

ISSUES/PROGRAM REPORT - FIRST QUARTER 2018

WCAX-TV

I. Programs

ACROSS THE FENCE: M-F, 12:10-12:30PM. Produced by the University of Vermont Extension Service, Across the Fence treats a wide variety of subjects ranging from agricultural and horticultural topics through health, environmental and social issues. It utilizes a variety of formats, including interviews, discussions, and demonstrations and produced on-site packages. Hosted by Judy Simpson.

YOU CAN QUOTE ME: Newsmakers and Neighbors in the News: Sunday, 7:30-8:00AM. An interview public affairs program, You Can Quote Me is moderated by Darren Perron. He interviews public figures on matters of current interest or controversy.

PUBLIC AFFAIRS SEGMENTS IN THE NEWS: M-F, 5:00-7:00PM. Public Affairs Segments may vary in length from three to seven minutes. They treat subjects in depth, often in multi-part series. They are produced by the WCAX-TV News Department and appear irregularly. Transcripts, when available, are attached.

PUBLIC SERVICE ANNOUNCEMENTS: M-Su, throughout the schedule. Public Service Announcements are aired on behalf of local and national agencies. A complete list of public service announcements and the number of times they ran is attached. In 2016 WCAX-TV ran PSA's on its primary channel equaling $1,633,400.00 in airtime.

CBS NEWS SUNDAY MORNING: Sunday, 9:00-10:30AM. News and information program hosted by Jane Pauley with news and public affairs segments produced by various CBS reporters. Profiles sports, arts, music, and special issues.

60 MINUTES: Sunday, 7:00-8:00PM. News and information program co-hosted by Leslie Stahl, Steve Kroft, Scott Pelley, Anderson Cooper and Lara Logan. Segments deal with current news topics.

FACE THE NATION: Sunday, 10:30-11:30AM. An interview and discussion broadcast with the topic determined by the news events of the week, hosted by John Dickerson.

48 HOURS: Saturday, 10:00-11:00PM. Correspondents delve into a single subject, examining it from multiple angles with its saturation coverage and action driven style.

II. PROBLEMS/PROGRAMS

ENVIRONMENT

ACROSS THE FENCE	1/3	A segment on advocating for our forests with the Vermont Monitoring Cooperative.
ACROSS THE FENCE	1/17	A segment on universal recycling creating a boon for entrepreneurs.
ACROSS THE FENCE	2/5	Jim Duncan and Jen Pontius of the Vermont Forest Ecosystem Monitoring Cooperative are guests.

AGRICULTURE

ACROSS THE FENCE	1/10	A segment on precision agriculture in manure management.
ACROSS THE FENCE	1/15	A segment on transferring the family farm.
ACROSS THE FENCE	2/6	Teaching youth about responsibility and empathy for animals with Martha Manning, 4-H educator with UVM talking about 4-H Poultry Day.
ACROSS THE FENCE	2/12	Jeff Sanders, UVM Extension Agronomy Specialist talks about precision agriculture in Vermont.
ACROSS THE FENCE	2/13	Kati Lawyer-Hale of the Gervais Family Farm in Enosburg Falls and Melissa Carabeau of Poulin Grain talk about the 2018 Vermont Dairy Producers Conference.
ACROSS THE FENCE	2/19	Jake Jacobs of the UVM agricultural risk management and crop insurance education program talks about crop insurance and who needs it and why it matters.
ACROSS THE FENCE	2/22	Jeff Sanders, UVM Extension Agronomy Specialist talks about the upcoming no-till and cover crop symposium.
ACROSS THE FENCE	3/6	Lauren Traister, UVM Extension 4-H Teen and leadership coordinator introduces us to the inaugural UVM Extension 4-H Science Pathways Café.
ACROSS THE FENCE	3/13	A segment on the use of road salt.

- ACROSS THE FENCE 3/14 Heather Darby of UVM Extension and Cary Giguere of the Vermont Agency of Agriculture, Food and Markets previews the 14th Annual Grain Growers Conference and diversifying grains for a changing climate.
- ACROSS THE FENCE 3/23 Chris Callahan, UVM Extension agricultural engineer talks about product to patent and how agricultural engineering benefits Vermonters.
- YOU CAN QUOTE ME 1/28 Darren Perron talks with Melanie Carpenter and Rosemary Gladstar of United Plant Savers about saving plants near extinction.

EDUCATION

- ACROSS THE FENCE 1/29 UVM and the National Science Foundation Team-up for Life Science Education in the BioFabLab.
- ACROSS THE FENCE 2/6 Teaching youth about responsibility and empathy for animals with Martha Manning, 4-H educator with UVM talking about 4-H Poultry Day.
- ACROSS THE FENCE 2/16 Jill Hussels, registered dietician with the New England Dairy and Food Council gives tips on proper nutrition to help children succeed in school.
- ACROSS THE FENCE 3/30 UVM Extension 4-H educator Rose Garritano talks about how volunteers in the program are supporting Vermont youth through education.

GOVERNMENT

- ACROSS THE FENCE 3/7 Dan Lerner of UVM Extension and Christy Wright of the Vermont Department of Taxes talks about the 2018 Town Officer Education conference and open meetings and public records.
- YOU CAN QUOTE ME 3/4 Vermont Tax Commissioner Kaj Samson talks about the new federal tax law that will result in a big tax hike for Vermonters and what the state is doing about it.
- YOU CAN QUOTE ME 2/25 Vermont House Speaker Mitzi Johnson talks with Darren Perron about gun control, property taxes and education financing.

YOU CAN QUOTE ME	2/4	Middlebury College political scientist Matt Dickinson discusses the State of the Union and Senator Sanders' response with Darren Perron.
YOU CAN QUOTE ME	1/28	WCAX political analysts Mike Smith and Steve Terry discuss the Governor's budget address with Darren Perron.
YOU CAN QUOTE ME	1/21	WCAX political reporter Neal Goswami talks about the recent upgrade in state revenues.
YOU CAN QUOTE ME	1/7	WCAX reporters Darren Perron, Kristin Kelly and Neal Goswami with Middlebury College political scientist Eric Davis analyze Governor Phil Scott's State of the State address.
YOU CAN QUOTE ME	1/14	WCAX political reporter Neal Goswami talks about the new sexual harassment policy at the State House and the ramification of legal marijuana.
YOU CAN QUOTE ME	1/14	Middlebury College political scientist Matt Dickinson talks about presidential politics, the government shutdown and the investigation into Russia with Darren Perron. Senator Bernie Sanders gives his thoughts too.
CHANNEL 3 NEWS	2/12	A look at the growing number of companies who are using tracking to find out when and where you open your e-mail. Complete transcript is included in this report.
FAMILY/YOUTH/ELDERLY
ACROSS THE FENCE	1/31	Dr. William Pendlebury of the UVM Memory Program discusses aging and memory issues.
ACROSS THE FENCE	2/8	A discussion and demonstration with Tai Chi Vermont and how that helps the aging with better balance and fewer falls.
YOU CAN QUOTE ME	2/18	Let's Grow Kids director Robyn Freedner-Maguire talks with Alexandra Montgomery about a new report outlining Vermont's child-care shortage, statewide and county-by county.
CHANNEL 3 NEWS	2/28	WCAX investigates how a cost of living increase in an elderly woman's social security check is backfiring on her and causing her to possibly lose her home. Complete transcript is included in this report.

HEALTH CARE

- ACROSS THE FENCE 2/7 Dr. Jan Carney of the UVM Larner College of Medicatin and Laurie Dana of the United Way of Northwest Vermont discuss the Art from the Heart Program.
- ACROSS THE FENCE 2/27 Information on how to become an organ donor in Vermont.
- YOU CAN QUOTE ME 2/18 Vermont Health Commissioner Dr. Mark Levine talks about this flu season.
- CHANNEL 3 NEWS 2/15 WCAX anchor Kristin Kelly talks with a family about their choice to use high-tech genetic testing before trying to have a baby after their first baby died from a rare genetic disease. Complete transcript is included in this report.

CRIME

- YOU CAN QUOTE ME 3/11 Darren Perron presented a greatest hits compilation of Jennifer Costa's investigative reports.
- YOU CAN QUOTE ME 2/25 Burlington Police Chief Brandon Del Pozo and Jay Diaz of the ACLU over the rights of the ACLU in obtaining body cam footage of the officers.
- YOU CAN QUOTE ME 1/21 VSEU Executive Director Steve Howard discusses his union's opposition to the building of a 925 bed corrections complex in Vermont.
- YOU CAN QUOTE ME 1/21 Former US Attorney Jerry O'Neill talks about the recent officer-involved shooting in Montpelier.
- CHANNEL 3 NEWS 2/1 Jennifer Costa discovered that with the legalization of marijuana, some of Vermont's K-9s will not be allowed on the job and newer dogs are not being trained to sniff out the still federally illegal drug. Complete transcript is included in this report.
- CHANNEL 3 NEWS 2/5 WCAX Investigates explored the actual dangers in allowing sex offenders back into society and whether changes are needed in their treatment. Complete transcript is included in this report.
- CHANNEL 3 NEWS 2/8 WCAX Investigates discovered that one rental property in Burlington has the highest number of emergency calls. We looked into who lives there and why so many calls. Complete transcript is included in this report.

CHANNEL 3 NEWS 2/22 Darren Perron reports on a major crimes cold case that resulted in a shooting victim from NYC, dumped in Vermont, being identified and re-united with his family, almost 45 years after his disappearance but still no clues on who killed him and why. Complete transcript is included in this report.

CHANNEL 3 NEWS 2/26 WCAX Investigates reports on the disturbing new trend of people sending unsolicited explicit photos to people, mostly women, on dating sites and what prompts them to do it and whether it's actually illegal. Complete transcript is included in this report.

POLITICS

YOU CAN QUOTE ME 3/4 Candidates for Burlington Mayor Carina Driscoll (I) and Miro Weinberger (D) are profiled by Darren Perron.

YOU CAN QUOTE ME 2/25 James Ehlers (D) candidate for Vermont Governor talks with Darren Perron about why he's running.

YOU CAN QUOTE ME 2/11 Darren Perron and Eva McKend host a Burlington Mayoral candidate forum with Miro Weinberger (D), Carina Driscoll (I) and Infinite Culcleasure (I).

YOU CAN QUOTE ME 2/4 Darren Perron talks with Christine Hallquist, a transgender who is considering running for Governor of Vermont.

ECONOMY

YOU CAN QUOTE ME 3/4 VT Air Guard Brigadier General Joel Clark, Colonel Hank Harder and Lt. Colonel Daniel Finnegan square off with F-35 opponent Jimmy Leas and GBIC president Frank Cioffi also comments.

DEVELOPMENT/HOUSING

YOU CAN QUOTE ME 1/21 Winooski City Manager Jesse Baker talks about new developments in the city and what they are doing to fill vacancies.

“Drug Dogs” aired on Thursday, February 1, Channel 3 News at 5:30 PM

PITTSFORD, Vt. (WCAX) Vermont State Police K-9 Ruger just found a backpack full of heroin hidden in a dryer. He's three weeks into drug school at the Vermont Police Academy. For decades, the state has depended on these dogs to find illegal drugs when the cops can't. But Rocky, Ruger and A.J. are part of a new generation of drug-sniffing dogs.

"He'll never be trained on marijuana," said Ofc. Ryan Prince of the Springfield Police Department.

That's right-- law enforcement is teaching their drug dogs to ignore pot.

Robert Ryan/K-9 Trainer: If they show any interest in it at all, they're told 'No!' and to leave it alone.

Reporter Jennifer Costa: Is that a big change for you after so many years teaching marijuana?

Robert Ryan: Yes, it is.

Revolutionary change actually. For years, Vermont police officers have used the smell of marijuana and alerts from pot-detecting K-9s as probable cause to get into tens of thousands of cars. That's also how a lot of drug arrests are made.

"This gives us the nexus to get in that vehicle," Vergennes Police Chief George Merkel said.

"And no more. It's gone."

A critical tool largely off the table come July 1 for roadside cops at traffic stops. They will need more evidence than the smell of pot at scenes. And Vermont's 23 marijuana dogs could become a liability in those situations.

"Dogs do not converse with us. They don't put up one paw for heroin and the other one for marijuana," Merkel said. "It presents a huge problem for us."

Merkel tells us a common tactic of drug traffickers is to put a legal amount of marijuana next to a secret compartment of illegal drugs like heroin.

"How can I say that the heroin is what the dog alerted on versus the marijuana?" Merkel asked.

He worries if the K-9 was trained to detect drugs including marijuana, a good defense attorney could raise reasonable doubt about the search, arguing it's possible the legal substance is the only reason the dog found the illegal substance.

"Officers have a tough enough time as it is," Merkel said. "We don't need this right now."

"Will it happen? Could it happen? Absolutely," Chittenden County State's Attorney Sarah George said. "I think that that concern is legitimate."

Vermont's busiest state's attorney tells us there's no doubt the move to legal pot will limit car searches, which could make it easier for criminals to get away with drug trafficking.

"I'm sure it will be something that's challenged because it hasn't happened yet. I don't know what the court would do," George said.

George says predicting how judges across 14 counties will rule is anyone's guess at this point. But she tells us large-scale drug seizures are usually the result of lengthy investigations, not a lucky car stop.

"If that ends up being harder for us to find then, that would definitely be an unfortunate side effect, but I don't know how often that is happening," she said.

Still, all of this uncertainty is exactly why Vermont's Police Academy decided to stop training new K-9s to find marijuana three years ago.

Jennifer Costa: So you saw this coming?

Robert Ryan: Yes.

K-9 trainer Ryan says now training focuses solely on cocaine, crack cocaine, ecstasy, methamphetamine and heroin. He tells us trainers in some states claim to be able to erase marijuana from a K-9's scent vocabulary.

"I am just not willing to give that a try," Ryan said.

Ryan believes desensitizing a dog is bogus and it's too risky in the courtroom.

"I think it would be difficult to convince a jury that a dog that had been trained on marijuana for years... that you can say beyond any doubt that the dog did not alert on it," Ryan said.

Police tell us legal pot will not put marijuana-sniffing dogs out of work. Most of these K-9s are cross-trained for patrol. I'm told they'll stay busy with school sweeps, cases involving federal drug warrants and juvenile car stops where pot is still illegal.

"Risk to Re-offend" aired Monday, February 5, Channel 3 News at 5:30 PM

BURLINGTON, Vt. (WCAX) Their crimes are horrendous and can leave victims with lasting trauma. We know many sex offenders will get out of prison and move back into our communities. So just how dangerous is this criminal group? And does the treatment they get in prison actually prevent them from reoffending outside prison walls?

Right now, there are about 1,150 registered sex offenders living in nearly every town in Vermont. WCAX News often reports when a high-risk sex offender is released. And that notification can cause panic in a neighborhood. But should it? What our Jennifer Costa learned about the "Risk to Reoffend."

"This kind of crime, no matter how you look at it, is wrong," said a man we're identifying as John Doe.

Doe is a convicted sex offender. He spent two years in a Vermont prison for a sex crime involving a child. We are masking his identity to protect his victim.

"Your mind can make you think that what you're doing is OK," Doe said. "Part of my learning has been that there's rationalization and justification for actions that are unconscionable."

We interviewed Doe because he can provide insight into a world where the public and our cameras are not welcome-- inside sex offender treatment. Your tax dollars pay for the program, $434,375 a year. So what is it and does it actually keep your family any safer?

"We're trying to help offenders learn how to manage their thinking and their feelings," said Kim Bushey, the program services director for the Vermont Department of Corrections.

Bushey oversees programming in Vermont's prisons including treatment for sexual abusers. She says the goal is to prevent them from reoffending when they move back into your neighborhood.

"The fact that they have a feeling does not mean that they have to behave in that way," Bushey said.

There are 1,698 inmates behind bars in Vermont. We discovered 24 percent are charged or convicted of sex crimes. Yet only 57 inmates-- or 14 percent-- are currently enrolled in sex offender treatment. This does not mean the rest are refusing. Offenders are not eligible for the program until they serve their minimum sentence. Others finished it and are waiting on approved housing to get out of jail. DOC could not tell us how many sex offenders turn down treatment. John Doe waited 18 months.

"I believe in treatment," he said. "I think it's a good idea."

Reporter Jennifer Costa: Do the inmates get textbooks? Are there tests?

Karen Bushey: There's homework.

Treatment is group-based and about six hours a week. All sex offenders have to complete it or risk serving their maximum sentences. Bushey says Vermont pays the University of Cincinnati

Corrections Institute for its curriculum. They wouldn't let us show it to you, but we did learn it teaches offenders how to identify sexual triggers, control urges, refuse risky social situations and manage their time and emotions.

But could it also be a con for early release?

"Many of the people say they're with the program because they want to get out," John Doe said. He claims some inmates tell treatment staff what they want to hear, not what what's really going on in their heads.

"I had one guy come up to me and tell me he was seduced by the little girl. I was like, gimme a break," Doe said. "There is no way to evaluate the internal changes going on because there's no faith that anything they say will not be held against them."

We're told programming takes six months to two years depending on risk level. The treatment team decides when an inmate is done. There is little room for confidentiality throughout this process, leaving some inmates with little faith in the system.

"They're really not psychologists," Doe said. "They're a pipeline back into the system."

This allegation of distrust raises the question: what incentive is there for sex offenders to be honest when their freedom is on the line?

"If they're not honest, then the risk is that we're not able to help them manage some of their riskiest thoughts and feelings," Bushey said.

The program is based at Northwest Correctional in Swanton and participants are segregated from general population. They also have to get a prison job and work on their educational goals.

Bushey tells us of the men who start the sexual abuser program, 75 percent will complete it.

"I'd say it's better than no treatment," John Doe said.

Doe did not complete it. He got kicked out two weeks shy of his theoretical end date. He didn't want to talk about why.

"If you have a good attitude, even in a program that's not totally successful, you can make tremendous progress," he said.

Jennifer Costa: Is there any evidence this actually works?

Karen Bushey: There is evidence that it works.

That evidence, we discovered, is not based on Vermont cases. Vermont does not track success here. So how can Vermont taxpayers be sure it's a wise investment?

"I am confident we are adhering to the evidence," Bushey said.

Bushey points to robust national and international research that examines multiple studies. It concludes treated sex offenders are 37-43 percent less likely to reoffend than those who did not get treatment.

Jennifer Costa: Once a sex offender, always a sex offender?

Karen Bushey: I don't think that's true.

Bushey tells us sex offenders have the lowest rate of reoffending compared to all other criminals. And she says the majority do not have deviant sexual attractions. Rather their sex crimes tied to poor management of impulsivity, hostility or cognitive and emotional challenges.

"It was a blessing that I was able to confront this," John Doe said.

Doe is now free. He has to register as a sex offender but he tells us he does not think about finding new victims. And he credits that, in part, to treatment.

"I continue to want to do better as a human being, to not repeat and hurt anybody again," he said. There is a waiting list for treatment.

Why do some sexual offenders refuse treatment and what does that choice mean for your safety?

Right now, 411 inmates in Vermont are charged or convicted of a sex crime. Sex offender must undergo treatment to get out of jail early. If they say no, they're labeled high risk and are required to serve their maximum sentences.

Vermont DOC officials cannot tell us exactly how many sex offenders refuse treatment. But they say programming is robust and some offenders don't want to do the work. Others do not want to confront their deviant sexual behavior or believe it's a problem. And some would rather serve their full sentences to avoid DOC supervision when they are out.

John Doe says most prisoners don't trust DOC with their sex secrets. He says admitting you're a sex offender makes you a target for violent attacks in prison. He also tells us it's common for families to disown sex offenders. Without support, he says it's hard to find housing, a job or even therapy. Many resort to isolation and he says that's a dangerous thing.

"Anger often rules. So you're letting people back out without having dealt with the issues and the problems and dealing with them in an environment is contrary to what you want to accomplish," Doe said.

Jennifer Costa: Does the public need to fear sex offenders when they are released from prison?

Kim Bushey: The evidence is that sex offenders have a lower rate of recidivism or reoffending than any other group... We supervise them more stringently and, frankly, for longer, partly because of the sentiment and the fear.

In Vermont, all sex offenders must register. You can find their mug shots, crimes and risk level online. Their addresses are not listed.

“Nightmare on Church Street” aired Thursday, February 8, Channel 3 News at 5:30 PM BURLINGTON, Vt. (WCAX) Police bodycam images from last August show officers swarming an apartment building at 184 Church Street after a 911 call for a domestic dispute with injuries. WCAX News was outside the building as cops hauled away one guy and treated another for a puncture wound. At the time, police told us 184 Church Street is the number one address Burlington Police get called to, a so-called nuisance property.

"Not all properties are created equal. There are properties that we receive more criminal complaints than others," Burlington Police Chief Brandon del Pozo said.

This one tops the list. It's owned by the Handy family's Sisters & Brothers Investment Group. The 26 tenants made more than 140 calls to police in 2015, tying up critical resources.

"They wish they didn't always get that call. That doesn't mean there's not a genuine problem there," del Pozo said.

"People just mess with people's lives," said Joseph "Birdman" Allen, who says he's had urine and feces thrown on him by a neighbor. "So I call the police all the time."

"We have had reports of machete fights, knife fights and someone had a gun. It's very difficult to tell people, 'Don't call police,'" said David Greenberg, a lawyer for the landlord.

Greenberg says in 2016, code enforcement sent a letter identifying 184 Church as a "problem property" due to several incidents requiring "city intervention." He says if his clients couldn't get the calls to stop, the city threatened consequences like suspending their right to rent.

"We were sending notices to everybody-- a written notice to everybody that we must not have this type of behavior," Greenberg said.

Greenberg says when the warnings didn't work, eviction was the only option left, given the pressure from the city to end the disruptions.

"The only way we can see, is we need to pick out the people that they keep identifying as causing trouble," he said.

Greenberg sent eight so-called troublemakers eviction notices. And that's when things went from bad to worse. One of those tenants sued the city and won in December.

"The goal of the city was for the landlord to improve their property, not for them to retaliate against tenants," said Mayor Miro Weinberger, D-Burlington.

Now, the city and the cops are putting the blame back on the landlord. They say while the building is up to code, it's run-down and easy to trespass and deal drugs, making it a haven for crime.

"We also expect collaboration and cooperation on the part of a landlord. We don't want our landlords evicting people because those people are fighting with other people in the building," del Pozo said.

But those who dodged the evictions admit life is more peaceful now.

"I'm more safer," Allen said. "We the tenants in here, we're getting along a little bit better."

"It's a difficult building but it does serve a purpose," Greenberg said.

A one-bedroom in the building goes for about $800 in a part of the city where one-bedrooms typically rent for more than $1,400. Greenberg says his clients rent to the mentally ill, the drug addicts, the sex offenders and the criminals most landlords turn away. He claims even the swankiest building wouldn't solve the problems the city is asking his clients to.

"My client, and almost any landlord in Burlington does not have the social services and skills to deal with the problems that this particular type of apartment house brings with it," Greenberg said.

He says if the city pushes too hard, landlords who rent to troubled, low-income tenants could decide it's not worth the hassle and instead invest in luxury apartments with jacked up rents. A move that would likely put tenants like John Bartlett, who got an apartment here because of an eviction, out on the street.

"Fridge empty... poor as a mouse," Bartlett said. "As we can see, there are holes in the cheese." We checked in with police about call volume since those so-called troublemaker tenants were kicked out-- just 69 calls last year. That's half of what it was when they lived in the building.

"Email Bugs" aired Monday, February 12, Channel 3 News at 5:30 PM

BURLINGTON, Vt. (WCAX) Do you want to know exactly when a friend or colleague opens your email? How about where they are when they do? Free services now allow us to do a little spying through the email we send. But it's raising some questions about privacy.

A growing number of people are using this technology. One More Company OMC, a company that makes software to detect this kind of email bugging, released a report last year. It says marketers put bugs in virtually all of the email they send. But surprisingly, last year 16 percent of all conversational email-- the messages you send to friends, family and colleagues-- was also tracked. And that's up from 10 percent the year before.

So could someone you know be tracking you?

We do it every day: we send email; we get email.

"Usually email is a private conversation," said Jonathan Rajewski, a digital forensics expert at Champlain College in Burlington.

Usually. But experts say increasingly there's the possibility your email could be bugged, embedded with a tiny tracker.

"Little creepy!" said Julia Termine of Burlington.

"That's my privacy!" said Vonae Thibou of Burlington. "I don't want people tracking what I do."

Marketers have actually been using the technology for years to better target their pitches. You know, those emails offering discounts you get after ordering something online or signing up for a store rewards card.

"It tells marketers that consumers are interacting with their product," Rajewski explained. Rajewski says the tracking technology can alert the sender every time you open the email, what device you're using and your location. And it's crossing over from a sales and marketing tool to something regular people are using to bug what they send, thanks to free web browser plug-ins you can use with your email.

"I've had several students send me messages that were bugged," Rajewski said.

Not a big deal, he says, if you don't mind someone looking to see when, how and where you are when you're looking at their message. But let's say you don't want someone-- like an ex or a creditor-- to know where you are.

"It could be a privacy concern," Rajewski said. "It's kind of done in a very clandestine way. They're not telling you they're tracking you."

Freaked out? We'll show you ways to try to detect trackers. Remember those students who sent Prof. Rajewski bugged emails?

Reporter Kristin Kelly: You knew you were being tracked?

Jonathan Rajewski: Oh, yeah.

He says the trackers go to work sending back an alert when you display images in an email, like those messages you get from retailers. The trackers people are embedding in their emails are just a tiny 1-pixel image you can't see. So he says you can view your emails without loading the images. And you can try to find that tiny tracker by finding its big line of code.

"You can see there's actually a tracking link which I redacted a little bit," Rajewski said, pointing at his computer screen.

You can see all of the code in an email by going to "show original," which is on the right side of your Gmail dashboard.

But he says with technology evolving all the time, you have to be aware that tracking will, too. And that means if you respond to an email with something polite but untrue like, "I'm sorry, I'm just seeing your email now," even though you've looked at that email three times in the last three weeks, the person at the other end could know you're fibbing.

"You kinda can't hide behind that curtain. They can see if you opened it or not. You kind of have to either respond promptly or avoid getting into that lie scheme," said Zeb Bolduc of Worcester. Rajewski says you also need to be aware that if you choose to bug emails you send, the service you use could be capturing data about you. Check all privacy policies to be sure.

"Better Babies" aired Thursday, February 15, Channel 3 News at 5:30 PM

COLCHESTER, Vt. (WCAX) A high-tech test is offering hope to couples struggling to have a family. The process called pre-implantation genetic screening, allows fertility experts to pull a few cells from an embryo that can answer critical questions about its chances for survival.

"I don't think you can really understand what it's like to lose a child unless you've been there," said Kelsey Mallabar.

Mallabar's daughter, Scarlett, was supposed to be two-years-old now. "They had a whole NICU team in the room," Mallabar recalled. But the little girl lived less than a day. "They told us she wasn't going to cry and we did hear her cry."

Scarlett's parents knew she faced tough odds. When Mallabar was 25-weeks pregnant, doctors found a problem that indicated Scarlett likely had a rare and deadly genetic disorder impacting her kidneys called Autosomal recessive polycystic disease (ARPKD). "You want your baby to be OK, and she wasn't," Mallabar said.

Born a few weeks before her due date, Scarlett struggled to survive. "She was suffering more than any child should," Mallabar said.

"The hardest thing to do was to stop fighting for her," said Justin Mallabar, Scarlett's dad.

Twenty-one hours after she was born Scarlett was taken off life support. "That was really, really hard," Mallabar said.

"Toughest day of my life, definitely," Justin added.

Testing confirmed Scarlett did have ARPKD and that both Justin and Kelsey are carriers of the gene. Doctors told them they had a one in four chance of having a baby with ARPKD -- tough odds. But doctors told them they could try to have a child again. They wanted to, but they lost another pregnancy. So they turned to a high tech test called pre-implantation genetic diagnosis at Northeastern Reproductive Medicine, a fertility clinic in Colchester. "It took us a little while to embrace the idea," Mallabar said. "You know, this makes or breaks our family."

"It is exciting technology," said Dr. Jennifer Brown, a member of the clinic's team.

Here's how the technique works. An embryologist uses a laser to peel off five to seven cells from a five-day-old embryo. The cells are taken from the part that would become the placenta and are sent for testing. The other side of the embryo with the lighter mass in it is what would become the baby.

Reporter Kristin Kelly: Those five to seven cells can reveal all kinds of things about genetics or chromosomal abnormalities?

Dr. Jennifer Brown: Correct. So a single gene disorder would run through every cell.

And that small sample can reveal what a couple is concerned about -- in the Mallabar's case -- which embryos have ARPKD. For another couple it might be a chromosomal abnormality like those that often lead to miscarriages, or to Down syndrome, or just whether the embryo is male or female.

"It's an amazing option for a couple that needs it for the right reasons," Dr. Brown said. She says it allows parents to choose the embryo most likely to implant successfully, and be born healthy. But the the hype surrounding the pre-implantation procedure can also be controversial according to Dr. Leah Burke, who teaches ethics at UVM Medical School and is a genetics expert at the Medical Center. "People think of it as quote - test tube babies and so its thought of differently," she said.

But she says while the testing has become ever more high tech, pregnant women have been tested for genetic and chromosomal issues for decades. The difference now is couples can make difficult personal decisions before a woman is actually pregnant. "You are making a decision about a child -- a future child -- and so that that is much more difficult, and it's much easier for people to criticize," Dr. Burke said.

"I say to those people -- walk a day in my shoes," Mallabar said. She and her husband committed to the expensive, months-long process to create 13 embryos. The testing found six were free of the ARPKD that Scarlett had.

"It's been the best thing that's happened to us in a long, long time," Mallabar said. "It's mentally, physically, emotionally difficult, but it doesn't compare to what we've been through."

They implanted one, and they say without that testing they wouldn't be getting set to welcome a little girl this spring. "We are so thankful. We are just so thankful," Mallabar said. "All we want is a baby that's healthy and alive and that can somewhat complete our family, because its never going to be 100-percent complete without Scarlett here."

The baby is due in May, and of course WCAX will keep you updated. As for the question about how much this kind of technology actually costs. At Northeastern Reproductive Medicine, in vitro fertilization to create the embryos starts at $7,000. The testing on the embryos costs extra and starts at $5,000. Some patients with specific diagnoses might be covered by insurance.

“Reasonable Doubt” aired Monday, February 19, Channel 3 News at 5:30 PM
BERLIN, Vt. (WCAX) Allegations of plagiarism and lying at the Vermont Police Academy three years ago are coming back to haunt a Berlin cop now.

It's been a rough start to 2018 for the Washington County prosecutor's office. Last month, the state's attorney resigned amid allegations of mismanagement. Now, the new chief prosecutor has cases crumbling because of one cop with an alleged credibility issue.

"There are consequences beyond just this one officer," Washington County State's Attorney Rory Thibault said.

Berlin Officer Joseph Carriveau graduated from the Vermont Police Academy in 2015. He's a cop who's active on social media and engaged in community policing.

"A lot of compliments from the citizens on his work," said Ture Nelson, the chair of the Berlin Select Board.

"By all accounts, this is a good police officer," said T.J. Donovan, D-Vt. Attorney General. A good cop now fighting for his job.

"This officer's career may effectively be over because of something that happened three years ago. Not because of something he did while actually wearing a uniform," Thibault said. "That makes it all the more difficult."

Thibault-- Washington County's newest state's attorney-- is calling for a formal investigation into Cadet Carriveau, not Officer Carriveau.

We found a paper trail that reveals Carriveau allegedly plagiarized a paper on the use of deadly force while at the police academy, and then lied about it. He was suspended from the 99th class and fired from the Northfield Police Department.

"It sounds like he made a mistake," Donovan said.

But he still became a cop. Since the Academy chose not to expel Carriveau for plagiarism, he was allowed re-enroll in the 100th class. He was hired by Berlin Police, graduated and certified as a police officer. And the town was happy to have him.

"We talked to him quite extensively during his interview about what happened at the police academy," Nelson said.

Reporter Jennifer Costa: Do you think this affects his ability to be a police officer?

Ture Nelson: I don't think it will.

But in August, Carriveau made a high-profile arrest. The Randolph Police chief was accused of domestic assault. When the case went to court, the defense dug up Carriveau's history at the police academy. It was the first time his disciplinary record came up in court. The goal was to undermine Carriveau's credibility, essentially questioning if he lied once, could he lie again? It worked. Then-state's attorney Scott Williams declined to prosecute. The case against the chief was dropped.

"To hang a dismissal on Officer Carriveau I don't think was fair," Donovan said.

But it highlights why the current state's attorney cannot count on Carriveau now.

"A law enforcement officer's credibility is integral to the entire justice system," Thibault said. "If we can't have trust and faith in what our officers are providing to us, then we can't in good faith to file the charges."

Thibault says even if he believes Carriveau is a good cop, he's got to consider whether future juries will be distracted by defense attempts to discredit him.

"It affects whether a victim sees justice in a case," Thibault said. "And it presents a risk that no prosecutor wants to have."

Thibault tells us he didn't know about Carriveau's credibility issue until it surfaced a few months ago in that high-profile court case. He says even as a deputy prosecutor he was kept in the dark. But we discovered his former boss did know and Scott Williams chose not to disclose it. The Northfield chief disclosed the information in an email sent to the former prosecutor back in 2015. "Well, you got to let the defense know. That's just the rules of the game," Donovan said.

Jennifer Costa: Could this put his cases at risk for the last three years?

Rory Thibault: I believe it does.

When Thibault took over after Williams' sudden departure, he had his staff review all Carriveau's cases. Some had to be dismissed. Only cases with evidence, not just Carriveau's word, were salvaged.

Carriveau and his attorney declined to speak to us on camera. Carriveau was a cop in Barre City, too. He resigned last November and returned to the Berlin Police Department where he's a part-time officer. The prosecutor stopped taking his cases and he's now on unpaid leave pending the investigation.

"We owe it to people in Washington County, residents in Berlin and Barre City where he's been an officer to understand just what happened, how it happened and what his involvement was in the process," Thibault said. "I think we owe it to the officer, as well. This is his career and livelihood on the line."

Thibault wants the Vermont Criminal Justice Training Council to review whether Carriveau was certified in error based on these allegations of plagiarism and dishonesty or if he should be decertified as a police officer now. Vermont's attorney general supports the inquiry.

A recruit can be expelled from the police academy for plagiarism, but it's a decision made by the full Criminal Justice Training Council. In Carriveau's case, the academy did not think it had enough evidence for expulsion, so the director suspended him instead, which means he could not graduate from the 99th class. Carriveau originally fought the suspension. Then, he waived his right to a hearing after discovering there was no way to bar him from re-enrolling in the 100th class.

We learned a suspension does not prevent prospective cops from getting other police departments to send them back to the academy.

"What would have acted as a bar to admission, would have been that expulsion. That did not occur. That was not requested," Donovan said.

“Getting Away with Murder” aired Thursday, February 22, Channel 3 News at 5:30 PM NEW YORK CITY (WCAX) Exclusive details in a nearly 50-year-old cold case as Vermont investigators piece together a murder mystery. Our Darren Perron has been working on bringing you this story for the last seven months.

Vincent Palmieri had movie-star good looks. He loved art, music, food, sports and his big family. Then suddenly he vanished. Where did he go and what happened to him? His family is now finally getting some answers.

Nobody leaves Angela Medugno's house hungry, especially her big Italian family. She grew up with eight siblings in New York City. They're tight and they break bread often.

"We all took care of each other," Angela said.

But there's been an empty chair at the dinner table for more than 45 years.

"He was my heart," Angela said.

May 2, 1972: A typical morning at their Staten Island home. Angela's dad, Vincent Palmieri, left for work, a printing job in Manhattan 22 miles away.

"I said, 'I love you, Daddy.' And he said, 'I love you, too, Angel,'" Angela recalled.

Those would be their last words to each other.

"We didn't know what happened," Angela said. "It was always a mystery to us."

Vincent's car was found at the airport, but no sign of him. Days turned into weeks turned into years. New York City Police stopped searching. The family never did.

"I didn't want to believe it," said Sal Palmieri, Vincent's son.

Sal spent his teen years looking everywhere and anywhere.

"I would look in dumpsters, I would look in crazy places thinking maybe I'll find him," he said.

"He wasn't the kind of guy to leave his family," said Patrick Palmieri, Vincent's son.

Patrick said his dad's disappearance forced the three oldest kids to get jobs. His mom, Annette, fell into a deep depression. She never got over it. Annette and Vincent were childhood sweethearts.

"I went from being a kid to trying to be a man," Patrick said. "We never forgot him. Never, ever, ever forgot him."

What the family didn't know was that the mystery surrounding their dad's disappearance had also become a mystery for law enforcement more than 300 miles away in Barnet, Vermont.

June 1, 1972: A fisherman made a gruesome discovery in the Passumpsic River. The body of a man who'd been shot several times in the head.

"This is the point where they recovered him from the river," Vermont State Police Capt. J.P. Sinclair said, pointing at the river.

But who was he?

"He had no personal possessions on him, no identification, no wallet," Sinclair said.

Investigators had little to go on. No one recognized him. There were no missing people matching his description in all of Vermont and all of New England. What they did have were fingerprints-- a miracle really since he'd been in the water for about a month.

"It's a forensic challenge. It is in 2018; it was much more so in 1972," Sinclair said.

There was no digital database then. That meant investigators could only do side by side fingerprint comparisons by hand. And with no idea where the mystery man was from or how he ended up here, it was like a needle in a haystack. His body was buried in an unmarked grave at Lakeview Cemetery in Burlington. His fingerprints were filed away along with photographs of his two tattoos.

"They knew even in an era, it wasn't a computerized era, how important it could be that this could be the only thing to lead to his identity and they were right," Sinclair said.

But that would take 35 years. Vermont's Major Crime Unit reopened the cold case in 2006.

Investigators pored over what little evidence they had, and in 2007, finally, a big break. New technology led to a fingerprint match! They identified the victim as Vincent Palmieri. But then another roadblock.

"Unfortunately, we found that the records related to this had been lost in a fire," Sinclair said.

So, tracking down Palmieri's family would not be easy. In fact, it took another seven years and a little bit of luck. A worker at the Vermont Crime Information Center got an idea to search on Ancestry.com and bam! A hit! A recently uploaded family tree.

"This was the family we had been looking for a long time," Sinclair said.

"Forty-five years ago he leaves and 45 years later you wake up from this dream and you're told he's buried in Vermont," son Patrick said.

But who killed Vincent Palmieri and why?

"There was possibly some connection to other homicides being investigated in Massachusetts," Sinclair said.

Some evidence points to a mob-style killing: the several shots to the back of the head and his body dumped in a river in rural Vermont, so far from home. But there's nothing linking Palmieri to any organized crime in the '70s.

"Sometimes people are in the wrong place at the wrong time," Sinclair said.

Sinclair says solving this 1972 murder poses major challenges. It's possible Palmieri's killer and any witnesses are dead, too. Was he even killed in Vermont? Police just don't know.

"I know I'll never get these answers and it hurts. It hurts bad," son Sal said. "And it's something I have to live with the rest of my life."

"He wasn't alive but we were going to have him with us again," son Vincent Palmieri Jr. said. The family exhumed Vincent's body from the Burlington grave and brought their dad home to New York City late last year.

"I know you're happy to have Daddy with you now, Ma," Vincent Jr. said at his parents' grave. Laid to rest by his sweetheart's side.

"That's the good out of all of this. We have a place to go and come and pay our respects," Vincent Jr. said.

"People say, 'Well, now you have closure.' People who don't understand. I say, 'No, I don't have closure. What I have is the beginning of some healing,'" Patrick said. "It's the beginning of the healing."

The original detective on this case still lives in Vermont. He helped the Major Crime Unit with the case after it was reopened. Now in his 80s, I'm told it was one that haunted him for years and that he's relieved Vincent was finally identified and is finally back home.

"Exposed" aired Monday, February 26, Channel 3 News at 5:30 PM

BURLINGTON, Vt. (WCAX) Unsolicited sexually explicit photos-- you may have heard them called something else, a slang term WCAX News won't use. So why are people sending these unwanted naked shots? And is it really any different than flashing someone on the street?

Jennifer Costa investigates.

X-rated images popping up on your screen!

"It's vulgar," said Heather Machia, who received an unwanted nude photo.

It's an aggressive dating tactic becoming all too common.

"That unsolicited sexually explicit picture," said Margo Batsie of Steps to End Domestic Violence. "They wouldn't do this behavior walking down the street but they feel emboldened to do it online."

Batsie partners with Vermont schools to teach students about healthy dating relationships. She's worried about how often kids are sending shocking, personal pictures and the shame associated with getting one.

"It almost feels like I'm going to be super-questioned if I tell people this happened," Batsie said.

"What did I do to provoke it?"

Unlike sexting, this behavior is not consensual. She says it's also not flirting.

"It's kind of like a punch to the face," Fox Chate said.

Victims like Chate say the visceral violation is hard to shake.

"It is sexual harassment," Chate said. "You are receiving something that you didn't ask for, that you didn't want and you are forced to look at that picture when you open it, even if it's just for a brief second."

And experts tell us for some that can be emotionally and psychologically traumatic.

"They have the power over you and your mental health. And you sort of lose your control over that," Chate said.

"It's just uncomfortable," Olivia Cefalu said.

Cefalu still remembers the first vulgar snapshot texted to her in high school-- a male friend's exposed crotch.

"It was weird to see him the next day at school," she said. "How do you talk to someone about that?"

Batsie says among high school kids, she finds girls are sending unsolicited naked shots almost as frequently as the boys. But in the adult dating world, men seem to be the more egregious offenders. Some polls suggest up to 77 percent of single adult women say they've been cyber flashed.

"It's disgusting," Heather Machia said.

Machia signed up for an online dating site to find a soulmate. Instead, she was shocked to get an inbox full of groin shots from strangers.

"I'm like, that's not how I want to start talking to you," Machia said. "Like he's implying I don't want you, I just want sex."

"Whether you are looking for a hookup or not doesn't mean you want an unsolicited d--- pic," Cefalu said.

Many dating websites and apps ban sexually explicit photos. But users tell us it doesn't matter.

"Nobody follows those rules," Chate said. "You will create a profile and the moment you do, you'll have pictures sent to you."

We wanted to test the theory. Our Jennifer Costa set up a profile with no personal information other than her age. Still, it took less than an hour for a stranger to send her a completely nude full-body shot-- an image she didn't ask for and couldn't protect herself from getting.

Reporter Jennifer Costa: Is this behavior illegal?

Chittenden County Prosecutor Sarah George: Yes.

Vermont does not have a specific statute against cyber flashing. But Chittenden County's chief prosecutor says disorderly conduct by electronic means would fit the crime. Keep in mind that's not sex charge. However, if a flasher exposed himself in public, George says that would be a clear case of lewd and lascivious conduct. So why the double standard?

"I think that our laws are often kind of behind the times," George said.

"As a culture, start saying this is unacceptable behavior. That, to me, is the only way a behavior will stop," Batsie said.

Batsie says the private violation via phone or computer should be no different from the public spectacle. And she says victims should not be embarrassed to report these unsolicited pics to police.

Jennifer Costa: Is this something that you would charge?

Sarah George: Yes. Absolutely... I think that we've gotten too comfortable, in this society, of allowing that to happen. And people have certainly gotten too comfortable in doing it.

Something to consider-- anytime you are sending a sexually explicit picture, it's a huge risk. You lose control of who will see it or where it ends up. And you're not safe just because you are sitting behind a keyboard. There are now apps that can track where a photo originated.

“Benefit Backfire” aired Wednesday, February 28, Channel 3 News at 5:30 PM
WATERBURY, Vt. (WCAX) Trudy Agres of Bennington is a proud woman.

"I'm going to be 73 in June. I may not look it, but I am," she said.

Like many seniors, she lives on a fixed income which means every penny counts.

"You really have to budget otherwise you are going to be under," Trudy said.

She's gotten good at stretching her Social Security. It covers her bills but barely. In January, a 2 percent cost-of-living adjustment by the federal government meant Trudy's check was about to get bigger by $25 a month. Good news, right?

"I wish that they never gave me that extra money," she said.

She's now learning it could cost her everything. Just days after the Social Security increase, a notice arrived in the mail.

"I thought it was a mistake," Trudy said.

It was a letter from the state explaining Trudy was no longer eligible for the Specified Low-Income Medicare Beneficiary Program. That covers her Medicare Part B Premium-- basically her health care. So a tiny boost in Social Security now meant she made "too much money" for help.

"Putting me over their limit of $5.21," she said. "I tried to bargain with them. I said, 'That doesn't make any sense.'"

Just $5 over and everything changed. That raise that was supposed to make her life more affordable, will actually make finances tighter than ever. Social Security will now charge Trudy $134 a month to cover the cost the state used to pay for her Medicare premium.

"I am devastated about it," Trudy said. "I really am."

"Unfortunately, our hands are tied in a lot of ways," said Cass Madison of the Vermont Department of Health Access.

Federal program means federal rules.

"I wished that I had a better answer for her," Madison said.

Madison heads up Healthcare Eligibility and Enrollment for the state Department of Health Access. She says every time the feds adjust the cost of living, Vermont must recalculate seniors' eligibility based on their new, higher incomes.

"Sometimes that can push people right over that edge," Madison said.

It's often called the "benefits cliff." Once your income is over the threshold-- even by a buck-- you're cut off.

"This is an issue that policymakers and state leaders have been talking about and struggling with for a long time because it is a frustrating situation for Vermonters in need," Madison said.

"Are there other people like me? I'm sure. I'm sure there are many, many around the state," Trudy said.

About 143,000 Vermonters receive Social Security benefits. And more than 130,000 Vermont seniors are on Medicare. According to AARP, about 1 in 4 Vermonters rely on Social Security for 90 percent of their income. Although we confirmed about 13,000 Vermonters are in the Medicare Savings Program, the state could not tell us exactly how many lost benefits this year like Trudy.

"This is the area where we need better data than we have right now. Anecdotally, we think it's a relatively small number of Vermonters that have this specific situation," Madison said.

Since more than half of Vermont's Medicaid dollars come from the federal government and continued funding depends on compliance, Madison says Vermont cannot afford to make exceptions.

"We get audited every year to see, you know, are we in compliance with Medicare rules?" Madison explained. "If we are not, we could have to pay millions of dollars back to the federal government. So this is also a part of safeguarding Vermont's budget and making good use of taxpayer dollars."

"I am sorry you are experiencing this," Trudy read aloud from an email.

Emails from state agencies offered sympathy and Congressional correspondence shared her frustration, but still no real solutions from anyone in government.

"It's not right," Trudy said. "I'm going to have to sell my house. It brings me to that desperate state."

Trudy and others like her who lost benefits have the right to appeal by requesting a hearing before the Vermont Human Services Board. The state tells us given the rigid income rules, it's unlikely any decisions would be overturned.

- 01/06/18 48 HOURS: "Grapes of Wrath" – a report about the 2015 showdown between two millionaires, Robert Dahl and Emad Tawfilis, whose bitter money dispute over a Napa Valley winery business ended in murder. Entrepreneur Robert Dahl was drawn from Minnesota to the Napa Valley wine scene, while wealthy Silicon Valley businessman Emad Tawfilis wanted to be an investor in the lucrative wine business. Dahl invested in two failed businesses -- the first with Dominic Foppoli; and the second with local business couple Greg and Francine Knittel. Dahl still always had money. Dahl eventually partnered with Emad Tawfilis, which also failed. After hiring a private investigator, Tawfilis filed a lawsuit, hoping to get his money back. Dahl and Tawfilis met at the vineyard where they consulted their attorneys via a conference call. They then decided to talk privately. Something went drastically wrong, resulting in Tawfilis running through the vineyard while being shot at by Dahl. Tawfilis managed to call 911. Police arrived at the scene to find him shot in the head. Dahl tried to escape, but after a chase, committed suicide. They found other articles in his truck that suggested he had other victims in mind. On-screen text graphic: Dahl's wife and kids still live in California wine country. The grapes on the old Dahl vineyard were harvested last fall. The property is for sale. Interviewed: Dominic Foppoli (Napa Valley businessman); Lew Perdue (tech entrepreneur/wine writer); Francine and Greg Knittel (Napa Valley business couple); Myles Davis (electrician who worked for Dahl); Jonathan Kesselman (film director/Tawfilis friend); Steve Burch (winemaker); Dawn King (private investigator); David Wiseblood (Tawfilis' attorney); Jasmin Duel and Kousha Berokim (Dahl's attorneys). 48 HOURS (continued)

01/20/18

48 HOURS: “Murder in the Mansion” (9:00-10:00p) – a report on one of the most notorious cases in Texas history -- the 1976 ambush in a lavish Fort Worth mansion owned by Texas oilman Cullen Davis, that left two people wounded and two people dead -- one of them a child. To this day, no one has ever been held accountable for the crime. In 1976, Cullen Davis’ estranged wife, Priscilla Davis, returned home to the mansion with her boyfriend, Stan Farr, and a friend. Gunfire erupted, and when it ended, Farr and Andrea Wilborn, Priscilla’s 12-year-old daughter from a previous marriage were dead, and Davis and her friend were wounded. Both Davis and her friend identified the shooter -- a man dressed in black -- as Cullen Davis. The DA’s theory was that Cullen committed the crimes because of the pending divorce and his banishment from the mansion, which had been ordered by the judge handling the divorce. They also believed that Andrea was shot before the adults returned home. Davis, then worth an estimated $500 million, hired Richard Haynes, the most famous defense attorney in Texas at the time, to defend him. When Andrea Wilborn’s murder trial finally began, Haynes turned a routine case upside down, making the trial more about Priscilla than Andrea’s murder. It took four hours for the jury to find him not guilty. Nine months later Cullen Davis was in trouble again -- charged with hiring a hitman -- but at trial, he was acquitted again. The Davises eventually divorced, Cullen Davis left Fort Worth, the mansion was sold and today is used as an event space. Now 83, Cullen Davis describes himself as a born-again Christian and he did not kill Farr and Wilborn, nor did he shoot Priscilla and her friend. On-screen text graphic: Richard "Racehorse" Haynes died in April 2017. The mansion is now an event space often used for weddings. Interviewed: Jack Strickland (former Fort Worth prosecutor); Christy Jack (attorney); Dee Davis (Andrea Wilborn’s sister); Trey Davis (adopted son of Cullen Davis); Dan Cogdell (attorney, protégé of Richard Haynes); David McCrory (friend of Cullen Davis). (C: Maureen Maher - P: Chuck Stevenson, Gail Abbott Zimmerman) (OAD: 05/13/17)

01/20/18

48 HOURS SPECIAL: “All-American Murder: The Rise and Fall of Aaron Hernandez” (10:00-11:00p) – an investigation by best-selling author and 48 HOURS contributor James Patterson, author of “All-American Murder”, which delves into the life and death of convicted murderer and former New England Patriots’ player Aaron Hernandez. Through interviews, Hernandez’s life is traced through the people who knew him. Also included is an examination of the possible role Chronic Traumatic Encephalopathy (CTE) played in his life as an adult and if it contributed to his suicide. Hernandez turned a hardscrabble New England childhood into superstar NFL dreams; in 2012 he was on one of the all-time best teams in the NFL and had received a $40 million contract extension. Everything soon fell apart when he was arrested for the 2013 murder of semi-pro linebacker Odin Lloyd in North Attleboro, Massachusetts. In 2015, Hernandez was convicted of murdering Lloyd. In April 2017, Hernandez committed suicide at the age of 27, in prison where he was serving a life sentence. His life is traced from his childhood in Bristol, Connecticut, to football glory, first in college at the University of Florida and then in the NFL, with the New England Patriots. However, his personal demons remained hidden behind the mask of a celebrity. Off the field, he ran with a bad crowd, used drugs and was also charged and acquitted of killing two other people. After his death, doctors learned the countless hits he took playing football may have caused Chronic Traumatic Encephalopathy (CTE), a degenerative brain disease found in people who have suffered repeated trauma to the head. On-screen text graphic: Prosecutors are appealing to have Aaron Hernandez’s murder conviction reinstated. Shayanna Jenkins-Hernandez has filed a lawsuit on behalf of the couple’s daughter, against the NFL and helmet maker Riddell seeking damages for the brain injuries Hernandez sustained. Ursula Ward has filed a wrongful death lawsuit against Aaron Hernandez’s estate. Interviewed: Shawn Courchesne (former sports reporter, Hartford Courant); Tim Washington (family friend); Ian Rapoport (NFL Network); Shayanna Jenkins-Hernandez (exclusive footage from the “Dr. Phil Show”); Ruban Meyer (former head football coach, University of Florida); Deonte Thompson (Buffalo Bills wide receiver, former college teammate); Dr. Bennet Omalu (Forensic Pathologist, University of California); Linda Kenney Baden (Hernandez defense attorney); Brian Murphy (Hernandez Sports Agent); Don Gobin (witness to shooting attributed to Hernandez); Kenny Smith (Palm Beach County Sheriff’s office); Ursula Ward (mother of Odin Lloyd); Doug Shef (Ward’s attorney); Joseph Drenzo (North Attleboro Police Captain); Michael Kin (Detective Lieutenant, Massachusetts State Police); Thomas Hodgson (Bristol County Sheriff); William McCauley (Bristol County Sheriff); Michael Fee (Hernandez attorney); Dr. Ann McKee (Director, Boston University CTE Center). 48 HOURS (continued)

01/27/18 48 HOURS: "Sins of the Father" – a followup to 48 HOURS: "The Last Confession" (OAD: 03/01/14; 1st rebroadcast: 07/26/14; 2nd Updated Rebroadcast: 04/16/16), which was a report on the investigation into the 1960 murder of Irena Garza, in McAllen, Texas, and the efforts that family members and police have taken to bring the suspect, a Roman Catholic priest, to trial for the crime. Nearly 60 years after Irene Garza disappeared after going to confession on Easter weekend, the priest accused of murdering her goes on trial. In 1960, Irene Garza told her family she was going to church for confession but never returned home. Five days later, her body was found in a drainage canal. Police say she was beaten, sexually assaulted and suffocated. The investigation kept leading to Father Feit, who admitted hearing her last confession in the church rectory. Information about another attack, also led to Father Feit. He pled no contest to aggravated assault and was fined, but the Irene Garza case went cold. Rumors swirled that there was a conspiracy between the church and the authorities. Feit was re-assigned. In 2002, the McAllen Police Department asked the Texas Rangers' cold case unit to re-examine the evidence. The investigation took a dramatic turn when a former monk, Dale Tacheny, told police that Feit admitted to killing a young woman while Tacheny was a counselor at a monastery. Despite the new finding, Hidalgo County District Attorney Rene Guerra did not believe the case was strong enough to take to court. In 2016, the new District Attorney said he had new facts and evidence and that a jury would get past the threshold of reasonable doubt in this case. John Feit was arrested, and flown back to Texas to stand trial. In December 2017, at trial, the latest details, including evidence and testimony from witnesses that the prosecution said was evidence of the long-suspected cover-up between authorities and the church lead to a guilty verdict in this case. On-screen text graphic: Former DA Rene Guerra says he has no regrets about how he handled the Irene Garza case. He plans to make another run for the DA's office this year. Do you have more information about John Feit? Please contact us at 48Hourstips@cbsnews.com. Interviewed: Mike Garza (Assistant District Attorney); Noemi Ponce Sigler and Lynda de la Vina (Irene Garza family members); Ana Maria Hollingsworth (new witness); Darrell Davis (former TV reporter/attorney); Dale Tacheny (former monk); Rudy Jarmillo (Texas Ranger); Rene Guerra (former District Attorney). 02/03/18

48 HOURS: “A Brother’s Mission” (9:00 – 10:00p) – An updated rebroadcast on the 2007 death of Karl Hoerig, a decorated military pilot from Ohio and his brother’s mission to track down and bring to justice the accused killer -- Claudia Sobral Hoerig, Karl’s second wife. Karl was found shot dead in his Ohio home after failing to show up for reserve duty. His family and friends immediately suspected Claudia, who had also vanished. Karl and Claudia’s joint bank accounts had been emptied and she had returned to her home country of Brazil. One month later, Claudia Sobral was charged in absentia with aggravated murder. However, Brazilian law prevents Brazilian citizen from being extradited. One of the many questions being raised in this ground-breaking judicial case, is that since Claudia was also an American citizen and had renounced her Brazilian citizenship, is she still protected from extradition under Brazilian law? She fought back, winning many rulings. But in 2016, the Brazilian Supreme Court ruled against her and she is now in prison. Paul Hoerig traveled to Brazil to press U.S. authorities and Brazil to expedite the matter. Three weeks after he got home, the Supreme Court of Brazil officially closed the case: Claudia can be extradited. The last step: the Brazilian President has to issue the order to put Claudia on a plane. For the first time in a decade, the family feels hopeful that Claudia will be returned to the United States to stand trial. Original 11/25/17 on-screen text graphic: There is no timetable for the President of Brazil to rule on Claudia Sobral’s extradition. Claudia Sobral will remain in jail until she is extradited, or tried for Karl Hoerig’s murder in Brazil. UPDATE for the 02/03/18 rebroadcast: Once the Brazilian president made his ruling, the case heated up. Seventeen days ago, Claudia was released to the U.S. Marshalls. She was flown back to Ohio from Brazil, where she appeared in court for arraignment. Bail has been set at $10 million. The Hoerig family sees the end of the road ahead for this case. On-screen text graphic for the 02/03/18 updated rebroadcast: Claudia Hoerig has been assigned a public defender. Claudia Hoerig is expected to go on trial in about a year. Interviewed: Ed Hoerig, Paul Hoerig, Eva Snowden (Karl’s father, brother and daughter); Rhonda Sharpe (Karl’s first wife); Gary Dodge, Chris Swegan, Casey Keibler (Karl’s friends); Richard Sliter (gun instructor); Dennis Watkins (Trumbull County prosecuting attorney); Rep. 02/03/18

48 HOURS: “Natalie Wood: Death in Dark Water” (10:00 – 11:00p) - a followup report about the unexplained drowning death of Hollywood star Natalie Wood nearly four decades ago. County sheriff’s investigators speak for the first time and tell 48 HOURS that her then-husband, actor Robert Wagner, is now a person of interest; the investigators want to speak with Wagner about the circumstances surrounding her death that night in 1981. Wood drowned off the coast of Catalina Island in California in November 1981 after she went missing from the Splendour, her family’s yacht. Also aboard that night were Captain Dennis Davern, and actor Christopher Walken. The next day, Wood was found floating in the water wearing a red down jacket and flannel nightgown. After a two-week investigation, the death was ruled an accident. In 2011, as detailed in “Natalie Wood’s Fatal Voyage” (OAD: 11/19/11), the Los Angeles County Sheriff’s Department reopened the death investigation. In 2012, the Los Angeles Coroner’s Office amended the death certificate from an “accidental drowning” to “drowning and other undetermined factors.” Now, six years after that investigation 48 HOURS talks with the investigators about new witnesses, new evidence and new theories as to what happened that night. Rumors of foul play have long surrounded Wood’s mysterious death. At first, the three men aboard the boat told detectives that Wood, took off in a dinghy and went ashore. Over time, however, Wagner and Davern’s accounts have shifted, raising a red flag to the investigators. Investigators also say Wagner has refused to speak with them since the case was re-opened. Investigators today note the autopsy report indicates there were a number of bruises that appeared to be fresh on Wood’s body. The latest information is detailed through interviews with the detectives, and Natalie Wood’s sister, Lana Wood. Also included are archival interviews with Robert Wagner and Captain Dennis Davern. On-screen text graphic: 48 HOURS’ requests to interview Robert Wagner and Christopher Walken were declined. The Splendour is currently up for sale. Interviewed: John Corina (LA County Sheriff’s Office); Detective Ralph Hernandez; Lana Wood (sister); Sam Kashner (Vanity Fair contributing editor); Matt Crowley (close family friend); Duane Rasure (original detective); and Thomas Noguchi (coroner). 48 HOURS: "Paradise Lost" - an updated report on the investigation into the 2010 shooting death of Wall Street millionaire John Bender, who was killed in his exotic home in Costa Rica. His wife, Ann, is charged with the crime, but she claims innocence. After making a $100 million fortune on Wall Street, the Benders bought land in Costa Rica where they built a nature preserve, along with an elaborate, four-story hilltop home with no walls or windows as the centerpiece. The couple seemed to have everything; but both suffered from severe depression, became isolated, and were not entirely welcomed by the locals. On January 8, 2010, John Bender died from a bullet wound to the back of the head. Ann Bender says her husband was trying to kill himself. Nineteen months after the shooting, Ann Bender was charged with murder. At trial, Ann was found not guilty of murder; but in Costa Rica, there is no double jeopardy rule and Ann was brought up on the same charges again and this time was found guilty. 48 HOURS brought in the world-famous independent forensic team of Richard and Selma Eikelenboom, who, after examining evidence, say there were problems with the conclusion drawn by the prosecution. Today, Ann Bender is in prison continuing to fight for her innocence. Original on screen text graphic: The Bender gems, worth an estimated $20 million, were confiscated by the Costa Rican authorities. 07/25/15 EPILOGUE: Last February, nine months after Ann Bender was convicted, an appeals court overturned that decision. Its finding was that the prosecution's evidence was insufficient proof of murder. Ann was released. The court has ordered a third trial. Her boyfriend died while she was in prison. She must remain in Costa Rica, pending her next trial. On-screen text graphic for the 07/25/15 rebroadcast: The trial is scheduled to begin next month. Ann Bender has moved into a new home on the East Coast. She has put the Boracayan property up for sale. Just last summer, she got her multimillion-dollar gem collection back. 02/10/18 UPDATE: After six months, the third trial began. Two lawyers from the United Kingdom and two from the United States joined her legal team. In an unusual move, they also hired the Eikelenbooms for the defense team. After ten years and three trials, Ann Bender hears the words "not guilty" from the jury. Taking no chances, she flew home to the U.S. with no intention of going back to Costa Rica. Months later, the court announces its intention for a fourth trial. Legal experts say that they would be surprised to see the United States extradite Ann Bender. On-screen text graphic for the 02/10/18 updated rebroadcast: Ann Bender has moved into a new home on the East Coast. She has put the Boracayan property up for sale. Just last summer, she got her multimillion-dollar gem collection back. Interviewed: Ann Bender; John Bender's friend Pete DeLisi; CBS News consultant/reporter Ned Zeman; prosecutor Edgar Ramirez; Ann's psychiatrist Dr. Carlos Lizano; Bender friend, Paul Meyer; Bender Trust administrator Juan Alvarez; Ann's current boyfriend Greg Fischer; Ann's attorney Fabio Oconitrillo; security guard Oswaldo Aguilar; forensic experts Richard and Selma Eikelenboom. 02/17/18

48 HOURS PRESENTS: “Rodney Alcalá: The Killing Game” – an updated report on the criminal justice system’s 50-year pursuit of serial killer Rodney James Alcalá. From his 1968 abduction, rape and attempted murder of 8-year old Tali Shapiro in Los Angeles; to his 2010 conviction -- with the help of advances in DNA technology -- for the kidnapping, rape and murder of five California women; and to the subsequent discovery of other murders attributed to Alcalá in New York and Wyoming. Although he had been initially apprehended in New York in 1971, the California prosecution at that time had no choice but to enter into a plea agreement with Alcalá. He pleaded guilty to a lesser charge of child molestation and was ultimately convicted -- but released by a parole board after thirty-four months in prison. In 1979, he was arrested for the murder of Robin Samson. Police had discovered a storage facility he had rented in Seattle, which contained photographs he had taken of more than one hundred young women, including photos which placed him near the scene of Robin Samson’s abduction. He was convicted, and sentenced to death. In 1984, the California State Supreme Court then ruled that he had not received a fair trial. He was tried and convicted a second time...and again the verdict was overturned. In 2003, DNA technology enabled Los Angeles Deputy District Attorney Gina Satriano to link Alcalá to three other unsolved murders: Jill Barcomb, Georgia Wixted, and Charlotte Lamb. Evidence also linked Alcalá to the 1979 murder of another Los Angeles woman, Jill Parenteau. In January 2010, Alcalá went on trial for all of these murders -- and was found guilty and sentenced to death. In 2012, Alcalá was sent to New York to face justice for two cold cases from the 1970s that had recently been solved: the 1971 murder of Cornelia Michael Crilley and the 1977 killing of Ellen Hover. He pleaded guilty to both. He was sentenced to two concurrent prison terms and returned to California. Meanwhile, Kathy Thornton had spent 39 years trying to find her sister, Christine, who went missing after a trip out west with her boyfriend. Her son urged her to examine the 48 HOURS website with the images of Alcalá’s unidentified photos of women. She recognized her sister in one. After entering her DNA into a database of missing persons, Kathy found out that her sister was a murder victim -- Christine had the misfortune of taking a motorcycle trip with Alcalá. Detectives met with Alcalá and after his statement to them, he was subsequently charged with first-degree murder. Includes interviews with: Chris Camacho, Los Angeles police officer; Matt Murphy, deputy District Attorney, Orange County, CA; Steve Hodel, detective; Bridget Wilvurt, friend of Robin Samson; Marianne Connelly, mother of Robin Samson; Robert and Tim Samson, brothers of Robin Samson; Pat Ellis, Detective; Tali Shapiro, victim of Alcalá. New interviews for the 02/17/18 updated broadcast: Steve Bracini (former cold case detective, NYPD); Leon Bornstein (roommate of Cornelia Crilley); Melissa Mourges (Manhattan Prosecutor); Martha Bashford (Manhattan Prosecutor); Anita Feinberg (friend of Ellen Hover); Mary Ellen O’Toole (former FBI Profiler); DeDee Parenteau (sister of victim); Cyrus Vance (Manhattan DA); Jeff Sheaman (Wyoming detective); Daniel Errasmoupe (County Prosecutor); Joe Tomich (Detective, Sweetwater County, Wyoming); Kathy Thornton (sister of victim). 48 HOURS PRESENTS: “The Family” (9:00-10:00p) and “The Family ... A Cult Revealed” (10:00-11:00p) – a two-part report on “The Family,” a cult that began in Australia and later moved to New York. Includes allegations of stolen children, drugs, and abuse and a portrait of its leader, Anne Hamilton-Byrne, who claimed to be the second coming of Christ. This is the story of a woman’s attempt to build a perfect race through a collection of 28 children, who each had their hair bleached, were home-schooled on an isolated property, and were injected with LSD as part on an initiation ritual. The children of the cult, now adults, tell their harrowing stories of the treatment they received from loyal cult members, referred to as “Aunties”. It is also the story of Detective Lex De Man who spent years trying to stop Anne Hamilton-Byrne, finally succeeding with the help of the FBI in the United States. Includes: (1) “The Family” – Yoga teacher Anne Hamilton-Byrne formed The Family in 1963. It was an apocalyptic cult with about 500 followers and more than 28 children. Some members willingly gave their children to her, others came from unwed mothers who were tricked into signing over their newborns to be raised by the cult, helped by members of The Family who were doctors and nurses at a nearby hospital. Many had no idea who their real parents were. In 1977, after years of rumors and speculation, police stormed a rural property and rescued seven children. The “Aunties” only faced charges of welfare fraud, while Anne Hamilton-Byrne and her husband Bill Byrne fled the country and for years, their whereabouts were unknown to the authorities in Australia. (2) “The Family ... A Cult Revealed” - finding Anne Hamilton-Byrne became the obsession of Melbourne detective Lex de Man. He received a break in the case when Anne called one of the cult children from the United States. In New York, he enlisted the help of FBI, who would track her down to a farmhouse in the Catskills, and de Man personally escorted the couple back to Australia. Prosecutors ended up charging Hamilton-Byrne with conspiracy to make a false statement. Neither she nor her husband would spend one day in prison; they would each pay a fine of $5000. Authorities decided not to pursue any other charges. A couple of a dozen true believers stayed loyal. Hamilton-Byrne disappeared from the public until 2009, when she resurfaced on 60 MINUTES Australia where she denied any abuse. Anne Hamilton-Byrne is 95-years-old and is living in a nursing home in Melbourne suffering from dementia. On-screen text graphic: True believer Michael Stevenson-Helmer visits Anne every day. There is no designated successor to take over The Family from Anne. Interviewed: (all appear in hours 1&2 unless noted): Lex De Man (former detective, Victoria Police Department, Melbourne, Australia); Adam Lancaster, Dave Whitaker, Sarah Moore, Anouree Treena-Byrne, Ben Shenton, Rebecca (granddaughter of Anne-Hamilton-Bryne) (children of “The Family”); Steve Eichel (psychologist/cult expert); Michael Steenson-Helmer, Fran Parker (members of “The Family”); Phillippe de Montagnie (investigative journalist); Marie Mohn (journalist); Hilda Kogut (FBI Agent) (2); Joan Bridges (follower of celebrity guru Swami Muktananda) (2) (C: Peter Van Sant – Sr. P: Rosie Jones, Anna Grieve; P: Clare Friedland, Kat Teurfs) (OAD: 04/29/17 as 48 HOURS: “The Family” (9:00-10:00p) and “The Family ... PREEMPTED for 60 MINUTES PRESENTS: "Behind Bars"

60 MINUTES PRESENTS: "Behind Bars"

"Crime and Punishment" – a report on the German prison system, focusing primarily on Waldeck -- a maximum-security prison. Their system emphasizes humane treatment and rehabilitation, rather than punishment, and allows convicts an amount of freedom American prisoners do not have. German prisons cost less than those in America and produce fewer convicts who return. American politicians and prison supervisors are looking at Germany's model to see what they can implement in America. Includes interviews with: German prisoners: Bernd Junge, Joerg Muehlbach (through translator) and Chris Templiner; Joerg Jesse, director of prisons in Mecklenburg-Western Pomerania; Governor Dannel Malloy, (D-CT); and John Wetzel, Pennsylvania's secretary of corrections. (C: Bill Whitaker – P: Marc Lieberman) (OAD: 04/03/16 on 60 MINUTES. Includes an update.)

"Redemption" - a profile /interview of Shon Hopwood, a convicted felon who became a Georgetown University Law Center professor. Sentenced prison for bank robbery in 1999 at age 23, Hopwood became a jailhouse lawyer and found success after a case he filed for a fellow inmate for appeal was heard by the Supreme Court. Includes interviews with: Seth Waxman, appellate lawyer and former US solicitor general; Andy Cockle and Trish Billotte, owners of Cockle Legal Printing; Professor Steven Goldblatt, faculty director of Supreme Court Institute, Georgetown Law; Ann Marie Metzner, Hopwood's wife. (C: Steve Kroft – P: Maria Gavrilovic) (OAD: 10/15/17 on 60 MINUTES)

"The Music of Zomba Prison" – a report on the Zomba Music Project, a Grammy-nominated recording group featuring music composed and performed by prisoners and their guards at the maximum-security Zomba Central Prison in Malawi, Africa. Their first album "I Have No Everything Here" and current album "I Will Not Stop Singing" are produced by Ian Brennan. Includes interviews with: Ian Brennan, music producer; Sister Anna Tommasi, Italian nun; Officer Thomas Binamo, Zomba Prison guard/musician (through translator); and Zomba Prison inmates/musicians: Chikondi Salanje, Stefano Nyirenda, and Rhoda Mtemang'ombe (all through translator). (C: Anderson Cooper – P: Michael H. Gavshon, David M. Levine) (OAD: 10/30/16 on 60 MINUTES)

"Human Cargo" - a report on human smuggling across the U.S.-Mexico border via 18-wheelers packed with as many as a hundred migrant workers seeking work and refuge. The unsafe conditions have led to many deaths and the professionalization of smuggling has proliferated with the cooperation of the cartels, necessary to avoid law enforcement. Includes interviews with: Cale Chambers, paramedic; Jeremy Slack, professor, University of Texas at El Paso; Mike Vickers, organizer of Texas Border Volunteers; Eddie Canales, founder of South Texas Human Rights Center; Jorge de Santos Aguilar, migrant worker in Aguascaliente; Jason Owens, deputy chief, Laredo Border Patrol; and Troy Dock, truck driver convicted and imprisoned for illegal transport of humans. (C: Scott Pelley – P: Ashley Velie)

"Secretary of Education" - an interview with controversial Education Secretary Betsy DeVos who has been criticized for wanting to privatize the public school system. In the wake of the Parkland, Florida school shooting, she discusses guns in the classroom; school choice movement; criticisms of her wealth; and walking back the discriminatory-discipline guideline. (C: Lesley Stahl – P: Shachar Bar-On)

"Treating Trauma" - a report on the impact of developmental trauma -- physical, sexual, and/or mental abuse -- and the social institutions learning to treat it. Operating on the scientific evidence that childhood trauma affects mental and physical health into adulthood, these institutions offer trauma-informed care, which focuses on a person's adverse childhood experiences before attempting to correct their behavior. Includes interviews with: Alisha Fox, PTSD diagnosee at SaintA; Bonnie Hahn, Alisha's mother; Tim Grove, clinical director, SaintA; Dr. Bruce Perry, childhood trauma expert; and Belinda Pittman-McGee, head of Nia Imani Family Center. (C: Oprah Winfrey – P: Rome Hartman)

03/25/18

"Stormy Daniels" - an interview with adult film star and director Stormy Daniels (Stephanie Clifford) on her alleged affair with President Donald Trump. Daniels describes her relationship and alleged consensual sexual encounter with Trump in 2006 and the ensuing threats to keep quiet over the years. Eleven days before the 2016 election, Daniels signed a non-disclosure agreement and was paid $130,000 through an LLC set up by Trump Organization lawyer Michael Cohen. This payment has become the subject of Justice Department complaints because it may be considered an illegal campaign contribution. Due to Cohen's history with Russian campaign contributions, the alleged affair has the potential to become part of Special Counsel Robert Mueller's greater investigation into Russian influence on the 2016 election. Includes interviews with: Trevor Potter, president of non-partisan Campaign Legal Center; and Michael Avenatti, Clifford's lawyer (C: Anderson Cooper – Producer listed for Part I: Andy Court; Producers listed for Part II: Andy Court, Evie Salomon) DOUBLE LENGTH SEGMENT

03/03/18

48 HOURS: LIVE TO TELL: “Afraid of the Dark” (9:00 – 10:00p) - Jennifer Schuett was just 8 years old in 1990 when she was yanked through her bedroom window by an unknown man – and then strangled, slashed and left for dead in a field off a gravel road in Dickinson, Texas. She didn’t die – and the kidnapper couldn’t silence her. This is story of Schuett’s will to live, her unwavering focus on pushing police to find her kidnapper, and how through the trauma she found a purpose in life by advocating for other crime victims. Schuett was alone in her bedroom, when she woke up in the arms of a man carrying her outside of the apartment building where she lived with her mom. He said he was an undercover police officer and that they would meet up with her mother. Both were lies. He took her to the field, tried to strangle her, and raped her and slashed her throat before driving away. When she came to, she couldn’t scream, couldn’t lift her head or even move. She was found by children playing in the field. Her assailant didn’t count on Schuett living, let alone having an acute ability to recall critical details of the man. While in the hospital, Schuett, struggling with a fear of men and police because of the attack, began writing notes describing her kidnapper. His name was Dennis. She was also able to give a forensic sketch artist a detailed description of him. Despite the details, years went by with no suspects or closure. The case was passed between detectives, and each time it felt like she was starting over. Then, 18 years after the attack, Schuett got a call from Detective Tim Cromie from the Dickinson Police Department. He was now on her case. Cromie vowed to do everything he could until the end of his career to get the answers she so longed to find. Cromie partnered with FBI Special Agent Richard Rennison to work on the case. In September 2017, utilizing DNA technology that was not available before, Rennison got a call: the kidnapper’s identity had been established. His name is Dennis Earl Bradford. On-screen text graphic: Jennifer has become a fierce advocate for other crime victims. Interviewed: Jennifer Schuett; Ralph Garcia (former detective); Dr. Cheryl L. Strunk; Sharon McBride (pediatric nurse); Lois Gibson (forensic artist), Tim Cromie (Dickinson Police Department); and Richard Rennison (FBI Special Agent). (C: Michelle Miller - P: Stephen A. McCain, Marcelena Spencer) (OAD: 03/11/17)

03/03/18

48 HOURS: “The Good Girl” (10:00-11:00p) – an interview with Noriella Santos, a well-educated woman with a high profile internship at the Clinton Foundation, who was charged in 2010 for her role in the winter 2009 murder of former boyfriend Michael Sinclair on Long Island. Santos admits that she did play a key, though unwitting, part in the execution-style murder because she was responding to the demands of her boyfriend Daniel Kraeger, who regularly beat her. Though he was born Daniel Kraeger, he had a history of changing his name and personas. At this time he had changed his name to Daniel Rivera. Santos claims that it was an abusive relationship with Daniel and that he had threatened to kill her family if she did not co-operate. Daniel found out that he had contracted a sexually transmitted disease and he ultimately blamed Sinclair. Daniel demanded a meeting with Sinclair, which Santos facilitated. After the murder investigation, prosecutors charged her with second-degree murder. A wealthy benefactor, who had known Santos since childhood, believed her story and hired an attorney, Michael Dowd, who started representing battered women in 1980. Dowd insisted his client was a victim, and not a co-conspirator. In 2015, Daniel Rivera was living as Daniel Greenspan in a Yeshiva and had become a scholar. The prosecutor reconsidered the murder charges, but needed Noriella Santos to get the real killers – Daniel and his accomplice David Belton – and were willing to give a reduced charge if she testified against them. In 2017, Santos was on the stand for four days. She told the jury Daniel had told her everything to do. After three days of deadlock, they eventually returned with a guilty verdict. Santos agreed to the plea deal: second degree attempted robbery. The judge sentenced her to time served and probation. On-screen text graphic: Noriella Santos attends NYU and is working toward an MBA in public service. David Belton, Greenspan’s accomplice, pleaded guilty to second-degree attempted murder and is serving ten years in prison. The earliest Daniel Greenspan can apply for parole is 2040. He will be fifty-three years old. Interviewed: Noriella Santos; Nancy Clifford (Suffolk County Prosecutor); Richie Santos (Noriella’s brother); Naim Khan, Bobby Thomas, Dan’ielle Atherton-Bonner (Daniel Rivera’s high school friends); Dawn Hughes (forensic psychologist); and Michael Down (attorney) (C: Jim Axelrod – P: Paul LaRosa, Murray Weiss)

- 03/10/18 48 HOURS: “Who Killed Fabio?” - a report on the 2017 murder of famed hairstylist and beauty company executive Fabio Sementilli who was found stabbed to death by his pool in Los Angeles, California. At first, police believed he was the victim of the “knock-knock” burglars, a ring targeting Los Angeles celebrities. Sementilli grew up in Canada, and became a superstar in the world of hairdressing. He moved to Los Angeles with his second wife and seemed to live a charmed life. Police investigation revealed that even though the Sementilli house had video surveillance, the DVR was gone. His widow, Monica, was anxious – calling the police every day. Police soon ruled out the burglars – they had never killed anyone before, and an $8000 watch was still on Sementilli’s wrist. DNA from blood left at the scene led to Robert Baker, a man with a colorful past, and a member of Monica Sementilli’s racquetball league. Finally, clues led them to believe that he and Monica were responsible for the murder, motivated by Fabio’s life insurance policy. Monica had been quite unhappy in Los Angeles and wanted to return to her native Canada and had enlisted Robert Baker to help her. Fabio’s sister believes there is more to the story. Both are currently in custody in Los Angeles and will be tried together. There is still one loose end – a third person was involved. On-screen text graphic: The knock-knock burglars continue to hit homes in Los Angeles. The trial of Monica Sementilli and Robert Baker is expected to be later this year. Interviewed: Mirella Rota (Fabio’s sister); Luigi Sementilli (Fabio’s son); Joe Mercurio (Fabio’s friend); Bill Dunn (Los Angeles Police Department Detective); Justin Eisenberg (neighbor); Navid Solouk (home security expert); Pete Castellanos (friend of Fabio’s); Mitch Englander (Los Angeles City Councilman); Elyse (friend of Monica’s from the racquetball league); William Hayes (Los Angeles Police); and Mary Fulginiti (former federal prosecutor). (C: Michelle Miller – P: Chuck Stevenson, Greg Fisher)
- 03/17/18 48 HOURS: “Mystery at Eagle Creek” – an updated report on the 2009 death of Rhonda Casto, who went hiking in Oregon’s Columbic River Gorge with her boyfriend, Stephen Nichols, only to never return home, as detailed in 48 Hours: “Trail of Tears” (OAD: 03/05/16). In a new interview, Stephen Nichols, addresses what may or may not have happened that fateful day, giving bizarre answers and elusive clues. Before Casto headed out on her hike, she joked to a friend that Nichols was either - “going to propose or kill me”. Somewhere along the trail, she slipped or fell 150 feet to her death. An autopsy seemed to support Nichols’ version of events, but authorities declined to declare the death an accident, and Nichols was never charged. Investigation revealed several tawdry elements, including insurance policies, a potential love triangle involving Rhonda’s younger sister and theft of Social Security payments by Rhonda’s mother, Julia Simmons. Nichols moved to China, and began a new life with his daughter. In 2014, a secret grand jury heard evidence and indicted Nichols for murder. He was arrested during a trip home and pleaded not guilty. In 2016, while awaiting trial, Nichols pleaded guilty to two counts of sexual abuse of Rhonda’s younger sister, Melanie Casto. In 2017, the prosecution decided to agree to a plea deal of criminally negligent homicide and coercion. Nichols received credit for time served and will remain on parole for three years. He says the reason he took the deal was time was running out for him to regain custody of his daughter. On-screen text graphic: About half of Rhonda’s million dollar life insurance policy is being held in a court-controlled account for her daughter. The rest of the money has gone to attorneys’ fees and Julia Simmons. Stephen Nichols still awaits a decision regarding custody of his daughter, now nine years old. Interviewed: Stephen Nichols, Julia Simmons (Rhonda’s mother); Mike Arnold (defense attorney); and Jessica Coleburn (friend of Rhonda’s). (C: Peter Van Sant – P: Susan Mallie, Jennifer Terker)

48 HOURS: “The Fitbit Alibi” – a report on the groundbreaking 2016 murder case of Nicole Vander Heyden that was solved using 21st century technology. Vander Heyden went out with her live-in boyfriend Doug Detrie and other friends for a night on the town in Green Bay, Wisconsin and never made it home. A day later, she was found beaten and strangled in a field. Her live-in boyfriend became the prime suspect and was arrested because he had separated from the group during the barhopping and went home without Nicole. Detrie was wearing a Fitbit device and the data recorded during the time of Vander Heyden’s murder corroborated with what Detrie had told police, therefore clearing him of suspicion. He was released 18 days after his arrest. Over the next several months, clothes and other items found at the murder scene were processed by the police for DNA, which led police to George Steven Burch, a man who had moved from Virginia to Green Bay for a fresh start. Burch was questioned about a hit-and-run and had handed over his cell phone to police. The phone was an Android device with a Google account, which stores and tracks a person’s exact location within Google’s servers and is viewed with a tool called Google Dashboard. Investigators got a warrant to view Burch’s account and discovered that on the night of the murder, the data tracked him to Nicole’s house – the crime scene – where he stayed for nearly an hour. He was arrested and charged with first-degree intentional homicide. On February 19, 2018, George Burch went on trial for Nicole’s murder. The technology evidence from Fitbit and Google played an important part of the proceedings. Also in the courtroom, the sister and fiancé of Joey White, a man Burch killed in Virginia twenty years ago. Neither is surprised that Burch is on trial again. Only this time, they hope he is found guilty, and is not acquitted. It took the jury three hours to find Burch guilty. On-screen text graphic: Doug Detrie continues to raise Dylan, now two. George Burch will be sentenced on May 4, 2018. He faces life in prison. Interviewed: Vicki and Brandon Meyer (Nicole’s mother and brother); Brian Slinger and Richard Loppnow (Police Sergeants); Kate Briquetel (journalist); Shawn Vander Heyden (Nicole’s former brother-in-law); Tiffany Hoffman (Nicole’s friend); and Shayna Stowe and Carla Rhods (fiancé and sister of Joey White). 03/31/18

48 HOURS: LIVE TO TELL: “Trafficked” – an examination of sex trafficking through the eyes of survivor Alyssa Beck and the vast array of people who tried to help her – from law enforcement and her family, to the legal system and child advocates. In 2010, Beck was a 15-year-old Jacksonville, Florida runaway, who ran right into the hands of a violent sex trafficking group. She was living in a juvenile detention home when another young woman convinced her to run away with her. She ended up trapped in a hotel room, being beaten and having men pay money to do whatever they wanted to do to her. She recounts her battle to survive, how she escaped, her struggle to stay away from that life and her world today. The details Beck provided led to the arrest of seven people and the mastermind behind the ring, Ian Seth Gordon, who was given one of the first life sentences ever handed down in the case of a sex trafficker in this country. Also, actor Ashton Kutcher discusses his non-profit, Thorn, which has developed software used by law enforcement to identify potential victims and abusers, and disrupt groups like the one that had held Beck captive. On-screen text graphic: For more information about Thorn go to www.weareThorn.org. Interviewed: Alyssa Beck; Special Agent Courtney Harrison, Heather Beck (Alyssa’s mother); Shannon Schott (juvenile justice expert, Beck’s attorney); Lawanda Ravoira (works with girls who are sex trafficked); Mac Heavener (prosecutor); Richard Trew (detective); Judge Marcia Morales Howard; and Ashton Kutcher. CBS NEWS SPECIAL: “39 Days” (8:00-9:00p) – a review of the events of the past thirty-nine days, as seen through the eyes of the survivors of the school shooting at Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School in Parkland, Florida, in which a former student at the school shot and killed 17 people. CBS News journalists were embedded with the group of Stoneman Douglas survivors who have banded together to fight back. They are: David Hogg, Emma Gonzalez, Cameron Kasky, Delaney Tarr, and Jaelyn Corin. The program presented a timeline of the tumultuous events from the first day of the shooting to the “March for Our Lives” rally, which took place in Washington D.C. and other cities on March 24, 2018. Captured in this program are the students’ raw emotions as they grieve and work around the clock in efforts to change the gun laws of this country. CBS journalists also embedded with Andrew Pollack, whose daughter Meadow, was killed; as one of the more visible of the victims’ parents, he focuses on tightening school safety, not changing gun laws. Also included are strong voices from the Second Amendment conversation, including remarks by fellow student Kyle Kashuv. (P: Chris Young Ritzen; Jaime Hellman; Susan Mallie; Paul LaRosa; Gayane Keshishyan Mendez)
