LOCAL ISSUES ADDRESSED DURING THE QUARTER

The following are local issues of concern to the community. Programs that addressed these issues during this reporting period are listed on the following pages.

Local Issue/Concern	Brief description of local issue or concern
Emergency disaster preparedness and recovery	The islands have suffered from devastating natural disasters in recent years. Preparedness and recovery and response resources are available.
Alcoholism and drug dependency	The number of gangs and the level of drug-trafficking increased in the territory which along with many social factors, such as education levels, job availability and poverty factor into the increase in alcoholism and drug dependency.
Abuse of women	In addition to using the protection offered by the Virgin Islands domestic violence laws, a battered woman may have to take other actions as well as to protect herself. It is important that the victim remember that while the law offers remedies to help to stop the abuse, the victim must insure her personal safety and the safety of her children.
Senior citizens	About 29.8% of those age 65 or over live below the poverty line and require access to support and resources.
Education and Family Safety	The importance of education is well known but circumstances can interfere in a tough economic climate. Opportunities to obtain a GED are available. And the role of parents, especially fathers, in being involved in their children's lives provides opportunities to stress the importance of education. Education regarding COVID-19 is critical especially with the constant update of information.
General financial issues	Due to the current economic climate, including the impact of COVID-19, and the high level of poverty in the territory, assistance with food, healthcare and housing becomes a priority. Various organizations, private and public are available to assist.

Community Assistance with Financial and other Resources

In mid-July 2021, United Way Worldwide helped launch a 211 public service advertising campaign, aiming to connect more people in need to local available resources through 211.

COVID-19 recovery and rebuilding will continue for some time. Many people are still struggling, and don't know about local resources that could ease their hardships. That's why United Way is so appreciative of the Rockefeller Foundation for underwriting the 211 PSA campaign, called "Guiding Light," and thankful for the work the Ad Council and Walton Isaacson have done to bring it to life.

Flu & Chronic Health Conditions

Influenza (flu) is a contagious and potentially deadly virus that can result in serious complications for individuals living with chronic health conditions such as heart disease, lung disease, and diabetes, even when chronic conditions are well-controlled. Estimates indicate that 31 percent of US adults age 50-64 years and 47 percent of those age 65 and older have at least one chronic health condition that puts them at high risk for flu-related complications, including hospitalization, catastrophic disability, and even death.

There is an urgent need to raise awareness of the burden of flu and COVID-19 in adults with chronic health conditions. In addition to focusing attention on new COVID-19 vaccines, it is important to remember that annual flu vaccines have proven to be safe and effective in protecting patients with chronic health conditions from severe flu-related outcomes.

Healthcare professionals (HCPs) play a key role in communicating the benefits of annual flu vaccination in mitigating the risks of flu and reducing severe flu-related outcomes in patients with chronic health conditions. Additionally, HCPs must be prepared to recognize and address barriers to vaccination, including lack of consumer confidence in vaccine efficacy and misperceptions about the impact of flu, and should insist upon annual flu vaccination—particularly for patients with known chronic health conditions and for those who may have an undiagnosed chronic health condition or are likely to spread flu to others.

Join the growing list of supporting organizations that have signed on to support the goals of increasing awareness of the dangers of influenza and COVID-19 among adults with chronic health conditions and the benefits of annual vaccination, to improve public health and patient outcomes.

Annual flu vaccination is the best way to protect yourself from flu and serious long-term complications.

Social Isolation and Loneliness in Older Adults

Strong social connections are central to our physical and mental well-being. But when vulnerable older adults experience setbacks, they may become disconnected and isolated.

Because the issue of social isolation is so complex, AARP Foundation spearheaded Connect2Affect to seek out solutions in collaboration with the Gerontological Society of America, Give an Hour, the National Association of Area Agencies on Aging and UnitedHealth Group. Through research and innovative efforts, we're working to create a deeper understanding of loneliness and isolation, draw crucial attention to the issue, and catalyze action to end social isolation among older adults.

Our goal is to create a network of resources that meets the needs of anyone who is isolated or lonely, and that helps build the social connections older adults need to thrive.

Are you or a loved one at risk for social isolation? Take this assessment to find out if you are at risk: <https://connect2affect.org/>. Search the Local Assistance Directory for free or reduced cost services that may combat or prevent social isolation. You'll also find services like medical care, food, job training and more.

Emergency Preparedness

In recent years, devastating earthquakes, tornadoes, floods and wildfires have highlighted the need for Americans to prepare for natural disaster. However, according to the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), half of Americans have not discussed or developed a family emergency plan.

Since 2003, our campaign has empowered individuals, families, small businesses and communities to prepare for both natural and man-made disasters. “Ready” recommends taking four steps towards preparedness:

1. Be informed about the different types of emergencies that could occur and their appropriate protective actions.
2. Make a family emergency plan including information on how to reconnect and reunite.
3. Build emergency supply kits to ensure you’re prepared whether you’re at home, at work, or in the car.
4. Get involved by finding opportunities to support community preparedness.

The bilingual campaign encourages, educates, and empowers parents and caregivers to talk with their kids about emergency preparedness and take action together by visiting Ready.gov/kids.

Prostate Cancer Screening

The NFL Alumni Association has chipped in with the Cancer Treatment Centers of America, and LabCorp to educate men on the need for early screening for prostate cancer.

They also are increasing access to such screenings across America through Oct. 15.

Prostate cancer is the most common cancer among men, with one in every seven men predicted to be diagnosed with the disease. So those who meet eligibility requirements have been able to sign up to receive a free prostate specific antigen (PSA) screening by any of LabCorp's 1,750 locations nationwide. Once 2,000 such screenings are filled, a discounted price of $25 is available.

"We felt a lot of our colleagues, whether it was coaches or players, didn't understand how simple it is to get these tests," says former NFL player and coach Herman Edwards, a spokesman for the movement Prostate Pep Talk and the Alumni Association's role in it. "Just go get a test, it is not that hard. We really are concerned with our colleagues.

"I went through seeing it with the Chiefs when (team owner) Lamar Hunt had a bout with it and it ended up taking his life. He didn't get it checked."

Edwards, Bill Cowher, Dick Vermeil, Jon Runyan, Mike Quick and Beasley Reece are among the NFL alumni publicizing the program.

"We get a lot of positive feedback," Edwards says. "Taking the time to go do it is very important; the only person who can really take care of your health is you. As men, we want to provide for our families, and the way we can do that is to take care of ourselves. Sometimes we get so caught up in our work: Lamar Hunt, stories like that resonate to a lot of people."

Experts recommend that men who are considered to be at high risk get screened beginning at age 40. Risk factors include family history and race, with African-American men having a more than 70 percent higher likelihood of developing prostate cancer.

Shelter Pet Adoptions

Pet adoption has been on the rise since the campaign's launch in 2009. Across the country, 44% of dogs and 47% of cats in American homes have been adopted from shelters. However, while one in two Americans expresses interest in adopting from animal shelters and rescue groups, misperceptions about shelters and shelter pets persist. The goal of "The Shelter Pet Project" campaign is to encourage millions of pet lovers to make shelters the first choice and desired way for acquiring companion animals, therefore helping all healthy and treatable pets find homes.

While every shelter pet is unique, there's one thing they have in common: they're all pure love. The current phase of the campaign, #AdoptPureLove, celebrates the unique traits of shelter pets and shows how these qualities add up to an incredible bond between every shelter pet and parent. Through sharing the stories of actresses Olivia Munn and Rachel Bloom, NFL athlete Logan Ryan and everyday people, the #AdoptPureLove campaign aims to encourage potential pet adopters to adopt from shelters and rescue groups.

The fully integrated campaign includes television, radio, print, outdoor and digital public service ads that direct audiences to visit TheShelterPetProject.org, where they can search for cats and dogs available for adoption at local shelters or rescue groups and learn valuable information about pet adoption.

Drug-Impaired Driving Prevention

Although several states have legalized marijuana use, driving when impaired by any substance remains illegal in all 50 states and in Washington, D.C.

Many marijuana users don't see a problem with driving after use, but research shows marijuana can slow reaction time, impair judgment of distance, and decrease coordination - all skills necessary for the safe operating of a vehicle.

Our campaign targets young men aged 18 to 35, many of whom reject the common stereotypes of marijuana users - and reminds viewers that if you feel different, you drive different. Don't drive high.

FATHERHOOD INVOLVEMENT

Having an involved father significantly contributes to happier and healthier children, and this is true whether a father lives with his child or not.

The Fatherhood Involvement campaign encourages dads to take an active role in the lives of their children. PSAs ask dads to show off their best moves and "Dance Like a Dad," communicating that their presence is essential to their children's well-being, and that even the smallest moments can make the biggest difference.

All PSAs direct audiences to visit www.fatherhood.gov for parenting tips, fatherhood programs and other resources.

Empowering Girls in STEM

Women make up half of the total college-educated workforce in the U.S., but they only constitute 27% of the STEM workforce, according to the U.S. Census Bureau. Research shows that many girls lose interest in STEM as early as middle school, and this path continues through high school and college, ultimately leading to an underrepresentation of women in STEM careers. She Can STEM aims to dismantle the intimidating perceived barrier of STEM fields by showing girls, non-binary youth, and trans youth how fun, messy and accessible STEM can be, encouraging them to dive in, no matter where they are in their STEM journey.

Emergency Preparedness

In recent years, devastating earthquakes, tornadoes, floods and wildfires have highlighted the need for all Americans, regardless of background or location, to prepare for natural disaster. However, according to the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), half of Americans have not discussed or developed a family emergency plan.

Since 2003, our campaign has empowered individuals, families, small businesses, and communities to prepare for both natural and man-made disasters. “Ready” recommends taking four steps towards preparedness:

1. Be informed about the different types of emergencies that could occur and their appropriate protective actions.
2. Make a family emergency plan including information on how to reconnect and reunite.
3. Build emergency supply kits to ensure you’re prepared whether you’re at home, at work, or in the car.
4. Get involved by finding opportunities to support community preparedness.

The Ready campaign now includes PSAs developed specifically for Latino and Black audiences, in addition to the general market work that encourages, educates, and empowers families to develop their own emergency preparedness plans by visiting Listo.gov/plan or Ready.gov/plan.

Veterans Crisis Prevention

Veterans are at higher risk for suicide compared to the general population. The suicide rate among Veterans in 2020 was 57% higher than non-Veteran adults in the U.S., according to the 2022 National Veteran Suicide Prevention Annual Report. Stressful life events like divorce, job loss, or housing troubles can be risk factors for suicide. Among Veterans, these challenges can be compounded by the stigma around seeking help.

But there is hope – resources are available and suicide is preventable. The new national Veterans campaign from the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs and the Ad Council, “Don’t Wait, Reach Out”, encourages Veterans to reach out for help before their challenges become overwhelming or reach a crisis point.

The campaign directs to VA.gov/reach, a new website with comprehensive resources and a user-friendly experience that makes it easier for Veterans to find guidance and support from across the full breadth of the VA’s offerings.

Children's Education with Junior Achievement

What do you wish you had been taught in school, but weren't? How to manage money? How what you learned in school might apply to a future job?

Junior Achievement (JA) is launching a new awareness campaign that focuses on helping kids connect what they learn in school and life outside the classroom. "Take Flight" is a PSA campaign that illustrates how Junior Achievement can help today's students achieve their dreams of tomorrow, whether these dreams mean finding their ideal career, being able to buy a home, or starting their own business.

Each year, Junior Achievement learning experiences reach more than 2.5 million young people in grades K through 12. These learning experiences are delivered by thousands of volunteers, primarily from the business community, who teach proven programs focused on financial literacy, work readiness and entrepreneurship.

The "Take Flight" campaign includes one 30-second television Public Service Announcement (PSA) and three 15-second PSAs. The PSAs feature students turning their dreams of youth into reality as adults. The campaign is launching in January 2022 and is intended to run throughout the year.
