HEALTHY MINDS WITH DR. JEFFREY BORENSTEIN	Monday nights	7:30 pm	focus and scope of Hey Virginia will mainly feature regions in and around Harrisonburg, Staunton, and Charlottesville. Hosted by Kate Martin from Q101 One in five people has a diagnosable mental disorder. For many families, the fear and shame associated with a diagnosis of mental illness can lead to isolation and suffering in silence. HEALTHY MINDS the Emmy nominated, award-winning series, once again, aims to educate the public about psychiatric conditions which affect so many people. The series humanizes mental health conditions through inspiring personal stories and interviews with leading researchers and experts, who provide the latest information about diagnosis and treatment. As Dr. Borenstein explains, "Everyone is touched by psychiatric conditions, either themselves or a loved one. Our goal is to share cutting edge information from experts along with personal experiences from people who have overcome psychiatric conditions. Now, more than ever, it is important to reduce stigma and encourage people who have a psychiatric condition not to suffer in silence but to seek help. I want people to know that with help, there is hope."

POTUS 2016

Anchored by public radio's Peabody Award-winning host Brian Lehrer, POTUS 2016 is already airing in the New York region where it is helping to satisfy the large appetite that public television viewers have for serious election-related coverage. While The Newshour and Washington Week do excellent segments on the campaigns, we have found viewers seek more, and something different from the commercial network offerings which they find shallow, sensationalist and unsatisfying to their sensibilities. POTUS 2016 is unique for being a regularly scheduled program solely devoted to the campaign season: The program has a rotating group of regulars who know Brian Lehrer well from previous radio and TV appearances. Among those to be invited for 2016 appearances: Steve Forbes, Editor-in-Chief Forbes magazine; Gail Collins, New York Times Columnist; Ta-Nehisi Coates, Senior editor for the Atlantic; Law Professor Zephyr Teachout, campaign finance expert and former gubernatorial candidate, Mark Hugo Lopez of the Pew Research Center. We will also invite thinkers outside the political arena such as author Malcolm Gladwell.

THE SALINAS PROJECT

One hour south of the wealthy Silicon Valley, and 20 minutes east of the affluent Carmel area, sits the city of Salinas. The city is located at the head of a fertile valley - an area brought into public consciousness through the stories of John Steinbeck. On the east side of Salinas, in the predominantly Latino neighborhood known as Alisal, poverty, deplorable housing conditions and gang violence are a part of daily life. THE SALINAS PROJECT profiles several children of migrant farm workers living in Alisal. Without resources, and sometimes undocumented, their future looks uncertain yet they cling to the hope of a better life. The film goes beyond the mainstream media representations to shine a light on the problems in East Salinas and highlight the successes of this often marginalized community. In the face of adversity, the young people of Salinas strive to improve their social and economic realities by educating themselves and changing their lives, one generation at a time.

WAGING WAR ON CANCER: TODAY AND TOMORROW

According to the National Cancer Institute more than 10 million Americans are cancer survivors. Decades after the United States embarked on the War on Cancer the word Cancer itself continues to prompt fear and dread as it conjures up images of a hopeless patient riddled with disease. But, that image, while often accurate in the past, is slowly changing. Though cancer is still the second leading cause of death in the United States - next to heart disease - patients today are living longer and enjoying healthier lives. In this one-hour special, we will explore the consequences that can come with Advanced Melanoma, and the importance of screening and prevention, the role of gene mutation, and the ongoing work to manage this disease. We will also explore the mysteries of Glioblastoma - a type of brain cancer - its history, symptoms, the importance of patient care, and the crucial role of the care giver. We will then look at the cancer, Multiple Myeloma, as we learn about the ongoing research of this disease, and the advancements made in long term management. In all three of these disease stories, we will meet patients who have been able to take advantage of the medical progress that has been made in these areas, and learn about the many research breakthroughs in recent years.

CONCERT TO FACE ADDICTION

In October of 2015, tens of thousands of people came to Washington DC for an incredible night of music dedicated to raise awareness for a top health crisis, addiction. Musicians, politicians, athletes, authors and journalists joined together in support of the 45 million Americans and their families impacted by addiction and recovery. The Concert to Face Addiction took place on the National Mall and featured performances by Joe Walsh, Steven Tyler, Sheryl Crow, Jonathan Butler and Jason Isbell (just to name a few), with special appearances by Paul McCartney, Ringo Starr and President Barack Obama.

OCD AND ME

An estimated two to three percent of the population suffers from Obsessive Compulsive Disorder, and while most people have heard of OCD, this condition goes far beyond the common stereotypes of excessive hand washing or repetitive behaviors. Listed by the World Health Organization as one of the 10 most debilitating illnesses on the planet, OCD is an anxiety-related disorder characterized by frequent, intrusive and unwelcome obsessive thoughts, often followed by repetitive compulsions, impulses or urges. While there is help available, accessing effective treatment often takes between 14-17 years from the first onset of symptoms due to the stigma attached to OCD. Featuring real-life accounts of people struggling with OCD, interviews with experts in the field, and visits to St. Patrick's Hospital in Dublin, the Irish documentary OCD AND ME provides a greater understanding of this secretive and often misunderstood condition.

BILL W.: THE CREATIVE FORCE BEHIND ALCOHOLICS ANON

Bill W. tells the story of William G. Wilson, co-founder of Alcoholics Anonymous, a man included in TIME Magazine's "100 Persons of the 20th Century". Interviews, recreations, and rare archival material reveal how Bill Wilson, a hopeless drunk near death from his alcoholism, found a way out of his own addiction and then forged a path for countless others to follow. With Bill as its driving force, A.A. grew from a handful of men to a worldwide fellowship of over 2 million men and women - a success that made him an icon within A.A., but also an alcoholic unable to be a member of the very society he had created. A reluctant hero, Bill Wilson lived a life of sacrifice and service, and left a legacy that continues every day, all around the world.

WITHOUT PERFECT ANSWERS

Without Perfect Answers is a documentary about two residential schools six thousand miles apart but side by side in finding a better way for at-risk children. The film raises compelling questions about foster care system in the United States. The Crossnore School, isolated in the remote North Carolina mountains, dates back a century. The Goldstein Youth Village in Jerusalem began with the birth of Israel to serve the children of the Holocaust. Both schools, one Christian, the other Jewish, apply compassion and high expectations to bring hope and success to otherwise desperate children. Both schools go against the widely accepted view that residential education, what once was called an orphanage, is discredited and harmful. Participants present compelling arguments that residential education is far more likely to redeem and encourage a troubled child than the chaotic U.S. foster care system ever could. Without Perfect Answers introduces the viewer to extraordinary, courageous and compassionate adults and children you will want to hug.

COUNT ME IN

At a time when voter frustration is mounting, there's finally a good news story about money and voting: COUNT ME IN highlights an innovative experiment in direct democracy that gives ordinary Chicagoans direct say over local public projects and monies. Pioneered in Chicago, participatory budgeting is rapidly spreading across the country and even the White House recently made it one of its key recommendations for open government. The first in-depth documentary about this burgeoning national movement, COUNT ME IN tells the compelling character-based stories of regular Chicagoans who are rolling up their sleeves to make an impact in their neighborhoods. The film shows residents pitch ideas for street repairs, bike lanes, or community gardens. Projects get researched, proposals crafted, and at the end, the entire community is invited to vote. Among the participants featured are Shannon Dudley, a retired IRS agent and passionate gardener; Joann Williams, a feisty community leader; and Maria Hadden, who began as a volunteer, but now teaches people in other Chicago wards how to implement participatory budgeting. But COUNT ME IN doesn't paint an overly rosy picture: power-sharing happens slowly in Chicago -- city agencies are slow to warm to the process and only a handful of aldermen have been willing to try participatory budgeting, even though residents find it empowering and a great tool for community building.

NOVA

In Tampa, Florida, in February 2013, a giant hole in the ground opened up and swallowed half a house, killing 36 year-old Jeffrey Bush as he slept in his bedroom. A month later, a golfer in Illinois survived an 18-foot fall when the 14th hole caved in beneath his feet. Both were victims of sinkholes-a notorious worldwide hazard that lurks wherever limestone bedrock is found. When carbon dioxide dissolves in rainwater, it forms a weak acid that attacks the soft limestone, riddling it like Swiss cheese with hidden underground rivers, caves and hollows. While this process of erosion takes millions of years, the fragile roof of a cavern near the surface can collapse in an eye blink, with little or no advance warning. Sinkholes can range from a few meters across to one in Egypt that measures 50 x 75 miles, and a Chinese hole nearly half a mile deep. Filled with compelling eyewitness video of collapsing sinkholes and authoritative science from expert geologists, NOVA investigates what it's like to have your world vanish beneath your feet.

GERRYRIGGED: TURNING DEMOCRACY ON ITS HEAD

Gerrymandering is the process by which political district lines are drawn by the very politicians who stand to benefit by them. "GerryRigged: Turning Democracy On Its Head" shows how technology has made gerrymandering such an exact science that, in most cases, incumbents cannot lose and challengers cannot win. In this documentary, we see how non-partisan reform efforts now underway in Virginia and elsewhere can change this dangerous trend and return political power to the voters.

ECHOES OF THE HOLOCAUST

The Holocaust Memorial on Miami Beach stands as a stark reminder and stunning symbol of anguish and tragedy. The memorial - comprised of evocative stone and bronze sculptures, a meditation garden, a reflecting pool, an eternal flame and a granite wall - honors the Holocaust's six million Jewish victims. Its centerpiece, "The Sculpture of Love and Anguish," features a giant outstretched arm tattooed with a number from Auschwitz rising from the earth, depicting the last desperate reach of a dying person. Today, some Holocaust survivors serve as docents (guides) for the memorial, sharing their stories of survival to schoolchildren, tourists and visitors from across the globe. ECHOES OF THE HOLOCAUST captures four of these intimate tours. Docents Joe Dziubak, David Schacter, Ann Rosenheck and Morris Rosenblat relive their personal tragedies - of loved ones lost and their own private terror, pain and humiliations - and recount the occasional miracle and their eventual liberation.

CONCUSSION: ANSWERS IN THE BLOOD?

CONCUSSION: ANSWERS IN THE BLOOD? tells the intertwined story of the promising research undertaken by two University of Montana scientists - Drs. Tom Rau and Sarj Patel - and the real experiences of two athletes: Payton Agnew, a university women's soccer player, and Bridger Skillicorn, a member of a high school football team recovering from concussions. Concussion awareness is on the rise and current diagnostic protocols are improving, however, concussion identification still relies heavily on observed symptoms and self-reporting by athletes. Now, a team of scientists is attempting to develop a blood test to provide a definitive determination. Drs. Tom Rau and Sarg Patel, from the University of Montana's Department of Biomedical and Pharmaceutical Sciences in the Skaggs School of Pharmacy, are in the early stages of promising research to discover biomarkers in the blood that indicate how the brain reacts following a traumatic brain injury. The one-hour documentary tracks a year of Rau and Patel's research and findings, and the quest for funding to continue their work, while also following the athletes and trainers as they navigate the current concussion protocol.

LIVING WITH ALZHEIMER'S AND DEMENTIA

An estimated five million people in the U.S. are living with some form of dementia. By 2050, barring any major scientific breakthroughs, the number of people living with dementia is expected to balloon to nearly 14 million. Taking into consideration the family members and other people who provide daily care, Alzheimer's and dementia will have a huge impact on our communities. LIVING WITH ALZHEIMER'S AND DEMENTIA explores the effects these diseases have on individuals, families and communities. The program reveals the myths and stigmas that have hindered better living and caretaking, and examines the heavy burden of costs associated with the disease-whether financial, physical or psychological. Lastly, it looks at innovative ways of meeting the challenges of dementia care. Weaving together personal stories of those who are living with dementia, insight from their care partners, and commentary from leading experts in dementia, the documentary lays the foundation for a better understanding of the disease, ways to care for those with dementia, and the support systems families need in order to provide that care.

BEYOND THE DIVIDE

Nearly 50 years have passed since the beginning of the Vietnam War. While the politics and casualties are now a part of history, deep scars remain between those who served and those who fought a different war at home. BEYOND THE DIVIDE hopes to illuminate a path to healing old wounds by portraying authentic peace-building. In the early 80s in Missoula, Mont., a group of residents decided to commit an act of civil disobedience by painting a peace symbol on the face of an enormous communications panel that sat atop a hillside overlooking the town. The reaction essentially divided the community between anti-war and military-establishment supporters, as past resentments resurfaced. The one-hour documentary traces the aftermath of this act and follows the story of how two individuals-former Vietnam explosives engineer Dan Gallagher and fervent peace advocate Betsy Mulligan-Dague-come to a deeper understanding of each other's differences through conversation and collaboration, ultimately finding that the ideals they share are much stronger than imagined.

SUZE ORMAN'S FINANCIAL SOLUTIONS FOR YOU

We all have financial issues and problems. Suze Orman's latest special sharply focuses on her helping individual viewers "find financial solutions for you." As always, Suze's advice is based not just on numbers, but on a critical understanding of ourselves and our emotional needs. The special's central theme is that our financial decision-making should be guided by an understanding of "the goal of money." As Suze perceptively defines it: "The goal of money is to make you feel secure." Our financial solutions should work to fulfill that goal. In addition, Suze stresses the importance of making financial decisions that you feel comfortable with. Financial problems are caused when you do things with money that do not seem "right" to you, despite pressures and advice from others.
