Issue	Program	Date	Time	Duration	Description of Program
Business	Closer Look	1/7/24	7:00pm	29min	Small-Business Mentors Offer Free Advice Through SCORE Your idea for a great small business needs a good plan. You need seed money and cashflow. If you already opened your shop, you may be stumped on how to grow. SCORE offers free, one-on-one advice for turning a profit. The personalized program is funded in part by the U.S. Small Business Administration and brings together “two of our nation’s greatest ideals -- entrepreneurship and volunteerism,” says CEO Bridget Weston. “What’s great about SCORE volunteers – they have been where the small business owner is -- they have seen the failures and learned how to overcome them.”
Library	Local Closer Look	1/7/24	7:30pm	20min	Talked with Amy Dodson, the Executive Director of the Fox River Valley Libraries. Dodson shares with us the history of the library and when it was established. She also shares how she came to be the Librarian at the Dundee Library and shares what she feels is the most gratifying part of being a librarian. Dodson describes how technology has affected the library, and the importance of early literacy. She also details the many programs and services the library offers, including driver license renewal.
Education	Closer Look	1/14/24	7:00pm	30min	Old Schools Get Free Makeovers Through Heart of America “This country created the majority of its schools during the 1940s, 50s and 60s,” says Jill Hardy-Heath, President and CEO of Heart of America. Classrooms in disrepair impede learning. “If you walk into a school where you have peeling paint and ceiling tiles that are falling, and things have not been updated – think about how that would make you feel.” HOA is committed to raising the spirits of those students and teachers. Fresh paint is only the beginning. Hardy-Heath sends an expert design team to infuse each renovation with vibrant color and creative flair. “We transform spaces,” she smiles. “Think about Extreme Home Makeover, but School Edition.” The organization updates everything in aging schools from lighting to desks to pencil sharpeners -- and upgrades essential infrastructure like electrical boxes to provide crucial access to the Internet. Once the space is certified ready for the 21st century, modern digital learning tools are provided for students. “We have infused more than $7.5 million in learning technologies, mostly computers and individual devices into schools and community centers.”

Education – Employment	Local Closer Look	1/14/24	7:30pm	20min	Talked with Sarah Starke, Executive Director and Founder of Doodlebug Workshop. Starke shares how Doodlebug Workshop is a vocational training program that focuses on teaching disabled youth and adults to use power tool equipment to create and make beautiful decorative items that are sold in their retail shop. She explains that the goal of the workshop is to help the students become self-sufficient and self-directed in personal growth and social and emotional well-being and functional living skills.
Addiction	Closer Look	1/21/24	7:00pm	13min	Gambling, Suicide Risk and Addiction Recovery Gambling addiction is a leading cause of suicide in the United States. The thrill of the bet buries vulnerable gamblers deep in debts matched only by their secret shame. But stats prove you can win recovery, as 2 outta 3 people who seek treatment are able to stop. Rafael Sierra talks with Derek Longmeier of Problem Gambling Network of Ohio and Keith Whyte of the National Council on Problem Gambling. Need to talk? Call the National Problem Gambling Helpline: (800) 522-4700.
Faith	Closer Look	1/21/24	7:13pm	17min	Faith Of Her Father - Baby Jessica's Dad The unlikely rescue of Baby Jessica from a well back in 1987 remains one of the world's most watched news stories of all time. There were "multiple miracles," says her father Chip McClure, "more than you can count...God's hand was evident." In the days and months after, the family received thousands of calls and truckloads of mail from all over the world, people in personal distress who were encouraged by the McClure's faith and the good news of Jessica's rescue.
Human Trafficking – Ministry	Local Closer Look	1/21/24	7:30pm	20min	Talked with Cassandra Ma, Founder and CEO of Reclaim 13, a ministry dedicated to bringing hope and healing to children affected by human trafficking. Ma explains how the kids are located and the process that has been created to help bring the kids to safety. She also shares the statistics of those kids that are taken versus running away and the signs we can be aware of to identify children who are being exploited.
Addiction	Closer Look	1/28/24	7:00pm	30min	Kids Fooled by Fentanyl, Rx Fakes Kids are getting pills that look like Xanax or Percocet online or in the locker room. Often laced with fentanyl, these deadly drugs can be 100x stronger than morphine. "It's terrifying," says Pat Aussem of the Partnership to End Addiction. Ed Ternan, co-founder of Song for Charlie lost his college-aged son to one pill and now helps other parents warn their children. "We still say 'just say no' but we spell it K. N. O. W. because many of these young victims are dying from taking a substance they didn't ask for."

Special Needs	Local Closer Look	1/28/24	7:30pm	20min	Talked with Melanie Grotto, the Office Manager of We grow dreams of West Chicago. Grotto talks about the history of the organization and describes the mission and goal on which We Grow Dreams is founded upon. Grotto shares that the primary focus is to offer a quality of life for people with disabilities through employment and personal growth and reviews the hiring and training process. She also gives tips on finding the right house plant and the best practice of growing basil.
Animal Therapy	KLOVE's Positive People News Podcast with on-air 60sec promo for podcast	January 2024	4 per week, 16 total	60sec 3.49min Podcast	Mom, Daughter Share Loveable Llamas as Huggable Therapy Shannon Joy and her mother, Lori, utilize llamas and alpacas for huggable therapy experiences. Their farm, Mountain Peaks Therapy Llamas & Alpacas, is a faith-based nonprofit organization that connects people of all walks of life with their social animals. Most recently, Shannon was invited to take a pair of llamas to Portland International Airport (PDX) to help travelers alleviate stress, "You get to see the unexpected come over peoples' faces. They're not expecting to see a llama, let alone two, just walking down the hallway." Shannon and Lori's faith plays a large role in what they do. Shannon says, "For me, personally, my church always conveys to be like Jesus. It's my way of bringing unconditional love to those who need it most." The farm offers to travel but they also have on the farm visits too.

That's remarkable. "Super-blessed to get my dream handed to me a little early," explains Elijah. He had been competing in Ninja Warrior-type local competitions since he was ten years old, hoping to be trained up when he became old enough to compete for the national TV production. At the time a contestant was required to be at least 19 years old. But something unexpected happened for Elijah. "I got a call out-of-the-blue when I was 16 years old" from the host of American Ninja Warrior offering an age exception and invitation. He also points to his support team, including his mother, Renee, who was on-set with him, helping with mindset encouragement. Elijah sees the Ninja Warrior competition as "70% mental, 30% physical."

Faith – Ministry	KLOVE’s Positive People News Podcast with on-air 60sec promo for podcast	January and February 2024	4 per week, 16 total	60sec 15.29min Podcast	Nick Vujcic: No Arms, No Legs, But A Big Heart for Sharing Jesus Nick Vujcic was born in 1982, surprising his parents and doctors when they saw he had no arms or legs. It’s a rare birth defect known as tetra-amelia syndrome. Nick tells us the Australian doctors were extremely apologetic that they had not detected the syndrome and offered his mother the option of abortion. For a growing boy, not having limbs and knowing what the doctors had said, gave little Nick a rough path. “Looking at my brother and sister born after me – and them having arms and legs – kind of felt a little unfair and weird. And with no answers, it’s easy to start believing the lies, the little voices that say, ‘you’re not good enough, you’re a mistake, there is no greater purpose for your life,’ and so as I went to school, I was facing bullying. I went through depression at age 8 until age 12, and I felt like there was no hope for my life.” During that period, Nick attempted to take his own life by drowning. Fortunately, he failed. Fast forward to today. “Here I am now at age 40, with a beautiful wife, four beautiful children, and this incredible ministry Life Without Limbs – being the hands and feet of God (even without hands &amp; feet), standing in front of the gates of hell and redirecting traffic. I now try to encourage everyone that no matter what pain we go through, that God can do beautiful things with our broken pieces...if we give those broken pieces into his hands.”
Entertainment - Faith	KLOVE’s Positive People News Podcast with on-air 60sec promo for podcast	January and February 2024	4 per week, 16 total	60sec 3.24min Podcast	Video Games and Jesus: Online Gamer Connects Youth and Faith Video games and Jesus? It might not seem to match up. Online gamer, Josh Clayton, has made it work. Josh utilizes many gaming platforms to build relationships with other gamers. “I personally believe that the online community is the largest, unreached, unengaged people group in the world.” With a background in Biblical counseling, Josh is able to walk with those struggling or facing trials in life. He shares, "What video games provides is...a common ground that's there to forge a relationship." Josh says we cannot know what someone is going through. Oftentimes, they hide behind their smiling profile. But connecting those people with Jesus comes natural for Josh. He says, "It's so important for us to not only acknowledge that people have real life that's going on, but that Jesus can answer those real-life situations in your life." Claremore First Baptist Church caught wind of Josh's success in reaching young people. He was hired, during the pandemic, to boost their online following.

Finances	Closer Look	2/4/24	7:00pm	29min	Food Prices, Fight Inflation from Your Fridge Food costs more these days. Healthcare	Closer Look	2/18/24	7:00pm	15min	Tackle Childhood Obesity at Home, Church and School Millions of American kids suffer words like chubby or chunky – or fat – to describe their young bodies. The COVID-19 lockdowns only worsened already alarming levels of childhood obesity, as the CDC found the BMI (body mass index) in children ages 2-19 years old increase nearly doubled during the pandemic. Excess weight weakens growing muscles and joints and can lead to juvenile diabetes or even trigger life-threatening asthma “Prevention is what we really want, right?” says Geri Henchy, Director of Nutrition Policy at the Food Research and Action Center (FRAC). “We want kids to be in environments that are not obesogenic; where they’re gonna get healthy meals, where there isn’t a lot of junk food, where they have activities -- that’s really gonna make a difference for kids.”
Childhood Issues	Closer Look	2/18/24	7:15pm	15min	Teens Aged-Out of Foster Care Get Help From ‘Dream Makers’ Without family and often lacking lifeskills, former foster kids become homeless adults by the thousands, turning to drugs and crime on the streets just to survive. “Every statistic you hear that is going bad in the United States, a lot of them link back to the foster care system and those kids just not being taken care of.” Dream Makers steps in to link aged-out foster kids with practical assistance by connecting them with the generosity of strangers. “It totally up to the community to fulfill the dream.” The young adult with a need fills out an application to ask for things that teens with families could easily get from a mom or dad: like money for work clothes, or a laptop for school, or maybe a used car – but Melton says the most common dream request from these youth by far is – food.
Housing	Local Closer Look	2/18/24	7:30pm	20min	Talked with David Siegel, Executive Director at the Housing Authority of the County of DeKalb. Siegel explains the function of the Housing Authority for those in need of affordable and accessible housing. Siegel describes those who use their services are those at the poverty level and works with H.U.D. who provides funding for their Section 8 housing. Siegel explains even though DeKalb County has a definite need for affordable housing, it is slightly better than the national numbers. Siegel says their biggest challenge is funding and keeping older buildings in good repair and making sure they are executing their programs with proper staff levels. Siegel says the local community and businesses can help by being supportive and recognizing the lower income housing can be an asset to the County and describes the biggest stigma tied to low-income housing is the general public and local business usually don’t believe that. Siegel describes their “Lease in Place” voucher program which helps people to stay in their existing apartments by assisting with payments toward their rent provided landlords accept the voucher. They can be contacted at ( https://dekcohousing.com )

Healthcare	Closer Look	2/25/24	7:00pm	30min	Young Girls Pregnant and Scared Turn to StandUpGirl.com Dawn-Marie Perez, Executive Director of StandUpGirl.com says their site stands ready to help. "Our mission is to have these girls be able to find life-affirming information through us -- and then we connect them with pregnancy centers in their neighborhood." Quick response is essential. "If you go google the word 'abortion' right now there are millions of websites that are gonna come up," she says. "Our goal is to have StandUpGirl show up on that first page of their search."
Homelessness	Local Closer Look	2/25/24	7:30pm	20min	Talked with Doug Schenkelberg, the Executive Director of the Chicago Coalition for the Homeless. Schenkelberg explains that the purpose of the coalition is to organize and advocate to prevent homelessness in the Chicago communities. Schenkelberg shares the common reasons people become homeless and how we as a community can help to eliminate homelessness in our cities. He also shares how the coalition partners with other organizations to meet needs such as mental health treatment, job training, legal assistance, and affordable housing.
Social Media	KLOVE's Positive People News Podcast with on-air 60sec promo for podcast	February 2024	4 per week, 16 total	60sec 15.50min Podcast	Rob Kenney, "Internet's Dad" Shares Life Hacks, Encouragement, And Loves God With prompting from his daughter, Rob Kenney launched a social media outreach during the COVID-19 outbreak. "We were all locked away," and the idea was to offer a 'dad video' to encourage or entertain people coping with the pandemic. "I put up my 'How to Tie a Tie' video on April 2 of 2020 and about a month-and-a-half later, my channel went viral! That was scary for me, but I'm grateful that I went viral for something wholesome." These days, Rob is on multiple social media channels, including Instagram, Facebook, and YouTube as Dad, How Do I? And "On TikTok, I'm The Real Dad, How Do I? because there were people who were imitating me." The videos show Rob demonstrating how to put air in your tires, unclogging a toilet, applying deodorant & cologne, how to shave, explaining an Allen Wrench, or making popcorn. Things a dad would share with a child. Why is Rob committing so much time and effort to these videos? "I think that there's definitely a need for people to understand how cool it is to be a dad. I feel like that's a mission that God has given me to try to encourage dads to hang in there, and you're needed and you're valued." It bothers him when he sees TV shows offering "stereotypes, Homer Simpson and Al Bundy...the bumbling dufus of a dad. And you know, I've met a lot of cool dads and a lot of very good dads. We need to encourage that behavior." Due to the popularity of his channel, Rob authored a book "Dad, How Do I?" which shares about important character traits for a good life, his own faith in Christ, and 58 useful 'how-tos.'

Entertainment	KLOVE's Positive People News Podcast with on-air 60sec promo for podcast	February 2024	4 per week, 16 total	60sec 15.35min Podcast	Valentine's Day: Putting 'Love First' – But What Is Real Love, Exactly? “Your relationships, they matter. They’re important. They’re important enough to prioritize. God gave us people in our lives for a reason and to help us building community. And I think sometimes because we have social media, we feel like we have community, we’re looking at community, but it’s not the same thing as being in community and relationship with one another, “Sadie Robertson-Huff adding, “I think a lot of people fear relationships because they’re hard and they’re messy.” Her advice? “If you put God first in your life, then all of your relationships will be better, and be blessed.” She urges people to consider “God’s view of relationship and community.” To help make this do-able, Sadie and her husband, Christian, have put together their first jointly written book, “How to Put Love First.” That love, Agape love, does not have barriers. It’s “available to everyone.” She says, “Your relationship with God is how you really find what true love is – and then, from there you get the blessing of relationships with people. That is an overflow.”
Entertainment – Faith	KLOVE's Positive People News Podcast with on-air 60sec promo for podcast	February and March 2024	4 per week, 16 total	60sec 16.43min Podcast	Geek Devotions: We Speak 'Geek' And Share Jesus with Isolated People When it comes to telling others about the offer of eternal life through Jesus Christ, there are evangelists, pastors, and missionaries, to far away countries. But how do you reach a people group that has what might be considered an unusual affinity? Geeks. First off, let’s define the word: “A geek is merely a person who is very much – I won’t say obsessed – but very much in tune with what we call ‘Geek Culture’ – things involving comic books, video games, anime, and movies and fantasy books,” explains Dallas Mora, who along with his wife, Celeste, lead the Christian outreach Geek Devotions. Dallas and Celeste want you to know that people in the geek world - not unlike many people - often have issues with isolation and depression, but in different circumstances. It's sometimes almost like social persecution. For anyone who believes in Christ, Dallas believes there’s always a local mission field: your circle of associates and friends. “Speak to the culture that you’re in. People everywhere need to know about Christ. There are people everywhere who are hurting, who feel abandoned,” and Dallas reminds us, “You have this precious thing called Christ, salvation...and they just need somebody to speak their own (cultural) language – presented in a way that they understand – and allow the Holy Spirit to draw them to salvation.” And Celeste added a very soft, but heartfelt “yes” after that comment.

Homelessness	KLOVE's Positive People News Podcast with on-air 60sec promo for podcast	February and March 2024	4 per week, 16 total	60sec 20.03min Podcast	"I Feel Human Again" - Making A Difference in Nashville: Paul Schmitz, Founder Of 'Shower Up' Paul Schmitz, a former Christian radio executive, used to be intimidated by unhoused people living on the streets. "I didn't know how to engage folks that were on the street, and that paralyzed me from doing anything meaningful," he said. "I had compassion, and I had concern, but I didn't know how to act on it." Paul grew up as a Christian, but it wasn't until he read a book on radical faith that Paul begin to really dig into the Bible. God touched his heart for the poor in a new way. Soon, Paul and his wife Rhonda begin feeding and clothing unhoused people in the Wichita, Kansas area. But that was only the beginning. Paul shares, "One day I was scrolling through my social media, and I saw this truck or trailer that had a shower and a bathroom in it and I thought 'that's really interesting. I wonder if you could do something like that for people experiencing homelessness?' And that was it. I just kept scrolling. It was a passing thought and God caught me in that moment and said essentially, 'I want you to do that.'" Soon, Paul was able to raise enough money to buy a truck and convert into a mobile shower unit. He called it Shower Up. The goal? To bring the love of Jesus directly to people while allowing them the dignity of a warm shower. The reaction from most people after a shower? Paul says they'll look at him with a glow and say, "I feel human again." God has truly blessed Paul and Rhonda Schmitz' efforts. Shower Up now operates in six cities--Chicago, IL; Tampa Bay, FL; Chattanooga, TN; Wichita, Kansas; Huntsville, AL and Nashville, TN.
Entertainment	Closer Look	3/3/24	7:00pm	17min	Young Storytellers Outreach Brings Kid-Scripts to Stage Children feel the thrill of seeing their scripts come to life with the help of creative-writing mentors and local actors who volunteer to perform. Though based primarily in Los Angeles, the arts program Young Storytellers works to scale its success to other cities by providing free online videos educators can use to help students shape stories.
Family Issues	Closer Look	3/3/24	7:17pm	25min	South Carolina Dad Helps Reconnect Non-Custodial Fathers with Their Kids Vincent Mercer from Moncks Corner, South Carolina, knows how important it is for dads to be there for their children. He helps lead Father to Father, a program that helps low-income non-custodial fathers (and some moms) overcome life barriers that keep them from being involved with their children. As a father himself, Vincent understands the importance of a dad being there for his children. By doing so, Vincent says, "that child is less likely to be incarcerated, more likely to finish high school, more likely to be successful in the job market," and have better interactions with their peers.

Education	Local Closer Look	3/10/24	7:30pm	20min	Talked to Kirk Smith, Executive Director of Illinois Christian Home Educators about the benefits, distinctions and hurdles associated with this educational path. Smith says those who are homeschooled show do better academically. Smith describes how the majority of Homeschoolers are centered on faith and values helping to ensure passing on family values to the next generation. Smith says many people home school because off socialization. A recent study showed home schoolers score in the 84th percentile in social skills mainly because they spend time with different age groups and not their own peer groups. Smith describes how homeschooling differs from conventional teaching methods because it is not compartmentalized, “it is life integrated.” Smith says, “It’s just not about books and knowledge, it’s about wisdom and life preparation.” Smith explains that when we understand the totality of that it changes our perspective on education. Smith was a public-school teacher as well as his wife and decided to home school their children – they never regrated that decision. PAL Groups bring people together to swap stories and share strategies -- online or in-person. “When we found PAL we’re like okay, we’re not alone, there’s other people who’ve been down this road.” PAL groups were first formed back in 2006 and the Christian-run non-profit now hosts more than 180 meetings nationwide. Members may attend in-person or choose to join online sessions available most days of the week. All meetings are free, confidential, and open to any parent who needs to connect with others for help and hope.
Homelessness	Local Closer Look	3/24/24	7:30pm	20min	Talked with Phillip Kwiatkowski about the growing problem of homelessness in Chicago. PGM has been operating since 1877 and is located at the hub of Chicago’s transit system offering unsheltered individuals from around the country an opportunity to find shelter and the gospel. Kwiatkowski says they haven’t changed since the beginning, there is still a pot of chili ready for consumption and the walls are covered with scriptures of the gospel. They can be found at (https://pgm.org)

He blames social media for the decline in confidence. Josh thought, "As a business, I can't just be giving away free work. But it really weighed on me." He and his wife, Danielle, started the non-profit The Teen Esteem Project. "When they see their images, in print, in a way they've never seen before...you get to see the change from the beginning of the photo shoot to the end of the photo shoot." Josh explains that it may sound like he's exaggerating but the transformation the kids go through is drastic. He says most come in to the studio whispering but during the shoot they come out of their shells, "By the end they are just dancing. We have their favorite music playing."

He has a YouTube channel and likes to do interviews with community leaders and personalities. But most importantly, Ezra loves to share his faith with others. "Christians are supposed to share the Gospel with other people and almost my whole time I've been trying to be a Christian, I've tried to help." Recently, Ezra had the chance to interview music sensation, Lauren Daigle. Ezra says his experience was 'very special!' He said Lauren was "super nice" and that he's very glad he interviewed her because very few kids, or even adults, get a chance to interview celebrities. But doing interviews is just the beginning for this young man from Lafayette, Indiana. Ezra has big plans! "I have three main things that I want to become; a teacher, a nurse and, I want to become a local weather person too."

Their Great American Family Channel is one of the fastest growing TV networks. And there's a good reason. They focus on "quality star appeal" and giving "viewers an alternative and a place to go," that offers relief from shows on other networks that "are uncomfortable and very difficult to watch," explains CEO Bill Abbott. The network targets movies and shows with positive outcomes, good news, and does not shy away from stories involving faith. "I spent my entire career in family friendly television and I just think there's such a need for our children and the world to have places to go where the story isn't always dark, that there isn't always some type of event or situation that you have to either run for the remote – or cover your eyes – or have nightmares," he chuckles, but in seriousness. A simple philosophy Bill shares, "I think there's a majority of people just looking, after a long day at the office, to come home and have something to watch and just enjoy themselves. And they don't want to be necessarily put in a position where they're going to be uncomfortable" watching a show that might cause discouragement or unpleasant echoes as bedtime approaches. Adding to its national media influence, Great American recently acquired Pure Flix, in partnership with Sony. The streaming service is known for family and faith-oriented content. And there's the Great American Faith &amp; Living channel as well.

They're important. They're important enough to prioritize. God gave us people in our lives for a reason and to help us building community. And I think sometimes because we have social media, we feel like we have community, we're looking at community, but it's not the same thing as being in community and relationship with one another," Sadie Robertson-Huff adding, "I think a lot of people fear relationships because they're hard and they're messy." Her advice? "If you put God first in your life, then all of your relationships will be better, and be blessed." She urges people to consider "God's view of relationship and community." To help make this do-able, Sadie and her husband, Christian, have put together their first jointly written book, "How to Put Love First."
