EEO Filing

As per our policy statement, WWM Inc. has a program through cooperation with Noreen Bormet, Director of the Peotone Public Library District and Peotone Public Library District Board and Karen LeClaire, who is a volunteer reader for the programming. The library provided the person and equipment and recording took place there as previously noted in past reports. The Peotone program continues.

We are continuing to work to review our official EEO policy for addition to the Public File upon completion and approval by the Board. It will then replace the current statement on our new website that was completed in Dec. 2017 and is online. Until that date, the Board had approved the continued use of that document. Our lead on this project was transferred to Japan during the pandemic and work on the updated policy had to cease temporarily. Covid 19 and the subsequent variants and surges of illness have caused the Board to postpone the project along with several others.

We continue to review and develop our volunteer training materials to inform our volunteers of FCC requirements and technical aspects as needed and are constantly looking to bring in new shows, add more volunteers, and improve our programming.

We have had some inquiry regarding possible new volunteers and have directed potential volunteers to our volunteer application available online and have offered to send it via USPS as well. Inquiries are substantially lessened due to the various waves of variant surges of Covid-19.

All staff are volunteers. No one receives remuneration.

We have begun working with an outside firm to further develop a new website.

It is an independent firm, Elite Design Agency, Pembroke Pines, FL. They have been paid for the work to redesign and update the website as yet, but the new website is not yet live on the new server pending Board approval. Payment will be issued to the company upon completion (per Board approval).
