Life Changing Radio

Issue: Technology

Program: Family Life Today

Description: The dangers of the world used to be “out there.” But now the world’s dangers can waltz right into your home with or without your invitation through the use of the internet. Youth expert Brian Housman addresses parents’ concerns about cyber bullying, cyber porn, and video gaming.

Date: August 8th Airtime: 6:00 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Duration: 25:00

Issue: Human Trafficking

Program: WARV Weekend Magazine

Description: Corey Nichols from Destiny Rescue USA was our guest. He described the depth and impact of human trafficking in our world, and in our local area.

Millions of children around the world are trafficked or trapped in sexual exploitation, with little hope for freedom. Destiny Rescue USA seeks to bring people to freedom from such exploitation as they rescue, restore and protect the victims. He challenged listeners to get involved in the issue and become protectors of the innocent.

Issue: Blended Families

Program: Family Life Today

Description: Ron Deal, director of FamilyLife Blended, talked honestly about struggles that take place in a blended family between the biological children and the new spouse. While it’s tempting to want to put the children first, Deal cautioned against it. The marriage must always come first, Deal advised, and parenting must come from a position of unity.

Date: August 27th Time: 5:30 a.m. and 11:30 a.m. Duration: 25:00

Issue: Adolescence

Program: Family Life Today

Description: Some kids rebel. Others don’t. Why? Rebecca Gregoire Lindenbach, author of the book, “Why I Didn’t Rebel,” looked back on her teen years and explained what rebellion is and what it is not. Lindenbach recalled how her parents responded to her mood swings and teen angst, and encouraged parents to really listen to their teens and equip them to face life’s disappointments and challenges.
