One of the events that you don't want to miss at the Guadalupe County Fair this year is the annual Fiddlers' Show. Fiddler from all skill and age levels are expected to offer some toe tapping music during the event. Famous musicians are helping out with the show this year. Brian Duckworth and Paul McClaughlin stopped by the radio station yesterday to encourage people to check it all out. Duckworth says you don't want to miss it. Contestants will be put into four divisions based on age starting with young children and stretching all the way up to the 65 and over division. Duckworth says those who sign up will have a chance to win some great cash prizes and more. This is not only a chance to earn some bragging rights at the fair, but McClaughlin says it's also a chance to hear some great songs, and to continue a wonderful musical tradition. The Fiddler's Contest gets underway at 12:30 this afternoon under the dance pavilion at the Guadalupe County Fairgrounds. You can find out more details in the fair catalog, pick one up online at gcfair.org. By the way, you can hear our full conversation with Duckworth and McClaughlin this morning on our Saturday Topic program. 20:00

Navarro ISD voters have 160 million reasons to head to the polls when early voting begins on Monday. The district has two propositions on the November 2 ballot totaling $160 million. We'll explore the ins and the outs of each proposition on this morning's Saturday Topic program. The district wants to build a new high school, a new elementary school and a new sports complex. Those things make up the bulk of the $160 million package in the Navarro ISD. This morning, we'll present some of the facts associated with the bond proposal. Navarro ISD Superintendent Wendi Russell joins us for a look at the process that the district used to get to this point. She'll be joined on the program by Navarro High School Principal Clay Scarborough, Chief Financial Officer Paul Nuhoff, Chief Academic Officer Wendy McMullen, and District Communications Officer Whitney Magness. They will all be discussing the need for the projects, the what the cost will be to local taxpayers and how they plan to roll it all out if it's approved by voters on November 2. The group will also address some of the concerns that have been raised by some people in the Navarro ISD to try to provide a factual response to each issue raised. The Saturday Topic program airs at 8:00 this morning here on AM 1580 KWED and you can also listen live online at seguintoday.com. 55:18

This morning's Saturday Topic program features a look at a big community event next week that is meant to build better relationships between law enforcement and the community. Seguin Police Chief Terry Nichols, Seguin City Councilman Jeremy Roy and Dr. David Ortiz, vice-president for Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion at Texas Lutheran University will join me on the Saturday Topic this morning for a look at Monday night's Beyond Brutality: A Candid Conversation from Both Sides of the Badge event in TLU's Jackson Auditorium. The event will feature recent TLU Grad and former Black Student Union President Rashad Tolbert, who will have a frank conversation with Seguin Police Department Officer Brandon Smith -- who not only wears the badge, but who also is a Black man who has a unique perspective to offer with those who attend the event. Beyond Brutality: A Candid Conversation from Both Sides of the Bages runs from 7 to 8 p.m. Monday in Jackson Auditorium. There will be a presentation between Tolbert and Smith, and then a question and answer period. Ortiz says people are then encouraged to stay for the reception from 8 to 9 p.m., which will allow the dialogue to continue on a more one-on-one basis. Again, you can hear more about Beyond Brutality on this morning's Saturday Topic program. The show airs at 8:06 this morning on AM 1580 KWED or listen live online at seguintoday.com. 45:11

Dr. Tom Dekunder, of the Guadalupe County Historical Commission, joins us on the program today. Guadalupe County is one of the fastest growing counties in the nation. As new housing, commercial and industrial developments go up, what happens to the literally hundreds of cemeteries that dot various parts of the county. It's a real problem that has already occurred in the norther portion of the county. Bodies have been moved, and the history of some of those cemeteries may be getting lost. Dr. Dekunder is here today to talk about what they are doing to perserve the cemeteries, which include small family plots, slave cemeteries and large community cemeteries that have all but been abandoned. 38:15
