26.1 Crime	10pm	10/29/2017	105 seconds	2 News at 10pm on Dayton's CW	On a dreary, gray Sunday President Trump stayed inside the White House but was active on Twitter, venting broadly about the Russia investigation blaming Democrats for "witch hunt for evil politics." Washington, a town that thrives on being in-the-know waits for Special Counsel Robert Mueller's first indictment. The big unknowns, who has Mueller targeted and for what kind of alleged crime? Those under scrutiny are former Campaign Chairman Paul Manafort and former National Security Adviser Michael Flynn. Both Manafort and Flynn have denied any wrongdoing.
26.1 Crime	7am	11/23/2017	90 seconds	2 News Today on Dayton's CW	More officers on the street is a big priority for the Springfield Police Department. The department will be down 20 positions by January 1st. Captain Lee Graf says seven of those positions are new. The department is reinstating its "Safe Streets" Task Force, which will allow officers to focus on street-level drug and violent crime an focus on Neighborhoods' specific needs. With new hires, Captain Graf says he expects the "Safe Streets" Task Force to be out on patrol by warm weather.

26.1	Crime	10PM	12/13/2017	150 seconds	2 News at 10pm on Dayton's CW	A search is on across the Ohio and possibly the Midwest. A 14-year-old pregnant teen is missing. US Marshalls believe the pregnant teenager is with a violent fugitive who is also her Mother's cousin. Police believe 33-year-old Louis Jakab is the father of the baby and record shows he has a lengthy criminal history, serving time for manslaughter as well as other crimes. The two were last seen in an Audi A3 with a license plate HED3844. Brunswick police say Jakab took the care for test drive from a Brunswick lot in October and hasn't been back since. Annalys Clay is a 14-year-old girl with Red hair and Hazel eyes, is about 5 feet 5 inches tall and weighs about 125 pounds. Louis Jakab stands 6 feet 2 inches tall, and weighs 210 pounds, he is bald with green eyes.
26.1	Health/Healthcare	7am	10/20/2017	90 seconds	2 News Today on Dayton's CW	Ohio is the first State in the Nation to use an enhanced prescription reporting system. It's a tool that can raise red flags, with the ultimate goal of chipping away drug addiction. Ohio has monitored prescription information since 2006 and with an increase in overdoses, an update will hit the shelves this November. The program can now calculate overdose risk and provide treatment options if any ref flags pop up. The upgrade comes as all eyes look to Ohio to find a way to fight back against addiction.

26.1	Health/Healthcare	10pm	11/2/2017	90 seconds	2 News at 10pm on Dayton's CW	The concept of healthcare for all and the single payer system have been talked about at the federal level, now they will talk about it here in Ohio. Democrat State Representatives Teresa Fedor and Bernadine Kennedy Kent are making it their mission to solve the problems with Healthcare in Ohio. Republican State Representative Stephen Huffman has practiced medicine for 25 years and agrees that healthcare is not where it needs to be right now, but that's where their shared opinion ends. Some feel that a single payer system will let us negotiate as a state, but others feel a one payer system would decrease the quality of healthcare in Ohio. Flu season is arriving early this year and it's hitting hard. The Ohio Health Department has elevated flu activity to "widespread", the highest level. Last year Ohio didn't reach "widespread" until mid-January. Recent data shows there were 144 flu-related hospitalizations in one week, compared to 29 during the same week last year. Emergency Medicine Physician, Dr. Christopher Huelsman says one reason for that is this year's flu strand is a lot more infectious.
26.1	Health/Healthcare	10pm	12/18/2017	135 seconds	2 News at 10pm on Dayton's CW
26.1	Economy	10pm	10/16/2017	80 seconds	2 News at 10pm on Dayton's CW	The White House Economic Advisors said the Republican Tax Reform Plan would benefit American workers. The new White House Report said cutting corporate tax to 20% would give the average household an extra $4000 every year. Congressman Tim Ryan of Ohio says it doesn't work that way. Senator Chuck Schumer called it "fake math" on twitter. Congressman Steve Stivers believes that tax cuts will generate economic growth and that Ohio business owners are urging him to give them a tax break. Rep. Steve Stivers (R-OH) says the House, Senate and Potus are on the same sheet with the same goal moving forward in the same direction. So far the plan has no Democratic support.

						In Harrison Township, County Officials said water consumption is down and so is revenue. Joe Tuss, Montgomery County Environmental Services, said, "one thing we specially tried to do, is give the economy and our residents and homeowners, the opportunity to have really low, solid low and steady rates as the economy recovered. According to the County, water rates have increased just over one percent each year since 2010, with the average increase in the State of Ohio being four percent. Rates will go up 14 percent in 2018 and for the next 4 years rates will increase by more than 5 percent. The plants are older now and they want to replace sewer lines at the waste treatment plant, a project that could cost up to 85 million dollars.
26.1	Economy	10pm	11/16/2017	110 seconds	2 News at 10pm on Dayton's CW
26.1	Economy	7am	12/4/2017	90 seconds	2 News Today on Dayton's CW	The Senate approved a Tax Cut Bill over the weekend, during an early Saturday morning vote. The bill passed the Senate largely on party lines and opinions are split evenly. The Tax Cuts and Jobs Act now must be reconciled with the Tax Bill the House passed in November. Talks about merging the bills come as congress faces a deadline. If lawmakers can't pass spending legislation, not related to the tax bills by Friday, there may be a Government shutdown and there's a chance Republicans will need some Democratic votes to prevent that.

				2 News at 10pm on Dayton's CW	In a 4 to 1 vote, Trotwood City Council voted to impose a 6-month moratorium on Medical Marijuana. Residents on both sides of the issue are now speaking up, saying it could bring jobs to the area, but others say, there's too much of a stigma associated with the drug. Council members are pressing pause on Medical Marijuana and using the next 6-months to research the issue further and see if it's a good fit for Trotwood. Survey results of about 200 people show 78 percent would support having a Medical Marijuana Cultivator in Trotwood, 21 percent said no. Residents on both sides agree that Trotwood needs jobs, and Mayor Mary McDonald says that has been her focus since day one.
26.1 Employment	10p	10/25/2017	115 seconds	2 News at 10pm on Dayton's CW	The Medical Marijuana facility planned for Dayton would open in a vacant building on Valley Street. Mabeline Horn lives near the proposed Medical Marijuana facility says that it might help some people and some people it may not. Mabeline has in the area for 8 years and the Medical Marijuana facility would be a block from her home, says her biggest concern is traffic. the 11 growers will have to wait nine months until an inspection before they can start growing. Steve Ashcraft also lives near the proposed site and is looking forward to the boost in possible jobs, especially in a building that has been vacant.

26.1	Employment	10p	12/13/2017	120 seconds	2 News at 10pm on Dayton's CW	The Village of Yellow Springs will be the first community in Ohio to start building a Medical Marijuana Cultivation Facility. Cresco Labs CEO Charles Bachtell says they've been looking at Ohio's Medical Marijuana program for about a year and they wanted to settle down in a community that wanted the industry. The Village of Yellow Springs just happened to be the perfect partner for Cresco Labs. The feeling hasn't always been mutual for residents. One resident said "I love this place. it's my home. I don't want it here. I don't care if it's legal in Ohio." But beyond the moral debate, this industry is about jobs. Miami Township is the latest community to ban Medical Marijuana Cultivation in their Community.
26.1	Politics	10p	10/25/2017	126 seconds	2 News at 10pm on Dayton's CW	President Trump claims the Republican Party is united, even after scathing attacks by retiring G-O-P Senators Jeff Flake and Bob Corker. Tonight a victory lap from the President, as a brewing "Republican Resistance" simply hasn't materialized yet, and day after two retiring republicans slammed the President's character. Cruz said, "we have a job to do, dammit and so all of this nonsense, I got nothing to say on it, Everyone shyt up and do your job, is my view.

					The first woman to publicly accuse Alabama Senate Candidate Roy Moor of sexual misconduct is telling her story. Leigh Corfman says the encounter when she was just 14, haunted her for years. Eight other women have come forward publicly with allegations against Moore, ranging from inappropriate flirting to sexual assault. Moore denies these allegations and further says he does not know her. Moore. The former Judge once again blamed Democrats and the Republican Establishment for trying to sway the election. Patty Spradlin, who says she heard of her friend Leigh's encounter with Moore decades ago, when they were both teenagers. Spradlin said "it changed her, Leigh morphed into something that I hadn't seen in her before." Although Sorradlin said Moore never harassed her, she remembers him hanging out at the local mall where she says young girls knew to avoid him, his reputation there was creepy. President Trump today once again declined to answer questions about the scandal.

President Trump is turning the ongoing cold spell freezing much of the Nation into political leverage saying parts of the country could use some global warming to break the cold snap. The East could have the coldest New Years on record, perhaps we could use a little bit of that good old global warming that our country, but not other countries was going to pay trillions of dollars to protect us against. It's the same argument that Senator Jim Inhofe made on the Senate floor. Nasa says 2017 was one of the warmest years on record and 97 percent of climate scientists agree climate change is real and poses a threat. Scientists say, devastating hurricanes from Florida to Texas to Puerto Rico and deadly wildfires out west were exacerbated by rising temperatures. President Trump said, "my administration is putting an end to the war on coal."
