

Quarterly Programs & Issues Report

October 1, 2022 - December 31, 2022

East Lansing Insider, Exposure, The Sci-Files, The Roundup, The State and The Undercurrent are shows that focus on events, issues, and programs that affect the greater Lansing area and Michigan State University. All shows are archived and are available as podcasts on our website, www.impact89fm.org, and popular podcast services such as iTunes and Spotify.

East Lansing Insider: 9-9:30 A.M.

Exposure: Sundays 8:30-9 A.M.

The Sci-Files: Sundays 9:30-10 A.M.

The Roundup & The Undercurrent: Sundays 10:30-11 A.M.

The State: Monday-Friday 9 A.M.

These programs are designed to allow student and community groups a broadcast outlet. WDBM-FM provides the facilities, an engineer and a host.

Topics this quarter included:

October 3, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the week focusing on Michigan State football, Michigan State drops their third straight with a 27-13 loss to Maryland. For our second headline focusing on city news, March for Our Lives joins Michigan politicians to discuss midterm voting. For our final headline of the day focusing on campus news, often overlooked, MSU physics and astronomy offer plenty to undergraduates.

October 4, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the day focusing on city news, Horrock's Farmers Market hosts Oktoberfest celebration. For our second headline focusing on city news, MSU DPPS welcomes Maria Vilayil as their new police social worker. For our final headline of the day focusing on campus events this month, MSU hosts fall events through October.

October 5, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the day focusing on city news, East Lansing Islamic Center, Peace Quest host Salaam Peace Festival. For our second headline focusing on MSU events, MSU kicks off sustainability month with Go Green Mini Fest. For our final headline of the day focusing on campus news, ASMSU brings readership program to a mobile app.

October 6, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the day focusing on city news, meet the candidates: Sam Singh on public service and MSU's relationship to its community. For our second headline focusing on campus crime, motor vehicle theft the highest on-campus crime in 2021, report says. For our final headline of the day focusing on campus news, support systems available at MSU during Domestic Violence Awareness month.

October 7, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the day focusing on city news, 66% of August use of force incidents were against young Black men, ELPD reports. For our second headline focusing on campus news, Board actions are 'doing harm to campus, reputation of MSU,' provost says. For our final headline of the week focusing on culture, '0.4 degrees Celsius away from catastrophe': Exhibit confronts climate crisis.

October 9, 2022

The Sci-Files: On this week's episode of The Sci-Files, your hosts Chelsie and Danny interview Hariharan Ramakrishnan. Hariharan is researching how an FDA-approved drug can be used to decrease the side effects of chemotherapy, such as kidney toxicity and pain.

October 10, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the week focusing on MSU football, Michigan State falls 49-20 to Ohio State in fourth consecutive loss. For our second headline focusing on-campus Title IX, MSU joins other universities in attempt to stifle abuse survivors' Title IX suits. For our final headline focusing on culture, a broke college student's guide to shopping sustainable fashion.

October 11, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the day focusing on Michigan State University sports medicine, the future of sports medicine: MSU researchers develop bandages to detect concussions. For our second headline focusing on city news, 73rd Michigan Antiquarian Book and Paper Show attracts crowd of paper lovers and collectors. For our final headline of the day focusing on campus news, reduce, reuse, recycle...redefine? MSU students use campus waste for atypical fashion design.

October 12, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the day focusing on culture, MSU gets an eviction notice: NAISO marches on Indigenous People's Day for institutional awareness. For our second headline focusing on city restaurants, looking for brunch? Here are East Lansing-area spots. For our final headline of the day focusing on homecoming, Spartans bring the magic: meet the 2022 homecoming court.

October 13, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the day focusing on campus news, Blindness Awareness Month: blindness on a spectrum, not a hindrance. For our second headline focusing on more MSU clubs, MSU Leader Dog Club: Bringing more than just dogs to campus. For our final headline of the day focusing on homecoming, MSU alumni share their homecoming traditions.

October 14, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the day focusing on campus news, President Stanley to resign in 90 days, states he has no confidence in board. For our second headline focusing on Stanley's resignation, MSU students remain confused following Stanley's resignation notice. For our final headline of the week focusing on campus culture, pre-med students see lack of abortion education, discourse in their classes.

October 17, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the week focusing on Michigan State football, Michigan State snaps four-game losing streak in 2OT thriller. For our second headline focusing on the Associated Students of Michigan State University, ASMSU sanctuary campus bill delayed due to low committee attendance. For our final headline of the day focusing on Greek life on campus, Alpha Phi celebrates centennial anniversary.

October 18, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the day focusing on President Samuel L. Stanley Jr.'s resignation, board will immediately seek interim president. For our second headline focusing on city news, Slotkin, Nessel and Stabenow attempt to drive student voter turnout at MSU rally. For our final headline of the day focusing on the Capital Area Transportation Authority or CATA, Frandor CATA riders show varying opinions on bus stop removals.

October 19, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the day focusing on the November election, on-campus voting officials available to Spartans until election day. For our second headline focusing on city news, Allen Community Health Center aims to service underserved communities. For our final headline of the day focusing on city restaurants, line of customers wraps around block for Raising Cane's opening.

October 20, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the day focusing on President Samuel L. Stanley Jr.'s resignation, Stanley to cooperate with interim president search, university council votes no confidence in board. For our second headline focusing on Election Day, less than a month from Election Day: polling, ballot proposals and making a voting plan. For our final headline of the day focusing on city events, East Lansing Farmers Market hosts annual Autumn Fest.

October 21, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the day focusing on culture, students, community members gather to demonstrate solidarity with Iranian people. For our second headline focusing on campus life, 'It was one of the best decisions of my life': MSU program prepares first-generation students for college. For our final headline of the week focusing on culture, "The Voice" contestant, Greater Lansing native Sadie Bass to perform in East Lansing.

October 23, 2022

The Sci-Files: On this week's episode of The Sci-Files, your hosts Chelsie and Danny interview Emily Greeson. Emily works in the Microbiology and Molecular Genetics department in the Contag lab at Michigan State University. Her work focuses on studying and engineering genes in bacteria to create new functions. Emily researches bacteria Bacillus subtilis with temperature-sensitive repressors combined with magnetic nanoparticles and electromagnetic fields to create a new system.

October 31, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the week focusing on Michigan State football, MSU football unable to perform in all three phases in rivalry loss to No. 4 Michigan. For our second headline focusing on campus news, Stanley fallout causes emotional, tension-filled board meeting. For our final headline of the day focusing on city news, Dublin Square could find new home in high-rise with development proposal.

November 1, 2022

The State: In the news today: Happy November! For our first headline of the day focusing on Michigan State football, four MSU football players suspended following tunnel altercation. For our second headline focusing on city news, gunshots fired in East Lansing result in one injured. Wrapping up the Halloween spirit for our final headline of the day focusing on culture around campus, do you believe in ghosts? Students share their spooky stories and sightings.

November 2, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the day focusing on campus news, MSU Provost Teresa Woodruff named as interim president in unanimous vote. For our second headline focusing on student life, year-out lease signing in East Lansing causes stress among students. For our final headline of the day coming from our Impact News Department focusing on MSU club life, new fashion and photography organization IRIS launches at MSU with a mission of diversity.

November 3, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the day focusing on Michigan State men's basketball, MSU men's basketball separates late versus GVSU in exhibition game. For our second headline focusing on Michigan State football, four additional Michigan State players suspended following tunnel altercation at Michigan Stadium. For our final headline of the day focusing on culture, MSU Horticulture Gardens to hold annual houseplant and succulent sale.

November 4, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the day focusing on city news, East Lansing police oversight commission looks to better understand its role. For our next headline focusing on election news, less than a week from Election Day, Liz Cheney comes to East Lansing to stump for Slotkin. For our final headline of the week focusing on campus news, Stanley tells MSU community his last day is Friday.

November 7, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the week focusing on Michigan State football, shorthanded Michigan State survives to pull off 23-15 upset over Illinois. For our second headline focusing on election news, Mike Pence comes to 7th District to help Barrett "flip the house" ahead of Election Day. For our final headline of the day focusing on city news, Michiganders uneasy about economy in new MSU-conducted poll.

November 8, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the day focusing on Michigan State women's basketball, MSU women's basketball blows out Delaware State in season opener. For our second headline of the day focusing on absentee voting, East Lansing residents and out-of-state MSU students face absentee voting challenges. For our final headline of the day focusing on campus news, 'It's On Us': MSU's week of action on stalking prevention education, community awareness.

November 9, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the day focusing on Election Day, Michigan Democrats rally at MSU for final campaign event before Election Day. For our next headline focusing on more election day news, MSU students take advantage of same-day registration, voting. For our final headline of the day focusing on culture, Wharton Center meshes art and science with Of Equal Place: Isotopes in Motion show.

November 10, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the day focusing on Tuesday's election day, MSU students still in line to vote hours after polls at East Lansing satellite office close. For our second headline focusing on more election day news, in-person voting in East Lansing high, but not same as pre-pandemic elections. For our final headline of the day focusing on culture, East Lansing Film Festival opening night sets tone for week-long indie film exploration.

November 11, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the day focusing on culture, MSU's Agriculture Grants: creating the 'pear-fect' produce with a steady diet of USDA greens. For our second headline focusing on Tuesday's election day, students react to midterm election results, high student voter turnout. For our final headline of the day focusing on culture, MSU students form 'Taylor Swift Club,' bonding over shared love for her music.

November 14, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the week focusing on Michigan State football, second straight win for Michigan State, defeats Rutgers 27-21. For our second headline focusing on November 8th's election day, if you got a parking ticket on campus on Election Day, don't pay it. For our final headline of the day focusing on city news, experts share advice for MSU, East Lansing community at start of flu season.

November 15, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the day focusing on campus news, MSU to hold vaccine clinic at Breslin Center on Wednesday. For our second headline focusing on culture, Black Student Alliance hosts 50th Annual Black Power Rally, celebrating Black culture and intersectionality. For our final headline of the day focusing on campus news, professor receives scholar grant to continue cancer research for underserved communities.

November 16, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the day focusing on culture, MSU's annual Global Festival returns for celebration of international culture. For our second headline focusing on city news, construction begins on 2-story pizzeria in previous Collegeville Textbooks location. For our final headline of the day focusing on culture, annual model train show attracts thousands, community members of all ages.

November 17, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the day focusing on Michigan State men's basketball, MSU downs No. 4 Kentucky 86-77 in double overtime at Champions Classic. For our second headline focusing on city news, after midterm results, Michigan Dems establish priorities while GOP deals with infighting. For our final headline of the day focusing on campus news, normalizing mental health on campus with Mental Health Awareness Week.

November 18, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the day focusing on MSU football, 'What a great ride it's been,' MSU seniors prepare for one last game at Spartan Stadium. For our second headline of the day focusing on campus news, MSU library and surplus store team up for sustainable Clothing Repair-a-Thon. For our final headline of the week focusing on culture, environmental student, researcher and activist has hope for a more sustainable MSU future.

November 21, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the week focusing on MSU football from Impact Dports, bowl aspirations must wait another week for MSU after second-half collapse. For our second headline focusing on city news, vehicle flips on Grand River Avenue, no injuries. For our final headline of the day focusing on Saturday's football game, security escorts Sunrise MSU for divestment protest at Spartan Stadium.

November 22, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the day focusing on city news, East Lansing-area Starbucks workers strike over stalled contract negotiations. For our second headline focusing on campus news, accessible remote monitoring technology advances MSU Health Care. For our final headline of the day focusing on culture, MSU unveils new learning space for Department of African American and African Studies.

November 23, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the day focusing on sports, MSU hockey's Jagger Joshua victim of verbal racial attack during Ohio State series. For our second headline focusing on city news, affordable artist housing project begins market survey for East Lansing campus. For our final headline of the week focusing on campus news, grab-and-go green: students create reusable container program for dining halls.

November 28, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the week focusing on MSU football, MSU football's season comes to an end with a 35-16 loss to Penn State. For our second headline focusing on city news, Quality Dairy closes Michigan Avenue store in East Lansing. For our final headline of the day focusing on MSU men's basketball, Malik Hall out for next three weeks of season due to injury.

November 29, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the day focusing on MSU football, Michigan State fined by Big Ten for Michigan Stadium tunnel incident. For our second headline focusing on this year's thanksgiving break, going home for break told by the out-of-state students at MSU. For our final headline of the day focusing on culture, MSU organizations team up to provide fresh produce for international families.

November 30, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the day focusing on campus news, MSU to recognize off-campus, commuter, transfer students with appreciation event. For our second headline focusing on MSU football, Michigan State transfer portal: Jack Stone, Terry Lockett Jr. first two into transfer portal. For our final headline of the month focusing on culture, MSU Surplus Store to host final upcycle of semester, teases spring events to come.

December 1, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the month focusing on MSU football, four Spartans receive Big Ten offensive honors. For our second headline focusing on MSU hockey, abundant penalties force Nightingale to bench Jagger Joshua versus Miami (OH). For our final headline of the day focusing on culture, Leon Panetta visits MSU to talk government polarization, war in Ukraine.

December 2, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the day focusing on culture, where abortion is legal may have an impact on students' med school choices. For our second headline focusing on city news, Zyara Grill on Grand River Avenue closes. For our final headline of the week focusing on campus life, Office of Spartan Experiences to host "Countdown to Close-Out" week-long events.

December 5, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the week focusing on MSU football, MSU defensive lineman Jacob Slade declares for 2023 NFL Draft. For our second headline focusing on campus news, student-run theater company Second Stage Productions brings Rocky Horror Show to MSU. For our final headline of the day focusing on city news, Crumbl Cookies opens new location in Lansing.

December 6, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the day focusing on culture, 59th Annual Winter Arts and Crafts show supports community, local artists. For our second headline focusing on campus news, incoming students denied on-campus housing for spring semester. For our final headline focusing on city news, Black students in politics inspired by Bolden's appointment to Michigan Supreme Court.

December 7, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the day focusing on campus news, the end-of-the-semester class surveys are changing. Here's what students think of them. For our second headline focusing on culture, bartenders, servers challenge potential minimum wage change, fear life without tips. For our last headline of the day focusing on campus news, landlord details winter preparation steps for students leaving during break.

December 8, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the day focusing on city news, East Lansing City Council delays vote on "sanctuary city" proposal, citing possible implications. For our second headline focusing on culture, 12% forward, 7% back: MSU's clean energy use has decreased, underperformed board's goals. For our final headline of the day focusing on more city news, how are East Lansing businesses preparing for winter break?

December 9, 2022

The State: In the news today: For our first headline of the day focusing on city news, EL Independent Police Oversight Commission faces low turnout, unable to pass motion. For our second headline focusing on campus news, have a food-based startup idea? MSU has a kitchen for that. For our final headline of the semester focusing on campus news, MSU students discuss ways to stay motivated during the 'holiday slump'.