The Gateway is located right next to the homeless shelter and the Rio Grande district which is home to a major drug problem and many shoppers don’t want to be near that area. They claim their father abused them physically, emotionally, and mentally. The girls were found living with their mom in Pleasant Grove. D.A. Stands by Justified Ruling in Shooting (aired 1/12/2016 @7pm for 1 minute 45 seconds) – Salt Lake County District Attorney Sim Gill said that his office made no "substantive change" to the last year's conclusion that use of force in the officer involved shooting of James Barker was justified. Video released Friday prompted the D.A.'s office to reexamine the case after allegations were made that Salt Lake City Police Officer Matthew Taylor may have shot Barker while he lay handcuffed on the ground. But, District Attorney Gill presented another video that had not been previously released, showing a clearer view of the same scene. A federal indictment said it was the same day, or near the same day, that Henderson committed new federal crimes: "felon in possession of a firearm, and possession of a firearm." On Nov. 4, 2015, the board held a parole hearing for Henderson, which led to his prison release on Dec. 8. Instead, Henderson was paroled and ended up walking away from a treatment center weeks before the fatal shooting. Salt Lake police have declined to release body camera footage of the shooting of 17-year-old Abdullahi Mohamed in the Rio Grande District, citing the need to protect the investigative process. However, Salt Lake Mayor Jackie Biskupski told media she saw the video, and that alone, is reason enough to release it to the public, according to Chris Burbank, who served as Salt Lake's police chief for nine years.
