MYSTERIOUS DISEASES #000H

DESCRIPTION

Due to painstaking medical research, many diseases can often be addressed handily. However, mysterious, sometime called rare diseases can be very different. Pompe Disease is a rare, neuromuscular disease, that can present in infancy, adulthood, or anywhere in between. Infants often experience weakness, enlargement of the tongue and thickening of the heart muscles, resulting in dangerous, sometime deadly consequences. Acute Intermittent Porphyria (AIP) is a rare metabolic disease, causing a buildup of natural chemicals that keep red blood cells from working properly - including the transporting of life-sustaining oxygen to organs and tissues. Urea Cycle Disorder is caused by the lack of one or more of the enzymes of the urea cycle pathway. Without these enzymes there is a buildup of harmful ammonia which can lead to cerebral edema, lethargy, anorexia, hypothermia, seizures, and coma. Pulmonary Arterial Hypertension is high blood pressure in the lungs due to a thickening of the very small pulmonary arteries. When this pressure is elevated, the heart works harder to pump blood to the lungs, creating dangerous situations, such as heart failure.

YOU AND YOUR HEART #000H

DESCRIPTION

Heart disease, or, cardiovascular disease, can refer to many different conditions such as the narrowing or blocking of blood vessels that can lead to angina, heart attack, or stroke. Other heart conditions affect heart muscle, heart valves, or the proper rhythm (beating) of the heart. In this program we will explore four unique areas of heart disease. Heart Failure can occur for two reasons: ischemic heart disease where an artery blockage results in a heart attack that injures heart muscle or, non-ischemic heart disease which is sometimes hereditary. Non-ischemic issues are not artery related, but heart muscle related due to heart valve disease or other causes. Aortic dissection is a serious condition in which the inner layer of the aorta, the large blood vessel branching off the heart, tears. As blood soars through this tear the inner and middle layers of the aorta separate, called dissection. If blood ruptures through the outside aortic wall, the dissection can be fatal. Coronary heart disease risk management involves the steps people can take to help lessen the consequences of heart disease. The buildup of a waxy substance called plaque in the arteries can interrupt the supply of blood to the heart. Through lifestyle changes and medications, many of the consequences of heart disease can be brought under control. Heart valve disease occurs if even one valve stops working properly. These four valves have flaps that open and close with each heartbeat, making sure blood flows in the proper direction through the four chambers. Infections, age, and birth defects, may cause one or more valves to not open fully or let blood leak back into the heart chambers, making the heart work harder.

PAPERS: STORIES OF UNDOCUMENTED YOUTH #000H

DESCRIPTION

"Papers" is the story of undocumented youth and the challenges they face as they turn 18 without legal status. Eleven million undocumented immigrants live in the United States. Of those, four and a half million were brought to the U.S. as children. These are young people who were educated in American schools, hold American values, know only the U.S. as home and who, upon high school graduation, find the door to their future slammed shut. 65,000 undocumented students graduate every year from high school without "papers." It is against the law to work or drive. It is difficult, if not impossible in some states, to attend college. They live at risk of arrest, detention and deportation to countries they may not even remember. Currently, there is no path to citizenship for most of these young people. Graham Street Productions produced this film in association with El Grupo Juvenil (the "Papers" Youth Crew). These youth producers were actively involved in all aspects of the production. They have worked in collaboration with immigrant youth around the country who want to tell their stories and change immigration policy.

NOVA #4203H
SINKHOLES - BURIED ALIVE

DESCRIPTION

In Tampa, Florida, in February 2013, a giant hole in the ground opened up and swallowed half a house, killing 36 year-old Jeffrey Bush as he slept in his bedroom. A month later, a golfer in Illinois survived an 18-foot fall when the 14th hole caved in beneath his feet. Both were victims of sinkholes-a notorious worldwide hazard that lurks wherever limestone bedrock is found. When carbon dioxide dissolves in rainwater, it forms a weak acid that attacks the soft limestone, riddling it like Swiss cheese with hidden underground rivers, caves and hollows. While this process of erosion takes millions of years, the fragile roof of a cavern near the surface can collapse in an eye blink, with little or no advance warning. Sinkholes can range from a few meters across to one in Egypt that measures 5 0 x 75 miles, and a Chinese hole nearly half a mile deep. Filled with compelling eyewitness video of collapsing sinkholes and authoritative science from expert geologists, NOVA investigates what it's like to have your world vanish beneath your feet.

BEYOND THE LIGHT SWITCH #103H

DESCRIPTION

In this new episode of Beyond the Light Switch, we focus on the electrification of the American economy - in transportation, shipping, airlines, even in the U.S. military and its importance to our national security. Our host, Scientific American's David Biello, journeys across the country to examine America's switch to electrification as a key strategy in reducing our foreign oil dependence while achieving our economic, environmental and energy security goals. Our journey begins in Iraq where moving diesel fuel in order to generate electricity became that war's most dangerous occupation. From the Middle East David looks at the Pentagon's role in advancing energy technology. He'll then travel to one of the busiest ports in the world - the Port of Los Angeles, then onto Austin, Texas, to a neighborhood that boasts the highest concentration of electric vehicles in the country. Then it's off to Chicago, Washington, D.C., and Berkeley, California all in the search for signs of a new energy future.

DESCRIPTION

How effectively do our public schools prepare students for active participation in democratic society? Is there a relationship between an often ill-informed public and the manner in which social and political issues are addressed in our nation's classrooms? In DEMOCRACY LEFT BEHIND, award-winning documentary filmmaker Bob Gliner (Heifer, Education for What?, Time Frenzy) examines the impact of No Child Left Behind on dramatically limiting the ability of schools to serve a civic mission - in the process making it difficult for many students to understand what their education means in the larger context of the society and world they inhabit. Filmed in a broad cross-section of economically and culturally diverse schools, filled with provocative interviews with teachers, school administrators, and nationally known experts, DEMOCRACY LEFT BEHIND is a very timely and important documentary. It will surely add to the national debate around No Child Left Behind and the role our public schools play in helping shape American Society.

SERVING AMERICA: MEMORIES OF PEACE CORPS #000H

DESCRIPTION

SERVING AMERICA: MEMORIES OF PEACE CORPS highlights the experiences of some of the nearly 3,000 volunteers who served during the early years of the Peace Corps. A mix of archival film and photographs, along with personal stories from former volunteers, tells a story of service and idealism. Interviews convey the volunteers' passion, commitment and bravery as they lived and worked in developing countries, including South and Central America, Africa and the Middle East. From almost fatal obstacles to spiritual epiphanies, these men and women describe their transformative experiences. Donna Shalala, former U.S. Secretary of Health and Human Services (1993-2001), recounts the adventure of serving in Iran between 1962 and 1964. "What the Peace Corps really did is make me a citizen of the world," says Shalala.

CHAPLAINS

SERIES

CHAPLAINS takes the viewer into the dynamic world of chaplains-men and women who represent their own particular faith tradition, but are trained to be of comfort and support to everyone-religious or not. Through personal profiles, the documentary explores the daily life of chaplains throughout society, from their role in the military and the workplace to their work in prisons and behind-the-scenes of NASCAR. With a tradition dating back centuries, chaplains today are on the front lines-often in the midst of life and death situations- where the questions are the deepest, and the need for spiritual and pastoral care the greatest. The film provides a window into religious diversity in America today and the murky nature of the American principle of separation of religion and state.

FOR THE LIFE OF ME: BETWEEN SCIENCE AND THE LAW #000H

DESCRIPTION

The law classifies it as dangerous drug without medical value. Scientists see it as a promising cancer-fighter. What is the truth about marijuana? For Patricia Crone, a professor at the Institute for Advanced Study, in Princeton, the question is deadly serious. She has lung cancer, which has spread to her brain. She was busy preparing for the end when she discovered that even the federal National Cancer Institute describes cannabis as having anti-metastatic and tumor-shrinking qualities. With few other available options, she was eager to try the drug: "I want it not to get high but to get well." So Professor Crone begins a hunt for marijuana—and credible evidence of its medicinal potential. The clash between science and the law makes her journey hazardous. Her search for solid facts leads her to several research laboratories and first-hand looks at the scientific results. Risking jail, she manages to acquire enough marijuana to start experimenting on herself. The film follows Crone everywhere, from universities to a grower in Oregon to consultations with her doctors and through tense moments as she awaits the results of her brain scans. Forging ahead in a world of hope, obstacles, fear, and contradictions, she rarely loses courage and never her sense of humor. But do the risks she takes prolong her life?

RAISING OF AMERICA: EARLY CHILDHOOD AND THE FUTURE #000H

DESCRIPTION

THE RAISING OF AMERICA looks inside the brain and brings to life recent scientific research that reveals how early experiences, beginning in the womb, can alter brain architecture and developmental trajectories. Through the stories of families from different walks of life, researchers discover how the lack of paid parental leave and high-quality affordable childcare, stagnant wages and overcrowded housing, depression and social exclusion, and perhaps most of all the time crunch, too often undermine the efforts of parents and caregivers struggling to provide the nurturing environments all children need to thrive. The documentary widens its lens to reveal what Sir Michael Marmot calls, "the cause of the causes," the larger structures that contribute - in Harvard's Jack Shonkoff's words - "to a pile-up of advantage for some children, a cascade of risk for others." By exploring how things got this way - the history of U.S. child and family policy over the past century, the victories as well as the defeats - THE RAISING OF AMERICA seeks to better understand what stands in the way of progress, and what Americans can do better.

COURAGEOUS LEARNING #000

DESCRIPTION

There are more than 93 million Americans in the workforce today without a degree. Their standard of living is falling and their earnings gap is increasing. These adults missed their chance to go to college - or never finished a degree program. Courageous Learning follows the lives of three adult students: Shawn, Joe, and Angeline - a veteran, a single dad, and a nurse - as they face obstacles in the pursuit of higher education. Experts, including leaders from academia, think tanks, government, and nonprofits, provide a guide to the landscape of post-secondary education in the 21st century - and reveal it as terrain that too few travel. Narrated by actor Dennis Haysbert.

INDEPENDENT LENS #1405H SOUL FOOD JUNKIES

DESCRIPTION

Baffled by his dad's reluctance to change his traditional soul food diet in the face of a health crisis, filmmaker Byron Hurt sets out to learn more about this culinary tradition and its relevance to black cultural identity. The African American love affair with soul food is deep-rooted, complex, and in some tragic cases, deadly. This film puts this culinary tradition under the microscope to examine both its benefits and consequences. Hurt looks at the socioeconomics of predominantly black neighborhoods, where it can be difficult to find healthy options and wonders if soul food has become an addiction in his community.

LEAGUE OF DENIAL: THE NFL'S CONCUSSION CRISIS, PAR

DESCRIPTION

The National Football League, a multibillion-dollar commercial juggernaut, presides over America's indisputable national pastime. But the NFL is under assault as thousands of former players and a host of scientists claim the league has covered up how football inflicted long-term brain injuries on many players. In a special two-part investigation, FRONTLINE, in association with ESPN's "Outside the Lines," joins prize-winning journalists Steve Fainaru and Mark Fainaru-Wada of ESPN to reveal the hidden story of the NFL and brain injuries, drawn from their forthcoming book "League of Denial." What did the NFL know and when did it know it? What's the truth about the risks to players? What can be done? The FRONTLINE investigation details how, for years, the league denied and worked to refute scientific evidence that the violent collisions at the heart of the game are linked to an alarming incidence of early onset dementia, catastrophic brain damage, death, and other devastating consequences for some of football's all-time greats.
