Weather	News	1/2/18	3:00am, 4:00am, 8:15am, 10:15am, 11:40am, 12:15pm, 1:40pm, 2:15pm, 3:40pm, 5:40pm	30sec	This cold weather sticking around from the Rockies to New England – the southeast about 15 degrees below average through this weekend...and getting even colder (possibly more snow) later this week in the northeast. Frigid temperatures throughout the Midwest. And snow, ice or a mixture of the two from Florida north to Washington DC between now and tomorrow. The storm should end by early Thursday morning. Be careful with wind chill advisories and freeze warnings up for a huge portion of the country today. It's well below zero in places that aren't used to it. Records were set in Omaha when it hit 15 below zero. Lake Michigan was full of New Year's Day swimmers. A tradition on the first day of the year. It was bitterly cold too! Sub-freezing temperatures even today from Texas north to Canada. Millions of us woke up today with dangerously freezing temperatures, with wind chills dipping down far below normal. Hard freeze warnings will last through Wednesday from Texas to northern Florida. It'll stay extremely cold through most of the central and eastern part of the country through the rest of the week. Blizzard-like conditions are expected for part of the mid-Atlantic coast and New England later this week with a powerful snowstorm. Look for single-digit temperatures from Indy to Detroit, Cleveland and Pittsburg later this week too. Savannah, Georgia residents are experiencing a rare sight—icicles! The high today was 30 degrees below normal as of noon today and snow is expected later this week. More rain, sleet and snow is making its way to the Southeast this week before moving North. By tomorrow, it will fall from west of Jacksonville, Florida to southern Georgia. A reminder to not leave your car running unattended...it opens the door to car thieves. At least 9 people lost their lives due to the crazy cold in the Midwest and Northeast. Wind chill advisories and freeze warnings are posted for areas from south Texas up to Canada and from Montana through New England. Warming shelters are opening across the south. Temperatures are below freezing to single digits in Alabama and Georgia. Hard freeze warnings are posted through Wednesday in the South. From Texas to northern Florida...places you would think would be much warmer. Snow is possible the next couple days on beaches in South Carolina.
Food	News	1/4/18	11:40am, 2:15pm, 4:15pm	30sec	Romaine lettuce is having issues...and the CDC is looking into a several state outbreak of e. Coli. Illnesses from romaine lettuce have affected 17 people in 13 states...41 in Canada.
Economy	News	1/4/18	8:00am, 10:00am, 5:40pm	30sec	The Dow Jones industrial average traded above 25,000 points for the first time. Just over a month ago, it hit a record high of 24,000. Private employers added another 250,000 jobs in December. That's the biggest monthly increase since march. Even with that news...the unemployment rate is expected to stay at 4.1 percent.

Weather	News	1/4/18	8:00am, 9:00am, 11:40am, 12:15pm, 2:15pm, 4:15pm, 5:40pm	30sec	Cold is an understatement and more than 3000 flights have been cancelled. Definitely check your flight first if you're flying in or out of a storm zone to make sure it's still a go. Some people are calling it a 'bomb cyclone' and there could be up to a foot of snow today in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut. One strange phenomenon...it's called thundersnow—a combination of thunder and lightning in the midst of a snow storm—has been spotted in New York and Connecticut. 5:40pm: The Eastern Seaboard continues to get hit hard by the storm system dropping several inches of snow. Winds have been whipping with gusts up to 50 miles per hour. Several states of emergency have been declared including the Carolinas, New York, New Jersey and Massachusetts. More than 5,000 flights have been canceled today and nearly 14,000 delayed.

Government	News	1/22/18	3:00am, 4:00am, 5:00am, 6:00am, 7:00am, 8:40am, 9:15am, 10:40am, 11:15am, 12:40pm, 1:15pm, 2:40pm, 3:15pm, 5:15pm	30sec	The government shutdown from last Friday continues today. What started over a disagreement over 'dreamers'; 700,000 younger immigrants brought here illegally, has become a political headache with a lot of finger pointing. There's a vote on the issue this afternoon so we'll see what happens. Lady Liberty is back open, New York's governor said his state would pick up the tab for federal employees during the shutdown so tourists can still get a chance to see the famous landmark up close. Economists say the shutdown, so long as it's short, shouldn't have any significant impact on the US Economy. A long shutdown could be different, but the top expert at Standard & Poors, Beth Ann Bovino, thinks it lawmakers will end the stalemate as quickly as they can. While the federal government may still be in a shutdown, FBI agents and military personnel are still reporting for duty... while visiting Jordan, Vice President Pence promised US troops the government would meet their obligations to them and their families. So during a shutdown government services are categorized into essential and nonessential. A lot of stuff like broadcasting TV and radio to people stationed overseas is in the second category. That changed quickly when troops overseas and US civilian employees heard they would miss the Super Bowl. Senate talks fall short, and still no deal to end the government shutdown. Lawmakers worked late last night, but couldn't agree with a deal to keep federal agencies open. Negotiations underway again today and a procedural vote is expected today at noon. Senate GOP leaders have reached a deal to reopen the government after a three-day shutdown. Majority Leader Mitch McConnell and Minority Leader Chuck Schumer have come to an arrangement. Senate leaders broke the budget impasse and reopened the government with a short-term spending bill, which provides funding through February 8th. The house is expected to vote on it this afternoon. The bill would then go to the President for his signature. President Trump is praising efforts after roughly 25 senators from both parties helped negotiate an end to the federal government shutdown. Vice President Pence is also praising lawmakers' agreement to reopen the government. The government will be up and running again at any moment. Congress passed a measure to keep it funded through February 8th. President Trump is expected to sign it tonight.
Government	News	1/23/18	3:00am, 8:15am,	30sec	Today, thousands of federal employees will return to work after President Trump signed a bill to reopen the government. A 69-hour standoff ended as Senate and House leaders agreed to keep the government afloat until February 8. Workers are afraid that in a few short weeks, they'll be stuck without a job again.
Commerce	News	1/24/18	6:00am, 8:40am, 9:15am, 11:15am, 5:15pm	30sec	In the coming months Toys R Us stores may be a bit harder to find. They'll be closing about 180 stores beginning next month. The company filed for bankruptcy protection just ahead of the crucial holiday season. They are planning to exit bankruptcy some time later this year.

The president in Florida over the weekend visiting with those injured and the emergency responders. After tragedies, we talk about the power of prayer. It is backed by doctors and scientific research. Prayer takes us out of ‘freak out’ mode or negative thoughts and helps us to focus on something outside of ourselves. It is one of the best, if not the best, things to do for stress. It releases feel good chemicals in the brain. And, we can celebrate answers to prayer. The principal of Marjory Stoneman Douglas in Parkland is thanking folks around the world for the outpouring of love and support. Ty Thompson truly believes lives were saved because students and staff followed protocol. He also thanked first responders and folks around the world who’ve sent messages and prayers. The President is in support of strengthening the federal gun background check system. He said he’s met with senators to talk about improving the database of people not allowed to buy guns. Florida’s governor is calling for FBI director Christopher Wray to step down after finding out the bureau didn’t act on several tips about the Parkland shooter. The Trump Administration is looking into a myriad of policy changes after the Florida shooting. Mental health and school safety are at the forefront. 100 Stoneman Douglas high school students will take a 400-mile bus ride to the Florida state capital tomorrow. They plan to ask lawmakers to do something to prevent another tragedy.

Reverend Billy Graham had suffered from cancer and other illnesses. His grandson Will shared a story from his Granddad. He once said, “One day you’ll hear that Billy Graham has died. Don’t you believe it! On that day I’ll be more alive than ever before! I’ve just changed addresses!” Today my grandfather moved from the land of the dead to the land of the living. Billy Graham led more than 400 Crusades, bringing the message of Jesus to 215 million who were at the events. Reverend Graham grew up during the Depression and gave his life to Christ at 16 years old. So what drew Billy Graham to God? It was a crusade meeting led by evangelist Mordecai Ham in November 1934. 5 years later in 1939 he was ordained into the Baptist church and has preached to millions in over 185 countries. Rallies and Crusades started in 1947. Just 2 years later, the Los Angeles Crusade drew the attention of the entire country. It was supposed to last for 3 weeks but was extended to 8 weeks when hundreds of thousands came to hear his messages. He preached the gospel to more people in live audiences than anyone else in history - 200 million in almost 200 countries. He took his message to countries all over the world. Billy Graham visited Ethiopia and Russia, New Zealand and South Korea. He told people in 1973 that Christ belongs to all people. He belongs to the whole world. He also started international ministries under the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association. He has been listed on Gallups “most admired” list 61 times – more than any other person. He was a familiar face on TV talk shows and wrote more than 30 books. One of his final messages was a DVD recorded in 2013 titled “My hope America with Billy Graham.” Since its release at least 200,000 people have said yes to Jesus after watching it. He received the presidential medal of freedom in 1983 from then president Ronald Reagan. Graham’s last crusade was in 2005 in New York. President Trump tweeted there was nobody like him. He will be missed by Christians and all religions...a very special man. Former president Barak Obama tweeted Billy Graham was a humble servant who prayed for so many...and who, with wisdom and grace, gave hope and guidance to generations of Americans. His wife of more than 60 years, Ruth graduated to heaven in 2007. Billy graham is survived by 5 children and 19 grandchildren, And 41 Great-Grandchildren. Many are remembering his commitment to spreading the message and bringing people to Christ. Pastor David Stokes with Expectation Church in Virginia says Billy Graham was a gifted communicator. Dan Dewitt who is a professor at Cedarville University spoke about the reverend. He said that, as we celebrate Graham’s life, we can also learn from his example.

The invitation-only private gathering will be, fittingly, in a tent at the Billy Graham library in Charlotte, North Carolina. A procession will be held for the late evangelist Billy Graham on Saturday. He will then be taken to the US Capitol and lie in honor in the rotunda before being buried at the Billy Graham Museum and Library grounds in Charlotte next week. House Speaker Paul Ryan said the Reverend Billy Graham will lie in honor in the capitol rotunda for two days next week. Ryan invites members of Congress and the public to pay their respects to America's Pastor February 28th and march 1st. It's a rare honor for a private citizen to lie in honor. The last was Rosa Parks. George W. Bush says Billy helped him quit drinking, without the pastor's godly wisdom he would not be president. He was the first pastor to receive a star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame. "My hope is one day someone walks by my star, asks who is Billy Graham and hears the gospel."
