|---------|-------------|---------|----------|--------------------|------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 26.1 | Environment | 7:54 AM | 1/3/2024 | 117 seconds | 7AM CW | Rather than placing your live Christmas tree at the curb for the regular waste pickup, the City of Dayton along with other communities, offer a curbside pickup so that the used Christmas trees are brought to a green facility. The tree is then chopped up and shredded to be used for mulch. The service gives the customer an easy way to throw away their trees, and the city is keeping a green thumb instead of contributing to large landfill piles. |

|----------------|----------------|-------------|-------------|---------------------------|-------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 26.1 | Community | 10:15 PM | 3/5/2024 | 160 seconds | 10PM CW WDTN | In March, we are honoring the remarkable women in the area. Amanda Delotelle is the Executive Director and Co-founder of Miami Valley Meals. Her organization takes donated food and turns it into nourishing meals for those experiencing food insecurity since 2000. They currently have about 45 active nonprofit partners that come to pickup approximately 4000 meals each week to distribute to the community. Amanda says her love for Dayton and the people within it are what keeps her motivated. |
| 26.1 | Women's Issues | 8:35 AM | 3/8/2024 | 95 seconds | 8AM CW | As Ohio's March Primary Election nears, the community is reminded the connection between women's rights and voting rights runs deep in Dayton and the Miami Valley. |
