08:00 - 08:30P COPS "INDIANAPOLIS" (CP-1204) (RR-10/09/1999, 01/29/2000) (TV-PG: V)
"KEEP ON TRUCKIN'" Indianapolis Police Officer Frederick Hamer lends assistance to the pursuit of a male suspect driving a pick-up truck. "IN PLAIN SIGHT" Speedway Police Officers receive a tip from a motorist that a male suspect was seen driving on a local freeway in excess of 100 m.p.h.. The officers eventually locate the suspect and, with the assistance of officers from other jurisdictions, pull him over. They immediately see a small bag of marijuana, in plain sight, between his seats. "LOCKED OUT" Speedway Police Officers respond to a call involving two very young children who have apparently been intentionally locked out of their family's motel room.

08:30 - 09:00P COPS "FORT WORTH" (CP-1213) (R-11/27/1999) (TV-14: V)
"WRESTLE MANIA" - Two male suspects are apprehended for stealing a car. After being searched, one suspect punches an officer and the they both flee. One suspect is caught and during the struggle, hits an officer several times in the face. With the help of pepper spray, the suspect is eventually subdued and cuffed and we learn that the other suspect is apprehended nearby. "THIS BUD'S FOR YOU" - A male suspect is arrested for apparently assaulting his best friend while the friend slept on his couch. "QUICK SWITCH PITCH" - Two suspects are ordered out of their car and searched after stopping at a known drug-dealer's house. One breaks free and starts a struggle, but is eventually subdued and cuffed. A search of the yard turns up a packet containing close to $1,000 worth of cocaine and heroin. Both suspects are arrested on several charges.

09:00 - 10:00P AMERICA'S MOST WANTED (MW-1328) (TV-PG: V)

Stephen Edward Tatro claimed to have psychic abilities. He even went as far as to help solve a missing child case which was featured on AMERICA'S MOST WANTED a few years back. That was then, but this is now --Tatro is now wanted himself as he is charged with first degree murder. Now Tatro has made himself invisible. Is it paranormal phenomenon, or just a sleazy con-man pulling a fast one on the cops? Find out Saturday, when John Walsh and the rest of the staff help put an end to Tatro's disappearing act

MEET GEORGE JETSON Monday, April 3

If you thought voice-activated computers only existed in the movies, it could be time for you to upgrade your hard drive. Computers programmed to respond to voice commands are this year's hottest sellers. What's next, robot butlers fetching cocktails? First Business Correspondent John Vincent checks out the latest in computer technology in this week's Technotainment report.

TRADE WARS Tuesday, April 4

The debate over extending 'most favored nation' trading status to China is heating up again. American lawmakers who are upset over China's continuing human rights violations are gearing up to do battle with those others who believe that open trading might help address human rights concerns. First Business Correspondent Dan Kush reads the fortune for US-China trade.

FRANCHISE OPTIONS Wednesday, April 5

For some, the dream of owning a small business is even more powerful than the dream of owning a home. But, often the obstacles that prevent some people from attaining their goals seem insurmountable. International Franchise Association President Don DeBolt joins us to preview the upcoming franchise expo in Orlando and discuss how franchising could be the key to making dreams come true.

MONEY SENSE Thursday, April 6

The cost of buying a new car has skyrocketed and there are as many financing options available as there are new car models. Add to that the question of whether you buy or lease and you wind up with a potentially confusing scenario. How do you get the most for your money? Business Correspondent Mike Morris reports in our regular Money Sense feature.

FRIDAY BOX OFFICE Friday, April 7

Tommy Lee Jones and Samuel L. Jackson, two of the big screens toughest tough guys, hit the box office this weekend in "Rules of Engagement." The military drama, featuring Jackson as an officer on trial and Jones as the lawyer defending him, is set to take on the reigning box office champion, Julia Roberts. Will the men succeed in firing a missile at the "pretty woman?" First Business Correspondent Sara Voorhees has an advance outlook in our regular Friday view from the aisle.

Saturday, April 8, 2000

08:00 - 08:30P COPS "FORT WORTH" (CP-1223) (TV-14)
"NO BRAIN, NO PAIN" - A male driver is pulled over for a routine traffic violation, explains he has no insurance, but is able to produce a valid drivers' license. A check of his background reveals he owes in excess of two thousand dollars for past traffic violations. "BLOODY BUM" -- Police respond to a reported fight outside a local tavern. At the scene, an older male victim is found bloodied and beaten on the sidewalk with a large gash on his hand. The older man insists he was attacked by a young man carrying a small knife. "BREAKFAST FOR LOSER" - An officer stops a vehicle that apparently is related to numerous traffic violations. Two male suspects are ordered out of the car and searched.

"HEY KOOLAID" -- Indianapolis Police Officer Genae Gehring assists other officers chasing a juvenile black male suspect through a residential neighborhood. "LUCKY LITTLE GIRL" -- Marion County Sheriff's Deputy Mark Myler responds to an accident call involving a young girl who was struck by a pick-up truck while riding her bicycle. "JU JITSU FLIP" -- Indianapolis Police Officers Richard Wilkerson and Robert Hipple Jr. respond to a domestic disturbance at a nearby residence. At the scene, they question a clearly intoxicated white male suspect who denies any wrongdoing. However, a male victim (white) is found in the bathroom with serious injuries to his face. The suspect is arrested and, while being placed in the wagon, explains to the officers that, if he wanted to, he could take them all out with a "flying ju-jitsu flip".

BOYS OF SUMMER Monday, April 10

If your summer plans don't include a visit to a major league baseball stadium, don't fret. Playstation's latest baseball game is the next best thing to being there, plus you don't have to spend $5 for a beer. First Business Correspondent John Vincent is at bat with the next generation video game taking a swing at a crowded marketplace.

WAGING DEBATE Tuesday, April 11

As Capitol Hill lawmakers move closer to increasing the hotly debated minimum wage, will small business be given additional tax cuts to compensate for higher costs? Some lawmakers say that's the minimum Congress should do. First Business Correspondent Dan Kush reports.

CEO CLOSEUP Wednesday, April 12

With high profile investors, a soaring stock price and full page ads in major newspapers, Value America seemed on its way to becoming the nation's e-tailing darling. So, why did the company hit rock bottom? In our continuing CEO Closeup series, First Business Anchor Barton Eckert speaks with Glenda Dorchak, the new leader at the helm of Value America, about how she's trying to add value to one of the Internet's shakiest startups.

MONEY SENSE Thursday, April 13

Being successful in your chosen field doesn't mean you're going to be successful in your personal finances. Some of the world's most capable professionals are amateurs when it comes to money sense. First Business takes a look at what you need to know.

FRIDAY BOX OFFICE Friday, April 14

After several lackluster performances, Sandra Bullock hits the big screen this weekend as a woman battling her addictions in "28 Days." Bullock goes head to head with Ben Stiller, Edward Norton and Jenna Elfman in the religious comedy, "Keeping the Faith." Does Bullock stand a prayer? First Business Correspondent Sara Voorhees tells all in our regular Friday view from the aisle.

Saturday, April 15, 2000

08:00 - 08:30P COPS "ALBUQUERQUE" (CP-1229) (TV-14)
"NO MORE MR. NICE GUY" - Police stop a suspicious vehicle, whose occupants claim they were simply trying to repair the car's mechanical problems. However, a search of the car turns up beer and it appears they were all drinking. "SPANDEX BABY" - Police assist a male cross-dresser who alleges a female suspect came into his room and stole his purse. "CAKE WALK" - Police respond to a domestic disturbance call involving bickering neighbors. At the scene, several members of one family allege that when they refused a gift of birthday cake from their neighbors, the neighbors became belligerent and eventually shoved the cake in one woman's face.

TECHNOTAINMENT Monday, April 17

Remember when musical impresarios like Motown's Berry Gordy molded rock and roll legends? Now thanks to the Internet and MP3 technology, all a would-be rock star needs is a melody and a modem. Digital music has revolutionized the record industry, both for performers and fans, who can't seem to get enough of free online software and songs. First Business Correspondent John Vincent tunes in to the hottest technology making music on the Web.

CHINA TRADE Tuesday, April 18

After massive protests from labor unions and other interest groups, the debate over China trade has turned particularly contentious. Although it seems as if everyone has an opinion on extending China's most favored nation trading status, the only ones with any weight are the ones who have a vote. First Business Correspondent Dan Kush checks in on Capitol Hill as Congress prepares to issue its final verdict on U.S.- China trade.

CEO CLOSEUP Wednesday, April 19

Most frequent flyers are accustomed to using the Internet to scout out bargains for personal travel, but few have gone to the same trouble when an employer or client is paying. E-Travel.com, a business-to-business corporate travel management company owned by Oracle, intends to change that. This week, CEO Closeup introduces the head of E-Travel.com, John Ackermann, who will discuss his high flying methods for cutting business travel costs.

08:00 - 08:30P COPS "FORT WORTH" (CP-1224) (TV-14)

"CHECK POINT" - An officer attempts to stop a car for a routine traffic violation. The suspect stops briefly, but then takes off as the officer approaches his car. The suspect is pursued and eventually captured and is arrested on numerous charges. "GRASSY ASS" - An officer stops a pick-up truck with a female driver as well as a male suspect dangerously riding standing up in the truck's cab. The male suspect is ordered out of the back of the truck and the female driver is questioned.

08:30 - 09:00P COPS "FORT WORTH" (CP-1214) (R-12/04/1999) (TV-14: L,V)
"BIG DOG, BIG GUN" - Officers find a male suspect hiding in the woods, who is believed to be carrying a high-powered assault weapon. "LOOK BEYOND THE COVER" - Officers respond to a domestic dispute at a nearby residence, where the man alleges his wife threw things at him during a heated argument, but she shows the officers marks on her arms and neck and alleges that they are the result of her husband physically attacking her. "SLIPPERY STEPHANIE" - Officers respond to a domestic dispute involving a mother and her daughter. The daughter, who was just released from juvenile detention, is clearly high and she utters repeated profanity at the officers. They cuff her and place her in the back of their patrol car. However, while in the backseat, the girl grows even more agitated and manages to slip out of her handcuffs. She screams profanity at both the officers and her mother. The officers eventually manage to cuff the beastly girl and return her to the patrol car. The officers explain to the mother that the girl is in need of some serious help.

08:00 - 08:30P COPS "ALBUQUERQUE" (CP-1230) (TV-14: V)
"A WIG FLIES" - Police stop a truck containing three male suspects. One of the suspects, a transvestite, was seen by an undercover officer smoking crack. The suspect has what is believed to be a crack rock in his mouth, and swallows the rock to avoid its extracation by officers. "HOLSTER, NO GUN" - Police question a male suspect who was apparently trespassing on the grounds of an apartment complex known for heavy drug activity. The suspect is wearing an empty gun holster and he claims that he was just visiting a friend and left his pistol at home.

"BOOTY CALL" - A car theft victim flags down an officer, saying he went into a convenient store to make a purchase and when he came out his car was gone. "JEAN'S ROCK REFUND" - A woman flags down an officer, saying that get gave another woman twenty dollars to buy crack (yes, that's her story) and received two pieces of plaster in return. The alleged suspect, who admits she was formerly a prostitute, steadfastly denies that she took the woman's money and says she clearly told the woman that she does not sell drugs. "SQUEAL GENE SQUEAL" - An officer pulls a car over that ran a stop sign right in front of him. Two male suspects are ordered out of the car and questioned. One of the suspects immediately rats out his "buddy" and informs the officer that his friend is in possession of marijuana. The "friend" is searched and a small bag of pot is found in his possession.

TECHNOTAINMENT Monday, May 1

The spring weather may be tempting you outside but rest assured technology companies plan to slug it out with Mother Nature in a contest for your time, money and attention. Why cheer the home team from a ballpark when you can be the star of your own state-of-the-art video baseball game and never leave the house? First Business Correspondent John Vincent has a preview of the entertainment lineup for the outdoor impaired.

FOR BETTER OR WORSE Tuesday, May 2

Although the old refrain says "love and marriage go together like a horse and carriage," many Capitol Hill lawmakers believe because of IRS regulations, the two go together like taxes and more taxes. Will Congress say "I do" to legislation that will ease the tax burden for millions of married couples? First Business Correspondent Dan Kush vows to find the answer.

CEO CLOSEUP Wednesday, May 3

In the old days people who put money in fledging startups were called investors. These days, they're called dot com billionaires. The venture capital business has taken off like never before as wealthy private investors compete to fund Wall Street's next sure thing. In today's CEO Closeup, we profile Steve Pelletier, CEO of OffRoad Capital and former Intuit executive, about the perils and payoffs of venture capital firms.

DREAM VACATIONS Thursday, May 4

If your family vacation more often resembles a scene from a Chevy Chase movie than the dream holiday you've been idealizing for eleven months, listen up. First Business Correspondent Karen Hendren has the do's and don'ts of vacation planning, from booking online to finding a romantic hideaway. With proper planning and a few tips, this year could be the first in which you won't need a vacation from your vacation.

Saturday, May 6, 2000

- 08:00 - 08:30P COPS "ALBUQUERQUE" (CP-1231) (TV-14)
"FAT BOY SLIM" - A K-9 unit responds to a male suspect threatening guests of a motel with a knife. "GUNS AND GRASS" - Police approach two suspicious male suspects sitting in a parked car in the parking lot of a motel. A search reveals that each suspect has a concealed hand gun as well as marijuana. "LIMO STING" - During a sting operation, female prostitutes are caught soliciting customers, as police pose as members of a rock band driving around in a fancy limo.
- 08:30 - 09:00P COPS "FORT WORTH" (CP-1217) (R-01/22/2000) (TV-PG: V)
"WRESTLING TONITE" - At the scene of a domestic disturbance, a male suspect has attacked his mother and brother after they turned off the television program he was watching. The suspect puts up a major struggle, but with the help of several officers, is eventually cuffed and arrested.
"GENE AND SWEET SIXTEEN" - A vehicle is stopped for impeding traffic, in an area known for heavy drug activity. The male driver is ordered out of the car, searched and questioned. He openly admits he was in the neighborhood looking to buy heroin to feed his daily habit -- but claims he was unable to make a purchase. "LIGHT 'EM UP" - Police pursue a stolen truck. After a brief chase, the suspects bale out of the truck and flee into a nearby apartment complex. With the help of infra-red technology installed in a police helicopter circling above the scene, the officers are able to track down one of the suspects who is searched and arrested.
- 09:00 - 10:00P AMERICA'S MOST WANTED "LIVE FROM DEATH ROW SPECIAL EDITION" (MW-1333) (TV-PG)
John Walsh does the final interview with a criminal captured by AMW that is on death row. Note: These

08:00 - 08:30P COPS "ALBUQUERQUE" (CP-1232) (TV-14)
"JOHN STING" - A police sting catches "johns" in the act of soliciting an undercover female officer for prostitution. Cameras are set up to view the action in the street - and a female officer begins to walk the area posing as a prostitute. "3 HAPPY HEROINS" - At the scene of a home burglary, three female suspects are found inside a car near the home and a search of their possessions turns up a large amount of narcotics and paraphernalia. The suspects all deny using the drugs, but they clearly exhibit the physical signs of drug use, including fresh track marks on their arms. Although the burglary call appears to have been bogus, all of the suspects are arrested on drug charges. "GRANDMA GETS GAS" - Police stop a vehicle that appears to have been stolen. A male and a female suspect are asked to get out of the car and they are both searched and questioned. Crack cocaine and drug paraphernalia are found in the car and the female suspect appears to be under the influence. She explains that she "borrowed" the car from her 90-year-old grandmother but has not returned it for a couple of days. The grandmother is called to the scene and she is cooperative with the police. After the Officers help her put gas in the car, she praises the officers for their help with her out of control granddaughter. The girl and her male friend are arrested on several charges.

08:30 - 09:00P COPS "FORT WORTH" (CP-1218) (R-01/29/2000)
(TV-14)
"WHAT I DO?" - Police spot a man hanging out near an area known for drug activity. After a brief exchange with police, the man starts running towards a nearby park, where he is subdued and then cuffed. "PACKRAT DOPER" - Officers recognize a suspect on the street

TECHNOTAINMENT

Monday, May 29

The boob tube is looking downright antiquated these days as the Internet takes over as home entertainment king. While once only a techie's dream, Internet TV is now a reality as more and more Web surfers view music videos, movie trailers and independent programming online. Are couch potatoes being replaced by bleary eyed zombies with carpal tunnel syndrome? First Business Correspondent John Vincent tunes into LoadTV.com.

CONGRESSIONAL OUTLOOK

Tuesday, May 30

After a bruising legislative session, Congress is in recess and representatives are headed back to their districts to press the flesh. First Business Correspondent Dan Kush has a look at the House highs and lows and a forecast for small business in our Capitol Hill report.

FAMILY INCOME

Wednesday, May 31

How much does it take to make ends meet? The U.S. government's definition of acceptable family income is half the amount a new report claims it should be. Who's right? And is the government's definition of poverty based on thirty-year old standards? First Business Correspondent Terry Turner investigates.

FRANCHISE OPPORTUNITIES

Thursday, June 1

The International Franchise Association's just completed three-year study is providing a new look at a dynamic industry. Despite perceptions to the contrary, the vast majority of franchises are small businesses and not multilayered corporations. First Business Anchor Barton Eckert speaks with International Franchise Association President Don DeBolt about the survey and some basic rules of franchising.

FRIDAY BOX OFFICE

Friday, June 2

If Hollywood has its way, look forward to a long laughfest at the box office this summer. Rubber faced Jim Carrey debuts in "Me, Myself, and Irene" and Eddie Murphy returns as the blubbery "Nutty Professor 2." But will it be a "Mission Impossible" for the funnyman to produce blockbuster hits? Maybe they'll call in reinforcements: "Rocky and Bullwinkle" to the rescue.

SUMMER MOVIE PREVIEW

Monday, June 5

Attention female moviegoers: it's going to be a hot summer at the box office. George Clooney gets wet in "The Perfect Storm," Matt Damon demonstrates he can swing in "The Legend of Bagger Vance" and Mel Gibson takes up a musket in "The Patriot." But are they taking on a "mission impossible" in attempting to knock Tom Cruise off his box office perch? First Business Correspondent Sara Voorhees has all the news from Hollywood in our summer movie preview.

SMALL BUSINESS UPDATE

Tuesday, June 6

What are Alan Greenspan's summer plans? Some Fed observers hope he takes an extended cruise. But whatever he does, it's sure to have an impact on small business. First Business Correspondent Dan Kush has the outlook for interest rates and small business tax cuts.

CEO CLOSEUP

Wednesday, June 7

Sometimes it seems as if there are as many cellular carriers as there are cellular phones. In the highly competitive world of cellular service, Nextel Communications is making its mark as the nation's leading provider of integrated wireless communication. In this week's CEO Closeup, we profile Nextel's chief, Timothy Donahue, and talk about his cutting edge plans for next generation wireless service.

TECHNOTAINMENT

Thursday, June 8

Ever wonder what those whiz kids in Silicon Valley do all day when they're not counting stock options? We know. They're dreaming up new ways for you to spend your money on "must have" tech toys. From the latest high tech video game to the best and brightest in digital music, First Business Correspondent John Vincent plays overgrown child as he tests out the gadgets and gizmos debuting this summer on the technotainment scene.

FRIDAY BOX OFFICE

Friday, June 9

Nicolas Cage and Robert Duvall enter the box office sweepstakes this weekend. They star in "Gone in :60," an action/adventure flick that resurrects the old Hollywood story of the gangster trying to stay on the straight and narrow. After Cage's recent track record at the box office, will "60 Seconds" stay in theaters for more than a minute before going straight to video? First Business Correspondent Sara Voorhees tells all in our regular Friday view from the aisle.

CEO CLOSEUP

Monday, June 12

The sandwich, it's a relatively simple culinary concept but one that has made fortunes for some enterprising entrepreneurs. Tony Conza, the CEO of Blimpies, started out with one sub shop and turned it into a 2,100 store chain. Conza, who had no money, no connections and no mentors when he began his business has a recipe for success he's eager to share. In the first of a five-part series, Conza joins us to discuss his common sense tactics for setting goals.

MONEY TALKS

Tuesday, June 13

It's high noon in the House of Representatives as the FY 2001 Appropriations bills hits the floor. As President Clinton stares down the Republican leadership, what should small business owners expect from the deliberations? First Business Correspondent Dan Kush takes aim at the House money wars.

TEA TIME

Wednesday, June 14

Thanks to digital technology, timeless legends such as Marilyn Monroe, James Cagney and John Wayne have all staged major comebacks as television pitchmen. But the latest commercial darlings are animated versions of James Brown and the King, Elvis Presley. Lipton Tea has brewed up an ad campaign starring pop culture icons. First Business Correspondent Doug Frattallone looks at the technology involved in bringing legends to life.

TECHNOTAINMENT

Thursday, June 15

It's pool and beach season but don't tell that to the millions of crazed video game junkies. Forget about UV rays, the only light they recognize emanates from a television screen. First Business Correspondent John Vincent takes a look at the latest toys designed to keep techies indoors this summer.

FRIDAY BOX OFFICE

Friday, June 16

Tom Cruise may have the megawatt smile, but who could be cooler than the Shaft? Samuel L. Jackson hits the big screen this weekend in the classic role. Will he get the "shaft" or fulfill a "mission impossible" by toppling the unbeatable Cruise? First Business Correspondent Sara Voorhees tells all in our regular Friday view from the aisle.

TECH TOOLS

Monday, June 19

You need more than a scorecard to keep track of all the new technology tools available for small business owners. There are countless online products and a wide range of state-of-the-art software designed to address every small business need, from accounting to marketing to inventory control. Today we introduce Technology Update, a new daily segment where we'll profile the best and brightest high tech tools to keep you ahead of the curve.

CAPITOL HILL UPDATE

Tuesday, June 20

Before Congress gets swept away with convention fever, there are a few small matters on the small business agenda adding up to one large dollar sign. Where will House and Senate leaders wind up on the budget, taxes and healthcare? First Business Correspondent Dan Kush reports.

ADDING IT UP

Wednesday, June 21

You answer the phone and it's a telemarketer, you open the mailbox and are deluged with advertisements, you turn on the television and it's a commercial. And forget about going online, there's no escape. So, how do small businesses make themselves heard when their competitors are spending top dollar to advertise? Remember the old adage: there's strength in numbers? Cathy Walters, executive editor of Small Business Magazine, joins us to discuss how partnering can stretch your marketing dollars.

BOX OFFICE ANGEL

Thursday, June 22

Look for pouty-lipped Oscar winner Angelina Jolie on the big screen soon in "Tomb Raider," a long-awaited live action feature based on a popular video game. Jolie, who is currently riding high with Nicolas Cage in "Gone In 60," plays Lara Croft, a female Bond. Will Jolie be shaken or stirred at the box office? And can she steal moviegoers' hearts just the way she snatched Billy Bob Thornton from Laura Dern? First Business Correspondent Doug Frattallone rides the Angelina wave.

FRIDAY BOX OFFICE

Friday, June 23

Hollywood's favorite rubber-faced funnyman, Jim Carrey, opens this weekend in "Me, Myself, and Irene," a comedy about multiple personality disorder. Will the movie be another tour de force for the Farrelly brothers, known for the high brow "Dumb and Dumber" and "There's Something About Mary?" Or will Carrey languish like a "Man On the Moon?" First Business Correspondent Sara Voorhees tells all in our regular Friday view from the aisle.

"COOLER CAPER" -- Officers assist detectives during a stake-out of two car burglary suspects in a hospital parking lot.

The suspects spot the officers and flee in a pick-up truck. One suspect bales out and is tackled down after a foot chase and hints that he will provide the identity of his escaped cohort. "CHUCK IT" - An officer stumbles across what appears to be a drug deal taking place between two male suspects, orders them out of their car, and sees them toss a suspicious item into the street, which turns out to be a crack pipe and a small container of crack.

08:30 - 09:00P COPS "INDIANAPOLIS" (CP-1206) (RR-12/11/1999, 03/11/2000) (TV-PG: L)
"AROUND THE CORNER'" -- Police officers respond to a robbery in progress call at a nearby mini-mart, but the suspects have already fled, but are apprehended near the store after being identified by the store owner.

09:00 - 10:00P AMERICA'S MOST WANTED (MW-1338) (TV-PG)
A young boy will never know his mother -- she's dead. And now, his father has been accused of the most heinous crime ever -- murder. Javier Zurita Vasquez is accused of murdering Mona Kredo, and now he's become one of "America's Most Wanted."
Vasquez, a migrant farm worker from California, has been hiding from the police for more than two years now. After spending a lot of time on a farm, police say he came up with a plan to murder his girlfriend. They say Vasquez was hell-bent on ending his girlfriend's new relationship. Police say he murdered her, then abandoned their son in a Denny's parking lot -- presumably left to die. Now Vasquez is believed to be anywhere in the country. Vast acres of farm land which surround where he was last seen have been searched to no avail. Help catch Vasquez before another unsuspecting person becomes his next victim Saturday,

08:00 - 08:30P COPS "ALBUQUERQUE" (CP-1227) (R-02/19/2000)
(TV-14)
"KOO KOO'S NEST" - An officer responds to a 9-1-1 hang-up call involving an "eccentric" woman he has dealt with in the past. At the scene, the woman explains that neighborhood kids have been harassing her and throwing rocks at her home. "CRACK, LIES, BABY" - Following a brief bicycle pursuit, police capture a suspect outside a nearby motel. The male suspect is searched and the
