IOWA INGREDIENT

10/1/2023 – 12/31/2023

IAI #804 – 10/5/23 – Peas

One of the first crops to go into the ground in spring is peas. They are a welcome fresh ingredient after a long winter. Garden peas and snow peas each have their distinctive qualities but at Rhizosphere farm in western Iowa, sugar snap peas are the go-to crop for fresh spring flavor. Chef Julie Schoenherr from Sioux City kicks that flavor up a notch in our studio kitchen with clever recipes like pea pesto. And, we'll explore a resourceful initiative called Table to Table in the Iowa City area. The effort hooks up extra food with those in need.

IAI #303 – 10/12/23 – Beets

These earthy vegetables come in unexpected colors with very distinct flavors. Beets are perhaps one of the most polarizing foods available. Everyone has their own opinion. Then Chef Katy Meyer of Trumpet Blossom Cafe in Iowa City will bring new flavors to life by adding a fresh twist to this vitamin packed root.

IAI #511 – 11/16/23 – Bison

Once upon a time, millions of bison thundered through the wild of North America. But by the 1880s, they were nearly wiped out due to overhunting. Today, bison have made a comeback - not in the wild - but on ranches throughout the country. Bison meat has been touted as a less-fatty beef alternative - and has a flavor that many say is similar to beef, but perhaps just a little sweeter. On this episode of Iowa Ingredient, join host Charity Nebbe as we visit Hawkeye Buffalo Ranch outside of Fredericksburg. Then Chef Ian Robertson will stop by the studio kitchen to cook with this lean meat.
