Authors of New Mexico	Report From Santa Fe	44928	9:30AM	27:32.0	Alan Arkin tells powerful stories of some of the “miracles” that he has encountered on his odyssey. Arkin has accomplished a delightful balance between the everyday and the cosmic, and his charming humanity is seen in this manifesto -- two truisms that sum up a possible meaning of life: 1) Everything changes. 2) There is no such thing as too much garlic. This humorous juxtaposition shows Arkin’s rare balance of humanity and spirituality. Alan Arkin has starred on Broadway, TV, over sixty films, and has won almost every acting award in North America. In this, his ninth published book, with his characteristic wry humor, he digs into his long-time search for meaning, past the seductive glamour of show business. By the time he was in his early thirties, his career was in full bloom and he had achieved everything he’d ever thought he wanted, only to find that it was not what he had hoped for. In "Out of My Mind," Arkin speaks openly about the existential crisis which brought him from analysis to the serious study of Eastern Philosophy, and several teachers who helped him revise his views on almost everything. In this sort-of memoir, the 86-year-old actor tells of the adventures, which, as a direct result of decades of meditation, shook his conception of reality and brought him to a new, exciting, and expanded view of what is “out there,” and the endless, mind-boggling adventure into what is possible – not just for himself but for all the rest of us.

Authors of New Mexico	Report From Santa Fe	44935	9:30AM	28:02.0	Dan Flores discussing his new book "Wild New World: The Epic Story of Animals and People in America." Distinguished author Dan Flores’s ambitious history chronicles the epoch in which humans and animals have co-existed in the “wild new world” of North America—a place shaped both by its own grand evolutionary forces and by momentous arrivals from Asia, Africa, and Europe. With portraits of iconic creatures such as mammoths, horses, wolves, and bison, Flores describes the evolution and historical ecology of North America as never before. The arrival of humans precipitated an extraordinary disruption of this teeming environment. Flores treats humans not as a species apart, but as a new animal entering two continents that had never seen our likes before. He shows how our long past as carnivorous hunters helped us settle America, initially establishing a coast-to-coast culture that lasted longer than the present United States. But humanity’s success had devastating consequences for other creatures. Flores focuses on three New Mexico sites that have been major contributors to this epic story of man and animal. The Folsom Site in northeastern New Mexico revealed the first time archaeologists discovered the presence of humans with extinct animals in America when they found a Folsom point embedded in the spinal column of a dead giant bison. Clovis, in eastern New Mexico, with its famed archaeological site Blackwater Draw, revealed an even older culture than Folsom, and which basically consisted of people who specialized in hunting mammoths and mastodons. And White Sands revealed human footprints from 23,000 years ago.

NM Legislative Issues &amp; Dangers	Report From Santa Fe	44970	9:30AM	27:27.0	NM State Senator Linda Lopez, D-District 11, discussing current legislative issues and the dangers New Mexican politicians are facing from unhinged, armed extremists. Senator Lopez was elected in 1997 and has served in the Senate for 26 years, being the first woman elected from Albuquerque's south valley to serve in the legislature. On January 3, 2023, there was a late-night attack on the Senator, when two men drove by and shot at her house. Three of the bullets went through her 10-year-old daughter's room, then two separate bullets went directly into the Senator's bedroom. The homes and offices of colleagues, two county commissioners in Bernalillo County, as well as the speaker's house, were also shot up. The mastermind behind these shootings was Solomon Peña, an election denier and follower of the former president, who, as a Republican candidate for the NM House of Representatives, garnered only 26% of the vote in his election and refused to accept the results. He hired Jose Trujillo to shoot up the Democratic politicians' houses. After the shootings, Trujillo was stopped in his car by police for expired tags. In the car, they found two guns, $3,000 in cash, and 800 Fentanyl tablets. The car was also registered to Solomon Peña. These criminals were inspired by extreme right-wing violent political rhetoric, which they took as a call to action that they should shoot up lawmakers' houses. This is a dangerous trend and New Mexicans must learn to contain the violent rhetoric before it turns into violent action. Senator Lopez urges bipartisan conversations to overcome extreme

NM Legislative Issues	Report From Santa Fe	44977	9:30AM	28:24.0	N.M. lawmakers - Senator Harold Pope Jr., D-District 23, and Senator Crystal Diamond, R-District 35, discussing issues in the current legislative session and providing the perspective of two recently-elected legislators on the opportunities and challenges of this 60-Day Session. Sen. Crystal Diamond has been a senator since 2021 and is a Republican from District 35, representing four counties - Hidalgo, Luna, the westside of Dona Ana and her home, Sierra County. She served as the former director of the Sierra Soil and Water Conservation District and is on the Board of Directors of the Farm Bureau and the NM Cattle Growers Association. Diamond is acutely aware of the gap between rural and urban interests and works hard to bridge that gap for all New Mexicans. She discusses her many bills to help restore the fire-ravaged parts of New Mexico, to ensure the health and safety of NM kids, and is promoting the inclusion of financial literacy courses in our high schools. Sen. Harold Pope, Jr. is the guest in the second half of the program. Senator Pope is a Democrat from District 23, representing the northwest part of Albuquerque, and is a retired United States Air Force Officer with 20 years in the military. He was elected in 2021 and is the first African American senator in the New Mexico Senate in 108 years. Pope discusses some important bills that are being considered in the current legislature - the Diversity Act, Police De-Escalation Policies, Reducing Suspensions and Expulsions in Elementary Schools, and the creation of a Permanent Absentee Voter List. His elaboration of the Diversity Act reminds

Conservation Issues	Report From Santa Fe	44998	9:30AM	28:24.0	Report from Santa Fe. We have the honor today of an interview with I think you have got to be such an important part of my philosophy and my education about the world, Terry Tempest Williams is here with us. Thank you for joining us. Lorene, I love you and it is such an honor to be at your table always. &gt;&gt;Lorene: Well, that's how I feel, too. We are here and we are lucky enough to have her because she has a new book out now called Erosion: Essays of Undoing. And this is a compilation of essays over many years but with this one thread and beating heart that is so profound. But we are going to quickly skitter around and get people up to speed about some of your other books. You are, of course, an award-winning author and I could spend 10 minutes just on the awards but we don't have to because we don't have time because the world needs what you offer in this book so much that we are just going to talk about your other books quickly and then get to the heart of this. So, at the centennial of the national parks, she wrote this extraordinary book called The Hour of Land: A Personal Topography of America's National Parks. And this is an extraordinary compilation of the history of some of our parks and in a moment we are going to talk about how this is structured because it is quite unusual. This is actually a life-changing book called When Women Were Birds, and we are going to talk about the structure of this, too, because many people absolutely get a tsunami of feelings about your content. But there is a genius in how you present this content that is extraordinary. This is an early book that is one of my favorites Finding Beauty in a Broken World. So let's just talk about these structures. Finding Beauty in a Broken World, you look at a fragmented thing like a broken pot even and then in piecing it together or in

Public Education in New Mexico	Report From Santa Fe	45005	9:30AM	27:06.0	David Suzuki, Report from Santa Fe is made possible in part by grants from the members of the National Education Association of New Mexico, an organization of professionals who believe that investing in public education is an investment in our state's economic future and by a grant from the Healy Foundation, Taos, NM. Well, I have really been such a fan of yours for so long. You have one of the books that has changed my life is a book called, The Legacy, and it's "An Elder's Vision for a Sustainable Future." You have another new book called, Letters to my Grandchildren. Before I give your credentials, which will take half the show... Well, you are one of the most beloved, one of the greatest Canadians, the Companion of the Order of Canada, honorary degrees, the Right Livelihood Award, the alternative Nobel Prize, but you have as a PBS person, you hosted one of my favorite shows, The Nature of Things on Canadian Public Television for how many years? Yes. The longest running series in Canada, It started actually in 1960 as a half hour show and I joined it then in 1979 when it became a one hour show. And one of your gifts is you have a way of explaining complex, challenging ideas in a way that people really get it. And that's why I am so happy to have you here. But let's talk about your new book, Letters to My Grandchildren. Tell me about it. Well, I have nine grandchildren. When I became a father, I thought it was the greatest thing that ever happened to me, My children have been an absolute joy. But I didn't realize that having grandchildren was even better. Because you know when you live with a child 24 hours a day, seven days a week, there are times when you get on each other's nerves and you get mad at each other and frustrated. But with grandchildren, it is episodic, You only see them for a certain, you know, a few hours or a few days. But there isn't that time to build up tension and they just adore you and they look up to you and you know my job is to spoil them with all the things that I
