Learning About Food Allergies EPS 00:26:29

One in every thirteen children under the age of eighteen has food allergies, 6-8 percent of children under age three, and approximately 3 percent of adults - up to 15 million Americans altogether. Food allergies occur because the immune system falsely senses certain foods as harmful, and then releases chemicals like histamines into the bloodstream to fight this mistaken intruder, causing reactions. Food allergies should be considered dangerous, as they can cause frightening symptoms, such as irritation of the tongue, lips, and mouth; digestive problems, hives, and in some cases, a swelling of the breathing airways. For some, it can cause a suffocating, life-threatening reaction. In this edition of Healthy Body Healthy Mind we will explore the ongoing challenges of food allergies and what medical science recommends for its management. We'll also talk with patients and parents to learn how they address these challenges.

The Mysteries of Soft Tissue Sarcoma EPS 00:26:31

Soft tissue sarcoma is a type of cancer that begins in the soft tissues of the body, including muscle, tendons, fat, lymph vessels, blood vessels, nerves, and tissue around joints. These cancer tumors can be found anywhere in the body but often form in the arms, legs, chest, or abdomen. Although it's not altogether clear what causes soft tissue sarcoma, like most cancers, it develops as normal cells begin a mutation process within the DNA. The type of cell that develops the mutation determines what type of soft tissue sarcoma will occur. The accumulation of abnormal cells forms a tumor that can grow to invade and spread to other parts of the body. Risk factors can include being over 50, chemical exposure, radiation exposure, and some inherited genetic syndromes. This episode of Healthy Body Healthy Mind will explore the types of soft tissue sarcomas, how they are diagnosed, and the work underway to provide more effective treatment options.

Understanding Sickle Cell, Thalassemia and Iron Overload EPS 00:26:31

Too little iron in the blood can lead to fatigue, lower the immune system, and can cause the serious condition of anemia. But having too much iron, called hemochromatosis - or - iron overload is also a problem, creating poisonous conditions for the liver, heart and pancreas. It can also cause cancer, heart arrhythmias and cirrhosis of the liver. Iron overload can be caused by genetic factors, and such is the case with sickle cell disease, affecting an estimated 70, 000 to 100,000 US citizens, the majority being African Americans. Iron overload is also prevalent in the disease called thalassemia - a group of genetic blood disorders. People with this disease cannot make normal hemoglobin to produce healthy red blood cells. If diagnosed and treated before organ damage has occurred iron overload patients can often grow and develop normally, with relatively normal heart and liver functions.

Deja Vu PBS 01:26:46

After a long and brutal war, revolutionaries led by Ho Chi Minh end nearly a century of French colonial rule. With the Cold War intensifying, Vietnam is divided: communists hold the North, while America supports an untested regime in the South.

IT'S "JUST" ANXIETY is a revealing documentary that introduces a dozen people from diverse backgrounds who describe their personal struggles with this mental health condition. Filmed over a period of five years, the documentary follows several individuals with anxiety symptoms ranging from excessive worry and fear to more extreme manifestations such as compulsive behavior and torturous panic attacks. June Moss, for instance, a retired staff sergeant in the U.S. Army, thrived in the real life or death scenarios of war, but upon returning home has been facing the debilitating effects of post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD). Similarly, Scott Stossel, editor of the monthly magazine "The Atlantic" and author of "My Age of Anxiety: Fear, Hope, Dread, and the Search for Peace of Mind," has been grappling with his generalized anxiety and various therapies for years. Throughout the documentary he shares his personal history as both researcher and patient. Another individual, Jamie Blyth, found that the more he avoided his anxiety, the worse his symptoms got. He began a career in sales and signed on for the first season of "The Bachelorette" in order to face his social anxiety, an experience he reveals in the film. We also meet Lori Daniels, who has been swallowed up in a battle with obsessive compulsive disorder (OCD) and confines herself to a single armchair in her living room. When she comes in contact with any person or object, she must run to the bathroom and wash her hands. However, by the end of the film, Lori is in therapy and poignantly thriving - shaking hands, petting cats, accepting hugs, and working as a teacher. With more than 40 million Americans suffering from anxiety, the one-hour documentary aims to destigmatize and humanize this debilitating yet treatable mental health issue. The inspiring real-life stories presented in the program demonstrate how those who suffer from this mental health issue can begin the path to recovery.

THIN ICE introduces viewers to scientists drilling in the Antarctic for climate history from ice and sediment cores, to others measuring changes in the atmosphere, oceans and ice sheets. The scientists discuss their work, and their hopes and fears with a candor and directness rarely seen by the public.
