January 2*, 9, 16, 23 & 30, 2021	Help for Local Farmers in Coping with Stress	Host: Virginia Beehn  Guest: Tammy Jacobs, Hotlines Coordinator, Iowa Concerns (Ames, IA). www.extension.iowa.state  Description: Soon farmers will prepare for a new growing season. The Iowa Concerns hotline began in 1985 to help farmers cope with their concerns. Farmers are under more and different stress factors than other citizens – including inability to control weather or market conditions. Help is available for mental health crises, strategies for health, and help for others. Classes are offered to assist. Call the public hotline at 1-800-447-1985 for help. *KDFR’s local edition of Community Bridge did not air at 6:55 PM as scheduled on 1/2 due to technical problems.
February 6 & 13, 2021	Physical &amp; Spiritual Heart Health in Des Moines	Host: Virginia Beehn  Guest: Dr. Jeffrey Barrows, Sr. Vice President of Bioethics and Public Policy, Christian Medical and Dental Associations (Bristol, TN). www.cmda.org  Description: Heart disease is the biggest killer of people in the USA, including Des Moines. To avoid heart disease, keep as close as possible to your ideal body weight, eat mostly fruits, vegetables, and whole grains, and exercise about 30 minutes each day. Christians seem to live longer because they avoid alcohol and smoking, have a generally healthier lifestyle, and their tension levels are lower.
February 20 & 27, 2021	Loneliness in Isolation and the Remedy of the Church	Host: Daniel Ridings  Guest: Pastor Jay Kim, Lead Pastor of Teaching, Westgate Church in Silicon Valley and Author, Analog Church (Santa Cruz, CA).  Description: COVID19 is not the only pandemic plaguing our communities. Loneliness and isolation have resulted in serious trends of diminishing mental health and related deaths. The Church throughout America, including Des Moines, has seen these trends play out within our own communities and we have a unique position to counter that pandemic—human connection. Even if the connection is distanced, it is a critical tool in encouraging others and saving lives.

Emotions driven by greed and fear can lead to disaster, whereas emotions of contentment and thankfulness can have just the opposite effect. Mr. Ally discussed how being open-handed with God's money can help us in realizing it is more blessed to give than to receive and the importance of being pro-active with God's provisions by investing wisely.
February 6, 2021	Court Decisions Supports Parents Directing their Children's Education  (25-minute program)	Host: Jenny Burkhiser Guest: Jeanne Allen, Founder and CEO, The Center for Education Reform (CRE) (Washington, DC). www.edreform.com Description: Approximately 13% of a student's life is spent in school each year. Some of the greatest joys and proudest moments for any parent/grandparent is seeing their child receiving a diploma as a result of hard work. Unfortunately, many are questioning what the children are today learning, as illiteracy rates and dropout rates continue to escalate. Jeanne Allen explained how education is supposed to shape and improve a person and talked about the recent Supreme Court decision supporting parents to direct the education of their children. One example she gave was giving parents the opportunity to pick the school and environment for their child in which to learn. CER

Today's youth are no exception. They see chaos, mayhem, shootings, riots, etc., leaving many wondering about God. Many Generation Z's are self-identifying as atheists, which is twice the rate of adults. The good news is they are very interested in learning about faith and in God because many do not know anything about Him. Patti Garibay shared how parents and grandparents can shape their child or teen to help them understand who they are and Whose they are - which will help them know how to handle these struggles. Patti talked about taking moments of adversity and learning something positive from them. She also spoke about how American Heritage Girls is helping girls learn about women of the Bible and understand how to suit up with the full armor of God to help grow strong in their faith and overcome life's struggles.

From smartphones, computers, television, and others, if you add it all up, the results might surprise you. The Bible is very clear on what we are to fix our eyes upon, so anything we are looking at great length is ultimately, the object of our worship. David Murrow offered practical ways to regulate screen time and explained the importance of fixing our eyes on Jesus and reconnecting with our families.
March 27, 2021	Passover’s Cultural and Spiritual Implications for American Christians  (25-minute program)	Host: Jenny Burkhiser  Guest: Rev. Malcolm Hedding, International Spokesperson, Member of Board of Trustees, International Christian Embassy Jerusalem (Jerusalem, Israel). www.int.icej.org  Description: Christians in America and throughout the world are preparing for what is one of the most important celebrations of the year...the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead (after his crucifixion and burial). Leading up to this triumphant celebration is Palm Sunday, which is connected to the ancient Israeli celebration of Passover that we read about in the Scripture or Old Testament of the Bible. To previous generations, the week of Easter was big – if not bigger than – Christmas. But today’s society does not seem to observe the events leading up to Easter as noteworthy, even in our American Christian culture. Rev. Malcom Hedding explained what Passover is and talked about the Passover Seder and some of the events/celebrations – such as the Celebration of Pentecost – that are not celebrated much in today’s society. He shared how Christian families now must realize it is their responsibility to bring their children up in the Lord and make sure they follow Jesus. He emphasized that there has to be some type of liturgy, devotion and/or celebration that is dignified, loving and warm that involves children. He also shared a Passover Seder Liturgy document for listeners to access, if interested.

January 4, 2021	Bringing Christmas Hope to Hospitalized Children	Description: We all need a good hug sometimes, and one Milwaukee man made sure that children in 5 area hospitals got huge bear hugs over the holidays. Since starting the Bear Hug project, Noel Shosow has provided the comfort of over 500 stuffed bears to hospitalized children for Christmas. The bears are all purchased from the Build-A-Bear Workshop and each comes with a ribbon and birth certificate. Noel says, “It is important for kids in the hospital to get a bear for Christmas... it’s important to see them smile.”
January 5, 2021	Lifesaving Organ Donations	Description: A California man is on a mission to deliver bone marrow to others after a stranger’s donation saved his own daughter. As a volunteer courier for Be the Match , Scott MacGregor makes life-saving bone marrow deliveries to patients who need transplants. After his 7-year-old daughter Taryn received a lifesaving transplant, he wants to pay it forward and share the same gift with other families. He urges everyone to sign up on the Be The Match Registry to see if they could potentially give a life-saving bone marrow donation.

January 11, 2021	Overcoming Addiction	Description: It took many twists and turns for Megan Cohen to find the grace she needed to bring her life back from the brink. As a former addict who has been in over 70 treatment centers, Megan says it was the kindness of strangers on the street that inspired her to start the Grace Project... a non-profit that gives back to struggling addicts. Every Thursday night, friends and family join her to distribute food, jackets, and toiletries in addition to sweeping the littered streets. Megan hopes that the Project will evolve into a resource to support entire families who struggle with similar circumstances.
January 12, 2021	Fighting Cancer	Description: A Connecticut three-year-old has been a fighter ever since his cancer diagnosis, and now he’s using his fighting energy to help others! Little “Naaman,” diagnosed with Leukemia soon after birth, helps design colorful and cozy non-slip socks that other young cancer fighters can wear while staying in the hospital. The organization behind the socks, Resilience Gives, has donated nearly 7,000 pairs of socks and a little over $140,000 to area hospitals. Naaman’s mom said, “It’s wonderful when someone’s knocking on your door and bringing you something and it’s not another doctor or nurse... I know that it’s bringing them some joy.”

February 12, 2021	Kidney Transplants Needed	Description: Kebra Peebles is now all smiles, but that was not always the case. A rare kidney condition led to her undergoing dialysis and eventually receiving two kidney transplants. Doctors said it was possible she would not survive giving birth due to her rare kidney condition, but Kebra was determined not to end her two pregnancies. Little did she know that her son would years later donate his own kidney to help save her life. Eighteen-year-old Kendall Henderson said watching his mother undergo dialysis prompted him to learn more about organ donation and eventually decided to donate his kidney last year. Thanks to his sacrifice, Kebra says, “I feel great now... I feel like a new person!”
February 15, 2021	COVID-19 Victories	Description: An Arkansas woman hospitalized with COVID-19 in November finally returned home last week after making a miraculous recovery. Doctors at Slaine Memorial Hospital had given up on Rhonda Whitem as her health declined after 2 weeks on a ventilator. Told she had just a few hours to live, the family said their goodbyes through her hospital door. Then, in a remarkable turn of events, everyone witnessed a miracle. Rhonda eyes opened and she became responsive for the first time in weeks. The family, as well as doctors, were in awe of the improvement. Over the next 10 weeks, Rhonda continued to defy the odds, beginning rehabilitation at the hospital, where she relearned to eat, drink, and walk. She says while the road to recovery has been long, but the journey home is worth every step.

		was delivering her last grocery order on Sunday when her car slid down the driveway of the family to whom she was delivering. She tried calling a tow truck, but they were only being used for emergencies. When the homeowners saw she was in trouble, they asked her to stay the night. Doug Condon says Chelsea has spent the last five nights in their guest bedroom...they come together for meals and the dogs sleep in bed with her. He added that once the weather improves, they will send her on her way, of course with some blankets and sandwiches just in case!
February 23, 2021	Supporting Struggling Restaurants in COVID-19	Description: A Wisconsin restaurant owner is using his own money to help struggling local restaurants during the pandemic. Adolfo Melendez used his own advertising money to buy more than $2,000 in gift cards to help promote restaurants in his community. At the end of last year, he started raffling them off to customers on his restaurant's Facebook page. Winners received $20 gift card to a local restaurant. Melendez says it's important to help keep small businesses open during the pandemic because they are the staples of the community, even if they are your own competitors.

As a volunteer courier for Be the Match, Scott MacGregor makes life-saving bone marrow deliveries to patients who need a transplant. After his 7-year-old daughter Taryn received a lifesaving transplant, he wants to pay it forward share the same gift with other families. He urges everyone to sign up on the Be the Match Registry to see if they could potentially give a life-saving bone marrow donation.
February 26, 2021	Plumbing Assistance Following Texas Snowstorm	Description: A New Jersey plumber, who wanted to help Texans dealing with burst pipes and other damage after last week's winter storms, drove to Houston with a truck full of tools and got to work. Along with his wife and 2-year-old son, Andrew Mitchell decided to make the 25-hour drive from Morristown after hearing that local plumbers were overwhelmed with calls and that some customers could not get help for weeks. One customer had contacted 15 plumbers without success before hearing about Mitchell's plumbing from a friend on social media. The Jersey plumbers have already made a difference, completing more than a dozen jobs in 2 days.

March 1, 2021	Overcoming Homelessness	Description: She calls it “act of repairing the world!” As 13-year-old “Lindsay” became aware of the day-to-day hurdles homeless people living on the streets of Los Angeles faced, she came up with the idea to launch Shoes for Soles, an outreach program that collects and distributes shoes for Southern Californians in need. Since its inception, Shoes for Soles has “re-homed” 30,000-plus pairs of gently used shoes collected during school drives. Lindsay’s mission to help people who are down at the heel put their best foot forward ... something she believes is at the heart and “sole” of her mission. “That one pair of shoes,” she says, “could change someone’s life!”
March 3, 2021	Rebuilding the Community	Description: An abandoned neighborhood in Detroit came alive, all thanks to an empty lot, a fire truck full of water and a local mother with a big heart. Kaytea Moreno-Elst saw the lot and thought it would be a perfect place to build an ice-skating rink. Soon, a fire department got word and donated all of the water in their truck’s tank to lay the ice down. Then, skating groups from across the community donated skates and gear. Now, kids and their parents have been showing up in droves enjoying the rink every single day. Kaytea says, “This is their recess, this is their after-school program, this is just for them!”
March 5, 2021	Raising Money for Frontline Drivers During COVID-19	Description: A Pennsylvania town banded together to thank their beloved UPS driver who sometimes worked 70 hours per week to make sure they all had their packages after the pandemic hit. It was a total surprise for the driver, Chad Turns. To show their appreciation for his dedication, residents coordinated the surprise with the local UPS office and dispatch. Chad believed he was picking up a delivery from a firehouse. But instead, he was greeted with cheers, balloons, and several residents ready to present him with cards, gifts and $1,000 raised for him by the community. One thankful resident said, “We just think his caring and compassionate attitude is something we wanted to reward -- he’s one in a million.”
March 9, 2021	Assistance for Struggling Neighbor	Description: Well, just when things couldn’t get any worse for Jane Cunningham, a single mom of three struggling with health and financial issues, the roof over her Massachusetts home caved in completely... and she couldn’t afford to fix it! Mold started to grow inside her home, causing even more health and safety issues. But when local contractor Dave Fenton heard about Jane’s plight from a friend, he quickly reached out to Jane, made some calls to his handy friends, and immediately got to work! With Dave’s help, not only did Jane get a brand-new roof, but the volunteer workers also tackled the mold and moisture issues indoors! And they did it all for FREE! Jane was overjoyed that so many perfect strangers stepped up to do the work for her family. “Their efforts,” she says, “were life changing!”

March 10, 2021	Helping Military Families	Description: Volunteers for a California nonprofit that helps veterans and their families have finished building a wheelchair ramp for a disabled Coast Guard veteran who hadn't left his home in two years. Eighty-three-year-old Chuck Wood served in the Coast Guard during the Cold War, but for the last two years, he was unable to leave his Sacramento home without a ramp because leaving his front door required descending several steps. But Veterans of All Wars Riders stepped in when no one else would and got the ramp built last week. Veterans of American Wars President Richard Randall said Chuck was thrilled to death, adding that “the look on his face, smiling from ear to ear -- that was all we needed.”
March 12, 2021	Making a Heart Transplant Possible	Description: Well, a town in South Carolina proved this year that when the community rallies together, there is no limit to what can be accomplished. After 7-year-old “Lamere” found out that he needed a heart transplant, his elementary school helped raise funds to make sure the surgery was possible. The effort has been dubbed Hearts for Lamere . Within days, donations all around the country started to roll in to make sure he would be in line for a new heart.
March 16, 2021	Saving Lives by Donating Platelets	Description: Marcos Perez has helped thousands of lives by donating his platelets every two weeks for the past 37 years. This wonderful act of kindness was inspired by the very transfusion that saved his life when he was born prematurely. He's been trying to pay it forward ever since. On Thursday, Perez will be rewarded for hitting another milestone: donating 120 gallons of platelets to help save lives. In total, it is estimated that he’s touched the lives of over 2,800 people. He says, "If someone was there for me, why can't I be there for someone else?"

		hospitals, community police officers, and local Shop Rite grocery stores. Every Tuesday through the nonprofits' Emergency Patient Support Network, officers load up on groceries, which are discounted at three stores. From there, they head out to drop off the groceries to families on the brink of going hungry. All the food is carefully picked out by an oncology nutritionist and every family receives two weeks of free groceries. Officer Lynneice Hill said, “Coming from a family with grandparents and losing them to cancer, it's no greater joy than to be able to show up at someone's house with a bunch of groceries.” Legacy of Hope works with all hospitals and social workers in the Philadelphia area.
March 19, 2021	Paintings Offer Hope	Description: “Daisy” is a natural artist AND a humanitarian! The 10-year-old known as “mini-Monet” has already established quite a career selling her stunning floral paintings...and while people do pay for her pieces, she doesn't keep a dime to herself. In 2017, one of her paintings representing a cancer battle with dark and light-toned flowers, sold for just under $13,000... with all proceeds going toward the nonprofits Firefly and Cancer Research. Since then, Daisy has sold dozens of originals and prints of her work, earning more than $65,000! And true to her giving nature, she's donated every cent to charity. Daisy has clearly been blessed with artistic talent, but more than that – she has the gift of generosity!
March 25, 2021	Thankfulness for Truckers	Description: A little kindness can go a long way, and that's certainly true for one senior who's getting a lot of mileage by handing out personalized thank-you cards to long-haul truckers. After seeing several news stories that detailed some of the harsh realities truckers face in the age of COVID—Beverly Perrin decided these unsung essential workers deserved some recognition. Last April, Beverly and her husband began delivering batches of around 100 personalized thank-you cards every month or so to a truck-stop near their home in Ontario.
March 29, 2021	“Paying it forward” to Neighbors	Description: An anonymous coffee lover is demonstrating love for his neighbors this week after paying for $4,000 worth of coffee and doughnuts earlier this month. The generous customer pulled up to the drive-thru, asking if he could purchase $1,000 in gift cards... when the cashier asked if he was sure, he then upped his order to $4,000. The March 31, 2021	Cleaning the Environment and Exercising	Description: A walk each morning can do wonders for your health, and if you’re like Billy Adams, it’ll also do wonders for the environment! Since last summer, the software executive has been selecting a different 12-mile route every day, picking up just about any piece of garbage on it—rain or shine! As Billy sets off on foot for a brisk walk, he uses his hands to pick up trash... usually for about three hours! His sister says he’s “somebody who likes to do the right thing. If he sees trash on the ground, he can’t just walk past it.” Billy is now organizing a weekend clean-up for Earth Day so he can get others hooked on doing good!
