Addiction	Unshackled	Dramatized true stories	Sat @ 0100 & 1500 Sun @ 0200	07/24 & 07/25	30 min each 90 min total	The ministry of Pacific Garden Mission in Chicago Illinois dramatized the true story of a man named Bud from Michigan in the USA. Bud grew up in Pennsylvania with 7 siblings, and he witnessed alcohol's negative effects on people he knew. Though he decided early on not to start drinking, he himself became an alcoholic by the age of 27 when he was married with two children. Bud's life included terrible fights with strangers and friends, lots of deception, poor work ethic, and even stealing. After meeting new friends who studied the Bible with him, Bud surrendered his life to Christ, sobered up, and began making amends and restitution with everyone he had wronged. Bud is sober to this day.

His second point this week addressed the idea that whether or not a wife has time to work outside the home, she should be a working wife in the home by faithfully tending to the people and the projects that are in the home. Being a wife and being a mother are both ministries for the Christian woman. Extra income is nice and can be sought in some ways, so long as the ministry of the home does not suffer.

A harmonious home requires team work; and this week Steveson addressed the wives who are interested in examining what they can do to add to the harmony of their own homes. Some of Steveson's advice this week included the following: a wife should take care to keep developing her love for her husband without letting complacency and routine to tamp down that love; a wife should avoid developing a contentious spirit; a wife should value her spiritual person above her outward appearance since beauty only lasts so long; a wife should develop wisdom so that she can do the most good in her home; she should develop her love, reverence, and trust for God;

Using Scripture, personal experience, and expert opinion, Steveson showed listeners that the earliest years in a child's development are the most important. This has been found to be true for their intellectual, emotional, character, and behavioral development. Teaching children early is a vital parental role and includes activities specific for development as well as example and day to day living. Studies are finding over and over again that a child is 80% developed intellectually and in character by the time he is five years old. Steveson encouraged parents to be active in teaching their children as soon as they are born and warned parents not to use the "accident method" where they hope their children will accidentally learn good things and not bad things.

Family Relationships	Blessed Hope Sunday	Preaching	0900	05/09	40 min	Pastor Jerry Ross of Blessed Hope Baptist Church in Jasonville, IN shared a message with listeners about mothers. His aim was to help anyone who has a mother, especially young people still living with mother, to understand her role and to know the best things to give her. Using multiple Scriptural references, Ross taught five things that are natural to the heart and life of a mother. In response, children of any age can honor their mothers by giving them respect, love, reasons to be proud, appreciation, and the occasional heartfelt apology.

Steveson brought the conclusions of several national studies to light and showed listeners that even if all of the content of television were moral, the fact that it comes between parents and their children makes TV dangerous to the family. Other studies prove that TV is dangerous because children are so impressionable. Television has been found to negatively influence both the intelligence and the character of children. Parents, says Steveson, will do well to choose wisely what is watched on TV and how much time is spent watching.
Social & Cultural Change	Living By Faith	Preaching	1700	05/06 to 05/07	14 min each 28 min total	In a chapel message that has been broken into two parts for broadcast on WYTJ Radio, Pastor Terry Anglea of Faith Baptist Church in Bourbonnais, IL spoke about the negative changes we are seeing in our nation today. Anglea used the Bible story of Queen Ester as an illustration to teach listeners what a Christian response should look like. As in Queen Esther's day, this is a time of delusion and danger. As for Queen Esther, the present time is making a demand on us that we be found doing right and standing for right no matter the personal outcome. As was Queen Esther, we
