Dr. Heusel explained a process called CRISPR-Cas9. CRISPR-Cas9 was adapted from a naturally occurring genome editing system in bacteria. The bacteria capture snippets of DNA from invading viruses and use them to create DNA segments known as CRISPR arrays. The CRISPR arrays allow the bacteria to "remember" the viruses (or closely related ones). If the viruses attack again, the bacteria produce RNA segments from the CRISPR arrays to target the viruses' DNA. The bacteria then use Cas9 or a similar enzyme to cut the DNA apart, which disables the virus. Some feel disturbed with this process.

Host: Mark Reardon Guest: Charlie Jabaley, Hip hop manager, Host Mark Reardon interviewed Charlie Jabaley about losing weight. When Charlie was 8yrs old, his dream was to become an athlete. Charlie was a chubby child and as an adult weighed 304lbs. Charlie pitched his story to Nike. He put a video together in hopes Nike would look at it. Charlie started to work out and started to lose weight. It was an up and down journey. His video received 1 million views and Nike contacted him to come to their campus. Have you ever dreamed so big, that it would change the lives of so many others, and end up changing your own, forever? Charlie Jabaley wasn't your typical kid from Georgia (United States). Sometimes labelled, "the chubby kid", Charlie was a dreamer. Knowing that he needed to use his imagination as a weapon to survive the playground, Charlie created his first persona, CEO Charlie. But in his heart, Charlie had other ideas. Like pursuing the life of an athlete. Charlie had a brain tumor since childhood started growing again and his body would not respond to the medication. The tumor wrapped around his carotid artery, left optic nerve. He Made A Contract To Myself on January 1st 2017... he will become top 1% of athletes in the world. Charlie overcame his brain tumor.
