Program/Segment Title: News Story –Hospitals Loosing Money in Indiana

Broadcast Date: April 11, 2023

Broadcast Time: 6 a.m., 7 a.m., 8 a.m.

Duration: 1 minute/each story

Summary: This radio station aired a news story to inform the public about hospitals in Indiana loosing money.

Hospitals are still in bad shape, says the president of the Indiana Hospital Association.

"We had a net loss at all the hospitals combined in the state of Indiana for 2022," said Brian Tabor on Indy Politics. "They lost money as a system and will probably lose more money in 2023."

The reason Indiana's hospitals are running lower on funds than usual is a variety of factors, and he said it starts with the state legislature. He is urging them against passing a bill being considered now that would place a defacto price cap on certain hospital costs.

Tabor said that could cripple hospitals even more and in effect "squeeze the balloon" even tighter. "The cap is set at a number that proponents will say represents some type of national average. It doesn't," Tabor said. "It unfairly represents Indiana. If it were to pass into law it would have devastating consequences."

Tabor said that he is on board with lowering costs that Hoosiers with commercial insurance pay at hospitals. But, capping costs is not the right way to go about it. Tabor said to do that you have to go to the source, which he says is Medicaid. "We have an incredibly under-funded Medicaid program in Indiana when it comes to Medicaid rates," Tabor said. "The Medicaid program pays 53-cents on the dollar of costs."

He said that means the hospital has to cover that left over 47-cents on the dollar, and the only way to do that is to pass those costs on to patients with commercial insurance or those not on Medicaid. He said if that cost shift is reduced, Hoosiers will see healthcare costs decrease.

Balanced Budget Amendment Provisions:

Total outlays for any fiscal year shall not exceed total receipts, unless three-fifths of Congress approves in a roll call vote. A debt limit increase requires a three-fifths roll call vote in Congress. Before each fiscal year, the President must transmit a budget to Congress in which total outlays do not exceed total receipts. Bills to increase revenue must be approved by a majority of Congress in a roll call vote. Congress may waive the aforementioned requirements if a declaration of war is in effect or if Congress declares that the U.S. is engaged in military conflict that causes an imminent and serious military threat to national security; national security waivers must specifically lay out the budgetary increases made necessary by the conflict. Congress will enforce the amendment and may rely on estimates of outlays and receipts. Total receipts is defined as all receipts except those derived from borrowing; total outlays is defined as all outlays of the U.S. government except for those for debt principal repayment. Themes included enrollment challenges, improved academics, leadership development, safety and discipline, stronger relationships with diverse populations and Elkhart Area Career Center expansion.

A Key Committee was created and in charge of making sound, affordable and acceptable recommendations to the Board of School Trustees.

Meetings were regularly scheduled in January, and while they were quite time-consuming, they allowed for an analysis of all ECS facilities and a projection showing a loss of 1000 to 1400 students over the next decade.

Only a few themes were addressed, though the Board of School Trustees and the Key Committee have decided to postpone their meeting until further notice, allowing the Board time to complete its superintendent search process so the new superintendent can contribute to the strategic planning process.

Program/Segment Title: News Story –Lawmakers Express Concern About Unemployment Fraud

Broadcast Date: May 16, 2023

Broadcast Time: 6 a.m., 7 a.m., 8 a.m.

Duration: 1 minute/each story

Summary: This radio station aired a news story to inform the public about fraud and unemployment since the pandemic.

During the pandemic, many people filed for unemployment if they ended up either losing their job or were told to stay home due to pandemic shutdowns. For many, this was an option to get by, but for more nefarious characters it was another opportunity for fraud.

Three years removed from the height of the pandemic, lawmakers are concerned that unemployment fraud has been getting further and further out of hand, especially in cases where people are knowingly being overpaid unemployment relief money.

“The Department of Labor’s inspector general pegs pandemic-era unemployment insurance fraud at $191 billion, though other experts say it could run as high as $400 billion. These are staggering numbers,” said Rep. Rudy Yakim (R-IN-2nd). Yakim spoke in favor of HR 1163 on Friday which is a bill he is co-sponsoring. The bill provides incentives for states to investigate claims of unemployment fraud with more rigor in order to catch those trying to cheat the government out of taxpayer money. Part of the bill includes provisions that would allow states to keep up to 25-percent of recovered overpayments.

Opponents of the bill, including many Democrats, also include the non-partisan Center on Budget and Policy Priorities. The organization says HR 1163 would actually do more harm than good in tracking down people who are committing unemployment fraud.

The CBPP is concerned the bill will further scrutinize Americans who have been unknowingly receiving overpayments but have not been engaging in fraud. They also don’t like that it allows states to hire private contractors to investigate claims of fraud instead of using public employees.

The bill passed the House on a mostly party-line vote. Only 10 Democrats joined every Republican in the House in voting to pass the measure. The partisan passage points to an uncertain future for the bill in the U.S. Senate.

Concord students voiced their concern about a dangerous intersection at the Elkhart County Commissioners meeting on Monday.

68% of crashes at the intersection over the last three years were caused by a failure to yield at the intersection.

According to the Goshen News, the students claim that the issue was not that drivers were disregarding the stop sign, but that it was that the drivers could not see the signs at the crossing.

The students looked into the visibility of the sign from different distances and considered the dangers it could bring for students walking to school.

Commissioner Suzie Weirick expects the county to perform a traffic study to find a solution to the problem.

LIVE, ON THE NEWSLINE, IS SECOND DISTRICT CONGRESSMAN RUDY YAKYM.

THE HOUSE VOTED, YESTERDAY, TO PASS A RULE SENDING A RESOLUTION OFFERED BY REPUBLICAN REPRESENTATIVE LAUREN BOEBERT OF COLORADO TO COMMITTEE, PAUSING A MOVE TO BRING A PRIVILEGED MOTION TO THE FLOOR THAT WOULD HAVE FORCED MEMBERS TO VOTE ON WHETHER TO IMPEACH PRESIDENT JOE BIDEN. THE RULE WAS PASSED ALONG PARTY LINES. THE RESOLUTION HAD DIVIDED HOUSE REPUBLICANS, WITH MANY MEMBERS EXPRESSING FRUSTRATION TO PUSH TO FORCE A VOTE ON THE POLITICALLY CONTENTIOUS ISSUE. WHERE DO YOU STAND ON THE ISSUE?

LET'S TALK ABOUT THE RARE MOVE IN THE HOUSE, THIS WEEK OF CENSURING ONE OF ITS OWN MEMBERS, DEMOCRATIC REPRESENTATIVE ADAM SCHIFF, OVER HIS CRITICISMS OF THEN-PRESIDENT DONALD TRUMP AND HIS ROLE IN LEADING THE FIRST IMPEACHMENT INQUIRY INTO THE FORMER PRESIDENT. AFTER THE VOTE SCHIFF WAS ORDERED TO STAND ON THE HOUSE FLOOR TO RECEIVE A VERBAL REBUKE WHILE DEMOCRATS CHANTED "SHAME!" AND "DISGRACE!" AND HECKLED HOUSE SPEAKER KEVIN MCCARTHY. WHAT WAS THAT LIKE???

SPEAKING OF FORMER PRESIDENT DONALD TRUMP... HE'S BEEN INDICTED. IS THIS THE WHEELS OF JUSTICE IN MOTION? OR HAVE THE WHEELS COMPLETELY COME OFF OF THE JUDICIAL MACHINE?

NOW... ON TO WHAT YOU'RE WORKING ON... YOU TESTIFIED AT THE HOUSE COMMITTEE ON VETERANS AFFAIRS' MEMBER DAY HEARING. AND YOU SPOKE ABOUT THE IMPORTANCE OF FIXING THE V.A. SO THOSE WHO SERVED OUR NATION IN UNIFORM CAN RECEIVE THE CARE AND TREATMENT THEY HAVE EARNED. SEEMS LIKE THAT HAS BEEN AN ISSUE FOR MORE THAN A DECADE NOW. ARE WE ANY CLOSER TO FIXING THE V.A... OR WHAT'S IT GOING TO TAKE?

THAT'S SECOND DISTRICT REPRESENTATIVE RUDY YAKYM. YOU CAN FOLLOW HIS WORK ON THE HILL AT YAKYM DOT HOUSE DOT GOV.
