Problem # 2: Public Hearing on Spanish Fort School Tax

People in Spanish Fort get their chance to sound off about a proposed school tax tonight. The Spanish Fort City Council is holding a public hearing tonight to find out what voters think of the new proposal.

The city is proposing a three-mil property tax increase. The money would be earmarked for arts and academics at all four campuses in Spanish Fort. The public hearing starts Monday evening at 6 pm at the Spanish Fort Community Center at 7361 Spanish Fort Boulevard.

The voters get the final say. If the city moves forward with the tax increase, it would ultimately be up to Spanish Fort voters to make the final decision. If passed, it would only impact property taxes in Spanish Fort.

Problem # 3: The Most Important Money Habit

Do you know the single most important money habit?

Our 30th President, Calvin Coolidge, knew how important it was. He said: There is no dignity quite so impressive, and no one independence quite so important, as living within your means.

To get a feel for your money habits, look at your credit card statements, bank statements, bills you receive and pay, your budget, and your investments.

You'll see spending trends in areas like education or medical expenses, services, subscriptions, food, entertainment, clothing, and basic living expenses.

You need to write down areas you need to change. This can be painful as you see where money has been wasted or misused. Especially in marriage.

So stay calm, encourage one another and seek unity to deal with problems. Don't hide your spending – that's dishonest.

Ask God to free you from wrongful heart attitudes of disinterest, materialism, selfishness, pride, self-reliance, greed, idolatry, or gluttony.

You need to make new habits to break the old ones. This takes time. Experts differ on it – some say 3 weeks, others say 3 months. But with God, all things are possible!

Realize your spending triggers, limit social media and seek the support of wise friends and family. Pray with your spouse and for your spouse. With a heart right before God, you can begin to focus on living within your means.

Problem # 5: Integrity At Work

If Jesus entered your workplace today, would you be comfortable with your job performance?

Work is one way we reflect God's glory to a watching world. And though there's no guaranteed formula to ensure that you'll keep your job forever, one thing is certain: the less you contribute to your company, the more you increase your risk of becoming a target in a layoff. Customers, fellow employees and managers know who's really committed.

To protect your job – or company – you've got to give your best.

The way you work provides the best exterior reflection of your commitment to serve the Lord in a real, physical way.

Those who provide high quality work at fair prices will usually get noticed.

If you're an employer, live out what you expect of your employees. You're their example as they strive for excellence.

If you're an employee, stay busy. Look for ways to serve your company well. Work with a grateful heart.

The more diligent you are, the more valuable you are to your employer. Be on time, obey company rules, and focus on your job during working hours.

Make it a point to always tell the truth. If you do things right the first time, you won't be tempted to cover up your mistakes later.

Surround yourself with Christians who will give you wise, unbiased counsel for challenges at work. Listen to your spouse and rely on trusted friends who will help you do your job well.

Finally, guard yourself against the world. Allow your decisions and actions to line up with the Word.

Let work be a reflection of your faith. You will be noticed.

Problem # 6: Maintaining A Healthy Blood Pressure

Need to lower your blood pressure? Exercise helps, and so does eating a handful of walnuts. Researchers at Penn State say consuming walnuts, along with a diet that's low in saturated fats, could be helpful in warding off heart disease and maintaining a healthy blood pressure.
