Our food supply is lacking in micronutrients either it is stripped of nutrients from over processing or from over farming the land. An apple today has 77% less micronutrients in it than 80 years ago. Not having enough micronutrients in our bodies affects osteoporosis, cancer, high blood pressure, metabolism, diabetes, obesity, and even whether you sleep well or not. Over 90% of Americans are deficient in one or more critical vitamin or mineral for good health and most have no idea. The micronutrient deficiencies topping the list are Potassium, Calcium, Magnesium, and vitamins A, D, and E. At least one-fourth of the food we eat has zero nutritional value at all and some foods take away micronutrients like the phosphoric acid found in carbonated drinks interferes with our bodies' ability to absorb calcium. It is not only affecting our fruits and vegetables, but meats also. Most animals are raised inside factory farms and feed unhealthy grains and up to seven pounds of stale candy. Animals pasture raised will have 400% more vitamin A and E and 300% more Conjugated Linoleic Acid in the meat. Other things that deplete our bodies of micronutrients are smoking, living in a polluted city, stress, and prescription medications. We should try to buy local produce and grass feed meats. We should take a supplement to make up for what we are missing like a highly absorbable powder vitamin.

That is asserting it didn't take as much gospel to save me, as it would take to save you. And that is not just wrong headed it is blasphemy... When it comes to health processed food has become public enemy number one. Michael Moss went undercover with some large named processed food companies to find out “how the food giants hooked us”. The processed food is fairly cheap at the check out counter, but we pay later on with our health and lost productivity. Doctors trace our obesity problems back to processed foods and so do the people making those products. The food companies pay scientist to find the foods ‘bliss point’ or its maximum flavor and allure. They allure us with texture by manipulating the food’s chemical structure and achieve ‘ultimate mouthfeel’. They have also found a way to disguise the feeling of full, so we will overeat. To avoid these temptations go shopping with a full stomach, carry a list, only buy from the list, and spend most of your time shopping the perimeter of the store. The Center for Medical Progress taped Dr. Debra Nikatola describing disposal practices of aborted baby limbs and organs to actors pretending to be buyers. She is Planned Parenthood's Senior Director of Medical Services. Planned Parenthood said they are not selling baby parts, but rather getting reimbursed for tissue donations, which is legal if the mother agrees to donate the tissue. The controversy centers on taking that tissue from partial birth abortions, which is a felony. Pro-Life groups are calling on Congress to take action.

Once the country saw that Planned Parenthood was selling baby body parts many Americans across the country went to Washington DC and stood protesting outside House Speaker John Boehner's office demanding an investigation. Within an hour of the protest, Speaker Boehner called for the investigation. Dr. Christina Francis said in order to harvest the different organs being sold they have to do a partial birth abortion, which has been illegal since 2003. Father Frank Pavone with Priests For Life has been working with different non-profits over the last 15 years and has obtained Planned Parenthood contracts showing the selling of the babies' body parts. He is asking everyone who hears about Planned Parenthood's activities to take it to social media and expose them.

Pastor Jonathan Falwell spoke about current events dealing with racism and how we as Christians should deal with it. He said God created man in His image not a certain type of man in His image. Racism has no place, should not be tolerated, it should not be joked about, should not be allowed in the church of Jesus Christ, or in our culture today. He told the congregation it needs to stop. He also talked about the arguments over the Confederate flag and how people of color see it as representing hate. He told the congregation they should not fly a flag that is that hurtful to other people. Racism is a sin. When any of us have a thought or idea from looking at another person of a different color or race and think they are not as good as me or they cannot contribute as I do, we not only disrespect them, but we disrespect God. Fawell said the Church is always damaged by hypocrisy. When Christians continue to live in the sin of racism it hurts the Church and society as a whole. We must repent and turn from this sin.

John-Henry Westen, Lifesitenews Editor in Chief, advises Christian businesses, colleges and churches to protect themselves from discrimination law suites by showing their resistance is not about homosexuality. The Supreme Court vote of 5 to 4 legalizing same sex marriage was addresses by Pastor Jonathan Falwell. He used Genesis 2 and Matthew 19:4-6 as well as many other verses through out the Bible. Pastor Jonathan stated, "Marriage was designed by God to be between one man and one woman. And any other form whether dictated by governments, organizations, or institutions is not God's plan; it is not God's design. God created marriage...He created it to be a sacred gift...The Bible is clear any sexual activity outside the marriage of one man and one woman is absolutely sin." It is not judgmental or hate filled for the church to preach against sin. Pastor Jonathan explained as the pastor of Thomas Road Baptist Church (TRBC) he has a duty to stand up against sin and to preach against sin. He also said God created marriage not the State so God gets to define it. Pastor Jonathan said as long as he is the pastor of TRBC there will never be a same sex marriage or any other form of marriage outside of between a man and woman conducted. Pastor Jonathan explained to the church they need to clean their own house and marriage up not cast the first stone. He said we stand against sin, but we preach the truth in love. We must also speak with gentleness and meekness. We must hate the sin, but love the sinner. We must hate our own sin as much as we hate the sin of others. TRBC will follow the law of God before the law of man or the State.
