The station covers a compelling array of local news topics. WPTY also produces a variety of COMMUNITY SHOWS.

The Nonprofit Voice is the only local radio show dedicated exclusively to our local nonprofit organizations. Our guests join us from large, small and start-up nonprofit organizations in the New York area about how they directly benefit our community. Tune in to learn how you, too, can make a positive difference in your neighborhood.

The Nonprofit Voice airs every Sunday morning on 96.1 WPTY from 6:00am to 8:00am and features inspiring residents who give back. Our show has highlighted large nonprofit organizations such as EPIC Long Island, Variety Child Learning Center (VCLS), IRI, the Hispanic Counseling Center and ACDS, which serves children and adults with Down syndrome, autism and other developmental disabilities. Our hosts, Ron Gold and Allison Brecher, also interview small, start-up organizations. Guests will highlight upcoming events, their services, and discuss hot topics affecting the population they serve.

WPTY dedicates all programming for two full days to Angela's House every year and runs 1000 recorded Public Service Announcements for the organization every year.

Radio Job Line Sunday 10p-11p Scott Passeser is one of Long Island's most respected business leaders and is deeply connected with the Long Island business community. Scott currently hosts Radio Jobline every Sunday from 10-11 PM and formerly hosted one of the region's most watched business television programs, News 12 Long Island's Jobline from 1989- 2013. Scott has been leading discussions and shaping thinking across the region for decades, while helping Long Islanders find jobs and achieve success in their careers.
