To help them meet payroll right - since as you know many businesses have been forced to close. The city of Richmond plans to make a million dollars available for this loan program. In order to qualify, as business has to have less than 25 employees. Mayor Stoney says a partnership with government and public donors is what's making this possible. The city wants to help local businesses get 6 months of their current employee wages. Businesses won't have to repay the loan for another 6 months. But in order for it to remain interest free, they'll have to settle the debt within 48 months. Applications will be available beginning Monday through the Mayor's Office. They will share that information online. So stay tuned for more details on that.	0:01:09

Health	4/6/2020	4:30 PM	43PM RADIO STORE FACE SHIELDS	Some businesses are finding ways to contribute during this pandemic - including making P-P-E. Extreme Audio in Mechanicsville has made hundreds of face shields that are used by healthcare workers. Not only that, but the car stereo store is donating their wares to area hospitals. Normally, this machine would be used to laser cut special components to custom fit car stereos. "We had no idea that it was this level of demand. Our first batch, we had just bought the materials ourselves and planned on making 150 of them, and we got requests for well more than 1,000." Owner Mike Bartells said he got the idea from industry Facebook groups.	0:01:29
Consumer & Economy & Employment	4/6/2020	4:30 PM	43PM RESTAURANT REPORT	I HAVE THREE RESTAURANTS TO TALK ABOUT TONIGHT... FIRST IS CASA DEL BARCO.. THEY HAVE THREE LOCATIONS, ONE ON THE CANAL WALK, ONE IN CHESTERFIELD, AND ONE IN SHORT PUMP. THEY'RE KNOWN FOR THEIR MEXICAN FOOD.. YOU CAN ORDER TAKEOUT ON THEIR WEBSITE AS WELL AS DELIVERY. THEY ALSO USE GRUB HUB AND DOORDASH! NEXT WE'RE TALKING ABOUT SINE'S IRISH PUB.. YOU CAN FIND THIS IRISH PUB ON EAST CARY STREET. THEY'RE OFFERING TAKEOUT IF YOU CALL 804-649-7767 or YOU CAN ORDER delivery USING doordash. AND FINALLY, NAMA.. IT'S AN INDIAN RESTAURANT YOU CAN FIND ON WEST BROAD STREET. THEY OFFER CARRYOUT...	0:01:05
Consumer & Economy & Employment	4/6/2020	4:30 PM	43PM RVA TAKEOUT SIGNS	A new Takeout RVA campaign just launched to help restaurants get the word out that they're still open even if their dinings rooms aren't. You may have seen these green "We're Open" signs posted in the windows of businesses. It's a way for them to promote takeout, curbside pickup, or delivery options. So far more than 500 have been passed out in the community.	0:01:17
Health	4/6/2020	4:30 PM	43PM STAY HOME RVA	It's national public health week and the Richmond City and Henrico County Health Districts are working to reinforce the importance of staying-at-home and social distancing guidelines. By using the hashtag, "Stay Home RVA" on social media you are committing to sheltering in place throughout this state of emergency in the Commonwealth. Right now, the Governor's stay-at-home order runs through June 10th.	0:00:55

Health	4/8/2020	4:30 PM	43PW PETS VETS AND COVID 19	"When I saw them come out in their full hazmat gear. It was pretty impressive how streamlined and organized it was." For Morgan Nagle - she's thankful the animal hospital is still open after her cat Peepers started having issues with his tail a few week ago. "He was diagnosed with hyperthyroid so he's still able to get check ups and check his blood levels. It's an essential thing because pets are part of your family too." But the process for these appointments has changed since COVID-19 arrived in Virginia.	0:01:52
Consumer & Economy & Employment	4/8/2020	4:30 PM	43PW RESTAURANT REPORT	A couple of the options we're talking about today are open during the breakfast and lunch time hours. BUT IF YOU'RE LOOKING FOR DINNER, DON'T WORRY, WE'VE GOT YOU COVERED. First up is Capitol Waffle Shop, they serve--you guessed it--waffles. You can find in on East Main Street in Richmond. They're open every day from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. They're offering pickup if you call their number 804-644-3052 or delivery through Chop Chop RVA, UberEats, or DoorDash. Next is the Pit and the Peel, it's a juice bar and bistro with four locations, but only the one in Carytown is open right now.	0:01:13

Consumer & Economy & Employment	5/13/2020	5:00 PM	5PW HENRY NORTHAM UPDATE WED	There are concerns among richmond city leaders about moving into phase one. i'm told there's been meetings at city hall over the issues and we should expect an announcement from the mayor tomorrow. during a COVID-19 briefing, Governor Ralph Northam said most of the state is on track to enter phase one on friday. northam says the move is a small step forward to restarting the state's badly hurt economy. the governor also said they will continue to monitor the health data as phase one begins and make changes accordingly. northam said no other region has reached out to him about delays. "if there are other regions in Virginia that have concerns, have been following their metrics, feel that they aren't ready to move into phase one, I haven't heard from them personally and I would encourage them to go through the same process that the folks in northern Virginia did." phase one of the "virginia forward" plan allows some non-essential businesses to operate with health and safety restrictions in place. salons can open by appointment only, restaurants can only entertain diners outside with capacity limitations.	0:01:00
Special Coverage	5/13/2020	5:00 PM	5PW JEFF DAVIS RELEASED, NO TRIAL	On this day in Virginia history - Confederate President Jefferson Davis is released from prison at Fort Monroe after posting 100-thousand dollars bail. May 13th, 1867. Davis spent two years in Union custody for the Confederate uprising. The leader of the rebellion had most of his bail paid for by wealthy northerners - who thought his right to a speedy trial was being denied! Something that many fail to realize - Jefferson Davis was never formally tried for treason in the aftermath of the Civil War.	0:00:34

WHERE: Clymer, New York

“Finding Sarah Goode” - Friday, May 15 at 9 p.m.

THE STORY: Dateline reports on the disappearance of Sarah Goode, the youngest sister of a large, tight-knit family on Long Island, who vanished without a trace. The two-hour broadcast features the latest in the case, as well as extended interviews with key players in the investigation.

REPORTED BY: Andrea Canning

INTERVIEWS WITH: Sarah Goode's family and friends, Prosecutor Janet Albertson and more.

WHERE: Mastic, New York

“What They Saw” - Saturday, May 16 at 9 p.m.

THE STORY: Dateline speaks to a Georgia father accused of murdering his ex-wife, Ciara Ingram. While his friends come together to prove he is innocent, prosecutors count on his young children to testify against their own father.

REPORTED BY: Dennis Murphy

INTERVIEWS WITH: Ciara Ingram's friends, her ex-husband Jarod Ingram, Muscogee County District Attorney Julia Slater and more.

WHERE: Columbus, Georgia

“Mystery in Big Sky Country” - Friday, May 22 at 9 p.m.

THE STORY: When Bryan Rein, a young Montana veterinarian, is found dead at his home with a gun nearby, police quickly discover there is more to this case than meets the eye. As the investigation spans more than two decades, police sort through conflicting evidence to find out what really happened.

REPORTED BY: Keith Morrison

INTERVIEWS WITH: Bryan’s sisters Teresa Noll and Charlene Rein-Murphy, investigators and more.

WHERE: Geraldine, Montana

“Before Midnight” - Friday, May 29 at 10 p.m.

THE STORY: Pam Zimmerman, a successful business woman and mother of three, is found shot in her office. She was the center of her kids' universe, dedicated to her financial planning firm and had recently gotten engaged. The investigation into her death leaves a family divided as they question if justice will be served.

REPORTED BY: Keith Morrison

INTERVIEWS WITH: Pam Zimmerman’s children, friends and more.

WHERE: New York, New York

“Facing the Music” - Saturday, June 13 at 9 p.m.

THE STORY: When Christy Mirack, a young schoolteacher in Pennsylvania is murdered, her friends wonder if the killer will be caught. Following years without an arrest, investigators discover a new tool that may finally help unlock the murderer’s identity. Can police work fast enough to catch the suspect? Or will the killer slip away again?

REPORTED BY: Andrea Canning

INTERVIEWS WITH: Christy Mirack’s family, colleagues and more.

WHERE: Lancaster County, Pennsylvania

“Pandemic Playbook” - Saturday, June 13 at 8 p.m.

NBC News’ Lester Holt anchored The Playbook, a Dateline NBC special in-depth and comprehensive look at whether the coronavirus pandemic that tore through the United States could have been contained or slowed had government agencies responded differently.

As cases in the U.S. top 2 million and the nation begins to reopen, Holt speaks with Dr. Beth Cameron, former head of the National Security Council’s pandemic response and preparedness team, along with Jeremy Konyndyk, an expert in international disasters who helped co-ordinate the Obama administration’s response to Ebola. They are two of the authors of the 2016 “Pandemic Playbook,” a step-by-step guide for White House officials to help them make decisions quickly in a crisis.

During the one-hour broadcast, Holt sits down with HHS Secretary Alex Azar, who responds to criticism that the Trump administration could have done more to fight the pandemic and that it largely ignored steps outlined in the playbook, a notion Azar denies. The special also features NBC News’ extensive investigative reporting on the government’s response to the pandemic, as well as interviews with key experts including: Dr. Luciana Borio, an infectious disease expert and former member of the Trump administration’s National Security Council, and Eric Ries, an entrepreneur who worked to help connect PPE makers with those who needed it the most.

“The Long Road to Freedom” - Friday, June 19 at 10 p.m.

NBC News’ Craig Melvin reports on two Tulsa, Oklahoma brothers fighting for more than 20 years to prove their innocence after they were wrongfully convicted for separate murders.

The one-hour broadcast, The Long Road to Freedom, is part of NBC News’ network-wide series, “Inequality in America.”

For the first time on national television, brothers Malcom Scott and Corey Atchison discuss their struggles with the justice system, as well as their pact to help one another get out of prison. The special also features interviews with the lawyers and investigators who worked on the brothers' cases and Melvin's interview with former Tulsa District Attorney Tim Harris, who defends his prosecution of Atchison.

The Long Road to Freedom also explores the aftermath of George Floyd's death, policing in Black neighborhoods, controversies surrounding the criminal justice system and wrongful convictions.

"What Happened to JJ and Tylee" - Monday, June 22 at 10 p.m.

Lori Vallow's former best friend, Melanie Gibb, speaks out after investigators discovered the remains of Vallow's two children in the backyard of Vallow's husband, Chad Daybell. The two children had been missing from Rexburg, Idaho since last September.

What Happened to JJ and Tylee features the latest in the case since Dateline last reported on the investigation in May. Daybell was recently charged with two felony counts of destruction, alteration or concealment of evidence. He has pleaded not guilty. Vallow was charged in February with a felony desertion of children and three misdemeanors related to her children. She has not entered a plea and her lawyer has declined to comment.

"The Secret Keepers" - Friday, June 26 at 10 p.m.

THE STORY: When 59-year-old father Randy Baker is found dead in his home, his family assumes that it's related to his ongoing health issues. Once the coroner reveals that he didn't die of natural causes, his family is left to wonder if one of their own is behind Randy's mysterious death.

REPORTED BY: Keith Morrison

INTERVIEWS WITH: Randy Baker's daughter, investigators on the case and more.

MEET THE PRESS – 2nd Quarter 2020
Airs Sundays at 10:00AM

April 5, 2020

Cases and deaths are soaring as guidelines are ignored. Should there be a national stay at home order? And states competing against each other for equipment. The next crisis. What happens when Covid-19 hits rural hospitals that lack doctors, beds and ventilators? And finally, the moments of love, selflessness and heroism that are keeping our spirits up in the face of a once-in-a-century challenge.

MASK ENFORCERS

There's some promising news today as researchers in Cambridge, Massachusetts, report an experimental coronavirus vaccine is showing encouraging results. They say volunteers given a low or medium dose developed antibodies similar to those seen in people who recovered from Covid-19. This comes as drama is breaking out around the country as staff of businesses opening up try to make sure people are wearing masks. Jim Moret reports.

TRUMP DRAMA

President Trump continued his war of words today with Barack Obama, clearly not happy after his predecessor called his handling of the pandemic a chaotic disaster. Inside Edition reports.

BUSINESSES REOPENING

Around the country, Americans are taking tentative steps toward resuming regular life as 48 states have relaxed at least some of their stay at home orders. It's good news for millions...but in their excitement are some people forgetting about keeping that six-foot distance from others? Inside Edition reports.

BABY BORN OUTSIDE HOSPITAL

It was a heart-stopping delivery for one couple who rushed to the hospital as the wife was in labor. Thanks to Covid-19, the usual hospital door wasn't open and the baby was born before they could get inside. As Ann Mercogliano reports, they ended up using a face mask for a very different purpose.

DRIVING CRAZY

Not many people are out driving these days...but if you are, you've already discovered there's a new hazard on the highway. Some people are taking advantage of virtually empty roads and driving like maniacs. Steven Fabian reports.

MISSING MOM COLORADO

One week after a Colorado mom went missing on Mother's Day her husband is appealing for anyone who might have seen anything to say something. As Megan Alexander reports, she went out for a solo bike ride and hasn't been seen since.

COVID CASTAWAYS

Two women who made history by spending the winter in the Arctic Circle are now stuck. They were supposed to be picked up by the end of the month...but thanks to Covid-19 that journey's been cancelled and they tell us it's just them and the polar bears until September.

"WE ARE THE WORLD"

35 years ago, Lionel Richie and Michael Jackson wrote "We Are the World" to raise money for famine relief in Africa. Now the song has been updated for our times. Inside Edition reports.

KID IN PLASTIC

A little guy is bored being stuck inside and he's obviously willing to do anything to go out and play.

MAY 19, 2020

TRUMP AND HYDROXYCHLOROQUINE

The reaction has been fast and furious to the revelation from President Trump that he's been taking hydroxychloroquine to prevent Covid-19. House Speaker Nancy Pelosi didn't waste time taking a swing at the president, saying he shouldn't be on the drug partly because he's, in her words, morbidly obese. Inside Edition reports on the frenzy set off by the president's comments.

BIKE SHORTAGE

States may be reopening but that doesn't mean people are returning to all their old habits. One thing many are concerned about is public transportation. The idea of trying to social distance on a crowded train or bus doesn't fly for some people so as Steven Fabian reports, they're resorting to bikes...if they can find one!

STRANDED CRUISE SHIPS

Inside Edition has reported about the plight of cruise ship staff stranded on ships they're not permitted to leave. They are now desperate. It's so bad that one woman has jumped to her death.

DOCTOR STRANGLES WIFE

Domestic violence is the other pandemic sweeping the nation. Around the country, law enforcement reports a double digit increase in reports of domestic abuse. Now comes the arrest of a prominent doctor accused of strangling his wife. Inside Edition reports.

MELANIA AND FIRST LADIES

There's a new book out about President Trump and his relationship with the four surviving former presidents. It also touches on Melania Trump and her friendship with one specific former first lady. Megan Alexander spoke with the author.

AHMAUD ARBERY BODY CAM

There's newly released police body cam footage that attorneys for the family of Ahmaud Arbery say illustrates the kind of harassment the young Georgia man experienced. The incident happened more than two years before Arbery was shot and killed while jogging.

RYAN SEACREST EXHAUSTION

Last time, Inside Edition told you there was concern for Ryan Seacrest after he slurred his words and had a droopy eye on the big American Idol finale. Now he's explaining what was going on.

SALONS OF THE FUTURE

For most women, it's been weeks since they've had their hair done. Ann Mercogliano has a sneak peek of what it will be like at the salon when you go back.

A pair of twin grandmas sing the coronavirus blues.

MAY 20, 2020

CORONAVIRUS NEWS

As we approach Memorial Day weekend, all fifty states are now relaxing stay-at-home orders...but rules about social distancing vary state to state as Inside Edition discovered in videos of large get togethers around the country.

LIFEGUARD PROTOCOLS

In some places around the country, beaches and pools are taking baby steps toward reopening...but in the face of Covid-19, for lifeguards, saving a drowning swimmer will be very different. Steven Fabian reports on what's going to be different.

HYDROXYCHLOROQUINE DEBATE

In the wake of the President's revelation that he is taking hydroxychloroquine to prevent Covid-19, there's a new worry for health experts. Some people are trying to make their own homemade versions of the drug and that's prompting a serious warning. Inside Edition reports.

ZOOM TRIAL

The wheels of justice move slowly and even more so now with legal proceedings around the country halted during the lockdown. Now the same technology that's enabled people to work from home is also allowing court to be back in session. Inside Edition reports.

BACHELOR ALUM

She once looked for love on TV's The Bachelor and now she's being accused of breaking stay-at-home orders to go on a six-hour road trip. The reason: to get her hair done.

MATT LAUER

Disgraced former Today show anchor Matt Lauer is making his first detailed comments on reports about the sexual assault allegation that ended his career at NBC and the woman who says he raped her is responding to Lauer. Lauer claims that they had a consensual relationship, a claim she denies. Inside Edition has the latest on the ongoing war of words.

DR. PHIL ADVICE

The pandemic has put countless families in the position of making some tough choices. Dr. Phil has some advice to guide viewers through it.

DRIVE-IN DINER

These days, dining out might feel like being stuck in a time warp. As Diane McInerney reports, the drive-in diner is back!

LORI LOUGHLIN GUILTY PLEA

Actress Lori Loughlin has ended her fight with the government. She and her husband are pleading guilty to their roles in the college admissions scandal, agreeing to serve two months and five months respectively in prison. As Diane McInerney reports, it's a far cry from the 40 years behind bars they might have faced if found guilty at trial.

SHOPPING CENTER SHOOTING

An active shooter opened fire at a shopping center in Arizona injuring at least three people before the suspect was taken into custody. Inside Edition spoke with his good friend who told us what it was like to watch the shooting unfold live on social media.

CORONAVIRUS NEWS

If America had been ordered into lockdown just one week earlier, at least 36,000 Americans would not have died of Covid-19 and if the shutdown had begun March 1st, a total of 54,000 lives would have been spared. That's the conclusion of researchers at Columbia University who developed models that found even a small change in the timing of the lockdown would have made an enormous difference. Inside Edition has the latest on the war against the coronavirus.

MEMORIAL DAY DOS AND DON'TS

Think smart. That's probably the best advice when it comes to planning your Memorial Day holiday this year. Some places will hold parades and others wouldn't think of it. Rules vary widely from state to state. Megan Alexander has this year's Memorial Day dos and don'ts.

FORGOTTEN PANDEMIC

The world has been consumed by the Covid-19 pandemic...but it's not the first time a virus has decimated the world. There was another, often forgotten, pandemic in the late 60s. As Ann Mercogliano reports, it was called the Hong Kong flu.

MATT LAUER LATEST

Disgraced former Today show anchor Matt Lauer has never given an interview about the accusations that ended his career. His new opinion piece for a website is his most extensive comment and in defending himself, he appears to be taking a shot at his former colleagues. Inside Edition reports.

TIPPING DURING COVID-19

Have you ordered food delivery during the lockdown? If you did, did you tip the delivery person? Too many people don't and what many people don't realize is those tips are important during the pandemic. As Inside Edition reports, there's a right way to do it.

LITTLE BOY HAIRCUT

A video going viral shows a little boy with a complaint that lots of people can relate to.

MAY 22, 2020

CORONAVIRUS NEWS

The Memorial Day weekend begins with gas prices at about their lowest in roughly 20 years...but that's unlikely to translate into many people hitting the roads as usual. In fact, for the first time in decades, AAA isn't even making a prediction on travel since Covid-19 has so disrupted the economy. Jim Moret begins our coverage.

TRUMP AND MASK

A new study of coronavirus patients worldwide has found those treated with hydroxychloroquine are at higher risk of death and it can also lead to heart problems in patients. This is the drug that's been touted and taken by President Trump who thought he'd outfoxed photographers by not being captured on camera wearing a mask while visiting a Ford plant...but he was. Who took the picture? Inside Edition reports.

LORI LOUGHLIN LATEST

Actress Lori Loughlin and her fashion designer husband were in front of a judge today pleading guilty to their role in the college admissions scandal. Their court appearance and guilty plea were all done virtually. Ann Mercogliano has details.

LADDER ACCIDENT

With people stuck at home many are trying DIY projects they wouldn't normally do and if your project involves a ladder you don't want something that happened to one guy happening to you. Diane McInerney has the heart-stopping video.

PET DUMPING

The Covid-19 pandemic has led to a rise in animal adoptions but there's also something else happening: pet dumping. In many places it's illegal...but that hasn't stopped people across the country from abandoning their pets. Shelters say the reasons could be financial or fears for their health. Lisa Guerrero reports.

FAMILY OF DOCTORS

Inside Edition reports on a Covid-19 survivor whose care was truly a family affair. It's the story of an 82-year-old man who beat the virus thanks to the home care of his family...many of whom happen to be doctors.

TROOPER FREAKS OUT

The strain of being a frontline worker was caught on tape when a State Trooper pulled over a motorist. It all started when the motorist pulled over for speeding after gesturing at the trooper and the tirade that resulted was recorded by the driver's cell phone. Inside Edition reports.

WOMAN HAS QUADRUPLETS

The chances were one in 15 million but a woman in Dallas has given birth to identical quadruplet boys all delivered within three minutes. Inside Edition reports.

PLAYING ALL INSTRUMENTS

Inside Edition has brought you lots of virtual choirs and bands during the lockdown but this one has a twist...it's one guy playing 22 instruments!

MAY 25, 2020

HEROES OF COVID-19

Typically this is the beginning of the summer season. This year things are anything but business as usual...but as we stop to honor the men and women in our military today, we also honor the heroes fighting the battle against Covid-19. Inside Edition reports on some of the people to whom we are especially grateful for inspiring us during the pandemic.

COVID-19 DETECTIVES

They are being called covid detectives...investigators whose job it is to track down people who have come in contact with someone sick with the coronavirus. As Lisa Guerrero reports, if you are one of the millions of out-of-work Americans, this could be a job for you.

BIRTHDAY AND WEDDING

You can also put the thousands of people who chose to celebrate life's big moments despite the coronavirus shutdown in the hero category. We begin with a special birthday party for a little boy where social distancing was followed in a creative way.

VIRTUAL WEDDING GOWNS

Things have certainly changed for how brides say yes to the dress! Inside Edition explains.

SNEEZING TEST

As beaches and businesses start to reopen with restrictions this weekend, people are being extra cautious about germs. When someone sneezes many run for cover...but how far does a sneeze actually travel? Wait until you see the results of our Inside Edition sneeze test!

DR. ROLE REVERSAL

What are the chances that a man who once helped a physician get healthy after a medical scare would end up as a patient of that same doctor thanks to Covid-19? Inside Edition has a touching story of a lifesaving payback.

WACKY QUARANTINE

With tens of millions of Americans stuck at home, some are bound to get a little stir crazy. Inside Edition reports on some of the wackier things people have done to kill time.

MISSING PURSE FOUND

What was school life like back in the 1950's? A family is finding out thanks to this incredible lost and found story. Inside Edition reports.

DRIED OUT HANDS

You've been hearing it since the beginning of the pandemic – wash your hands for at least 20 seconds...but all that scrubbing is leading to another problem: dried out and cracked hands. Now a dermatology has some advice.

HOSPITAL MUSICIANS

Talented musicians are making life a little better for people battling Covid-19.

MAY 26, 2020

CORONAVIRUS NEWS

All fifty states are officially reopened, at least in part, with about a dozen showing a slight uptick in Covid-19 cases since restrictions were relaxed. This comes as the death toll nears 100,000 in this country. After the holiday weekend there are concerns after social distancing was clearly not a priority at some gatherings. Perhaps you saw the crowds at the lake of the Ozarks? Now they're being asked to quarantine. Inside Edition reports.

CENTRAL PARK MELTDOWN

A woman is apologizing today for calling police on a bird watcher who asked her to put her dog on a leash in New York's Central Park. As Ann Mercogliano reports, the woman's behavior was so offensive not everyone is accepting her apology.

UCONN DOUBLE MURDER

A multi-state search is on for a college senior wanted for the deaths of two people and other crimes. The suspect is said to be armed and dangerous. Were there warning signs on his social media? Inside Edition has uncovered video that offers insight into his life before he was wanted by police. Les Trent reports.

MASKS VS. SHIELDS

Wearing a mask when out in public is required in many cities...but would a plastic facial shield provide better protection? Jim Moret explored the differences.

STRANGER THINGS – PANDEMIC EDITION

Maybe it's a sign we're becoming a bit unhinged or maybe some crazy stuff actually is happening while we're in lockdown. Inside Edition calls this story Stranger Things – Pandemic Edition.

GIRL SCARES INTRUDER

A girl is only ten years old but she's being called a hero after scaring away a suspected intruder at her house. Megan Alexander spoke with the little girl who made sure a stranger knew he wasn't wanted.

COSTUMES BIG BUSINESS

One business that's booming during the pandemic: Halloween costumes. Trick-or-treating is still five months away...but as it turns out, those costumes are helping people stay close to their loved ones.

BEAR OPENS CAR

Inside Edition shows video of a bear who clearly likes expensive cars.

MAY 27, 2020

GEORGE FLOYD PROTESTS

The family of the Minneapolis man who died after being pinned on the ground by cops is demanding that murder charges be brought against the police officers who placed him under arrest. This comes as new videos emerge that give a moment-by-moment timeline to what happened. Inside Edition begins today with more on the protests over the man's death that show no signs of abating.

MORE MASK WARS

To mask or not to mask...it really shouldn't be a question. Health officials say wearing one is smart...but some apparently see it as political. Inside Edition has the latest on the continuing debate about face masks.

UCONN MURDERS LATEST

The manhunt continues for the University of Connecticut senior who is a suspect in two murders and other crimes. The focus is on the Pocono Mountains in Pennsylvania. Once a honeymoon hotspot, it's now filled with abandoned vacation lodges...any one of which could be a hideout. Les Trent has more.

MEGHAN AND HARRY VS. DRONES

Meghan and Prince Harry continue to shelter-in-place in California...but the LAPD is confirming they are concerned for their safety because of low flying drones over their property, including when the couple was playing with baby Archie in their pool. Jim Moret reports.

SPACEX LAUNCH

It's been nine years since the U.S. launched a spacecraft carrying astronauts and today's launch of a SpaceX ship at Cape Canaveral has the same level of excitement as space launches of more than a generation ago back in the 60s. Inside Edition reports.

RING CAMERA PRAYER

It's a quiet reminder that kindness can be found everywhere. Ann Mercogliano reports on the Amazon driver who delivered a package and a blessing.

CHRISSEY TEIGEN

Model Chrissy Teigen shares pretty much everything on social media and now she has revealed on Instagram that she is having her breast implants removed. Inside Edition reports.

HOT DOGS DURING QUARANTINE

You could call it the official food of the pandemic: hot dogs. Even the worst cook can make them and as Megan Alexander reports, as a result they've been flying off the shelves!

RUBE GOLDBERG MACHINE

A family created a giant contraption while in quarantine.

MAY 28, 2020

COP CHOKING PROTESTS

Tensions are high after violence spreads beyond Minneapolis in response to the death of George Floyd while in police custody. His death has reignited the debate over racism in America and in police departments in particular. Jim Moret reports.

CORONAVIRUS NEWS

Today, President Trump finally commented on the nation's grim milestone that more than 100,000 people are officially dead from Covid-19. His tweet posted after he came under heavy criticism for seeming to comment on anything but the death toll. Ann Mercogliano reports.

COVID SQUATTERS?

Are some people abusing laws meant to protect people with financial troubles due to the pandemic? Some homeowners in the ritzy Hamptons think the answer is yes. Steve Fabian reports that some New Yorkers who rented homes on the east end of Long Island are allegedly refusing to pay and it appears there's little their distraught owners can do about it.

MATT DAMON

Like tens of thousands of people, actor Matt Damon was stranded away from home. He was in Ireland on location for a movie. In a sign that the world is reopening, he was spotted leaving for a flight.

GOING CASHLESS

These days cash is not king. The world was already moving to pay by app or credit card and thanks to the pandemic, Jim Moret reports some places simply won't take your money.

MEAN WEDDING VIDEOGRAPHER

A wedding was called off, not because of Covid-19 but because the bride-to-be tragically died in a car accident. Her fiancé tried to get a refund from the wedding videographer and the videographer refused. Then, as Inside Edition reports, it got really ugly.

UCONN ARREST

The University of Connecticut senior wanted for two murders was in court today. Les Trent has the inside story of how he was captured and how an Uber ride may have led cops right to him.

HAIRCUT NIGHT SHOW

With salons and barber shops closed, America has become a very shaggy haired nation. Some of us have gone DIY when it comes to hair and maybe regretted it. Now a new TV special is taking aim squarely at bad hair.

DOMINO'S PIZZA

Inside Edition reports on a pizza delivery guy who deserves a really big tip!

JUNE 1, 2020

GEORGE FLOYD PROTESTS

There are pleas for calm today in the wake of a weekend which saw protests in at least 140 different cities around the country that were triggered by last week's death of George Floyd while in police custody. The National Guard has been activated in at least 21 states, nighttime curfews are in place, and as Steven Fabian reports, officials are hoping they're prepared for whatever may come.

L.A. SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

In Beverly Hills a curfew went into effect at one o'clock this afternoon...all part of an effort to prevent more of the looting and violence that rocked locations around Los Angeles that have come to symbolize the difference between the haves and have nots. Jim Moret has the latest.

PROTESTERS HELP COPS

Across the country, there have been plenty of moments in which citizens have stepped up to protect businesses, to turn away looters, and even to help protect police officers. More than once, members of law enforcement have made it clear that they sympathize with the protesters. Inside Edition reports.

BUSINESSES IN RIOTS

The protests couldn't come at a worse time for business owners. With most companies closed for over two months due to the pandemic, June was going to be an opportunity to salvage their businesses...but in too many locations, the unrest has put those plans on hold.

TRUMP AND RIOTS

At the height of the protests outside the White House, President Trump was moved to a bunker. That hasn't happened since 9/11. For the president, the unrest rattling the country is just the latest challenge faced by his administration and the president is singling out one group for much of the violence – Antifa. Ann Mercogliano reports.

REPORTERS FRONT LINE

Unless you were there, what you know about the unrest in America you know thanks to the work of journalists out in the field...but around the country reporters have been injured, some apparently targeted, as they've tried to do their work keeping the rest of us informed. Inside Edition reports.

RUNAWAY CAR?

It was a terrifying moment as police tried to help a woman who called 911 saying she was stuck in a runaway SUV. Inside Edition spoke exclusively with the panicked woman behind the wheel. The manufacturer of the vehicle said "We're glad no one was hurt and that the e-brake was able to bring the vehicle to a safe stop. Based on the information available, the vehicle has no open recalls. But it has not been diagnosed. Further inspection is required to comment on the nature of this incident."

INSPIRING AMERICA

It's hard to watch what's happening in our country right now without your heart sinking...but there are moments to remind us that we can get through this together. Inside Edition reports.

JUNE 2, 2020

GEORGE FLOYD PROTESTS

America is a nation on edge today as emotions run high one week after George Floyd died in police custody. Protests overnight resulted in thousands of arrests for curfew violation or in connection with looting and destruction of property. In New York City, the first curfew in more than 75 years did not stop things from getting out of hand. Steven Fabian is there.

HOW TO STAY SAFE

As things are so volatile, it's possible you may find yourself inadvertently caught up in a swarm of people. What do you do to stay safe? It's a situation Inside Edition's camera crew found themselves in when their car was surrounded.

TRUMP CHURCH PHOTO OP

Shock and outrage are some of the words being used after tear gas was used to remove peaceful demonstrators from Washington D.C.'s Lafayette Park. Moments later, President Trump walked through that park to a historic church for a photo op. It was the beginning of a night of chaos and confusion in our nation's capital.

OUTSIDE AGITATORS?

More than 350 cities. That's the estimated number of cities where protests have taken place in the last 24 hours. Many of the demonstrators are local residents...but in some places, officials say some of the violence can be attributed to what they call outside agitators. Inside Edition reports.

CORONAVIRUS PROTESTS

For those who want to make their voices heard on this very important civil rights issue, the Covid-19 pandemic makes participating especially tricky. Is there a way to be a part of a demonstration without putting your health at risk? Les Trent has some tips.

BLACKOUT TUESDAY

If you are seeing lots of blank screens on social media today, there's a good reason. Today is being called Blackout Tuesday – an online protest its creators hope will bring more awareness about racism and inequality in America. Megan Alexander has more.

LIQUOR STORE CUFFS

Some people stepped in to help save their local liquor store during a protest...so why were they cuffed by police?

INSPIRING TUESDAY

A moment giving us hope in these troubled times.

JUNE 3, 2020

GEORGE FLOYD PROTESTS LATEST

In many places around the country, plywood is a hot commodity as stores in cities where looting has been taking place try to board up to protect their merchandise. For an 8th night, the nation saw multiple demonstrations for racial justice and there was violence in some places...but much less than earlier in the week. Ann Mercogliano begins our coverage.

PHILADELPHIA STORE LOOTED

A grocery store owner in Philadelphia says he will rebuild after his store was destroyed by looters. For fifteen hours straight, he waited for police as his shop was ransacked. As Les Trent reports, it's not just the loss of this man's business...but the loss of a lifeline for the neighborhood.

DELIVERY TRUCK LOOTERS

Tensions around the country have put the nation's delivery services in a challenging position. They are an essential service thanks to the Covid-19 shutdown...but as Steven Fabian reports, too many delivery trucks have become targets for thieves.

WASHINGTON UNREST

There's a debate today over what was used to push the crowd out of the way moments before President Trump did that photo op at the church across the street from the White House. The park police denies it used tear gas...but whatever was used, protesters say it had similar physical effects as tear gas. Some fear it could hasten the spread of Covid-19. Inside Edition reports.

COLLEGE STUDENTS TASED

Criminal charges have been announced against six Atlanta police officers involved in that incident where two college students were tased while trying to get home. As Jim Moret reports, the students say they were sure they were going to die when cops dragged them out of their car.

KEKE PALMER

A TV personality confronted a National Guardsman, encouraging him to march with her for a change. It's a powerful example of the emotions found on the front lines of civil unrest. Inside Edition reports.

VEGAS RETURNS

The Vegas strip is reopening tomorrow after losing nearly 40 billion dollars in revenue due to the coronavirus pandemic...but things are going to be very different in Sin City.

AGT STAGE FRIGHT

You couldn't help but feel for the little girl with stage fright on America's Got Talent. Then, she started to sing. Megan Alexander reports.

"RISE UP" CHOIR

Inside Edition shows video of a gospel choir singing "Rise Up" in tribute to George Floyd.

JUNE 4, 2020

GEORGE FLOYD MEMORIAL

Tears, prayers, and a challenge for real change. It was all part of the memorial held today in Minneapolis for George Floyd. It's not the first time the nation's civil rights leaders have gathered to mourn the death of a black man...but those present vowed it would mark the beginning of a new chapter, promising to make good on the comment from George Floyd's little girl who said: "my daddy changed the world."

MOM AND POP STORES

There's been lots of news coverage about high-end stores being targeted by looters around the country...but there's another target that hasn't gotten nearly as much attention: mom and pop stores doing whatever they can to stay in business. Steven Fabian has some videos showing the stores under siege.

DEALERSHIP CARS STOLEN

A luxury car dealership is out of cars after the place was ransacked by looters. As Jim Moret reports, first they broke in and stole the keys and then they drove off with all the cars.

MEGHAN MARKLE SPEAKS

Meghan Markle is speaking out for the first time about the death of George Floyd. She said she had wanted to speak sooner but was afraid her words would be picked apart. Inside Edition reports.

DREW BREES CONTROVERSY

There was a big apology from New Orleans Saints quarterback Drew Brees who stirred up controversy over what he said about taking a knee on the sidelines. As Les Trent reports, a number of his teammates are among those accusing him of being tone deaf.

VEGAS OPENS

The Las Vegas strip is back in action. Early this morning the lights started flickering, the fountain at the Bellagio started spraying, and guests were welcomed back to the city's famed casinos. Inside Edition reports on how it went.

POOL SURGE

Summer camp will be a bust this year in many states and vacations are looking problematic. That's resulted in a boom in backyard pool sales! If you're hoping to get one, good luck trying to find one. Inside Edition reports.

LEA MICHELE BACKLASH

It's been five years since the TV show Glee aired...but apparently some cast members are still smarting over how they say they were treated by Lea Michele, the big star of the show. Inside Edition reports.

GEORGE FLOYD MEMORIAL MUSIC & IMAGES

Today, George Floyd's brother said they didn't have much growing up...but they did have a house full of love. Inside Edition leaves you with moving music and images from today's memorial...a celebration of a life cut short.

JUNE 5, 2020

COPS ON EDGE?

Another troubling incident of police brutality has gone viral. You may have seen that upsetting video of an elderly protester, a white man, being shoved to the ground by police. Cops initially said the man tripped...but the video tells a very different story. Inside Edition is learning more about the man who ended up on the sidewalk as there is once again outrage over the conduct of law enforcement.

PROJECTILE RUBBER BULLETS

At first glance it sounds fairly innocuous – using rubber bullets to disperse a crowd...but one study found 15% of people struck by rubber bullets are seriously injured, sometimes fatally. As Jim Moret reports, social media is now filled with disturbing images of people showing off injuries they say were from rubber bullets and other projectiles.

INSIDE CUP FOODS

Ground zero for the nationwide protests is a corner market in Minneapolis where a store clerk called cops when he thought George Floyd had passed off a fake $20 bill. Ann Mercogliano has a look inside the store.

JOBS REPORT/WASHINGTON D.C. NEWS

A surprisingly strong jobs report sent the stock market sharply higher this morning thanks to evidence that the economy's starting to recover from the lockdown. Meanwhile, the mayor of Washington D.C. today formally requested that the federal government withdraw its military presence in the nation's capital. That would presumably include the mysterious men in black who were spotted protecting the White House. Who were they? Inside Edition reports.

CORONAVIRUS NEWS

New York Governor Andrew Cuomo announced today that the state has had its lowest death toll from coronavirus since the pandemic started, providing more hope that the worst of the pandemic is behind us.
