Series Review

Title: Curiosity Quest

Episodes reviewed: 1

Program length: 30 minutes

Curiosity Quest features stories/topics that are generated by young viewers' questions, which are sent in to the host, Joel Greene, via e-mail. In this program, Joel Greene reviews and chooses a question from the many questions sent in by young viewers, and then plans a "field trip" to a place where that question can be answered.

Joel Greene begins the segment by reading a viewer's question and then explains where they will be going in order to answer that question, hence the name "Curiosity Quest". This segment's question was about how sea animals are fed. Greene explains to the audience that in order to answer this question they will be taking a trip to the Monterey Bay Aquarium in Monterey, California. Greene is an entertaining and exciting host, who adds humor whenever there is an opportunity to do so. He talks with different professionals throughout the aquarium, asking them questions not only about how sea animals are fed, but also about many other topics pertaining to sea animal life. Throughout the segment, children and adults who are visiting the aquarium are asked questions about specific topics having to do with sea animal life and some answers are accurate, while others are very amusing.

As Greene asks questions to each of the professionals who work at the aquarium, more topics arise, such as animal health care, identification of bird species, food preparation for various types of animals and a variety of other interesting and educational facts and information. Each professional's role at the aquarium is very important to the well being of the animals that are there and the whole experience of running an aquarium. The format of this series is youth centered and educationally based, while remaining entertaining and interesting throughout the entire segment.

The specific topic in this particular episode could be used to embellish a middle or high school marine biology or environmental studies class. Unless a video is truly educationally worthy, watching videos in classrooms is no longer an acceptable activity in most schools and districts throughout the country. Curiosity Quest is a show that would be acceptable and appropriate for student viewing in a variety of educational settings. This would also include home schooling, as well as parent/child TV watching for pleasure.

Thinking about careers is very important for students. In fact, high school seniors are encouraged to have a major in mind, as well as a possible future profession by the time they leave high school. This series exposes students to a variety of possible jobs and career paths for their future. Lastly, Curiosity Quest emphasizes how professionals work together to get a job done. This supports the need for being able to work as a team, which begins in kindergarten curriculum and continues through 12th grade.
