

In the third quarter of 2023, reporters in KMUW's newsroom covered stories about the community, diversity, and the upcoming election. An issue that captured nationwide attention was the raid on the Marion County Record, which was covered extensively by the KMUW team. Other issues of significance included changes to transgender ID rules and the start of the new school year. This quarter kicked off election season, with the primary occurring in August and the KMUW news team gearing up for the general election in November. KMUW hosted a mayoral candidate forum, which attracted over 150 in-person attendees, plus hundreds of online live-stream views. KMUW welcomed two Wichita State University student interns to the newsroom in August, continuing its efforts to help grow and fine tune the future's journalists.

KMUW enables the community to access information about timely subject matter in a variety of ways. In addition to in-depth news coverage, KMUW hosts a variety of community engagement events geared toward learning about the communities' informational needs. From literary discussions to on the ground mobile listening events, KMUW continues to be invested in serving the southcentral Kansas community.
