WODC
Quarterly Issues/Programs List

WODC provides its listeners with programming and public service announcements that address issues of concern to our local community. Among the issues determined to be of most concern to the community during the preceding calendar quarter were:

- Employment/Career searching: Leslie Weber of the Central Ohio Career Resource Center offered information about useful connections and great ideas about looking for a new job or considering an entirely different career.
- Small business technology: Representatives from the U.S. Small Business Administration talked about how small businesses with fewer than ten employees make up seventy percent of all private-sector employers. They discussed some of the unique challenges which technology can help them overcome.
- Palliative care: Officials from the Ohio Center for Palliative Care talked about how many seriously ill people are feeling better thanks to a medical treatment called palliative care. They said that palliative care provides relief from symptoms, pain and stress at any age and stage of illness.
- Blood pressure screening/Blood donation: Eric Johnson of the American Red Cross Blood Services Division talked about the high number of people with high blood pressure and how they are unaware of their condition. He said he sees many situations where prospective blood donors are deferred because of high blood pressure found during screening. He offered information to help raise awareness of the condition.
- Health & safety: Information designed to be a good resource of necessary information about the coronavirus pandemic was given by a panel of doctors on what makes this virus unique.
