Stressing the fire safety of this time of year, The forestry Commission sends three Rangers to talk about this important issue.

Name of individual and position , address and phone number

Ranger Stacy Cantrell, Ranger Nathan Oakes, and Tracy Mobley
The Georgia Forestry Commission.org//1-877-652-2876

Narrative describing the Program

The Rangers from the Georgia Forestry Commission talked about planned burns and the fact that the burn ban is now in effect until September and you will have to get a permit to burn anything including household refuse. They stressed the importance of having water at the site if you do get a permit and burn areas or household material where there is access to water in case of the spread of fire. It is always good to have more than one person at the burn. You can always find information on the web site at georgiaforestrycommission.org

Dr. Reeves talked about children getting access to parents' medications. It seems that young children can climb up to places we wouldn't think possible. This medication you take can kill a child. He stresses that meds should be locked and secured; and also do not discard pills in the toilet. He also stated that in the hot water heaters, there is a certain amount of arsenic in the unit; so don't draw on the hot water side to make tea or cook. Dr. Reeves also talks about the little voice in your head that is always negative and that you can turn it off with just a thought of "stinking thinking." On a more positive note, your day will go extremely better.
