Troubling Pattern

ABC News Chief Investigative Correspondent Brian Ross and the ABC News Investigative team reveal shocking video of two U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) officers allegedly encouraging 16-year-old Cruz Velazquez Acevedo of Tijuana, Mexico, to drink from a bottle containing suspected contraband to prove he was not a drug smuggler, leading to a tragic outcome. He had claimed it was juice; it was actually a highly concentrated liquid solution of methamphetamine. The officers claim the young man "volunteered" to drink – with no encouragement – from one of the bottles, but the never-before-seen video suggests otherwise.

Home Invasion Horror

Katie McConnell and her two children, Liam and Zoe, had just returned from a playdate. After putting Zoe down for a nap, Katie walked into her son’s room and saw a sight straight out of a horror movie – a masked gunman signaling her to keep quiet. Taylor Crisman and his accomplice, Chris Hill, wanted to rob a bank without ever stepping foot in it by forcing Katie’s husband, Brian, a local bank manager, to do it for them. Brian went to the bank, emptied the vault and drove home with almost $200,000 in cash.

Lost in Snow

Two cousins, 11-year-old Papito Martinez and 9-year-old Jay Jay Rivera, from Newburgh, NY, went outside to build an epic snow fort. While working in freezing temperatures, a snowplow driver unknowingly dumped piles of heavy snow directly on top of the fort burying the boys alive. Martinez and Rivera had just enough air to breathe and just enough warmth to stay conscious and encourage one another not to give up. Realizing the boys were missing once their curfew passed, their families began an intensive campaign of door knocking and interviewing neighbors all while temperatures continued to drop. Newburgh police officer Brandon Rola was relentless in his search. 20/20 reports (OAD: 06/17/2017).

Campus Shooting

Self-defense or murder? That is the question dividing Flagstaff, AZ following a shooting on the campus of Northern Arizona University a few weeks into the 2015 fall semester. "20/20" reports on the tragedy and the trial's surprising conclusion. It was a typical Thursday night, with a party at "The Courtyard"-- where some NAU students live--when witnesses heard a verbal altercation outside the party and then gunshots. When police reached the scene they found junior Colin Brough dead, his fraternity brothers Nick Piring, Kyle Zientek and Nick Prato wounded and freshman Steven Jones identifying himself as the gunman. Steven claimed that he shot them out of self-defense. Prosecutors disagree and charge him with first degree murder. Correspondent Matt Guttman reports. (OAD: 9/08/17)
