4/3/2020	Columbus Metropolitan Club- Change Comes To The Heartland- OSU in the Sixties	60	10:30 PM	22.6	It's been 50 years since student unrest rocked universities and communities with demands for change. Catalyzed by assassinations, a distant war and unhearing and misguided white male leadership, conflict was inevitable. While Kent State is the marker of these times unknown to many Ohio State and Columbus held witness to our own tragic events. How does a community respond in trying times? Panelists will explore how tensions built up over years, why they converged when they did, and how they forever changed the university. Featuring Mabel Freeman, special advisor to the President, Columbus State Community College; Ray Miller, publisher, The Columbus African; Bill Patterson, consultant, Reputation Management Associates (RMA); and Bill Shkurti, former Vice President for Business and Finance, The Ohio State University.

The growing influence of social media and the intersection of news and entertainment leaves many Americans dizzy with an overabundance of news and opinions, and often at a loss for how to discuss it.

4/24/2020	Columbus Metropolitan Club- Special Report: Corona Exposes Disparities	60	8:30 PM	22.6	Like never before, the Coronavirus pandemic is exposing long-discussed disparities in our society that have been fueled by decades-old housing policies, educational inequities, poverty, and racism. The community has wrestled with poverty and affordable housing for years, but those problems are about to become exponentially worse as the economy has ground to a halt and struggles to restart. The longer the shutdown, the longer it takes to restart, the worse it will get. And, what if we have to relive this closing-opening nightmare again and again? Uncertainly only worsens the situation. How are we as a community addressing these issues? What resources and creativity are being deployed to address the problem and help those caught in this storm? Featuring Dr. Mysheika Roberts, Health Commissioner, Columbus Public Health, Stephanie Hightower President & CEO, Columbus Urban League, with host Colleen Marshall, Co-Anchor, WCMH NBC 4.

5/1/2020	Columbus Metropolitan Club- Special Report: Public Safety During Corona	60	8:30 PM	22.6	Appointed by Mayor Andrew Ginther in December 2019 after an extensive 10-month search, Columbus Police Chief Thomas Quinlan has served the division for more than 30 years. Likely well-prepared to handle a wide variety of dangers, it's highly unlikely Chief Quinlan was expecting an adversary named "Corona." The unique circumstances surrounding stay-at-home orders, closed businesses and schools are creating equally unique policing challenges and opportunities. How is the Columbus Division of Police adapting to our community where the streets, businesses and schools are empty but homes and neighborhoods are full? Dawn Tyler Lee will join Chief Quinlan on stage at CMC. Upon his election, Mayor Ginther appointed Tyler Lee Deputy Chief of Staff for External Affairs at the City of Columbus and she led the search committee that conducted a national search, and ultimately recommended Quinlan as Chief. Featuring Thomas Quinlan, Chief of Police, City of Columbus, Dawn Tyler Lee, Deputy Chief of Staff for External Affairs at the City of Columbus. Hosted by Colleen Marshall, Co-Anchor, WCMH NBC4.

5/8/2020	Columbus Metropolitan Club- Special Report: Businesses Pushing The Restart Button	60	8:30 PM	22.6	On April 27, Governor Mike DeWine outlined opening procedures. May 4 central Ohio office workers will be allowed to return to work whether they are deemed essential or nonessential; however, they are encouraged to continue working at home, if possible. Manufacturing, distribution and construction business can open on May 4, too. May 12 marks opening for retail and service businesses, with no date speculated for restaurants, hospitality and entertainment-related businesses. The 10-person group gathering remains in place. Businesses reopening will require protective measures such as wearing face mask, social distancing and limited capacity. Many businesses are impatient to reopen, while others express reservations about continued safety. What is crystal clear for everyone is that the Coronavirus health crisis has forced Ohio's economy to its knees and each day of closures adds to the financial crisis for the business, its laid off workforce and the government entities that depend on tax revenue. The Governor has likened it to walking on a tight wire – a true balancing act. Get it wrong and the pandemic roars back with a vengeance. Wait too long and the damage to businesses and the economy could be irreparable. Alex Fischer, President and CEO, Columbus Partnership, Cameron Mitchell, CEO and Founder of Cameron Mitchell Restaurants, talk about reopening the economy, long and short-term effects of the disruption, supply chains, labor, and what a consumer economy looks like with limits on occupancy. Colleen Marshall, Co-Anchor, WCMH NBC4, will host.

5/15/2020	Columbus Metropolitan Club- Special Report: Nonprofits' Frontline Response	60	8:30 PM	22.6	While the nonprofit and funder community rallied to meet the current need, the long-term picture is troubling. As we emerge from the immediate crises, our community will need to maintain the current high level of cooperation to address not only issues caused by the pandemic but the underlying issues of inequality in economic opportunities and education that have kept so many from reaching their potential. Featuring Lisa Courtice, Ph.D., President & CEO, United Way of Central Ohio and Chuck Gehring, President & CEO, Lifecare Alliance. Hosted by Colleen Marshall, Co-Anchor, WCMH NBC4.

Live musical performances, the Columbus Arts Festival, Red, White & Boom, and countless other events and festivals — have all been cancelled, postponed or optimistically rescheduled. 6/5/2020	Columbus Metropolitan Club- Special Report: New Lesson Plan for Education	60	10:00 PM	22.6	New in the Superintendent's role in 2019, Talisa Dixon came with a strong plan to turn around the system's failing record. Her plan included bringing more order and consistency to the 116 schools, fair and efficient use of resources, and improving distance learning, among others. It did not include tackling these improvements amid a 100-year pandemic that emptied buildings sending kids home – ready or not. A May 17, Columbus Dispatch Editorial noted: "The exact form that public schooling will take in the next school year isn't clear yet; even if students return to classrooms, it's likely to be in a limited format . . . The changes wrought by the coronavirus are as good a starting point as any for system-wide change. The needs – the opportunities — are clearer than ever. We hope the community is ready to respond." Just like K-12, higher ed faces its own challenges that have been exacerbated by the health crisis. Dr. Robert Gervasi leads Ohio Dominican University, a 1,600 student Catholic liberal arts institution on the city's northeastern corner. At the helm since 2017, Gervasi's extensive and diverse background including his education in classics and ability to speak seven languages. What's ahead for K-12 and higher ed as they navigate a new normal? Featuring Dr. Talisa Dixon, Superintendent, Columbus City Schools and Dr. Robert Gervasi, President, Ohio Dominican University with host Colleen Marshall, Co-Anchor, WCMH NBC4.

6/12/2020	Columbus Metropolitan Club- Special Report: Richard Cordray, Watchdog	60	10:00 PM	22.6	A familiar name and face in Columbus, Rich Cordray has a new tell-all book "Watchdog: How Protecting Consumers Can Save Our Families, Our Economy, and Our Democracy," where he reveals behind the scenes stories of his time as the Director of the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB) during the 11 months he served under President Donald Trump. President Barack Obama appointed Cordray to be the first Director of the newly established CFPB in 2011. A small group housed at the Treasury Department led by Elizabeth Warren, created the CFPB under the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act (Dodd-Frank Act). The purpose of the CFPB is to promote fairness and transparency for mortgages, credit cards, and other consumer financial products and services. From the beginning, Cordray and CFPB were challenged by many regulatory agencies, legislators, and companies. Cordray contends in this book that Trump was about to fire him but hesitated until the Supreme Court could rule on whether the President needed sufficient cause to fire a sitting CFPB Director. Ultimately, Cordray resigned in late 2017 to return to Ohio to run for Governor, a race which he lost to Mike DeWine. With a career that ranges from law student, Marshall Scholar, law clerk for Supreme Court Justice Anthony Kennedy, representative in the Ohio House, first Solicitor General for Ohio, Treasurer State of Ohio, Ohio Attorney General, a presidential appointee to the CFPB to a five-time Jeopardy Champion, and now, author of an intriguing new book, Cordray has stories to tell. Featuring Richard Cordray, former Director of the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB) from 2012 to 2017; former Ohio's Attorney General, Solicitor General, and Treasurer and host, Colleen Marshall co-anchor WCMH NBC4.

6/19/2020	Columbus Metropolitan Club- Racism: A Public Health Crisis	60	9:30 PM	22.6	On May 19 when the Franklin County Commissioners declared that Racism is a public health crisis, they probably didn't foresee the protests that erupted in our community, nationwide and around the world in response to the death of George Floyd in Minneapolis. Already complicated and complex, the issue of racism became more complicated and more urgent by the current level of frustration and unrest. Racial tensions are high, people of all colors and sociodemographic backgrounds are engaging in the demand for greater equity and justice for their black and brown brothers and sisters. How does declaring racism a public health crisis play into the current unrest and generate new policies and practices or change cultural mores? Featuring Columbus City Council Member, Priscilla R. 6/26/2020	Columbus Metropolitan Club- Young Black Men Speak	60	9:30 PM	22.6	Young people taking the lead in revolutions around the world from the Arab Spring to the Hippies of the '60s to global warming to the current Black Lives Matter is a well-documented phenomenon. Young people are long recognized as energized change agents. In a June 12 article in the Columbus Dispatch former Columbus Mayor Michael B. Coleman says "I absolutely believe it's our young folks who are going to make the difference in this, (systematic racism) more than any other time. They have the ideas, the energy, the passion. They need to be substantially at the table to engage in this process. Otherwise it won't work." Community leaders are seeing young people around the country and world standing up and making their voices heard, which some believe will be the catalyst to transform government and business policies and practices, as well as minds and cultural mores. One young man, Playon Patrick, poet, recent Fort Hayes High School graduate, and five-time winner of the City of Columbus' Annual Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Youth Oratorical Contest was chosen by the My Brother's Keeper Alliance to introduce President Barak Obama at a June 3 virtual gathering of the group. Patrick will lead a discussion with other African American youth as CMC convenes the first of many conversations is a series Racism: Where do we go from here? on June 24. Featuring Playon Patrick, poet, recent Fort Hayes High School graduate, Andrew Pierce, Student at The Ohio State University and Co-Founder, The WORTH Foundation and Michael Bivens III, Student at North Carolina A&T State University and Co-Founder of G.O.A.T (Gentlemen of A&T).

"The presence of officers should never look and feel to residents like we are at war," said Pro Tem Brown.
