March 3, 2018 Politics/Elections, Saturday Topic program

We try to help you make an informed decision during this morning's Saturday Topic program. Voters county-wide will be choosing the next county treasurer and district clerk. This morning's program will feature a conversation with the candidates from each race. In the race for Guadalupe County Treasurer, we'll talk to incumbent Linda Douglass about her decision to seek reelection and why she thinks her experience in office makes her the best choice for this position. Douglass is being challenged by Bill Schwind. Schwind has a background in finance and he thinks that makes him uniquely qualified for this job. Both candidates are seeking the Republican nomination for the job on Tuesday, March 6. The race for the position of Guadalupe County District Clerk features three candidates. Lynn Bothe, Linda Balk and Kristy Dunn are all seeking the Republican nomination next week, and they all want to replace current District Clerk Debbie Crow, who is not seeking reelection. All three candidates join us for a look at why they think they should be next district clerk.
