Mornings with Joe Catenacci: Weekday mornings from 7am-9am

The flagship program of Wilmington's Big Talker 106.7FM (WFBT) lineup continues to drive the community discussion when it comes to local, statewide and national issues of interest to the listening audience.

Mornings with Joe Catenacci expanded to a three-hour program during the second quarter and airs weekdays 7-10a ET. With the additional hour, we've been able to incorporate a greater number of guests along with other features surrounding local business owners, education leaders and the many volunteers who give back to our community.

Locally, the show continues to focus on many issues from the local school districts to city hall. From a back-and-forth debate on regulations surrounding short-term rental properties in City of Wilmington to a ground-breaking story in June centered around a scandal within the local public school district, we've had multiple reporters, parents and educators on-air to share their stories.

On state level, guests joining the show every other week include elected officials from North Carolina's Lieutenant Governor, Treasurer and Superintendent of Public Instruction. State lawmakers from southeastern North Carolina frequently join us to discuss some of the top issues facing our region.

Our NEW third hour has more of a national feel to it, similar to what you hear daily on syndicated programming. Guests range from members of the two major political party to other commentators providing their perspective on news of the day.

The Chad Adams Show: Weekday mornings 9am – 11am

The Chad Adams Show continues to focus on both state and national politics and news coverage. We aim to inform the citizens of North Carolina about the news and events that affect them here in their home state by covering relevant news stories and shedding light on the major issues facing the state and country. Topics discussed include school choice, the state budget, 2020 Election, Medicaid expansion, and updates from the NC General Assembly.

The Brannon Broadcast: 1-hour weekend programming

The Brannon Broadcast is a topical show which seeks to educate listeners on the history of our nation by discussing today's issues with a historical perspective. The show focus on the principles of individual liberty and freedom. The show provides listeners with a robust readings list and though provoking questions.

Wake Up Our Faith: 1-hour weekend programming

Join Christian authors Matt Ham and Kevin Adams, as they fully explore the boundaries of Faith, Individual Purpose, and how to live out both in a Common-Sense world. A fun, inspiring conversation about real faith, and the upside of upside down living—where stories of passion, purpose and dreaming big defy common sense, and encourage you to navigate life from a whole new perspective.
