WODC
Quarterly Issues/Programs List

WODC provides its listeners with programming and public service announcements that address issues of concern to our local community. Among the issues determined to be of most concern to the community during the preceding calendar quarter were:

- 2018 Year-End Review: This special edition shared clips from previous 2018 programs covering the issues of education, employment, housing, neighborhood development, race relations/diversity, health and wellness and the arts.
- Community involvement: In this special presentation for the Christmas holiday, area school children were interviewed about how they are using the holiday break to serve their community by volunteering with several local non-profit organizations and community centers.
- Diabetes management: Gerald Johnson of the American Diabetes Association talked about how Certified Diabetes Educators can help simplify life and offer information about diabetes, which he said is a complex and often overwhelming disease.
- Family health/nutrition: Ashville and Pickaway County Health officials discuss families who are busy and constantly on the go, and how healthful eating needn't go by the wayside. They talked about various good food choices that can be made, how to control portions and how families can stay active and sit down together at mealtime.
- Financial fitness: Doug White of the Ohio Financial Planning Association talked about ways to keep your finances under control.
- Flu outbreak: Members of the Pickaway County Health Department talked about the current health crisis. They reiterated the fact about flu shots being safe, and that getting a flu shot is paramount to the health and well-being of yourself and the community.
- Helping kids in need: Cheryl Miller-Collins talked about the Kids In Need Foundation, and how it gives teachers from low-income schools a chance to collect free school supplies for their students.
- Living with diabetes: This special edition took a closer look at what it means to have diabetes and provided information, tools and resources to help manage and or reduce an individual's risk of developing the disease.

- Money management/Family finances: Jerrod Kelly, a local finance expert, discussed keeping family finances on the right track and offered many suggestions to consider on getting a grip on saving and spending.
- Ohio Army National Guard recruiting: Nathan Bell, a Recruiting Officer for the Ohio Army National Guard, discussed their recruiting efforts and the benefits of joining the Guard.
- Prescription drug abuse prevention: Officials from the Community Anti-Drug Coalitions of America discussed how one in five teens has abused prescription drugs. They offered information to parents to help their teens by talking and listening to them regularly and getting directly involved in their everyday world.
- Public safety: Ashville and Pickaway County law enforcement officials discussed their enhancement to public safety efforts especially for the holiday season.
- Reading's importance to children: Lori Smith of the Ohio Department of Education discussed how helping youngsters learn to love reading may be easier and more important than many parents realize. She offered information about nonprofit organizations and corporations which are working together to support education.
