver, Colorado; Josh Horowitz, one of the law’s authors; Mark Dreher, a father who believes the law could have prevented his son’s death; Steve Wells, a rancher against the law; and Sheriff Steve Reams and Sheriff Bill Elder, law enforcement from Colorado who oppose the law. (C: Scott Pelley – P: Ashley Velie)
- “Into the Deep” – a report on nodules, rocks that contain essential minerals to build supercomputers, cell phones, and electric cars. Nodules form when shells or rocks on the ocean floor absorb metals from seawater. The minerals contained have an estimated net worth of $16 trillion. The process for collecting nodules is referred to as “harvesting” as opposed to “mining” as no robots, drilling, or digging will be used. The United States is not among the many countries preparing to harvest these minerals due to a failure to ratify a U.N. deep sea mining treaty. Those in favor of the U.S. ratifying the treaty say the country will end up reliant on China, which has the most comprehensive harvesting strategy, as these minerals become increasingly essential. Includes interviews with Gerard Barron, CEO of Deepgreen Metals; Warwick Miller, a geologist; Kris Van Nijen, managing director of Global Sea Mineral Resources; Dr. Craig Smith, an oceanographer at the University of Hawaii; and Jonathan White, a retired rear admiral who runs a non-profit to protect oceans. (C: Bill Whitaker – P: Heather Abbott)
- “The Youngest Refugees” – a report from Jordan on the Syrian child refugee crisis. Half of six million Syrian refugees – and of all refugees worldwide – are children. In spite of this, only 2% of all refugee funding goes to education. Sesame Workshop and the International Rescue Committee, a refugee non-profit founded by Albert Einstein, have partnered to develop a version of Sesame Street aimed directly at Syrian child refugees called “Ahlan Simsim.” The show focuses on emotions such as fear, loneliness, anger, and determination while teaching coping mechanisms. It will begin airing in February in 20 countries. Includes interviews with Laila Hussein, guide an I.R.C. Coordinator; David Miliband, head of the International Rescue Committee; Scott Cameron, “Ahlan Simsim” showrunner and Sesame Street producer; a family of Syrian refugees who live in a camp; and a family who live in a tent settlement outside the refugee camp. “The Russian Hack” – a report on Russian interference in the 2016 American election. A cyber-attack on the Democratic Party and its candidates in 2016 resulted in the theft of millions of documents that were strategically dumped to influence the outcome of the presidential and congressional elections. While President Trump claims the attack was launched by Ukraine, the Muller Report clearly explained how the attack came from Russia. After acquiring documents, Russian agents used an online persona, Guccifer 2.0, to leak those documents to Trump operative Roger Stone and WikiLeaks founder Julian Assange. The document theft was a well planned and executed military cyberattack, according to the Justice Department. The release of the documents was often targeted to specific swing areas such as contested congressional districts in Florida. Includes interviews with Robert Anderson, leader of the FBI’s Counterintelligence and Cyber Divisions; John Demers, the Assistant Attorney General for National Security Division; Kelly Ward Burton, former Executive Director of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee; Annette Taddeo, a hacked politician; and Mark Caputo, a senior Politico reporter. (C: Bill Whitaker – P: Graham Messick)

“Tania’s Story” – an interview with Tania Avalos, the wife and mother of Oscar and Valeria Avalos, who were found dead on the banks of the Rio Grande at the Mexico-United States border. Avalos and her family fled rampant violence and poverty in El Salvador and were seeking asylum in the United States. When a gang demanded a large sum of money for the group to continue their journey, they had to decide whether or not to push forward. They chose to attempt to cross the river, 50 yards wide, though they were unable to swim due to rough conditions. The image of Oscar and Valeria became the symbol of the crisis at the border and prompted a rushed funding package from Congress to address conditions at facilities at the border. However, in the months since, no additional legislation has passed, and an additional 52 migrant bodies have washed up on the riverbank. Avalos says her family was only looking for a better life. (C: Sharyn Alfonsi – P: Guy Campanile)

“Mind Reading” – a report on new research and technologies allowing scientists to observe the physical action that takes place inside the brain when we think. Functional MRI scanning can observe neuron activity in the brain, and scientists have begun to study that activity – finding patterns in human brains related to different emotions. Research showed that those patterns remained consistent across language divides. Scientists wonder if these patterns can be recoded and have been researching how the discovered patterns may differ in people with autism or those contemplating suicide. Includes interviews with Marcel Just, a neuroscientist; Jamie Woods, 60 MINUTES associate producer; David Brent, a psychiatrist at the University of Pittsburgh; Matt Nock, a Harvard Professor; and Dan Toski, a former patient of Brent’s clinic. 48 HOURS: “The Disappearance of Kelly Dwyer” – In October 2013, Kelly Dwyer vanished after a night out in Milwaukee. After failing to report for work on October 12th, concerned co-workers attempted to call and check her social media accounts. Investigators learned Dwyer’s phone was dead, her social media accounts down, and debit card unused. Dwyer was last seen on October 10th, entering her boyfriend Kris Zocco’s apartment. Zocco told investigators he and Dwyer engaged in drug use, sex, and then both passed out. Zocco says Dwyer left his apartment the next morning around 9am, though security footage shows otherwise. After finding drugs in his apartment, Zocco was arrested for drug possession. While in custody, the police obtained a warrant for his cell phone and found disturbing pictures of Dwyer and video of Zocco engaged in a sex act where Dwyer appears to be in distress. Although considered a person of interest, Zocco could still only be charged with drug possession. On a second search of his apartment, a police cadaver dog alerted them to odor of decomposing human remains. In a spare bedroom, the police found a hard drive containing child pornography and were able to arrest him again. Zocco was convicted of possession of child pornography, plead guilty to additional drug charges, and was sentenced 19 years. A year and a half after Dwyer vanished, her remains were discovered by a local man on a deserted road about 45 miles west of Milwaukee. Five years after Dwyer vanished, Zocco went on trial and was charged with first-degree reckless homicide, hiding a corpse, and strangulation and suffocation. After nine days of testimony, Zocco was found guilty on all charges and sentenced to thirty-one years in addition to his 19-year sentence. On-screen text graphic: Kris Zocco will be eligible for release in 2065. He will be 90 years old. Zocco plans to appeal his homicide conviction. 48 HOURS: “The Twisted Case of Angie Dodge” - an updated and retitled rebroadcast on the 1996 death of Angie Dodge; the unusual circumstances in which Michael Usry, Jr., a filmmaker and producer of a short film about a brutal death, became a suspect in the case; and the approach police took to try to find a DNA match through the Ancestry.com database. In 1996, Idaho Falls teenager Angie Dodge was brutally murdered. The killer left behind semen, which police tested against the DNA of men she knew. While Christopher Tapp’s DNA did not match, after 28 hours of interrogation over 23 days, Tapp confessed to being present when she was killed and stated one of the participants was a man named Mike. Tapp was convicted of killing Dodge, but the case remained open because his DNA was not a match. In 2014, police searched a public database which had been bought by Ancestry.com, hoping to find a match through familial searching; though unorthodox, the same method had been used to capture the Golden State Killer in California. The partial match first led to the anonymous donor, Michael Usry, Sr. and secondly to his son, Michael Usry, Jr. Despite the close DNA match and the matching first name, Usry Jr. had nothing to do with the death and was officially cleared. Usry Jr. decided to make a documentary and was joined by Angie’s mother, Carol Dodge. They believed Tapp was innocent and their work led to an eventual review of the case, which resulted in Tapp being able to accept a plea deal; he was released from prison after twenty years. UPDATE: On May 16, 2019, Chief Bryce Johnson announced the arrest of Brian Dripps, who had lived across the street from Angie Dodge at the time of her murder. Christopher Tapp has been fully exonerated. Original on-screen text graphic: Carol Dodge met with detectives this week and continues to push them to find her daughter’s killer. 48 HOURS: “The Doctor’s Daughter” (9:00 – 10:00p) - an investigation into the 2012 death of Leslie Neulander, the wife of Dr. Robert Neulander, a prominent New York State obstetrician, and the quest to discover whether her death was an accident or murder. Leslie suffered a massive head wound while showering, but her body was found on the bedroom floor, near the bed and far from the shower. The Medical Examiner ruled the death accidental, but investigators suspected her husband. The couple’s daughter, Jenna, was the only other person in the home at the time and made the 911 call to summon help. The investigation uncovered a troubled marriage, suggestions of a pending split, and declining finances. Eighteen months after Leslie’s death, her husband was charged with her murder. The defense maintained the Neulander’s had a loving marriage and Leslie had died from injuries sustained in the shower fall. Prosecutors say it was murder and the doctor covered up the crime. The science of blood spatter and the 911 call for help became focal points in the trial. Jenna testified in her father’s defense, but Robert Neulander was found guilty. 48 Hours: “Maria Spencer’s Vow to Kill” (10:00 – 11:00p) – The story of Frank Spencer, a beloved businessman who was shot twice and found in his Bloomsburg, Pennsylvania home, in July 2012. After not hearing from Frank, Joe Yodock became concerned and decided to check on his friend. Once Yodock arrived at the home, he found his friend’s body. Due to their tumultuous relationship, friends of Frank immediately suspected his ex-wife Maria Spencer. Frank had filed for divorce in 2006 and tried unsuccessfully to co-parent with Maria. In 2008, after a fight with Frank’s mother at her daughter’s school, Maria was arrested and charged with disorderly conduct, harassment, and child endangerment. After pleading guilty, Maria repeatedly made open threats to kill Frank. Frank documented the threats but didn’t pursue them with authorities. In 2009, while going through divorce proceedings, Frank began a relationship with Julie Dent. Maria continued and shifted her harassment towards Julie. The situation became more alarming after Maria’s father, Rocco Franklin, was released from prison. After a break-in at Frank’s junkyard, many believed Maria and Rocco were to blame. Both were interviewed, but ultimately the district attorney felt there was not enough evidence to prosecute. Maria continued to harass Frank and Julie and, suspiciously, Frank’s mother’s house was set on fire. Friends couldn’t locate Frank and feared he was inside the home. Though it was rumored Maria was seen by friends smiling at the scene, but the fire was ruled undetermined. Months later, another incident involving fire took place; this time, it was ruled an arson. In 2012, Frank and Maria Spencer’s divorce was published in the local paper. The next day he was dead. Authorities investigated the murder scene, finding DNA evidence belonging to Maria and other clues they thought may implicate Rocco. After checking security cameras, police found footage of his truck driving away moments after his murder. Frank’s truck was found in 27 miles away from his house – just five miles from where Maria was currently living. Two months after the murder, authorities spoke with Maria and Rocco. While Maria refused and Rocco agreed, but Rocco tried to sell a ridiculous story in an attempt to seem inculpable. In 2013, the district attorney convened a grand jury and questioned both suspects. Maria was charged with Frank’s murder, 12 counts of perjury, and dozens of other crimes. A warrant was issued and in July 2014 she was arrested. A warrant was issued for Rocco Franklin, but he fled to South America before he could be arrested. After a nine-day trial in the fall of 2015, Maria Spencer was found guilty on all counts: for murdering Frank Spencer and for the two arsons, the burglary, 12 counts of perjury, conspiracy, and terroristic threats. She was sentenced to life without parole plus 50 years. In 2017, after fighting extradition from South America for a year-and-a-half, Rocco finally returned to the United States to stand trial. In 2018, he was convicted of Frank’s murder, the burglary, and the arson at Frank’s mother’s house. He was sentenced to life plus 45 years. On-screen text graphic: After Maria’s arrest, Frankie and Cyrus Spencer were raised by Maria’s sister. Frank’s dog Mutley is alive and well. 48 HOURS: “Justice for Kelsey Berreth” – a follow-up report on ‘The Murder of Kelsey Berreth,’ featuring the evidence and trial which led to the conviction of Patrick Frazee for the 2018 Thanksgiving Day murder of his fiancée. Newly released Thanksgiving Day images show Frazee and Berreth at her door with the baby after returning from the store. A later image shows Frazee in that same location alone. Security footage shows Berreth was last seen alive shopping with her one-year-old daughter on Thanksgiving morning at a local Woodland Park, Colorado Safeway supermarket. Frazee’s secret girlfriend, Krystal Kenney Lee, a former Idaho rodeo queen and nurse has told authorities she knows how and why Berreth was killed. Lee told investigators Frazee asked her to kill Berreth with three different plots, but ultimately could not go through with it. According to Lee, Frazee told her he invited Berreth to play a guess what game with candles. He blindfolded, took a baseball bat, and “went to swinging.” After killing Berreth on Thanksgiving Day, he put her body in a black tote. Surveillance footage shows Frazee at an ATM with a black tote in the back of his truck. At Frazee’s request, Lee drove from Idaho to Berreth’s Woodland Park, Colorado townhouse to clean up the crime scene. Lee took investigators to Berreth’s apartment and Frazee’s ranch; she shared details regarding how she cleaned up the crime scene, where Berreth’s body was burned, and how she got rid of evidence. In December 2018, Frazee was arrested and charged with Kelsey’s murder. At trial, the prosecutors had no physical evidence which tied Frazee to Berreth’s murder, so the case rested solely on Lee’s testimony. An inmate at the same prison as Frazee, who watched a previous 48 HOURS episode on Kelsey’s murder reached out to investigators. He said Frazee gave him a hit list with the names of certain witnesses (Krystal Kenney Lee, Michelle Stein, and Chery Berreth) who needed to disappear. The defense called no witnesses and Frazee chose not to testify. After a 3 ½ hour deliberation, the jury unanimously found Frazee guilty of 1st degree murder and sentenced him to life in prison plus 156 years. In exchange for her testimony, Lee agreed to plead guilty to evidence tampering and will face a maximum of three years in prison. On-screen text graphic: A custody hearing is scheduled for 2-year-old Kaylee on December 5. Kelsey’s parents hope to adopt her. 48 HOURS: “Mandy Stavik: The Case No One Could Forget” – an investigation into the 1989 cold case of murdered college student, Mandy Stavik. Stavik left her Acme, Washington home for a run with her dog on November 24, 1989. Stavik did not return. After a three-day search, Stavik’s body was found in the Nooksack River. Male DNA was recovered during an autopsy, indicating a sexual assault; but upon testing, no matches were found. The case remained unsolved until after almost twenty-five years, when investigators discovered a new suspect. In 2013, Heather Backstrom and Merrilee Anderson, two mothers, were intrigued by the Stavik murder case. Separately, both women had long suspected the same man, Tim Bass, but kept their suspicions quiet. Each of the women had past experiences with Bass which had left them terrified, so Backstrom and Anderson decided to share their stories with investigators. In 1989, Bass lived less than two miles from Stavik’s house, right along her running route. During the original murder investigation, no one in the Bass household was questioned about Mandy’s murder. The police visited Bass to question him and he initially pretended he didn’t remember Stavik, but he later told police he recalled playing with her. When asked to submit a DNA sample to police, Bass declined. The police decided to set up a surveillance team to follow him all night long on his bakery delivery route, hoping he would throw away an item with DNA on it. Still unsure, the police wanted to cast a wider net of potential suspects to be sure they were on the right path. They contacted the bakery where Bass worked and spoke with his boss, Kim Wagner. Wagner agreed to assist the police and gave them DNA evidence he discarded: saliva from a cup. Three months later, the state crime lab confirmed Bass’s DNA was a match. On December 12, 2017, twenty-seven years after Stavik was found dead, Bass was arrested and charged with kidnapping, rape and murder. Twenty-nine years and six months to the day since Stavik was killed, Bass was convicted of her murder, rape, and kidnapping. He was given the maximum sentence – nearly twenty-seven years. On-screen text graphic: Tim Bass could be eligible for parole in twenty-four years. A scholarship fund has been set up in Mandy’s name at Mt. Baker High. Molly named her daughter after her sister Mandy. Interviewed: Det. Kevin Bowhay, Det. Ken Gates, and retired Det.
